The ice supply question came up for discussion and it was definitely decided to carry into effect the provisions of the resolution moved at the last meeting by Dr. McNully, providing that cards shall be placed upon all refrigerators warning the users of ice of the penalty attaching to the using of ice from Little Lake for either food or drink.

The report of the Provincial Bacteriologist upon the waters submitted from clear and Katchewanooka Lakes was presented to the Board. The report shows the water submitted to be pure, and free from bacteria. It was as follows:—

Laboratory number, 3947— Where collected, Lake Katchewanooka — Streptococci, 0; Staphylacocci, 0; Calon Bacelli, 0; Calonoid Bacelli, 0; Chlorine in parts per million, 1.5.

JOHN A. AMYOT.

The following letter was received in connection with the examination of the Chemong Lake water:—

Dr. Bingham, M.H.O.,
Peterborough, Ont.

Your specimen of Chemong Lake water arrived on November 29th, 1905. It shows neither chemical pollution not dangerous bacterial infection.

JOHN. A. AMYOT.

A number of local ice-dealers were in attendance at the meeting. Mr. Allin, of the Allen Ice Co., remarked with reference to the large expense in connection with the cutting of ice at Lakefield, which was so large as to render it prohibitive.

The report of the examination of the water at Little Lake which was received at a previous meeting, was as follows:—

Dr. Bingham, M.H.O.,
Peterborough, Ont.

Your specimen of water from the proposed ice supply pond arrived there on November 4, 1905.

It shows colon-baSilli, intestinal bacteria, in one cubic centimetre quantity. Water so infected should not be used for ice production, when the ice is to go into food or drink. It is not surprising that this infection does exist with the drainage into the creek or lake that does take place. Without dialysis this condition should alone condemn the source.

JOHN A. AMYOT.

The resolution moved by Dr. McNully at the last meeting, with the addition of a provision for the framing of a by-law with penalty, was passed. The resolution was as follows:—

Moved by Dr. McNully, seconded by A. Parker, that ice from the Little Lake must be used for cooling purposes only, and that the Medical Health Officer prepare a notice warning users of ice from the Little Lake that it must not be put into food or drink, and that the ice-dealers be requested to have a copy of the notice put up on the refrigerator of each customer and that the City Solicitor be asked to prepare a by-law to cover this and with a penalty for its infraction.—Carried.

House of Refuge For Belleville

That City Was Chosen by Hastings County Council.

The matter of the selection of a fitting site for the proposed House of Refuge for Hastings county as decided by the county fathers in session last week. The committee appointed at the June session visited various suggested sites, in Deseronto, Tweed, Madoc and Sidney, as well as the Thurlow property known as the Henderson farm, just east of the Belleville city limits. There were seven members on the committee and they were practically unanimous in their choice for the Henderson property, and their decision was upheld by the council, only three of the members voting against the report. The amount of land is 50 acres and the price is $6500. It extends from the Bay shore to Bridge street. Tenders will be asked for the erection of the necessary buildings, and work will commence in the spring.

The Land of the Aztecs,

Who has not read of the glories and wonders of old Mexico? The days when Montezuma held gorgeous court in the ancient capital of Gran Tenochtitlan are departed, but they have left Mexico one of the most interesting countries in the world. Picturesque ruins and relics, in a setting of flowers and sunshine, everywhere delight the fortunate visitor; each day's travel reveals fresh beauties. And out of the ruins a new Mexico is arising, a land of possibilities, abounding in resources of all kinds. In the peasants' hands the soil will yield five crops a year, metals and minerals in abundance. Our business men have here a splendid field for investment, and should see and judge the land for themselves. Leisurely investigation under sunny skies will be pleasant work, while the ladies will be delighted with tehir bargains in native work and precious stones.

An attractive itinerary, covering the whole of Mexico and the best of the Southern States, and including a visit to Cuba and New Orleans for "Mardi Gras," has been arranged for the Cuthbert House party tour, leaving Toronto early in February next, being the most extensive trip ever taken by any party. The special private train will contain every possible comfort and luxury, and the cuisine equal to that of a first-class hotel. A pleasant, smooth-running trip is assured, the management having had long experience in this branch of travel. Canadian enterprise, when it is the best, is worthy of your attention. Full particulars, with descriptive literature, upon application to E. M. Cuthbert, 25 Maitland street, Toronto, or C. B. Foster, District Passenger Agent, C. P. R., Toronto. 4d142

Condition Of The World After The Church Is Gone

Rev. E. A. Langfeldt Preaches First of a Series of Sermons on This Subject—Coming Troubles in the World.

Last night in St. Luke's church Rev. E. A. Langfeldt preached the first of a series of sermons on the "Conditions and Circumstances in the World in the Light of the Second Coming of Christ." There was a large congregation, and much interest was manifested in his sermon. He prefaced his remarks by saying that the object of the advent season was to look with the eye of faith to the coming of Christ. He took no text, but dealt with this subject from the standpoint of the prophets.

He said in Part: What, let us ask, will be the things that are yet to be? It is this, that the Lord Himself shall descend from heaven, that the dead in Christ shall rise first—"then," or "afterwards," as the Greek requires us to translate, thereby indicating an interval of uncertain duration—the changed saints shall be caught up together with the risen, "in clouds," as we may fairly read it, a vast, innumerable multitude to meet Christ. But where will the Saviour be? Not in heaven, for He will have left His heavenly Throne; not on earth, for He will not at this moment be publicly manifested to the world; but "in the air," we are told, in the heavenlies. There, above the earth, and below the heaven, will this incomparable meeting of the Saviour and the saved take place.

And so the world will be left, left without the church to restrain its downward progress; without the wholesome, purifying influence which the faithful in every age, notwithstanding many imperfections, have been permitted to exercise.

We sometimes speak, do we not, of "a bolt from the blue?" By it we wish to express a sudden and wholly unlooked-for interruption to the ordinary course of things.

Such was the "Boxer" movement in China. Such the attack upon the Foreign Legations, which took the civilized world by surprise. The expression doubtless has its origin in a natural phenomenon, in some highly electric condition of atmosphere. I recall an incident while travelling in Switzerland, many years ago, when, from an apparently altogether blue and cloudless sky, with no slightest indication of a storm, there came one burst of fire, one loud thunder-peal, and the life of a man was gone. It was "a bolt from the blue." As suddenly, as unexpectedly, "in the twinkling of an eye," will be the translation, the upward, Christward flight of those who have loved and served their God on earth. It will be an astonishing interference in the daily life of the world, for which we have types, such as Enoch, Elijah, but no parallel. Upon the God-fearing and the God-loving an event so miraculous, so indicative of divine interference, would not be without its lasting good; to the worldly it would appear as a wonder, and a wonder only. Now, if we multiply by many tens of thousands the typical cases, we shall, perhaps be able to form some far-away estimate of what God has purposed to do, and what must assuredly and shortly be accomplished. The time of harvest will have come. No language, however eloquent, will be adequate to describe the scene of consternation when the world becomes aware that, from east and west, north and south, from every country God has removed clouds of witnesses. Then will be heard the cry of the foolish virgins, who represent the merely nominal Christian church. "Lord, Lord open to us." Alas! that it must be met by the "shut door," and the sad response: "Depart from Me, I never knew you." The true church, the "sons of God," will alone be accepted in that day. What is the precise proportion it will bear to the neglected, we cannot say. The terms "many" and "few" do not help us much. They are not sufficiently exact to justify any conclusion other than that, though the "saints" will be an innumerable multitude of those who have "washed their robes and made them white in the Blood of the Lamb," yet they will be outnumbered by those who know not God and obey not the gospel of Christ. But however this may be, a moment's reflection will convince us how impossible it will be for a countless host of "waiting and watching" Christians to be suddenly caught away from earth without an astounding dislocation of existing arrangements—social, political and ecclesiastical. The world will stand aghast, it can do no other. It cannot be less than an extraordinary arrest of mankind in its headlong twentieth century rush. Telephone, telegraph, wireless telegraph will be brought into fullest play, flashing the news that what has transpired in our own entourage has happened the wide world over. Unless, indeed, which is more probable still, the immediate result should be, paralysis of all effort—a world, dumbfounded in the presence of so sudden and so vast a miracle.

It will afford, will it not, the most accurate answer to latter-day scoffers, who, walking after their own lusts up to that very moment of climax, will be saying, "Where is the promise of His coming? for since the fathers fell asleep, all things continue as they were from the beginning of the creation." Of course, all things have not so continued, and we have divine authority for saying that disturbances will be of a far more marvellous character than heretofore. Not least striking will be that to which attention is now being drawn. When the first feeling of alarm shall have subsided, and no second moral earthquake is seen to follow, then, doubtless, efforts will be made to explain, and explain away, a phenomenon so surprising.

The science of the day will demand from itself some solution, but in vain. Yet will the humblest reader of Holy Scriptures supply what philosophy and metaphysical research will be powerless to afford. And it is all so simple—God will have kept His promise.

It cannot, this sudden rapture of the saints, be without its interest to the most callous and indifferent; but even this, the most tremendous moral upheavel, will, after a while, subside, and leave the nations unpurified and unrepentant.

It cannot be otherwise, for light, the light of Christian living, will have gone out, lamps that once burned brightly, guiding the weary traveller on the way to heaven, will no longer shine. The world will be left in gloom. The day of grace is past; the day of vengeance is begun. Divine love has failed, at least in part, and now is it, that God stands forth to punish the nations that are in the earth. Already will have been ushered in those days of unsurpassed tribulation, so long foretold, that "distress of nations with perplexity," preparing the way for the approaching "time of trouble, such as never was." The world will not know it, but then, "the Judge is nigh, even at the doors." "In those days shall be affliction such as was not from the beginning of the creation which God created unto this time, neither shall be. But in those days, after that tribulation, the sun shall be darkened, and the moon shall not give her light, and the stars of heaven shall fall, and the powers that are in heaven shall be shaken. And then shall they see the Son of Man coming in the clouds with great power and glory."

I am aware that many are inclined to contest my statement that the condition of the world following upon the church's rapture will be one of excessive gloom. Many are prejudiced in favour of a world in which evil, by ordinary or extraordinary evangelistic methods, would be constrained to yield her empire, a world which should, though by slow degrees, grow better and better. More careful study of the Word of God has shown how impossible it is to maintain the theory. Look at the parable of the tares, "Let both grow together until the harvest." These words tell us that evil is not, as so many dream, gradually to disappear before good—the world to find itself in the church—but each to unfold itself more fully, out of its own root, after its own kind: till at last they stand face to face, each in its highest manifestation, in the presence of Christ and of Antichrist, on the one hand an incarnate God, on the other the man in whom the fulness of all Satanic power will dwell bodily. Both are to grow "until the harvest," till they are ripe, one for destruction, and the other for full salvation.

It might, indeed, seem that the two forces are strictly co-terminous. But "until the harvest" may very well be understood to mean until the angels go forth to reap the harvest of the saints before the closing days of intensified evil. Viewed, of course, from the distance of nearly 2,000 years, they would seem to take place at one and the same moment, and may, with propriety, be so spoken of. Following then upon the translation of the true Christians, will be the judgment upon their works, strictly in accordance with the assurance that "we"—i.e., all followers of Christ in any real sense—"we must all appear before the judgment seat of Christ"—not the great White Throne, which will not be set up till after the Millennium—"that everyone may receive the things done in his body, according to that he hath done, whether it be good or bad."

The judgment cannot be for anything but for works; for will not the saints have already come under the the great consolation of the eighth chapter of Romans?

"There is therefore now no condemnation"—judgment—"to them that are in Christ Jesus, who walk not after the flesh, but after the Spirit." Saved by grace, they were "created unto good works," and for these works, with whatever of imperfections may have clung to them, they are now to be judged and awarded their place of honour—"one star differing from another star in glory." It carries our minds to the great advent parable of the Ten Virgins, in which we are told, "They that were ready went in with Him to the marriage, and the door was shut."

"Watch ye, therefore," said our Lord, "and pray always, that ye may be accounted worthy to escape all these things that shall come to pass, and to stand before the Son of Man."

It is essential to a right understanding of "the signs of the times" that we should not be deceived by the boasted progress of civilization; that we should not be misled by the undoubted triumphs which Christianity is daily gaining, so far as to imagine that the world generally is advancing to perfection.

It has been pointed out, ere now, that if the present dispensation were to end in an improved order of things it would be contrary to all analogy. Previous dispensations have all ended in an apostasy; will not the existing one so end? The presumption is that it will. The argument has force. Still it is conceivable that many might find ground for belief to the contrary, in the vigorous spreading of the good news of God in every part of the world. Two considerations, however, forbid this view.

1. The close approximation to the end.

2. The condition of the world at the present time.

We are too near the great crisis. The time is short, too short, by any time calculation, to admit of it.

We have already glanced at some of the declarations of Holy Scripture which place this matter beyond all doubt, and by which we may know the truth of things. We cannot see light where there is no light. There are evil forces in the world, and they will continue. At present they are kept in check, far more than the world will admit, by the church. The time approaches when Satan, his wrath kindled to fiercer glow,

Good Prospects For Franchise In Brantford

Canadian Manchine Telephone Company Agreement Passed the Telephone Committee of That Council—A Twenty-One Year Competitive Franchise—Provision Made for Municipal Ownership--Rates are Fixed—Prices $15 and $25 Per Year.

WILL BE DEFINITELY DECIDED TO-NIGHT

The Telephone Committee of the Brantford City Council met on Friday night, when the terms of the agreement with the Canadian Machine Telephone Company, for a franchise, were drafted.

The Expositor of Saturday, reporting the meeting, says:

The telephone committee of the city council last night drafted an agreement with the Canadian Automatic Telephone Company, which is seeking a competitive franchise in this city. The meeting was a most important one in every particular in that it developed a definite proposition, which will be presented to the city council on Monday night, and will be settled.

Terms of Agreement.

The agreement which proposes to give the Automatic Company a 21 years' competitive franchise in Brantford, provides in the first clause that the company shall be operating its system a year after getting the franchise.

Ald. Leitch contended that it should also be stipulated that the company have a certain number of subscribers at a fixed time after the franchise was granted. He claimed that might be only half a dozen subscribers, and that the phones would be of little use to people, who, however, might be induced to subscribe without realizing the limited extent of the system.

Mr. MacKay contended that the matter of the extent of service must alone rest with the company and subscribers.

The majority agreed with him and the clause passed.

The Proposed Rates.

The committee split on the rates. The agreement calls for a rate of $15 per year for house phones and $25 for business, with $6 per year extra for extensions or desk phones.

Ald. Suddaby fought for a $12 rate for houses. A dollar a month would be a popular charge, he said.

Ald. Watt, Lyle, Schults, and Corey would like a $12 rate but didn't think the company could do it, and financially compete with the Bell.

When it came to a vote Ald. Leitch and Suddaby opposed the $15 rate for houses, the latter announcing that he would fight it to a finish in the council.

The company's representative declared that a $12 rate could not be given in Brantford.

Wires Are Underground.

Another clause of the agreement provides that all wires of the company along certain designated streets shall be underground. These streets total 4 1-10 miles.

An important clause was that referring to country connections. When the company branches out and installs telephones in various parts of the county, all country subscribers, with the exception of those in the town of Paris, will be permitted to talk to Brantford subscribers without extra charge for long distance connections. For example, if Burford, Scotland, Mount Pleasant, St. George, Cainsville, etc., get systems, subscribers in any of these places could talk to Brantford without further charge.

Other Features.

In case the company fails to fulfil its agreement in any particular, its rights are defaulted.

The city may run its fire alarm system wires on the company's poles or through its conduits.

The city gets 12 municipal phones at $10 each per year.

The company cannot amalgamate with any other company. If it does its rights cease.

For Municipal Ownership.

Possibly the most important clause in the agreement is that providing for the acquirement by the city of the system at any time after three years in the event of the city deciding to embark into municipal ownership of telephones.

There was considerable discussion on this clause, Ald. Suddaby objecting to a 21-year franchise and announcing that he would make an effort to reuce it to ten years with no option of buying out.

Ald. Leitch took a similar view of the matter, wanting a straight ten-year franchise.

Most Important Clause.

The corporation hereby agrees with said company, provided the said company performs, observes and keeps the covenants and agreements on its part to be observed, performed and kept, that the said company may, for a period of twenty-one years from the date of this agreement, use the streets and lanes of the said corporation for the purpose of placing in, upon and under the same, poles, ducts and wires as above mentioned, for the purpose of carrying on a telephone business, but nothing herein contained shall be deemed to limit or interfere with the control of the streets and lanes of the said corporation by the corporation, under the Municipal Act, or any by-law or agreement now in force or hereafter passed, with regard to placing poles on the streets and lanes, or its power to grant any license or franchise to any other company or individual, to use such streets and lanes of the said corporations, or to place poles, ducts, and wires thereon, or for any other purpose.

Provided always that at any time after the expiration of three years from the date hereof, the corporation may give notice in writing of its intention to acquire the plant and business of the company in Brantford, and at the expiration of thirty days from the giving of such notice, the corporation and the company shall proceed to an arbitration under the provisions of the Municipal Act, in reference to arbitrations, and upon such arbitration the price to be paid by the said corporation for the plant and business of the company shall be fixed upon the following basis, namely:—The arbitrators shall allow:—

(a) The actual value of the company's plant, less proper allowance for age, depreciation and wear and tear, (but in case any portion of the original installment shall have been replaced, then only the cost of the portion of the plant which has replaced any portion of the original instalment shall be allowed, less allowances aforesaid.),

(b) The valuation of the company's franchise during the period from the date on which the corporation shall take possession, until the expiration of ten years from date hereof, such valuation to be based upon the net profits which the arbitrators shall estimate the company would earn during such period, with all proper deductions for contingencies, and less such allowance as the arbitrators determine to be deducted for present payment, taking the place of the uncertainties and exigencies of business, and for such allowances as the arbitrators shall determine should be deducted for any cause.

Provided further, that when the arbitrators shall make their award, the corporation shall have the option within sixty days of taking over the company's undertaking, or of paying the costs of the arbitration, (at an amount to be fixed by the arbitrators) and withdrawing from the proposed purchase.

Provided further, that any time after the expiration of ten years from the date hereof, the corporation may give notice in writing of its intention to acquire the plant and business of the company in the city of Brantford, and at the expiration of thirty days from the giving of such notice the corporation and the company shall proceed to an arbitration under the provisions of the Municipal Act, in reference to arbitration, and upon such arbitration, the price to be paid by the corporation for the plant and business of the company, shall be the actual cost of the company's plant, less all proper allowances for depreciation, age, and wear and tear, and nothing shall be allowed the company for value of franchise, nor shall the revenue earned by the company for past of future be taken into consideration in fixing the price to be paid. In case any part of the original installation shall have been replaced, then only that portion of the plant which shall replace any portion of the original installation shall be allowed, less all deductions as aforesaid.

Provided further, that when the arbitrators shall have made their award the corporation shall have the option within ——— days of taking over the company's undertaking, or of paying the costs of the arbitration (at an amount to be fixed by the arbitrators) and withdrawing from the proposed purchase.

On Monday Night.

The arrangement will come before the council Monday night, when an effort will be made to pass a by-law, ratifying it and granting the company a franchise.

BE READY FOR CROUP

AND INSIST ON HAVING THE TIME TESTED MEDICINES.

It is not a question of whether you will need a treatment for coughs, colds and croup in your homes, but the question is will you select the most effective medicine or simply be satisfied to take whatever your druggist happens to hand out to you?

Time and experience have proven that you can depend on Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine at all times.

It is only necessary to remember this when the critical time comes and to insist on getting what you ask for.

Should you have children that are subject to croup you had better keep a bottle of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine in the house for when the choking spasm comes on there is little time to send for doctor or medicine.

It seems scarcely necessary to dwell on the merits of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine as a cure for croup, bronchitis, whooping cough, etc. Most of us have known it from childhood up. It is almost as familiar as Dr. Chase's Receipt Book.

Mr. G. N. Morrison, 31 Fuller street, Toronto, Ont., writes:

"Gentlemen, — If it should be of satisfaction to you to know (as it certainly has been to me in the past) permit me to say that I have used Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine in my family for years, and have found it from experience to be the best cough medicine. I suppose that I have used eight bottles this past winter; my children will have nothing else, and the best of results invariably ensue. I have also recommended it strongly. If this unsolicited testimonial be of any service to you the pleasure is mine in transmitting it."

Being pleasant to the taste, it is readily taken by the children. Because it brings quick relief to the suffering from asthma, bronchitis, whooping cough, and all the more serious disease of the throat and lungs, it is invaluable as a household medicine. 25 cents a bottle at all dealers.

"knowing that he hath but a short time," will put forth all his malignant hatred and ingenuity.

And the church will be gone! It is not for us ministers of the gospel to throw upon the world the shadow of a needless dread; it is not for us to fill hearts, already sadly burdened, with what is yet more portentious.

I could not hope to gain a hearing with such a message, had I not the strongest reason for so doing, and the strongest testimony. Armed as we are with the authority of the Holy Scripture, how many there may be who will not even consider the awful realities which are to characterize the last days of our dying dispensation!

If there are no judgments to overtake it, let the world go on in the path which it has chosen; let the sense of satisfaction and of progress so noticeable, continue; let the world congratulate itself upon its splendid evolution. We need not, so far as judgment is concerned, its wonderful complacency. But if, on the other hand, there are abundant reasons for believing that such estimate is false; if departure from the living God underlies all the apparent progress; if faith is lost in material prospects, lulled to sleep in the luxury of living; if God is publicly ignored, excluded from our Legislature, and, in no small degree, from our national methods of education;—then he who fails to raise the voice of warning when he sees signs of coming storm, is recreant to the trust imposed upon him. Like the prophet of old, he is under divine impulse; he must "speak, whether they will hear, or whether they will forbear."

What a pitiable object is the Europe of to-day! Is not every Government oppressed by the weight of coming troubles, added to that of the day itself? Is it not filled with anxiety as to the outcome of Rationalism and infidelity, Socialism and anarchism? What significant unrest, what seething discontent, kept partially in check by the strong military hand. Yet in Russia, completely overshadowing the security and peace of the people, we learn with deep regret that the vice of gambling is increasing, and especially amongst the young. Some judges and magistrates consider that gambling is to be as much responsible for crime as drunkenness. Another social evil of the saddest kind is the utter disregard of the sanctity of human life. If I had time to give full statistics, I would be compelled to give you a most awful description of the sin and wickedness of the world.

And does all this make for the true progress and improvement of the race? Assuredly not. It is the unsightly excrescence upon the body politic, sadly eloquent of the decay of faith within. Little wonder if our Lord, looking onward to these days, should ask, "When the Son of Man cometh, shall He find faith on the earth?"

Must it, then, be deemed "a thing incredible" that God should signalize the closing years of this dispensation by special acts of retributive justice? This generation, with all its unrighteousness upon it, can scarcely hope to escape the threatened vengance of our God. What form this vengeance will take, we cannot, with certainty, declare. But, judging from what God has revealed, wars of gigantic proportions will enter largely, as an element of judgment. The powers of the world shall be shaken. Apostasy must be dealt with in what will be, probably, its final phase, that of infidelity. Then, when it is come to judge the world in righteousness, when its people are either destroyed or subdued by the appalling character of the chastisement measured out to the ungodly, the instigator of all this evil will be bound, truth will triumph, and holiness prevail. Till then Satan will do his worst. Bitter, indeed, will be the coming trouble, as the great conflict between Christ and Antichrist reaches its necute phase. It will be a desperate conflict and a desperate remedy.

I dare not minimize the terrible significance of God's revelation. What we see to-day is but the "beginning of sorrows," the ushering in of a worse state of things. But dark as the picture is, yet there is some relief. It will be true at last that: "When Thy judgments are in the earth, the inhabitants of the world will learn righteousness."

In those days, to which we are approximating day by day, many will be brought to a knowledge of the truth. For those who are not slain, the great tribulation will have been a purifying power. It is evident that the divine judgments will not annihilate all the inhabitants of the world. After judgment, mercy. And the world rolls on, its people knowing nothing of the coming woe or the coming blessing. It is with the few—few by comparison—that the conviction holds—a conviction that no power on earth shall rob them, that God moves to the fulfilment of His promise. "Blessed are they that read and understand," for the great harvest time of the earth draws near.

Government Road a Paying Enterprise

Profits of Temiskaming Railway are Large—Heavy Passenger Traffic—Passenger Receipts Were 43 Per Cent. of Earnings—Much Timber Carried—Results Amply Justify its Inception and Construction—Effect on Development.

FORESIGHT AND FAITH IN NEW ONTARIO

(Mail and Empire.)

It will not be due to small returns from the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway, if Hon. Col. Matheson, the Provincial Treasurer, does not have a surplus to show when the Legislature reassembles.

According to the statement made yesterday by Mr. Matheson, the past season has been an extremely lucrative one for the road. From April 1, 1905, to October 31, the net earnings of the line were a little over $84,000, an average of $12,000 a month. This was made on the first section of track from North Bay to New Liskeard, and is equal to a rate of 3 per cent. a year on the cost of the section.

Since that portion of the road was taken over by the present commissioners in January last the receipts from the passenger traffic have been very large owing to the rush to the Cobalt mines, and the entry of tourists to the picturesque northern summer resorts. They equalled in all 43 per cent. of the total earnings of the line. For a new railway, the Government properly has been extremely successful in the business of carrying timber, in spite of the fact that it competes with the Canadian Pacific line which runs from Mattawa to connect with steamers on Lake Temiskaming, this was quite an item in the receipts.

The returns from the road for the month of October have also been received by Col. Matheson. Its earnings for that period totalled $16,000.

Junior Gym. Classes Gave Demonstration

Many Spectators Witnessed the Saturday Afternoon Event at Y. W. C. A.—Interesting Programme of Exercises Given by the Junior Pupils—Musical Numbers Were Interspersed—Excellent Progress Has Been Made Under Miss Adams.

REDUCED RATES ARE OFFERED

Over one hundred spectators attended the demonstration of the junior Y.W.C.A. gymnasium classes which took place at the building on Saturday afternoon. Like the kindred exhibition given on the previous evening by the senior girls, the affair was a distinct success, the pupils performing the various exercises and intricate drills with utmost credit to themselves and their instructor, Miss Adams, physical directress of the Y.W.C.A. The programme of calisthenics was pleasingly interspersed with musical selections, which were a large factor in the evening's enjoyment.

The work in the junior classes, like that in the senior, is progressing favourably. The attendance is growing rapidly, while the enthusiasm also continues to increase at a proportionate rate.

During the evening a piano solo was rendered with musicianly expression and a very considerable technical proficiency by Miss Kathleen Burnett. A violin duet by Misses Kathleen Wallis and Marguerite Burnett was also a most pleasing number, the rendering evidencing an artistic finish, and a sympathetic interpretation of the selection. A pianoforte selection by Miss Gladys Crane was also charmingly rendered with fine regard for shading and expression.

The exercises of the afternoon comprised drills, marches and calisthenics, the work upon the Swedish stall bars being a feature.

As half of the term of the classes has now expired, a reduced rate in tuition fees is now being offered, and many new pupils are being added to the class, of which about twenty-five took part in the demonstration on Saturday afternoon. The excellent progress which has been made during the short period since Miss Adams took charge of the work, justifies the anticipation of a highly successful future.

T. Barrie & Co. Giving Presents In Spot Cash

A Christmas Innovation That Buyers Will "Catch On" Quick—Cash Gifts According to Size of Purchase.

"Cash is king," every time, when it comes to getting the most for your money. This is a practical demonstration of the fact that the fur firm of Thomas Barrie & Co., have adopted for this week.

As a Christmas gift purchasers will receive a present in spot cash of the following sums, in proportion to the amount of their individual purchases. This sensible inducement is offered by Messrs. Thomas Barrie & Co., instead of giving away calendars, etc., at this season of the year.

$1.00 in cash with any fur article purchased, valued at $3.50 to $5.00.
1.50 in cash with any fur article purchased, valued at $6.00 to $10.00.
2.00 in cash with any fur article purchased, valued at $11.00 to $15.00.
$2.50 in cash with any fur article purchased, valued at $16.00 to $20.00.
$3.50 in cash with any fur article purchased, valued at $21.00 to $30.00.
$4.00 in cash with any fur article purchased, valued at $31.00 to $40.00.
$5.00 in cash with any fur article purchased, valued at $41.00 to $50.00.

If our customers would rather take goods than cash, we will give 10 per cent. additional value in goods, instead of $1.00 cash, $1.10 worth of goods, etc.

Large Purchase Of Local Buyer

Hogs Have Dropped 10 Cents on Local Market During Last Week.

Mr. W. A. Stabler, buyer for the Geo. Matthews Company, has purchased 336 hogs for that firm at $5.90 a hundred. Hogs have dropped 10 cents on Peterborough markets in the last week and about 25 cents on Toronto and other eastern Canadian markets. Mr. Stabler states that shippers sending their hogs (live weight) east, can get no more than $6.25 or $637 per cwt., for hogs as they are taken from the cars. Seeing that the prices have dropped to such an extent in the east, it is in the best interests of local breeders to sell to Peterborough buyers. The spring hogs are, generally speaking, in good condition now for the English markets, and as the price will probably continue to drop, now is the proper time to dispose of them.

Mr. Stabler shipped a load of 57 hogs to the Lang Packing Company, Montreal, the total net weight being 2,086 lbs.

Saturday's Group A Difficult One

The picture in The Examiner on Saturday was the most difficult of the series, and only three persons have identified it. The first was Mr. D. H. Burritt, and shortly afterwards Dr. Burnham telephoned in an identification. Mr. Geo. Edwards called at the office this morning and he recognized the seven men.

They were Messrs. C. W. Kemp, a druggist, formerly a resident of Peterborough; the late Mr. R. B. Mowat, who was formerly with the bank of Commerce? Mr. A. D. Braithwaite, at present manager of the Bank of Montreal, New York City; A. H. Macdougall, C. E., of New Ontario; Richard Cluxton, of Minnesota; E. H. D. Hall and R. E. Wood, the two latter at present residing in this city.

A number of persons telephoned in and recognized some of those in the picture, but they could not recall all the names.

Yesterday At Park Street

The first sermon of the "Heart Throb" series was preached last night by Rev. A. H. Brace, to a large congregation at the Park street Baptist church. At the close of the sermon a short reception service followed, three more being received into the church and those recently baptised took there first communion.

Fire Protection To Be Discussed

To-night the joint committee to consider the question of improved fire protection will meet in the City Clerk's office at 8 o'clock, when the policy to be adopted in bringing the matter of the by-law to the attention of the ratepayers will be adopted.

Brock Street Rink Opening

First Skating of Season Will Take Place To-night.

To-night the Brock street rink will open to skaters for the season. The ice is in good condition and the 57th Band will be in attendance. This season the management has made a number of improvements, which the patrons will appreciate no doubt. The prospects are that there will be a greater number of nights available for skating this season, than in former years, on account of the fact that there will be only one O.H.A. team here and no Trent Valley League team.

Strangers' Tea At St. John's

Forty-nine Were Present at the Event.

The Strangers' Tea, which was given last night at St. John's church proved a most delightful affair, viewed from social or other aspects.

Forty-nine guests were present, of whom twenty-three were strangers. Short addresses were given by the strangers, explanatory of their occupation, length of residence, etc., and a most enjoyable time was spent socially.

The committee in charge of the affair are to be congratulated upon the successful result of their efforts. The committee was composed of Messrs. Chas. Goodacre, convenor; Charles H. Reid, and T. Dawson. The menu was of a most appetizing character and was supplied through the kindness of a number of friends, who subscribed towards defraying the expenses.

Weekly Recital Was Enjoyed

Clever Musicians at the Conservatory of Music.

The regular Saturday afternoon recital of the Peterborough Conservatory of Music last Saturday was one of the most thoroughly enjoyed of the series. Those who contributed to the programme were pupils of Miss Alice Roger, Mr. Van der water and Mr. Gilbert Markle. They distinguished themselves by their splendid work, and well deserved the warm applause which was accorded them.

Bird sketch in F; Lack, Arietta, Miss Lottie Davidson.
Andrews, Wandering Knight's Song, Mr. Sawers.
(a) Bohm, the Fountain; (b) Jungmann, Will o' the Wisp... ... ...G. Seward

York County Shareholders Name Committee

The council chamber was packed to the doors, and many were unable to gain admittance, this afternoon, when the meeting of the shareholders of the York County Loan and Savings Company, was held. Fully ninety-five per cent. of those present were ladies, and a number had babies in their arms.

The Mayor occupied the chair, and explained the object of the meeting.

It was decided, in view of the fact that only a small proportion of the shareholders could be present, to call another meeting of the shareholders Thursday night in the market hall at 8 o'clock, when further action can be taken.

It was stated that there were in Peterborough more than 1,200 shareholders in the company, and many necessarily were absent from this meeting.

The business transacted is embodied in the following motion:

Moved by O. K. Martin, seconded by Ald. Batten, that Mayor Best, Ald. Hicks, E. H. D. Hall and J. Ozias de Laplante be a committee appointed by this meeting of the shareholders of the York County Loan and Savings Company, to attend another meeting, and to take such other action as may be deemed necessary.

The meeting then adjourned until Thursday.

Brantford Will Have New 'Phone

Mr. W. H. Lytle Has Returned From That City.

Mr. W. H. Lytle, local manager of the Canadian Machine Telephone Company, returned from Brantford Saturday night, in which city he had been for a couple of days in the interest of his company. It will be remembered that a deputation of Brantford Aldermen visited this city a short time ago to inspect the Telephone Company, with which they 'phones of the Canadian Machine were highly pleased.

Mr. Lytle stated to the Examiner that an agreement for franchise between the Telephone Committee of the Brantford City Council and the Machine Telephone Company had been drawn up and that the Brantford Council will consider the matter to-night. He is very optimistic regarding the success of the telephone and predicts a successful future for it in this city and Brantford, as well as in the other cities and towns in which it will be installed later on. Mr. Lytle says that the Company's work will be completed in Peterborough this winter. He says that it will be necessary to finish the work in Peterborough and Brantford before it can be taken up in other towns.

Three gangs of men are out to-day wiring different places in readiness for installation of machine 'phones and the company is kept very busy keeping up with the numerous orders. Those who have these telephones in their residences or places of business are very much pleased with them and state that they are giving the greatest of satisfaction.

ADMINISTRATIONS GO DOWN.

In Italy and in Greece New Governments Are Necessary.

Rome, Dec. 18.—The Cabinet of Prime Minister Fortis resigned last evening, following a twelve-hour debate in the Chamber of Deputies and the defeat by the opposition of the commercial modus vivendi with Spain. The sitting was a most exciting one.

The poll on confidence in the Government resulted in an affirmative majority of 63, but that on the modus vivendi was lost by a majority of 162. The Ministry then resigned.

Athens, Dec. 18.—The Cabinet of M. Rahi resigned yesterday as the result of the defeat of the Government over the election of a president of the Chamber of Deputies. King George has summoned former Premier Theotokis to form a new Cabinet.

The British Campaign.

London, Dec. 18.—The great political campaign in the United Kingdom will be fairly inaugurated during this week, when the new Prime Minister, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, will speak at Albert Hall London, and Mr. Balfour at Leeds. It is expected the respective leaders of the Government and opposition then will outline the main issues and platforms of their parties.

Lord Strathcona Ill.

London, Dec. 18.—Lord Strathcona has posponed for a few days his visit to Canada. The Canadian Associated Press has heard that Sir. Thos. Barlow has forbidden Strathcona to leave the house, but probably Strathcona will sail by the Campania on the 23rd. His illness, the Canadian Associated Press is informal, is not a serious nature, though the knee is slightly painful.

First Hockey Game of Season

On Saturday afternoon at All Saints rink, the north and south ends of the brass department of the Canadian General Electric Co., played a "friendly" game of hockey. The game was exceedingly fast throughout, the teams being pretty evenly matched. The score was 1—0 at half time in faovur of the south end; and at full time 2 all.

The tie will be played off next Saturday when the north end will be snowed under. The south end is determined to win out, and next Saturday will see an exceedingly fast game.

Goal umpires — "Dutchy" Dormer and Curtis. "Chubby" O'Connor officiated as referee to the satisfaction of both teams. — Com.

The fair sex of Marmora are firm believers in out-door exercise and met Monday evening at Misses McWilliams' Millinery Shore, to organize a hockey club.

The following officers were elected:

President—Mrs. H. R. Pearce.
Vice-President—Mrs. Gosline.
Manager—Mrs. McDonnell.
Sec.-Treas.—Miss M. Sullivan.
Executive Committee.—Misses E. McWilliams, M. O'Connor, and M. Jones.

Misses S. McWilliams and C. Eastwood were appointed a special committee on finance and to make arrangements with the rink managers, re practices and matches.

The girls are quite enthusiastic and anxious to show other teams how hockey should be played.

• • • •

To-morrow night a meeting of the Charlotte Street Young Men's Guild will be held to organize the hockey team for the season.

• • • •

The suggestion is made that it would be a good idea for the senior team to elect a captain to-night, so that some one can be made responsible for getting the players into shape.

• • • •

On Saturday night the first hockey practice of the season in the Brock street rink was held. There were about fifteen men on the ice and two hours of hard work were indulged in. From the men on the ice Saturday and from those available who were not out, it seems certain that a strong team can be chosen.

• • • •

To-night the following seniors are asked to turn out to practice at seven o'clock:—Fitzpatrick, Watson, Glover, Crowley, Regan, Morgan, Graham, Parnell, Cavanah, Edwards, Currier, Watson, Clough, Lynch, Meagher, Whitcroft, McGrath.

"Ratepayer" Wants Some Information

As to the Actions of the Aldermen of the Past Year—Wants Financial Statement Presented—Asks for Information About Expenditures.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I would like to know a few words to the aldermen and City Council. I would like to know what business you have transacted during the last year. For instance: What by-laws have been brought into force and what has been rescinded or defeated? What money has been given towards deputations? What money has been spent on public institutions? How much on public improvement on our properties excluding the valuations of property where new houses have been built upon? That is, what is the amount of increased improvements separate from the increase in the valuation of property by the assessor. In fact, I can not understand why we, as ratepayers, can not have a pamphlet giving an account of the doings of our city Council during their time of office. I know there are excuses to keep this knowledge back from the public; as it is not the end of the year, or that it is too cumbersome to give us so much knowledge, or that we can obtain it by other means.

I will venture to say, by way of suggestion, that if our City Fathers would print 500 or 1,000 condensed pamphlets, giving us somewhat of a detailed account of this last year's business, and offered them for sale, that they would be readily bought up, and that they would be remunerated for their progressive action. Then again, our coming aldermen will ask us, by a twelve-line or more advertisement, for our vote and influence, stating they will act for our best interests. Now, I intend, with others, to use my influence against men who aspire for office as city aldermen unless they are willing to enumerate the different planks of their platform on which they come to the people to ask for our assistance. The time has come that we, as citizens, must look for men of high culture and broad minds; men who are financiers, and that they have proven themselves so in the past. It is the business man we want to act in the capacity of alderman, and it is the business man we must have.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. Samuel Shaw Was Very Bad

Found Guilty on Two Charges at the Police Court This Morning.

The evidence against Samuel Shaw at the Police Court this morning was too strong to provide any loophole for escape from the heavy hand of the law. Samuel appeared on a dual charge, that of being drunk and disorderly and also of using grossly abusive and insulting language towards his boarding house mistress, who together with the lady who was her next door neighbour, gave very damaging evidence against the accused.

On the charge of being drunk and disorderly, Shaw gave the usual plausible story and admitted buying sundry drinks at different hotels, but argued that he was in no way boisterous or disorderly.

"You're not charged with being drunk and disorderly, but simply with being found drunk in a public in a public place," said His Worship.

The prisoner got very much tangled up in giving this evidence and was guilty on both charges."

"Four dollars and sixty cents," said the court, "to be paid forthwith."

The money was not forthcoming so Samuel Shaw, shoemaker, Toronto, is the latest guest to register at the Hotel Nesbitt.

Crisis Reached In York County Loan Company

National Trust Company Is Appointed Liquidator.

OF YORK COUNTY LOAN CO

Government Investigation to Go On—Shareholders Advised That They Need No Longer Continue Payments — Should Not Part With Their Rights — Affairs Not So Hopeless as Some Thought.

Toronto, Dec. 18.—In pursuance of the winding-up order granted by Judge Teetzel Saturday, the assets of the York County Loan and Savings Company are now in the hands of the provisional liquidator, the National Trust Co., appointed by the court, and who have sent notices of dismissal to the 500 agents of the defunct company, and have warned the shareholders against selling out their interests to speculators or paying any further premiums to agents. Examination so far enables them to say the assets appear substantial and there is no cause for alarm.

As to the effect upon the subsidiary companies, no information is yet obtainable.

The liquidating company expect to report to the court upon the securities on Wednesday.

Shareholders' Opinions.

The Toronto shareholders' committee next Saturday night, and, without being fully posted as to events, expressed some dissatisfaction with regard to the winding-up order and confidence in the Government investigation. Similar opinions were voiced by Attorney-General Foy Saturday. Attorney-General Campbell of Manitoba is on his way here to consult Hon. Mr. Foy, regarding the matter.

The assignment of the York County Loan was precipiated Saturday morning by the flood of writs issued by stampeding shareholders, many of the actions being due to-day, and the announcement of the Government investigation, which the Attorney-General has decided will continue in spite of the winding up order, and with W. H. Cross as investigator, who will have the assistance of the National Trust Co., appointed by the court to liquidate the defunct concern.

In Possession.

The officers of the National Trust Co., provisional liquidators, went up to the offices of the York County Loan Co., Saturday night and took formal possession of books, papers, etc., and among the formalities was the usual one of changing the combination of the safes, which will be kept henceforward by the liquidators.

A large sum of money, the amount of which could not be ascertained, was received, consisting of balances in the hands of agents, collected prior to the winding-up. A great deal more is expected this morning from agents all over the country. When pressed as to the amounts received, W. T. White, manager of the National Trust, said the information would be given to the court first.

The National Trust Co., has arranged to take possession to-day of the branch offices of the York County Loan in Sydney, Halifax, St. John., Montreal, Ottawa, Hamilton, London, Winnipeg and Vancouver through their officers and correspondents. All these offices have been notified of the liquidation by wire and requested to announce in the newspapers that no further payments be made to agents of the York Loan.

Assets Substantial.

It appears the assets are of a very substantial nature, and the public should be warned against selling out their rights or interests on account of the feeling of uncertainty which always follows a winding up.

The provisional liquidator hopes to be able to make a report as to the securities of the company, through the court, on Wednesday next.

The liquidator was unable to give any opinion as to the relationship of the York County Loan with any of the so-called subsidiary companies there.

Attorney-General Foy, when apprised of the liquidation said that was no bar to the Government inquiry, and he had no doubt liquidators would facilitate Government officers work.

No joy or pleasure on this earth quite equals that which comes into the home when baby arrives. Who can describe the happiness of man and woman, joined in wedlock, as they look upon the fragile, delicate mite that is blood of their blood and flesh of their flesh? And who can depict the hopelessness and dejection that hover about the home where the wife is incapable of becoming a mother? Barrenness proceeds from some derangement of the distinctly feminine organs. Many of the common ailments known as "female troubles" cause it. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription overcomes barrenness by stamping out diseases of women, and by healing and curing ulceration. It tones up the system, stops drains, and restores strength. During gestation it modifies morning sickness, gives elasticity to the overstrained parts concerned, makes the hour of baby's coming short and almost painless, and gives wonderful recuperative power to the patient. By making the mother strong and cheerful, it makes the little one healthy, vigorous and good natured. Insist upon the medicine dealer giving you Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription when you ask for it. Substitutes are often dangerous.

Mrs. James W. Blacker, of 629 Catherine St., Syracuse, N. Y., writes: "Your medicines have done wonders for me. For years my health was very poor; I had four miscarriages, but since taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Favorite Prescription' I have much better health, and now I have a fine healthy baby."

For 21 one-cent stamps to cover cost of mailing only, you can get a free copy of that celebrated doctor book, the Common Sense Medical Adviser, 1008 pages, illustrated. Cloth-bound, 50 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

White Terror Has Returned To Russians

Workmen's Council At Capital Declare General Strike.

GOVERNMENT ANTICIPATES

Battle Royal In Prospect, as Ukase Clothes Governors of Provinces With Almost Dictatorial Powers — Red Flags Are Waving In the Baltic Provinces—Revolutionists Are In Full Possession at Riga.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 18.—A shudder of horror has convulsed Russia. The Government claims it has given daily battle only to the "red" revolutionists, but the populace generally believes that the "white terror" has returned. Already the leaders of the proletariat organization who escaped capture Saturday night at the Economic Society and even men of the rank of Prof. Miliukoff, are in hiding from the police, who are hunting them down. The Government evidently anticipates a battle royal, and has made its dispositions accordingly. It fully understands that the proletariat will give blow for blow and answer the wholesale arrest.

A General Strike.

The Workmen's Council and the League of Leagues Saturday night issued a declaration of a general strike to begin immediately and consequently by an Imperial ukase published yesterday morning, all Governors-general, Governors and prefects throughout the Empire, who are cut off by telegraph, are clothed with almost dictatorial powers, being authorized without consulting St. Petersburg, to declare a siege and if necessary martial law.

Resolved on Repression.

Every development goes to show that the Government is resolved to make an attempt to repress the agitation now existing throughout Russia and restore order in the Empire at any cost.

News from the interior last night is very serious. The revolt in the Baltic has spread southward to the Province of Kovno on the border of Poland, which belong to the old Kingdom of Lithuania. The rebellion in Kursk is beyond control and the Government has information that a serious uprising is in course of preparation in the Ural regions.

An Official Warning.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 18.—An official communication has been published especially warning those groups opposed to the carrying out of the reforms promised in the Imperial manifesto of Oct. 30, whose tenets are revolutionary and socialistic, whose tactics are anarchistic, and who aim at the disorganization of the country, by the stoppage of the posts and telegraphs that, should the ordinary laws fail to stem the tide of revolution, the Government will have recourse altogether to exceptional measures.

Moscow Intensely Alarmed.

Moscow, Dec. 17.—(By telephone to St. Petersburg, Dec. 18.)—There is intense alarm among the population here because of the news from St. Petersburg of the inauguration by the Government of a policy of repression. Troops of the garrison are in open mutiny, and there are fears of a massacre by the "Black Hundred" Tuesday next, as proclamations have been issued inviting people to the red square of the Kremlin.

The Grenadiers of the Nesvithk Regiment Saturday went to the barracks of the Rostoff Regiment to induce the sappers quartered there to join them. The mutiny commenced in the Nesvithk Regiment, the members of which marched to the barracks singing the Marseillaise, and asked their comrades to join in their insistance for liberties wrested from the people by the Government.

They secured acquisitions from several regiments. Finally they were met by Sumyihad Dragoons, who fired a blank volley, and thereupon they retreated to their barracks, locked themselves in, and sent a deputation to the colonel and forced him to surrender the colors of the regiment, which are now in their possession.

They mounted machine guns and defied the Sumysha Regiment, and the other loyal troops, which surrounded the mutineers.

Three other Grenadier regiments, the Ekaterinoslav, the Taurid and the Nesvish and the Artillery garrison, in full sympathy with their Rostoff comrades, compelled all their officers to leave the barracks. The mutineers formally presented to Gen. Plavoffski, the division commander, a series of demands, principally relating to the service, but including also political reforms, and issued an appeal to the soldiers of the garrison to join in the fight for improved conditions.

A Fiery Appeal.

Accompanying the demand was an ultimatum that if they are not granted by Tuesday next the mutineers would march out to the streets and parade the city.

"All Russia has risen against the Government, which has involved the country in a useless war and brought it to the verge of ruin. We soldiers are firmly determined to break down the tyranny of our commanders and compel reform in the army. Now is the time for us soldiers to awake. Comrades, we summon you to dismiss your officers and to assume command until your grievances are redressed. All for one, and one for all. Hurrah fo the army."

Col. Semanoyski, of the Grenadiers, overcome by shame, sent his sword to the Emperor and resigned.

The Balloon Comes Down.

But the mutiny collapsed ignominously last night, owing to internal dissensions, and the discontent of a large portion of the soldiers with the program of the Socialist leaders, who wished to force them into open collision with the loyal troops.

After a meeting late yesterday afternoon, two battalions and a machine gun detachment deserted. The mutineers sent a deputation to Gen. Plavoffski, saying they had returned to duty, imploring his pardon, and volunteering to enter the barracks and seize the revolutionary committee so as to prove their repentence.

Upon Gen. Plavoffski's ultimatum that he would open fire unless they immediately surrendered the remaining mutineers laid down their arms and delivered up Private Schabaroff and other members of the revolutionary committee, as well as several civilian agitators, who were in the barracks.

Revolutionists In Full Control.

Berlin, Dec. 18.—A despatch to The Lokal Anzeiger, from Rigat, dated Dec. 13, via ship to Reval, thence by messenger to St. Petersburg, and thence by courier to Eydtkuhnen, East Prussia Saturday says:

Lithuanian workmen to-day attempted to force their way into an electric light power house, which was occupied by troops. A volley was fired into the crowd killing twelve men. The rest fled. All the factory employes are striking and business is suspended.

The Librarian revolutionists hold all the approaches to the town, seize all vehicles and slaughter the horses.

LATEST TURKISH TROUBLE.

Strenuously Fighting a Revolutionary Outbreak In Transcaucasia.

Constantinople, Dec. 18.—The international fleet which has been making a demonstration in Turkish waters has been recalled.

A despatch received here from Batoum, in the Government of Kutais, Transcaucasia, reports the outbreak of a revolution there. It says that the streets were barricaded, and that there streets were barricaded, and that fierce fighting took place.

The military employed artillery, and many persons, including subjects of the Ottoman Empire, was killed.

In response to a request made by the Turkish Consul, the Porte is now arranging for the despatch of vessels to Batoum to bring back refugees.

The despatch says that a similar state of affairs prevails in Poti, in the same Government, and in the Town of Kutais.

U. S. Fishing Boat Seized.

Trinity College And Its Claims Were Presented

Rev. F. E. Roy Presided Yesterday in St. John's Church—The Effort to Raise the Endowment of Trinity College to $600,000—The Needs of That Institution — Other Colleges Have Large Endowments—Trinity Has Only $125,000.

TWO EXCELLENT SERMONS PREACHED

Yesterday at St. John's church, sermons were preached at both services by Rev. F. E. Roy, who is in the city representing Trinity University. The object is to endeavour to raise the endowment fund of that institution to about $600,000, to place it in as good a financial condition as the other universities, and to do this about half a million dollars are required.

At the morning service Rev. Mr. Roy took for his text Acts iv, 35, "And he laid them down at the apostles' feet, and distribution was made to every man, according as he had need."

The speaker remarked that the four Gospels only gave us a partial account of our Saviour's doings and sayings while on earth. John's Gospel closes with the statement that the world would not contain them. Christ knew best what to give us, and what would do us the most good. One saying of Christ's, and the only one which is recorded outside of the four Gospels, preserved to us through the Apostle Paul, is "Remember what the Lord hath said, It is more blessed to give than to receive." This season, he said, was the most appropriate time of the year. The preacher then went on to make his appeal on behalf of Trinity University. He said, in substance, "I will give you three reasons why we should deny ourselves, on behalf of these objects: God gave His only Son, and such unselfishness! And we have farmers and merchants who hoard up their cattle, etc., and would not give, stating as a reason that they have worked hard for it, and would not give it. Again, it is more blessed to give than to receive, because it is more like Christ. Where shall I begin and where shall I end, in telling of the giving of Christ. He gave light to the blind, life to the dead, and many more instances which I could relate. Yet how many Christians make very, very long faces, when they are asked to give! The whole journey of Christ to and from His blessed throne on high is one journey of giving.

"Again, it is more blessed to give than it is to receive, because it is more like Heaven. In Heaven we are told we will give praise and honour and glory to the Most High. There is one sin that gives more trouble and misery in this world than any other. From the garden of Eden to the present time it has caused misery untold."

He then presented the claims of Trinity University. It is by Royal charter the university of the Church of England in the province of Ontario. It is governed by the whole church in the province. The reason for establishing the college was that when in 1847 an act was passed establishing the present University of Toronto, all religion was erased from the curriculum of the old King's College, and, therefore, the different denominations went to work and Trinity, Queens, Victoria McMaster and Knox Colleges were established. Trinity received a charter as a university of the Church of England. Goldwin Smith has given his opinion, "That education without religion is nothing worth." The State in 1851 decided not to give any support towards any religious denominational colleges, and that is the reason why we are applying to the churchmen of the province for the support. He went on to compare the other colleges with Trinity. Victoria has $800,000 and Queens $700,000, or thereabout. Trinity preserves a residential college similar to Oxford and Cambridge. Her endowment is only about $125,000. Are you going to sit down and fold your arms and do nothing. Then your university will never occupy the place she ought. It has done a noble national work. He cited the lives of Bishop Baldwin, Sir Gilbert Parker, Sir John Burfoot and many other prominent men of our country. They were now starting to raise $500,000 to endow the University of Trinity College, and place her in the position she ought to hold. They had offers from some of the prominent churchmen of $125,000 if the balance of the half million they wished to raise, was subscribed.

In the evening Rev. Mr. Roy again referred to the claims of Trinity College, his text being Psalms 95: 2, "Let us come before His presence with thanksgiving, and make a joyful noise unto Him with psalms." He went on to speak of the true meaning of thanksgiving. He referred to the many reasons which Canadians had to be thankful. God has given Canadians a great heritage. The Dominion covers more than one-third of the British Empire.

He then drew attention to some of the needs of the church, and in this connection the need of the youth of the church for higher education. The people of this province, he said, were proud of the system of education in Ontario. He believed however, that the children were not given the amount of Christian education they should have. Rev. Mr. Roy then referred to Trinity College and its needs. This college, he said, followed the example of Oxford and Cambridge Universities in its residential system. He spoke of the great advantages which this system possessed over the non-residential colleges. In the former there is the teaching of discipline and all influences that surround the student are such as tend to build up a strong manhood.

He hoped that the church would appreciate the need for the increase of the endowment of this institution.

Rev. Mr. Roy will remain in the city during this week.

Mr. Jolliffe's Singing Enjoyed

Young Peterborough Vocalist Sang at Strolling Players' Studio.

Mr. R. Norman Jolliffe, the talented young Peterborough vocalist, has been receiving first honours in Toronto. On Saturday he sang at the Strolling Players' Studio. The Globe, speaking of it, says: The large number of visitors to the Strolling Players' Studio on Saturday were charmed by the musical programme presented by Mrs. Blight. Miss Jessie Allen played some delightful selections on the piano: Miss Jean Sutherland and Mr. Jolliffe giving some songs which were an immense pleasure to the audience, Mr. Jolliffe being obliged to twice repeat his last number.

The tribute of The Mail and Empire is: Mrs. H. M. Blight arranged a most enjoyable programme of music for the members of the Strolling Players' Club and their friends on Saturday afternoon, when Miss Jean Sutherland sang "My Love Is Like the Red, Red Rose," and Miss Jessie Allen played Chopin's "Ballade," in G minor. Mr. Jolliffe delighted the hundred odd people present with a selection from "Tannhauser," and he afterwards sang "Dearie," from "Sergeant True," and d'Hardalot's "Because," both of which elicited enthusiastic applause. Mrs. Blight herself accompanied.

Improvements to Fire Protection Are in Sight

An Enthusiastic Meeting of the Fire, Water and Light Committee and Citizens Held Last Night—General Feeling is One of Extreme Hopefulness---Manufacturers Believe By-law Will Carry.

FACILITIES FOR FIRE FIGHTING MUCH NEEDED

That the Fire Protection Bylaw will carry on January 1st, was the opinion expressed last night at the meeting of the Joint Committee of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, and citizens, and there seems little ground to doubt the truth of the assertion. The meeting last night was held for the purpose of discussing the question, and making definite arrangements.

Those who were present were most hopeful, and the prospect now seems to be that the bylaw, since it has been more thoroughly understood by the ratepayers, will carry.

Mr. Robert Fair, representing with Mr. H. LeBrun, the Retail Merchants' Association, and Mr. T. F. Matthews, representing the Manufacturers, addressed the meeting, and expressed their opinion that from all that they had been able to learn, the prospects for the bylaw carrying, were of the brightest. The reasons for its defeat early in the year were attributed to the fact that the ratepayers had not understood it fully, but now that the matter had been presented to them in a proper light there seemed to be a general feeling that it was something which the city stood in absolute need of, and that the improvements should be made.

Ald. Johnston stated that a voter had told him that while he had been opposed to the bylaw on the occasion of taking the previous vote, he was prepared to support it now, because he understood it more fully, and was convinced that it was a step in the right direction, and one in which the council should be supported by the ratepayers.

All those who spoke at the meeting last night were most hopeful for the fate of the bylaw, and the feeling was pretty general that this time the ratepayers were appreciating the necessity for the improvement of the fire protection of the city, and that they were prepared to vote for the improvements suggested.

The Canadian Machine Co. Gets Franchise

Brantford City Council Grants 21-Year Franchise to Canadian Machine Telephone Company--Word Was Received Here To-day—Price of 'Phones is $15 and $25 --Decision Reached Last Night--One Year to do Work

ANOTHER TRIUMPH FOR THE AUTOMATIC

The Canadian Machine Telephone Company has won out in Brantford. Last night the City Council granted the company a franchise for twenty-one years. There has been a bitter fight on in the Telephone City for the franchise, three companies being in the field, the Ontario, the Bell and the Canadian, the latter being the only one offering an automatic system. As was reported in these colums a few days ago, the Telephone Committee of the Council decided to recommend to the Council that they grant the franchise to the automatic company, and last night the report was adopted. The price of 'phones is $15 and $25 per year.

The company expects to start work on the streets by May 1, and they have a year after date of the franchise to complete the installation.

Mr. W. H. Lytle stated to-day that the company would complete the work here before they start at Brantford. Mr. Lorimer received a telegram this morning from Mr F. D. Mackay in Brantford, informing him of the fact that the franchise had been secured.

Shareholders Meet Thursday

Those Interested in York County Loan to Gather in Court House.

This morning the committee composed of Mayor Best, Ald. Hicks, E. H. D. Hall and J. Ozias de Laplante, appointed at the meeting of the York County Loan Company shareholders yesterday, met this morning in the city clerk's office and arranged for the meeting to be held on Thursday night. It was decided to hold the meeting in the Court House, in view of the fact that there were no lights or seats in the market hall. This was all the business transacted by this committee. The future action of the shareholders will depend altogether on the action taken at that meeting.

A prominent legal gentleman today stated to The Examiner that there was no necessity now for meeting at all. Since the assets of the company have been handed over to the National Trust Company, as liquidators, the shareholders could do nothing but wait until they had completed their work.

Before the assignment they might have a necessity for the meeting, but now no good could be done by calling it. It would do no harm, however, to meet and have the situation explained to them, but no action that they could take would improve their position any.

Trouble In a Furniture Co.

Lillicrap and Tate Enter Suit Against Dickson and Morrison.

The Toronto News last night said: Suit has been entered by J. F. Lillicrap and E. R. Tate, to enjoin Archibald A. Dickson and James Morrison, of Toronto, from acting as directors of the Lakefield Furniture & Manufacturing Company, and to prevent them from pursuing the charter.

Carpenters Endorse Alderman Johnston

Last night the Carpenters' Union held their postponed meeting, when routine business was transacted. A discussion on the report of the Trades and Labour Council's alleged dissatisfaction with the action of Ald. Johnston took place, and the president of the union, the representative on the Labour Council, informed the meeting that the report as given out was not official, and that the Council had not condemned this alderman. The carpenters passed a resolution, subsequently endorsing his action in the City Council this year.

Investigation Regarding The PETERBOROUGH LIFT LOCK Was Commenced Yesterday

Progress of the Investigation—Engineers Under Examination Before Mr. Henry Holgate, C.E.—Last Evidence in Kirkfield Lock Inquiry Heard Yesterday—The Conditions of the Construction Searchingly Investigated.

The investigation into the alleged defective construction of the Peterborough Lift Lock was commenced yesterday. It is being conducted by Mr. Henry Holgate, C.E., Montreal, the witnesses being examined by Mr. D. O'Connell, barrister, City, and Mr. R. J. McLaughlin, barrister, Lindsay. The first evidence taken was that of Mr. R. B. Rogers, Superintending Engineer, which consumed the morning session.

In the afternoon the evidence of Mr. Johnston the last witness in the investigation with regard to the Kirkfield Lock was heard.

This was followed by the testimony of Mr. W. J. Francis, Divisional Engineer, of the Peterborough Lock.

Mr. Andrew Johnson testified that he is foreman for Larkin & Singster, contractors for the Kirkfield lock, commencing his duties in March, 1902. At that time two sections had been started. He was there up till December of that year, and afterwards in the spring and summer of 1903, except about six weeks. He was working foreman under Mr. Lowe. He had between forty and fifty men under him. They had twelve men at mixer, six crusher, four gravel, four to six at the casing, two at boxes. The mixer, he considered, did not do first-class work. He put on the stone first, and then dumped the gravel on. The gravel was measured in the box. The inspector and Mr. Lowe were present. A red line was placed up the box, up to which it was filled with gravel. Two Italians filled the boxes. Some slight change in the proportions were made. He did not remember the quantity of gravel being increased to a yard. The water was placed in it by a sprinkler. It went from the mixer into a box. Two sections were being built at the time, four or five men being on each side. The witness stated that there were sometimes five or six men on each casing. One man was engaged in putting on a mortar facing. If the mortar face had not been put on, three men only would have been required.

Witness was principally engaged at the mixer, looking after supplies. Most of the employees were Italians. There was only one inspector. He came to the mixer when he thought anything was wrong, but spent most of his time at the casings.

Witness did not know what was wrong with the concrete. He had seen the report of the leak. The mixer necessitated two men at the box. He thought the mixture was fairly good, but might be better. The concrete used should make a solid wall, but might not be watertight. If the water spouted out in streams there must have been something wrong with either the mixer or the tamper. The Italian labourers required to be closely watched. The cement, gravel and broken stone he considered good enough. He thought himself that the gravel was sometimes pretty rough. Some big stones were picked out sometimes. They were careful in this respect, and, as a result, he thought they had a pretty good gravel. The cause of the leak must be either in the mixing or the tamping. It would cost $1 per yard more to mix the the concrete by hand than by machine. It might make a better mixture. He had never before nor since used a mixer of that kind. He would not buy one himself like it, as it was not handy. It was manufactured by a New York firm. The gravel was inspected at the pit. He himself would like more sand in the gravel in order to secure a close mixture.

He could not recall the time that the change in the proportions of the ingredients was made to one yard broken stone, one yard of gravel and six bags of cement. He was kept pretty busy.

The mixture was put on the walls fairly wet. It would stand tamping. It was not wet enough to make it quiver all over. There were a few "plumbs" in the wall. He did not know anything of the preparation of the bottom. They could always keep it clear of water. There was very little water behind the walls.

Mr. W. J. Francis testified that he was divisional engineer in charge of the work of the Peterborough lift lock. He did not know whether there was an original plan of the drainage system, but thought not. He thought that the work was probably done from stakes on the ground. Plan P5 shows the drains that were actually put in, some of which were afterwards taken out and filled up. Commencing at the north end, the first drain, the elevation of the top of the drain, would be 89.5. At station 173 in the canal, where the leak developed, the elevation of the top of the drain was 76, and that at the bottom of the canal was 38.7. At the next station the drain elevation was 72.8, and that of the bottom of the canal 90.3. At station 174 the measurements were 69.4 and 90 respectively. At the next it was 68.2 and 90.4. At 175 (the basin) the top of the stone drain was 65, and the bottom of the canal 91.3. The elevation at the south end of the centre drain was 66.

The drains on the west side fell towards the centre, and those on the east fell from the centre. He could not explain why the drains drains from 170 to 173 were put in as he was not there at that time. They were taken out under his direction because they were not in the proper place. He took the stone drain at 173 out himself. Others he had been informed by his inspector had been taken out. He had obtained information since which would lead him to believe they were not all taken out. There was one at 171—50 not taken out. In the summer of 1903, when the water was put in, they found the bank quite tight when up to a certain point, but when above this it was not. Letting the water out, they found that the drain had not been taken out. It was plugged. This was in 1903. In 1901, it had been ordered that the drains be taken. The bank on the west side had just been started at that time, and that on the east wall. When he found that his directions had not been carried out he did not make investigations regarding the others. The canal had been widened at that point. The drain spoken of might have been under the bank, which was afterwards taken away. The mode of filling adopted was to take the stones out of the trench and the end of the drains stopped up with clay, tempered and tamped. The bottom of the canal had been filled only in the southeast portion. The drain at 173 was not taken out. His recollection was that the fill had not been carried above 173. On the east side the bank was carried up fairly level and uniformly. His recollection was that it was hollow from 173 upwards. As a matter of fact, the centre was not filled according to specifications, viz., in continuous layers carried across. It would have a tendency to cause leaks. The general elevation of the southeast end when he went on the work was 80.

Attempt To Upset The Winding-Up Order

Special Wire to the Examiner

Toronto, Dec. 19.—An attempt to upset Judge Teetzel's winding-up order in the case of the York County Loan was made before Chief Justice Meredith in single court this morning. Mr. James Bicknell, K.C., for a number of outside shareholders, made the application, arguing that the company, having a Provincial charter, could not come under the Dominion winding-up act; secondly, that the company was not insolvent and that the shareholders as such were not creditors. Chief Justice Meredith refused leave to appeal against the winding-up order on the point of insolvency. On the point as to the jurisdiction of the Dominion winding-up act, he granted leave to appeal to the Court of Appeal with the proviso, however, that the liquidation proceedings should not be stayed unless so ordered by the Court of Appeal.

JOYS OF MATERNITY

A WOMAN'S BEST HOPES REALIZED

Mrs. Potts Tells How Women Should Prepare for Motherhood

The darkest days of husband and wife are when they come to look forward to childless and lonely old age.

Many a wife has found herself incapable of motherhood owing to a displacement of the womb or lack of strength in the generative organs.

Mrs. Anna Potts

Frequent backache and distressing pains, accompanied by offensive discharges and generally by irregular and scanty menstruation indicate a displacement or nerve degeneration of the womb and surrounding organs.

The question that troubles women is how can a woman who has some female trouble bear healthy children?

Mrs. Anna Potts, of 510 Park Avenue, Hot Springs, Ark., writes:

My Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"During the early part of my married life I was delicate in health; both my husband and I were very anxious for a child to bless our home, but I had two miscarriages, and could not carry a child to maturity. A neighbor who had been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advised me to try it. I did so and soon felt that I was growing stronger, my headaches and backaches left me, I had no more bearing-down pains, and felt like a new woman. Within a year I became the mother of a strong, healthy child, the joy of our home. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is certainly a splendid remedy, and I wish every woman who wants to become a mother would try it."

Actual sterility in woman is very rare. If any woman thinks she is sterile, let her try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and write to Mrs Pinkham, Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free to expectant or would-be mothers

We're Living in a Fool's Paradise

So Says "Citizen" in Letter on Fire Protection.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—It seems to me that it is about time the people of this city awoke to the fact that there is some improvement needed in the fire-fighting equipment of Peterborough. I have just returned from a two week's trip, and I can honestly say that while I visited a number of towns of smaller sizes than Peterborough I have never run across any place where the facilities for the protection of the property against fire were so totally inadequate as they are in this city.

I want to say that I am not in business here, but I own a house in the south end of the city, and I want my property given some protection. If a fire breaks out in the neighbourhood which it is liable to do at any time what protection have we? As far as I can see we have practically none at all. It seems to me that we are living in a fool's paradise, and we are very likely to wake from our dream of security some of these nights and find that half the city has been destroyed by fire, and we will have ourselves to blame. It has happened to other places before now, and there is no assurance that it will not happen here.

I intend to work for the passing of the by-law on January first, and I feel sure that every man who looks at this matter in a proper light will do the same.

CITIZEN.

Nobody Wants To Be Alderman

Candidates for municipal honours in Belleville appear to be scarce, according to the following from the Intelligencer:

They say a municipal candidate came out for a minute or so this morning, but saw his shadow and ran like a startled fawn. There was not time to put a tag on him.

The candidates are very, very shy this year, and by jiggers it looks as though we may have to fall back on the Ladies' Aid yet.

The Brock Street Rink's Opening

Last Night Broke All Past Opening Records.

That the Brock street rink has lost none of its popularity was evidenced last night when the rink was opened for the season. For the opening night it was record-breaker. There were more skaters on the ice last night than ever before on an opening night. The ice was in splendid shape, considering the fact that the temperature was up yesterday. The 57th Band was present, and gave good satisfaction. If the weather man is friendly this season at this rink should eclipse all past records.

There will be no skating to-night, but the probabilities are for colder weather in the near future.

Philomathean Society Met

Successful Meeting Was Held Yesterday Afternoon.

Last evening, the regular meeting of the Collegiate Literary Society was held in the Y.M.C.A. hall. A most successful programme was presented, as usual. The first number was a very pleasing and exceedingly well-rendered recitation, "Curfew Shall Not Ring To-night," by Miss Nellie Hanlhan. Miss Hanlhan is to be highly complimented on her elocutionary powers, which are assuredly of no mean smart.

Then followed the customary debate. The subject was, "Resolved that the fear of punishment has more effect upon human conduct than the hope of reward." The speakers on the affirmative were, Jean Campbell, Dorothy Fessenden and Howard Jeffries. The supporters of the negative were Holden Blackwell, Estel Huffman, and Stanley Madill. None of the speakers used notes; their speeches were good, pregnant with points, and well-delivered, displaying considerable fluency. The judges' decision given by W. Harvie resulted in a victory for the affirmative.

The next number was a violin duet by Misses Burnett and Wallis; Miss Burnett and Miss Wallis are always pleasing, but were especially so last evening.

A dialogue followed, given by Miss G. Yenny and Mr. H. Johnston. It was a scene from "David Harum," and was most amusingly rendered by Miss Yenny and Mr. Johnston.

One of the most pleasing items on the evening's programme was the next, a vocal solo by Mr. H. Sawers an ex-pupil of the P.C.I. Mr. Sawers is so well-known in musical circles that it is superfluous to state how much his solos were enjoyed. Mr. Sawers' kindness in contributing to the programme was deeply appreciated, indeed.

At the close of the programme Mr. Jeffries gave a short criticism, which contained several helpful hints for the young society. After the criticism, Mr. Fife moved that a vote of thanks be tendered Mr. Sawers for his kindness. The motion was seconded by Mr. Hodgson. The President, on behalf of the society, then thanked Mr. Sawers, who made a short reply.

On the whole, it was one of the most successful meetings the Society has yet held. The meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

Ald. Leary Has Reached Mexico

Writes a Letter to Mr. Jas. Storey Talking of Arizona.

Mr. Jas. Storey has received the following letter from Ald. R. H. Leary, Sonora, Old Mexico, in which he describes the condition of his brother Charles, who was so seriously injured.

Mr. Leary's letter follows:

Dear Jim, — I arrived here yesterday, after being eight days and nights on the road. After I left the railway I had to drive 65 miles to this place; I gave a man $30 to take me in. I found my brother still living. He has a frightful gash on the head, but he is better now than when they wired me, and we have hopes of pulling him through. He tries to talk some, and a few words we can understand; but he has no use of his right side.

This is a rich country, if they could only get water. They are now drawing water ten miles, but are laying a pipe line 14 miles to bring in water to wash their gold. The mine here has been worked for three hundred years. Millions of dollars worth of gold have been taken out. Now that the Americans have come in with their up-to-date methods and machinery they are erecting a hundred stamp mill, and are spending two hundred and fifty thousand dollars. When they can get water for irrigation, they can grow three crops annually. I have seen growing oranges, lemons, olives, prunes, figs, in fact everything that grows in a warm climate. Great crops of red pepper. I have seen a Mexican woman carrying a pail of water on her head, a bundle of bedding in one hand and leading a child and donkey with the other. On the donkey's back sits the husband—smoking with a big hat on. The Mexicans live entirely out of doors in a yard of mud. Their donkeys, pigs, cow, sheep and chickens all live together. They all sit flat on the ground and lie in the dirt. The pigs are the only thing they tie up. They put a rope round the neck and behind the fore legs. I have seen the Mexicans plowing with one horse and a crooked stick. That is the only plow they have. This is a very old country, but it is about 300 years behind the times. As to when I'll get away from here, I do not know. It entirely depends on Charlie. I will write you again. Write me and let me know how everything is, and what kind of weather you are having. It is very warm here and we are living in a tent. Kind remembrances to every one.

Rev. H. McQuade At Havelock

Bridgenorth Pastor Preaches Anniversary Sermons.

Rev. Henry McQuade of Bridgenorth, preached anniversary sermons to Havelock and Trent Bridge Methodist congregations last Sunday. During Mr. McQuade's pastorate in Havelock, in recent years, through his instrumentality the debt on the old church was paid, and the present fine church was built on the site of the old one, and after an absence of two years he was invited back to aid in removing the last two thousand dollars debt from the new church. Mr. McQuade is very highly esteemed and popular in the Havelock and Trent Bridge congregations. The large congregations that assembled on Sunday to hear him and the liberal financial response to his appeals, gave evidence of this. Mr. McQuade's sermons were most appropriate, eloquent and effective.

Smallpox Cases In Foxborough

The Belleville Intelligencer says that Dr. Faulkner, Medical Health Officer for Thurlow Township, informs it that some five or six cases of smallpox were discovered in Forboro on Saturday, the cases being confined to two families. The houses of the families in question have been quarantined, and everything possible is being done in the interests of public health. The Foxboro schools and churches have been closed for the present.

Of the many hundreds of icebergs seen by Captain Scott's party upon the occasion of his last Antarctic expedition, very few exceeded a mile in length or 150 feet in height. The largest berg was off King Edward's Land, apparently a round, and it was estimated at about five or six miles in length, and it seemed to run back for an equal distance.

The Lift Lock Investigation

The east embankment had been built and the west had not. From 173 south it had probably been built according to specifications. The east embankment had been built. The bottom of the canal and the western embankment were built at the same time. The drains were built under Mr. Greenwood's supervision, Mr. Spence being his assistant.

In taking out the drains he did not recall that they had been covered. He thought it would have been well to have put sawdust upon it. He had built a short portion of a stone drain at the back of the wall, from 176 to the end, in 1901. It was is built in the bank. It is the only drain in the embankment. There are no additional drains not shown in the system except those outside of the walls. There is a system of stone drains close up against the walls. The elevations are: Bottom of bottom drain, 49; bottom of next drain, 64. The vertical section's elevation is 79, the bottom of the canal being 92. This system passes close up against the wing walls. Some are 2x2 and some 1x1 in size. He took out the drain at 173 because the contractors used it for carrying the water to the other drains, to where the fountain now is. The contractors would not take them out before. The water collecting escaped at drain 173. The contractors took out the other drains first. When he took it out the sides of the trench were 11 feet deep, and carefully filled it with clay to an elevation of 81. He had filled the drain 26 feet to the east and 31 feet to the west. He took the drain out as a safeguard and not on account of any leak. No work has been done at it since. It is over that that the hole in the bottom of the canal has developed, which would apparently go to show a connection between the water in the canal and the drain.

There is possibly a percolation there. It could not go through the filling which he put in and it is reasonable to suppose that it goes through the unfilled portion. No examination has been made of the hole which has developed. To the west side of the portion of the drain filled there is a considerable "battering." The filling would be against a steep slope. He had charge of the embankment when it was built. The material which went into it was all right. It is a stone and clay embankment, with a small proportion of stone and gravel.

Mr. McLaughlin—We find that in that drain though filled so perfectly as you state, a big hole has developed. I am told that there is a hole that is at least 10x10 feet which which goes right down to the drain. There must be some defect. Can you explain it?

Witness—No. It was done with utmost care. The water must be carrying the stuff out.

Mr. McLaughlin—Would the pressure developed by 9.3 feet of water carry away 12 feet of good earth right down into that drain?

Witness—The way the work was done, I am not surprised. I protested at the time. I tried to fill the canal up to grade at that place but was not permitted to do so.

Mr. McLaughlin—By whose orders?

Witness—Mr. Schrieber, Chief Engineer.

Mr. McLaughlin—At what time?

The drain was filled in September, 1901. The drain was exposed.

Mr. McLaughlin—Why was it necessary to take out the drain. There are twelve feet of earth over it.

Witness—It was a slimy mud hole, and it was done, to clean out the objectionable matter. He had made a coffer dam. He had not taken the ends of the drain our because he thought he was low enough down. He thought it would be all right. If he were doing the work over again, would do it in the same way. He was incapable of devising any plan which would have closed the hole up effectively. He would not say that the present leak cannot be fixed. It might be fixed with sand and gravel.

Mr. McLaughlin—Mr. Holgate in his examination found the hole to be twelve feet deep. If a portion of the drain were taken out should not the whole have been taken out?

Witness—I do not know how it could have been taken out.

Witness further maintained that he knew of no way in which the work could have been effectively done.

Mr. McLaughlin—The fact remains that the hole has washed out. An answer like that is not admissible in the present day of engineering science.

Witness—The work was done by Corry & Laverdure under my supervision. The trouble in connection with drain 173 lay with Corry & Laverdure, in using this for drainage purposes.

Mr. McLaughlin—Why were they permitted to use it?

Witness—I could not prevent it, I have the instruction of the Chief Engineer, Mr. Schrieber. He was on the work frequently and knew of it.

Mr. McLaughlin—That there was a drain at 173 which the contractors were using and knowing that there was a manhole there, do you mean to say that he gave instructions to leave it open?

Witness—I think he knew all the circumstances. Notwithstanding his instructions he endeavoured to fill the drain.

With regard to the use of the drain by the contractors, he had reported to Mr. Rogers, who he understood had reported to Mr. Schrieber. In the building of the embankment, it was constructed according to specifications except in the cases mentioned.

The greater part of the embankment beneath the concrete and crib work piers, the material was not spread out according to specifications, but was scraped away from the dump with slush scrapers. A pyramid was allowed to form at the dump. When elevation 80 was reached the trestle was done away with. The main was built before this. Pier No. 1 (next to the wing wall) was built in the fall of 1901 and the spring of 1902. The embankment was completed to the level of the piers. The bottom of Pier No. 1 is at an elevation of 84. It was started at an elevation of 91. It was commenced when the embankment was filled up to the grade of the canal. After it was built eight feet deep, the piling put in and the pier built on top. It was found during the winter that the pier was unsatisfactory. The water ran down the pier to the wing wall making a considerable wash. The bottom of the pier was dug out. He thought the front was dug out first and the back afterward. He was not certain whether he took out the whole of the front first.

Mr. McLaughlin—But how would that be possible? Would you say that you took the whole front out at once or not? It could not stand.

Witness—I do not remember. The pier was binding on the wing wall. I think we took it all out.

Witness thought that the pier had settled one and one-half inches, and it does not bind upon the wing wall.

Mr. McLaughlin—But Mr. Rogers says it is still binding on the wing wall. Our examination would show that there is reason for Mr. Rogers' opinion. When you saw it at that time, why was it not fixed?

Witness—I think I did. To remedy the binding we cut off the 12x12 timber that was bolted onto the wing wall, and also "trued up" the end of the wall, which was not of smooth timber. He did not recall the details of the work.

Mr. McLaughlin — Opposite the pier a leak has occurred, a hole having developed, which is probably 4 feet deep and 7 x 8 in size. There is a crack in the original floor.

Witness thought that all the earth washed away had gone through the stone drains, and this has formed a cavity. The subsidence upon the top of the embankment is caused by the cavity beneath. The stone drains are outside the walls.

Mr. McLaughlin—There must be more water escaping than was going through the stone drains, else the subsidence would not have occurred.

Witness thought otherwise. The cavity was in his opinion responsible. He would put in a wooden stop-water in the floor, and would fill the cavity from the outside. His was not satisfied that pier No. was still binding. In case it was it could be cut out and a stop-water placed on the outside.

Little of the embankment work was done in the winter. Some of work behind the breast wall was done in the winter. Some of the earth pounded in around the wing wall was also done in the winter time. They never worked all winter and the frost was always out before re-commencing in the spring. The earth was kept thawed by the steam shovel. Rogers was the inspector on the wing wall and east embankment. His staff was a satisfactory one. Witness could not recount the difficulties with the contractors. Their name was legion. One instance was in the drain at 173, with regards to the carrying of the embankment directly across. He thought a first-class job had been done in the breast wall. Theoretically the concrete should have been built first. The portion of the embankment next to the breast wall should have been filled in last. Mr. Rogers visited the work every day and sometimes several time a day. Mr. Schreiber visited the work several times a year.

In reply to a question by Mr. Rogers, witness said the filling behind the breast wall was soaked with water. He had taken levels on the banks on several occasions, finding no appreciable settlement.

Asked as to the cost of repairing the present leaks, Mr. Francis, on having considered the matter, found it impossible to make an estimate.

With regard to the pier binding on the wing wall witness did not consider that any ill-effects would arise from this.

As to the leak through the crack in the floor, he did not think it possible for enough water to get through to fill a drain. An explanation would be merely a supposition, but he thought that it was not caused suddenly.

THE EVENING SESSION.

The evening session of the investigation opened at 7.30 o'clock. The witness examined was Mr. A. W. Spence, who gave evidence regarding the construction of the lock through its different stages.

Mr. A. W. Spence, O.E., assistant Divisional Engineer, during the construction of the Peterborough Lift Lock stated that he started his work in May, 1898, at which time no work had been done on the lock. The drains were put in by Mr. Rogers. There was no plan drawn as they were built. Starting in the fall of 1897 with the banks of the lock; Mr. Greenwood stated that there was a plan of the stone drains, after three or four months work had been done on the banks. The drains did not run in the present form. In the spring of 1898 the banks were partially built on the east side; no work had been done on the west side. It was filled on the east side to a height of 8 feet 7 inches. The mode of putting the drain through the embankment was shown on the plan. Otherwise the drains were excavated through the natural surface. A portion of the drains was afterwards removed by Mr. Rogers' instructions, because they were too close to the grade of the canal.

The portion of the drain at 170 or 171 was taken out because the bank came over it.

The portions of the drains on the west side were taken out before the embankment had been built, and those on the east side after. When they were taken out about two yards of clay were shovelled and pounded in as a precaution. The balance of the drains were filled with ordinary material. They were covered with ordinary earth from the embankment. The earth in the embankment was of a good quality being composed of everything from the cut above. Any top soil was placed on the back of the bank. It was clay and small stones. No effort was made to put any better covering over the drains. The drains were intended to carry off the water from the springs on the hills, and also to prevent the banks from becoming spongy by soakage. If the water went into the drains it might carry soil with it. It might be dangerous to the bottom of the canal. He was opposed to having the drains put in and stated his objections to Mr. Greenwood, who also expressed himself as being opposed to it. He thought the cross drains unnecessary, other than the lower one for drainage. Leaks might have been prevented by a clay covering but this would not have answered Mr. Rogers' purpose, to keep the banks from becoming soggy. He always thought that the construction of the drains would have a tendency to develop leaks.

Questioned as to the order of construction, witness said that in the first season of 1897 the whole work was done with the south east corner. In November, 1899, the east bank had been built to an elevation of 80 feet, nothing being built upon the west. In November, 1900, the west bank was carried up and the east was finished. In 1901 work was being done on the west bank. Both were completed in 1901. It was not necessary to carry both up together. They were carried up on horizontal lines to the grade of the grade lines. A portion was not carried up in this manner because of stones being piled up. That portion was built later. He did not know why the canal was not filled up to grade. They were always short of material. The specifications called for the filling of the canal up to gade. The steam shovel was stopped by Mr. Rogers. No treatment was given the bottom to make it impervious to water. If a surface of clay had been placed in the bot-

The Funeral of Late Robt. Weir Largely Attended

Conducted Under Auspices of Orange Lodges--A Large Number of Persons Were Present--Lodges From the County Attended -- Numerous Messages From Outside Friends---Salvation Army Band at Funeral.

TRENT CANAL STAFF ATTENDED FUNERAL

The many floral contributions that adorned the casket of the late Robert Weir, whose funeral took place this afternoon, were very beautiful and testified to the high esteem that the deceased was held in during his lifetime. Among the principal and most beautiful gifts were wreaths from the Grand Chapter British America, Past Grand Master Royal Black Knights, Grand Lodge, Grand Black Lodge Ontario, East Peterborough Orange Lodge, Peterborough Royal Black Preceptory, Royal Templars of Temperance, the Trent Valley Canal office, Messrs. Jordan Bros., the family, and numerous friends of the deceased. Rev. J. M. Whitelaw, Omemee, Grand Chaplain, L.O.L., and Rev. A. H. Brace, Chaplain of L.O.L. No. 80, conducted the funeral service. At the bier of the late brother they spoke very highly of his splendid character and model life. His favourite hymn, "Jesus, Lover of My Soul," was sung by the large gathering of sorrowing friends who were present. He wore upon his breast the jewel of office, that of Past Grand Master.

The members of L.O.L. No. 80, Peterborough; 178, Smith; 32, Downer's Corners; 457, Nassau; Prentice Boys, Peterborough, and a deputation of Orangemen from Lakefield and district, attended the funeral in a body, headed by County Master Stewart.

The funeral cortege, which was headed by the Salvation Army Band, which played beautifully, was very large and impressive. The pall-bearers were Messrs. J. B. McWilliams, P. C. M.; J. W. Stewart, C. M.; F. J. Moore, P. C. M.; G. E. Young, D. M.; John A. McWilliams, P. C. M.; W. H. D. Armstrong, W. C. of R. B. K. of B.A. Among those who attended the funeral from a distance were Messrs. Thos. Oulton, Campbellford, Past Grand Master, and W. H. Craig, Past Grand Master, Tweed.

The officers of the Trent Canal, with which office deceased was connected, attended the funeral in a body.

Messages expressing sympathy for the bereaved family, and regret at not being able to attend, were received from Sir Wm. Chenney, Grand Master, Toronto, and Messrs. William Lee, Past Grand British America, Toronto; Rev. Geo. A. Dupraw, Grand Chaplain, Belleville; R. H. Holland, Police Magistrate, Port Hope, Past Grand Master Ontario East; John Kelly, Grand Registrar, Lindsay; J. S. Williams, Grand Registrar, British America; F. M. Clarke, Belleville, Past Grand Secretary, for Ontario East; E. Floody, Toronto, Director of Ceremonies, Grand Lodge, of British America.

The remains of the deceased, who was a life long Methodist, were interred in the Little Lake cemetery.

CARD OF THANKS.

—The wife and daughter of the late Wm. C. Thomes desire, through the columns of your paper, to express their deepest gratitude for sympathy received from their many friends during their recent sore bereavement. Rev. Geo. Yule's Call Sustained By Presbytery Popular Springville Pastor Will go to Winchester—Meeting of Peterborough Presbytery Held This Morning in St. Paul's—Mr. Yule Accepts Call—Other Business Transacted at the Meeting.

REV. DR. JOHN NEIL GIVES ADDRESS

The Presbytery of Peterborough was held in St. Paul's church this morning. The principal business was the consideration of the call of the Winchester congregation, in the Brockville Presbytery, extended to Rev. Geo. Yule, of Springville. The call was sustained, and Mr. Yule, after New Years will leave the Springville congregation which will be without a pastor.

Those present at the meeting this morning were, Rev. D. D. McDonald, Keene, Moderator; Rev. D. A. Thompson, Hastings, Clerk; Rev. Dr. Torrance, Rev. W. Bennett and Rev. J. G. Potter, Peterborough; Rev. G. A. MacLennan, Norwood; Rev. Jas. Skene, Baltimore; Rev. J. M. Whitelaw, Omemee; Rev. D. A. MacKenzie, Centreville; Rev. W. C. Reeves, Campbellford; Rev. Geo. Yule, Springville; Rev. J. F. Mactarlane, Warkworth; Rev. C. A. Campbell, Lakefield; Rev. W. Johnston, Millbrook, and Elders Wm. Fowler and Sheriff Hall, Peterborough; J. Gillespie, Warkworth; M. Ferguson, Cobourg; J. Pritchard, Millbrook, and S. Black, Warkworth.

Reports fo the Augmentation Fund were presented by Mr. R. A. Harrison, Rev. G. A. MacLennan, for Havelock; Rev. C. A. Campbell, for Warsaw; Rev. Geo. Yule, for Pontypool, and Rev. J. M. Whitelaw, for Cardiff. At the latter place the missionary, Mr. MacQuarrie, was doing good work, and had added twenty to the roll during the last year.

The call of Rev. Geo. Yule, to the Winchester congregation was taken up. The call was supported on behalf of the Brockville Presbytery by Rev. D. A. McKenzie, of Centreville, and by Rev. Wm. Bennett and Mr. Ross, on behalf of the congregation. Those opposed to the translation were Messrs. Smith, Sanderson and McIntosh, of Springville, and O'Brien, of Bethany. They referred to the good work done by Rev. Mr. Yule, during the three and a half years that he had spent there.

Rev. Mr. Yule spoke in reference to the call, accepting it, and the translated was sanctioned by the Presbytery. Dr. Torrance was appointed interim moderator, and Rev. Jas Ross was appointed to declair the pulpit vacant on the first Sunday in January.

The next meeting of the Presbytery will be held in Cobourg on the first Monday in March, and on the evening of that day a conference will be held on Church work.

Rev. Dr. John Neil, of Toronto, was present at the meeting and after the business session addressed those present on Sunday School Work. He said that the first duty of the church was to keep the children in it, and to this end it was necessary to have good teachers, properly trained.

Rev. Dr. Neil's address was much enjoyed.

Barbers' Union Hold the Last Meeting for '05

Largest Attendance at Last Night's Meeting of Any During the Past Year—Union in Flourishing Condition—Election of Officers Took Place—Arrangements Made for Annual Oyster Supper.

GOOD PROGRESS OF BARBERS' UNION

The last and largest meeting of the Barbers' Union, 402, Peterborough, at which the officers for 1906 were elected, was held in Rundle's shop last night, about twenty members being in attendance. The chair was occupied by President S. H. Baker, and Secretary A. Brough presented his report for the past year, showing very gratifying progress. The union is in a very flourishing condition, financially, and the prospects are that during the next year the membership will be materially increased. Mr. H. Gainey, the secretary of last year, was re-elected, and, with the co-operation of the other officers of the union, will endeavour to gain the confidence of the proprietors whose shops are not now in the union. There are at present sixteen shops in Peterborough, ten of which are union shops, and six of which are non-union. Only one new shop, Lee's, has started business during the year of 1905. The barbers of Peterborough were never in a better position to cater to their patrons than they are at present.

Everything in connection with matters pertaining to the union is running smoothly, and the officers for the past year have given splendid satisfaction.

Arrangements for the annual oyster supper were made at last night's meeting, and it will be held about the 27th of December at Lang's Palm Parlours. The supper will be the journeymen and the different proprietors of union barber shops, as well as delegates from other local unions will be invited to attend. It was also decided to keep open half a day, from 7.30 a.m. to 12 p.m. on the Mondays following Christmas and New Year's.

The next meeting, which will be the first for 1906, will be held on Monday, the 8th of January, 1906, in the new hall of the union, at the rear of Mr. Geo. Irwin's shop, Charlotte street.

The officers elected last night were:

President, Mr. S. H. Baker, by acclamation.
Vice-President, Mr. J. Lefave.
Corresponding and Financial Secretary, Mr. H. Gainey.
Treasurer, Mr. A. Brough.
Recorder, Mr. J. Brusso.
Guide, Mr. H. Kingdon.
Guard, Mr. Geo. Irwin.

Two Took The Purple Degree

There was a full attendance at Diamond L.O.L. No. 80 last night, when arrangements in detail were made for the late Bro. Weir's funeral to-day. A large number of telegrams were read by Grand Master McWilliams from outside points, relative to the funeral. The Purple Lodge was opened, and Bro. Miles and the Rev. A. H. Brace took the Purple Degree.

White and Gillespie's Table Delicacies

Like all other things in their excellent stock of groceries, White & Gillespie's table raisins, figs, dates, oranges, nuts, cranberries, Malaga grapes, etc., are fit for the best tables. Women are coming in swarms for them.

Piano Tuning.

Rev. J. G. Potter Gave Address

The meeting of the Epworth League of George street church, held last night, was one of more than usual interest, made so by the fact that an address was given by Rev. J. G. Potter, of St. Andrew's church, on "What Our Denomination Stands for." Mr. Potter referred to the various denominations and the way they worked together for the common good of humanity. He also spoke of Methodism, its attitude in the past, and what it stands for at the present time. His address was much enjoyed, and gave evidence of a thorough knowledge of the principles of Methodism. The meeting took the form of a devotional evening, and was very profitable.

Stores Open For Three Nights

The stores in the city which ordinarily close at 6 o'clock, will this year, as usual, remain open on the three nights preceding Christmas eve, viz., Wednesday, Thursday and Friday night, in addition, of course, to Saturday night. This is done in order that the shoppers who cannot do their buying during the day may have an opportunity of seeing the stores.

Time's Up! Mr. Procrastinator

No "beating about the bush" now—no running around any more, when gift-selecting can all be done at Stratton's. Cut out non-essentials. Begin at once. Start to-night! The sooner you come the greater the pleasure. It's simply marvellous the thousands of things there are in this great bookstore to fascinate old and young on Christmas morning, and to make pleasure and education all the year round. It's far and away the handsomest gift shop in the Dominion. It contains twice, three times as much rare, costly and inexpensive, bright, new goods, right up to the calendar, than all the others put together. A. H. Stratton & Co., Peterborough Bookstore.

Mrs. H. M. Allan Was Known Here

Highly Respected Lady Who Died in Toronto.

The Toronto Globe has the following account of the death in that city of a lady well known in Peterborough:—

On Monday the death of Mrs. H. M. Allan occurred in this city. For the greater part of her life, from 1832 to 1899, she resided in Port Hope, and then removed to Toronto. She was a native of Keady, Armagh, Ireland, where her father was a linen manufacturer. In religion she was an Episcopalian, and was an active church worker for many years at St. John's, Port Hope. Mrs. Allan was one of a large family, all of whom she survived. She was in her 94th year. Her nearest relatives here are two nieces, Mrs. T. Galbraith and Miss Gillette. The remains will be taken from Mr. Galbraith's residence, 43 Tranby avenue, on Wednesday about 12.30 o'clock for interment in Port Hope.

All Saint's Rink will be open to-night.

Latest News Of Winter Sports

Annual Meeting Of City League

Will be Held on Wednesday Night in Y. M. C. A.

The annual meeting of the City Hockey League will be held to-morrow night December 20th, in the Y.M.C.A. at eight o'clock. The League this year promises to be fully as large as last season, and that the style of hockey will be faster is assured.

The initial practice of the Peterborough hockey team was held last night and judging from the large number of players who attended there should be no difficulty in selecting a first-class seven to represent this city for the coming winter. Several new faces were seen last night and some were very fast men who will be a decided acquisition to Peterborough hockey circles made their debut. Currier, Edwards, Stroud, Watson, and others are all new men and they made a splendid impression with the local followers of the game. Fred. Whitcroft, who has shone so brilliantly with Peterborough hockey teams in former years was also in evidence. His showing was excellent and he will probably be very instrumental in helping the team to land intermediate honours. There is no doubt that Peterborough will have the strongest aggregation this winter since the days it was represented by goal, Menzer; point, Howell; cover, H. Armstrong; rover, Cavanah; centre, Whitcroft; right wing, R. Armstrong; left wing, Graham.

In spite of the fact that Peterborough had one of the strongest teams in Ontario when represented by the above strong line-up, a veritable "hoodoo" dogged their path and they never got out of this district although beyond all doubt they had one of the fastest teams in Ontario. Others who were present were Denocher, Stroud, Crowley, McGrath, Fergusson, Crough, Meagher, Parnell, Graham, Fitzpatrick and Cavanah. The results of that season are probably fresh in the minds of every local enthusiast and for those whose recollection is somewhat dim on this point it would perhaps be interesting to recall the league games of the local seven during that memorable year. They are as follows:—

At Picton—Peterborough, 3; Picton, 6.
At Peterborough—Peterborough, 7; Belleville, 3.
At Peterborough — Peterborough, 13; Picton, 6.
At Belleville—Peterborough, 1; Belleville, 2.

Barring the seven that has been mentioned, Peterborough will this winter have the fastest team that it has had for years, and while it is somewhat early to make forecasts, an intermediate hockey as well as rugby championship may this year come to Peterborough.

Curling Company Held a Meeting

Mr. Herb. Kent's Inspection Tour

Came East to Report on Modern Telephone Systems.

The Vancouver News-Advertiser, in a recent issue says:

Mr. H. W. Kent, General Superintendent of the B.C. Telephone Company, has returned from a month's trip to the East. During his absence Mr. Kent took an extensive survey of different telephone systems in Eastern cities, having visited Winnipeg, St. Paul, Chicago, Grand Rapids, Detroit, Toronto, Peterborough and Montreal. He observed particularly the working of the Automatic Telephone System where it has been applied and his remarks in this connection are very interesting. When seen by a News-Advertiser reporter yesterday Mr. Kent said:

"Yes, I have just returned from the East. My trip was for the purpose of investigating the latest and most up-to-date telephone systems. I went to Chicago where I spent several days in the factory of the Automatic Telephone Company, and also the Western Electric Company; the latter are the largest manufacturers of manual switch-boards in the world."

The Land of the Aztecs,

Who has not read of the glories and wonders of old Mexico! The days when Montezuma held gorgeous court in the ancient capital of Gran Tonochtitlan are departed, but they have left Mexico one of the most interesting countries in the world. Picturesque ruins and relics in a setting of flowers and sunshine every-where delight the fortunate visitor; each day's travel reveals fresh beauties. And out of the ruins a new Mexico is arising, a land of possibilities, abounding in resources of all kinds. In the peasants' hands the soil will yield five crops a year, metals and minerals in abundance. Our business men have here a splendid field for investment, and should see and judge the land for themselves. Leisurely investigation under sunny skies will be pleasant work, while the ladies will be delighted with their bargains in native work and precious stones.

An attractive itinerary, covering the whole of Mexico and the best of the Southern States, and including a visit to Cuba and New Orleans for "Mardi Gras," has been arranged for the Cuthbert House party tour, leaving Toronto early in February next, being the most extensive trip ever taken by any party. The special private train will contain every possible comfort and luxury, and the cuisine equal to that of a first-class hotel. A pleasant, smooth-running trip is assured, the management having had long experience in this branch of travel. Canadian enterprise, when it is the best, is worthy of your attention. Full particulars, with descriptive literature, upon application to E. M. Cuthbert, 25 Maitland street, Toronto, or C. B. Foster, District Passenger Agent, C. P. R., Toronto. 4d142 tom it might have assisted to make it impervious to water. The contractors made use of the drains to carry the water running from the hill. Mr. Rogers had objected to this but permission had been given by Mr. Schreiber. Other means of disposing of the water might have been secured had the contractors gone to the expense.

Mr. McLaughlin — We find that Mr. Rogers had written Mr. Schreiber on July 24, July 30 and Aug. 2, objecting to the use of the drain at 173.

Witness—I think the drain was covered at that time.

Mr. McLaughlin — Mr. Rogers stated in one of his letters that a head of 14 or 15 feet of water had been placed on the drain.

Witness was away when the drain was filled in. He remembered that the drain at 173 had been washed out one spring. It was on the east side where the embankment was completed. It was probably in 1901. The water ran down in the drain, carrying the earth with it, causing a hole, which was repaired by the contractors. He was not sure whether it was before or after the centre portion of the drain had been filled up.

The examination was continued by Mr. D. O'Connell. Mr. Francis and witness had charge of the concrete wall construction. The breast walls were commenced in the summer of 1899. In 1901 the work was continued, working up in even layers, getting up above the subway during the season.

They were building from the west to the east. At the end of 1901 the breast wall was continued as far as the arch of the subway, and was continued to the end during the year following. It rested on a rock foundation; 22 was the highest elevation. The top level was 101.60. The top was 33 feet. The wing walls were commenced in the summer of 1900. Some filling had been thrown away from the wing walls. During two or three years of construction the earth fell in behind the breast wall. The earth was left lying as it fell. The breast wass built to about the height of the gate recesses before they started dumping in behind it. This was commenced in January, 1901. Prior to this there had been dumping in at the back of the wall. In January, 1901, excavations from the shovel cut were thrown in. Lumps were left to thaw out in the spring. The frozen material was thrown in. A tarpaulin was thrown over it, and steam kept on it. The wall was exposed over night. The dumping was not put on in layers. No pounding, wass done, except around the stone drains. An attempt to put on the earth in layers was unsuccessful, the earth being too soft. All the filling in was done by the cars. It was pounded in under the corbal. The width of the foundation of the wing wall is 20 feet 5 inches on the north end and 23 feet on the south end. All the exposed surface of the walls have been a mortar finish two or three inches in depth. The mortar finish was mixed in two to one quantities. The first pier is built up against the wing wall. Care had been exercised. There was a stop-water at the junction point, on the face and extending down to the bottom of the sheeting. There is a junction of the walls below the stop-water. The stop-water has no inner tongue. A timber reaching to the sheeting is bolted to the wing wall. There was a cavity under this juncture from which a crack extended. Puddle clay had been placed from an elevation above the stone drains. He had observed the cavity in Bank, outside near the west stairs. It looked to be washed out opposite the juncture further south, and at a lower level. The extent of the depression was probably seven or eight yards. He had no explanation which he could give with regard to it. The hole under the concrete floor is about a yard in extent. He could not say that there was any connection between it and the depression outside. It was probable that the water ran beneath the corbal. The settling of the pier might have caused the tearing away of the inner stop-water, allowing the water to flow through the crevice between the pier and wing wall.

THIS MORNING'S SESSION.

Witness was examined by Mr. O'Connell. Mr. Spence in giving evidence testified that as the work progressed he received a number of detail plans. The work was performed according to the plan showing Wakefield sheet piling, which commences at the north end of the wing wall. They excavated into the earth for the piles, carrying the sheeting down to elevation 83, the top elevation being 93. On the top of this the concrete was being up to within 2 feet of the top of the wing walls in 1899. The actual work went slightly below the grade, or 4 or 5 lower than is shown on the plan. Mr. Rogers gave instructions to go lower in order to get a good bottom. The pier was finished in 1901. The concrete on top of the crib-work was not done that year. The original intention was to build the crib-work. The wall was underpinned in 1902 under the instructions of Mr. Rogers. The bank had settled away an inch or two from the concrete. The concrete superstructure was balanced on top of the piling. It had no effect upon the superstructure. The joints were quite close. After the settlement banking up was done with puddle-clay to prevent the water from percolating through. It was not the original intention to build the sub-structure of concrete. The sub-structure was put in in the spring of 1902. They started on the east side. The first excavation was commenced on the back of the east cut-wall. The new concrete put in did not go down to the Wakefield sheeting on the east side. Before starting to excavate on the east side the concrete was put in on the east side. The bottom for the concrete was not pounded other than having the horses walking over it. The east wall has settled some. The work on the west wall was done in a manner similar to the east. The fill was put in in the same way, the material coming from the cut above. The work was finished in 1902. He had since seen the pier. He could not say whether it had settled or not. There is 1-2 to 3-4 of an inch separation between the pier and the wing wall. He had examined it 10 or 12 feet below the top elevation. It was not as wide at the bottom as at the top, indicating that the pier had settled at the north end. There may be a possibility of a still further settlement. If any takes place it will be at the north end, where it rests on the "fill." The south end rests upon the 12 x 12 inch timber bolted to the wing wall. The Wakefield sheeting fits into this. A small bracket of the concrete rests upon the timber, which is bolted with 11bolts one inch in diameter, to the wing wall.

Investigation is still in progress.

Consuls Were Stoned By The Shanghai Mobs

German and American Officials Injured At Shanghai.

A SCORE OF CHINESE KILLED

Navy Forces, Presumably From British Squadron, Are Guarding the Streets —Trouble Arose Through a Strike, But It Is Stated the Riot Is Traceable to the Boycott—Shanghai Under Martial Law.

Shanghai, Dec. 19.—An incipient riot here Sunday was promoted by boycotters on account of an incident involving the mixed court. The German Consul was stoned, and the American Vice-Consul and several other foreigners were injured. Twenty Chinese rowdies were killed. The Chinese closed their shops when the rioting began. The local volunteers were called out to restore order, and detachments of bluejackets were landed from the warships to assist in restoring peace.

The damage done was slight. Police, sailors and volunteers co-operated in suppressing the riots, in the course of which one police station was partly burned, a bar-room wrecked and a bicycle store looted.

The streets are now deserted, except for armed patrols, which are everywhere.

British Jackies Guard Streets.

Washington, Dec. 19.—The State Department yesterday had news from Shanghai that a serious situation existed there. Two cablegrams received at the department over night stated that the trouble arose through a strike and was increased by a dispute growing out of some cases being tried before the consular courts. Navy forces supposedly from the British squadron which is there, were guarding the streets.

Chefoo Is Undisturbed.

Chefoo, Dec. 19.—The news of the disturbances at Shanghai is producing no visible effect on the Chinese. The local foreign officials, however, are conferring in regard to taking suitable action to forestall a possible demonstration.

Well-informed persons maintain that the Lienchau massacre and also the present disturbances are directly traceable to the boycott.

Coincident with the Shanghai riots the Yokohama Specie Bank quietly placed a large amount of money in the local market for the benefit of the Chinese.

A later despatch from Mr. Rodgers was to the effect that all parts of the City of Shanghai had been put under martial law and that the foreigners were all arming.

Canadian Sheep the Winners.

Chicago, Dec. 19.—At the Live Stock Show yesterday Canadian exhibitors secured the greater number of the prizes for sheep. John Campbell of Woodville, Ont., carried off all the blue ribbons in the fat Shropshire class. In the fat Southdown class, Sir George Drummond of Quebec secured first honors and in the fat Oxford class took three first awards. James West of Montpelier, Ind., and Telfer Bros. of Paris, Ont., shared most of the awards in the fat Hampshire class.

Belated Protests.

Toronto, Dec. 19.—Senior Registrar Holmestead of the High Court has issued advertisements announcing that the election protests for North Norfolk and North Grey against Col. Tisdale and W. P. Telford will be heard on the 4th prox. at the county towns. It is believed that a settlement will be arrived at.

Rufus Pope Is Nominated.

Montreal, Dec. 19.—Rufus Pope, ex-M. P., was nominated yesterday to contest Compton in January in the Conservative interest, the vacancy having been caused by the unseating of Mr. Hunt, who defeated Pope at the general election. Hunt has again been nominated by the Liberals.

Elections on Jan. 4.

Ottawa, Dec. 19.—The writ for another election in Compton has been issued. Nominations will be received on Dec. 28, polling taking place a week later, on Jan. 4.

BOOZE OR MEDICINE?

Which will you have? If a woman suffering from one of the delicate ailments peculiar to your sex it will be well for you to know that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the only remedy advertised for such maladies which is absolutely free from intoxicating liquors and all other harmful agents. The good you feel from its use is not the delusive exhilaration from a tippling beverage, from which the system reacts into a worse condition than before. It may be a little slower in manifesting its bracing and invigorating action, but its benefits are none the less positive and, best of all, they are lasting. It's an honest medicine—not a beverage.

"I have been taking your medicine for the last three weeks and can say I am gaining strength," writes Mrs. Beneth Kinny, of 603 East Madison Street, Mount Pleasant, Iowa. "I have been having very poor health all winter. I doctored with our family doctor but was relieved only while taking the medicine. I took Dr. Pierce's medicine several years ago. I knew it was good for any one suffering with female trouble. Have taken only one bottle and am gaining strength very fast. I could not eat nor sleep when I began taking the 'Favorite Prescription.' Heart troubled me and I had cold and numb spells till my heart would almost stop beating. Have had one child since first taking your medicine. If I continue with your treatment am positive I will be cured."

Every suffering woman in this land should write to Dr. Pierce and learn how certainly he can help her to health and strength. It costs nothing to write and receive entirely free the advice of one of the most experienced physicians in this country. His great thousand-page book the Common Sense Medical Adviser, in stiff paper covers, will be sent free for 21 one-cent stamps the bare cost of mailing; or, send 50 stamps for cloth bound. Fighting Is Reported In M tau District

Three Hundred Killed In Battle On the Streets.

TROOPS AT RIGA IN REVOLT

Town Is Being Shelled and Burning—General Russian Strike Declared For Dec. 20—War Department Concentrating Two Army Corps In Baltic—60,000 Letts Under Arms —For Safety of Germans.

Berlin, Dec. 19.—A despatch to The Lokal Anzeiger from Roenigsberg, Prussia, dated yesterday, says that during the street fighting at Mitau (the capital of Courland, 27 miles from Riga), three hundred persons were killed.

The despatch further says that at Lennewarden, in Southern Livonia, the revolutionists liberated all the prisoners and shot Assistant District Governor Petersen and M. Maximovitch, his secretary, and threw their bodies into the river.

Troops Join Revolt.

Berlin, Dec. 19.—A despatch to The Lokal Anzeiger from Eydtkuhnen, East Prussia, says that the conductor of a morning train from St. Petersburg, asserts the troops at Riga have joined in the revolt and the town is being shelled and is burning. Between St. Petersburg and Wirballen (the frontier station), according to the conductor, flames could be seen from several places and were often reflected by the sky.

General Strike, Dec. 20.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 19.—The Workmen's Council at a secret meeting held yesterday decided in favor of a general strike, beginning Dec. 20. The decision has been communicated to the labor leaders at Moscow. If the latter approve the strike will forthwith be declared.

All the men arrested at Saturday's meeting of the Workmen's Council have been released with the exception of 30, two who refused to give their names.

A train which was derailed on Saturday near Catchina, is understood to have had on board $10,000,000 in gold.

It is rumored that the crown jewels have been sent abroad.

The War Department is concentrating two army corps to suppress the revolt in the Baltic provinces. According to the Government's information 60,000 Letts are under arms.

On account of the situation at Moscow Ambassador Meyer has requested the authorities to place at the disposal of the American Consul there protection for Americans in case of an emergency.

For Safety of Germans.

Berlin, Dec. 19.—The decision of Chancellor Von Buelow, with the approval of the Emperor, to send German steamers to ports of the Russian Baltic provinces, and bring away the Germans who are in danger of their lives, is regarded as a most important act and one that may be the first in a series of steps which the German Government may deem necessary to safeguard the interests of German subjects whose estates are now being plundered or whose businesses are being ruined by the insurgents.

May Have More To Do.

The optimistic feeling as to the outcome of the Russian disturbances seems to be shaken, and there is even talk, entirely outside of Government circles, of the possibility that Germany may have to do more than send merchant ships to the relief of the beleaguered and spoliated Germans.

The Government has informed Russia, in the ordinary diplomatic way, that vessels are being sent to Baltic ports. The greatest interest is felt here as to how the steamers will be received, and whether any obstacle will be placed in the way of their carrying out their benevolent mission.

One Steamer Has Sailed.

A German steamer sailed from Stettin yesterday, for Riga, chartered by the Government, to bring away German subjects, whose lives are endangered by the revolutionary disturbances there. Another steamship will leave here Wednesday for Riga, on a similar errand.

The region between Riga and Wedden in Livonia is a wilderness. The buildings on all the estates have been burned and plundered, and many German barons and their families are held prisoners by the insurgents.

Mutineers Punished.

Kronstadt, Russia, Dec. 19.—The military court has acquitted eighteen out of forty-nine privates of the Kronstadt Fortress Artillery, who were charged with mutiny in connection with the recent outbreak there. The others were sentenced to terms of imprisonment ranging from two to twenty-four months.

Refugees Tell of Horrors.

Berlin, Dec. 19.—The Lokal Anzeiger has the following from Eydtkuhnen, dated Dec. 18: A train of about eighteen cars brought fugitives here this afternoon from Riga, by way of Duenaburg, West Russia. Over 400 refugees from Libau and Mitau have arrived. The regular train from St. Petersburg brought about 200 refugees, many of them women and children. The refugees report that brutalities of the most frightful description have been committed in the Baltic regions. Many officers have been horribly mutilated by the Lithuanian peasants.

The Tageblatt correspondent at Kiel says that several German steamers have arrived at Holtenau, with Russian fugitives, chiefly owners of landed estates.

Bad Smash Of Car In City Of Hamilton

Winnifred Creen, Aged 8, Killed In Hamilton.

ACCIDENT NEAR CROWN POINT

Fireman Creen, Her Father, Badly Shaken, and 10-Year-Old Sister Had Leg Broken and Received Other Injuries — Street Car Ran Them Down In the Dark—Rig Smashed to Pieces.

Hamilton, Dec. 9.—Winnifred Creen, 8 years of age, daughter of Fireman Creen, 736 East King street, was instantly killed last evening about 8.30, her sister Lucy, 10 years of age, had a leg broken and received other injuries, and the father was badly shaken up. They were driving in an open rig on East Barton street, about half a mile west of the Jockey Club, and were on the street car track on the south side. Near Crown Point, a dark spot, a street car ran into them from behind, smashing the rig to pieces, and throwing the father and the family out. Winnifred was dead when picked up, and her sister was taken to the City Hospital seriously injured. Creen is stationed at the Victoria avenue station, and was off duty yesterday, attending the funeral of the wife of Fireman Cole. The street is very dark at the point where the accident happened. Coroner McNichol will hold an inquest. Fireman A. McIntyre had been with the party a short time before the mishap.

A Santa Claus Fatality.

Victoria, B. C., Dec. 19.—Corinne Walsh of Victoria, 18 years old, a student at Miss Head's seminary, received probably fatal injury by fire while impersonating Santa Claus, in robes and flowing beard, at a burlesque school closing entertainment.

The panic-stricken audience stampeded and Miss Head was for some minutes unable to reach the burning figure and envelope it with a rug.

C. P. R. Foreman Hurt.

Toronto, Dec. 19.—Louis Nelson, foreman of a gang working on the C. P. R., near Sudbury, was brought to the General Hospital here yesterday suffering from the effects of a dynamite explosion. It appears that a charge of dynamite did not go off within the time limit. Nelson, as the head of the gang, investigated. Bending down over the hole he proceeded to unearth the charge. Suddenly it went off. He was thrown backward some distance, cutting his head badly. His face was also badly burned. It is thought that he may lose his sight.

Bicyclist Met Death In Dark.

Berlin, Dec. 19.—Simon Erb was returning on his bicycle from New Hamburg Sunday evening about 7 o'clock when he collided with another bicyclist named Robert McCutcheon. Erb sustained a serious wound in the back of the head.

McCutcheon was rendered unconscious for a few minutes, and on recovering he found Erb in an unconscious condition and carried him into a house nearby and summoned a physician.

The injured man died at 1 o'clock without regaining consciousness. He was in his 58th year and leaves a widow and grown-up family of six children.

McCutcheon was bruised about the head and sprained his shoulder.

Electric Wire Kills Instantly.

Palmerston, Dec. 19.—About 8 o'clock last evening, as Liveryman T. G. Burns was in the act of hanging a lantern on a wire in his livery barn, he received an electric shock which killed him instantly. It is supposed that the wire had by some means become crossed with the electric light wire. Deceased served one year as mayor.

Boy Drowns Skating.

Yarmouth, N. S., Dec. 19.—Harold Kinney, 17 years old, son of Capt. Kinney, was drowned while skating on Milton Pond. John F. McLeod of the Bank of Nova Scotia, in attempting rescue, had a narrow escape.

Stone Fell on Him.

Toronto, Dec. 19.—James Lett, an English immigrant, is at the Emergency Hospital, in a very serious condition, as the result of being pinned to the earth by a large rock falling upon his chest. The rock was being lifted by a derrick in Wickett's stone yard, when the cable parted. The stone fell on Lett, crushing him to the earth. Three ribs are broken and it is feared he may have some internal injuries.

"Irish Night" Entertainment At T.A.S. Hall

A Splendid Programme of Instrumental Numbers, Recitations, Singing and Dancing—The Hall Was Taxed to its Capacity—"Irish Night" Most Appropriately Celebrated by the St. Peter's T. A. S.

SUCCESSFUL AFFAIR UNDER AUSPICES T.A.S.

It was Irish night at the T. A. S. Hall last evening, and the occasion was right royally celebrated by the enthusiastic devotees of the land of the Shamrock. The stage was fittingly decorated for the occasion, and the songs, readings and recitations all savoured of the sentiment of the Emerald Isle. The programme was excellent in every particular, and the different contributors were given hearty receptions by the audience. The seating capacity of the hall was taxed to its utmost, and the affair was decidedly a financial success.

The T. A. S. band opened the evening's entertainment by rendering two stirring numbers. The band, under the leadership of Mr. Finch Miller, is becoming very proficient, and shows marked improvement under his able and painstaking tuition.

Miss Annie Simons then sang in excellent voice that favourite Irish melody, "St. Patrick's Day," ably assisted by the choir of St. Peter's Cathedral. Miss Lillian Callahan followed with one of the most popular song hits of the day, "My Irish Molly O." Misses Doherty and McCabe then rendered a beautiful piano duet, "Oft in the Stilly Night." Mr. Jos. J. Begley was next heard in a thoroughly enjoyed recitation, "Shamus O'Brien." Mr. Begley's rendition of this splendid selection evoked great applause, and he was compelled to respond to a much demanded encore. After Mr. Begley's recitation, "Kathleen Mavourneen," that beautiful Irish love song, was exquisitely sung by Miss Mona O'Shea. Miss O'Shea's voice has responded to a most thorough course of cultivation, and her artistic singing was much appreciated by the audience. As an encore, she gave "My Irish Molly O." Miss M. A. O'Connell then read a short but instructive selection from Hoskins' History of Ireland. Miss May Clancy next sang in fine voice the popular Irish selection, "Killarney."

The next number, and one that thoroughly appealed to the audience, was a well executed buck and wing dance by Mr. Dave Quinlan, one of the leading step-dancers of this city. Mr. Quinlan made a great hit with the audience, and had to appear again before the storm of applause subsided. Mr. G. W. Mackie rendered "Believe Me if All Those Endearing Young Charms." Mr. Mackie possesses a baritone voice of good quality, and was forced to re-appear, "The Last Rose of Summer," being his encore number. Following this selection Misses May Trombley and Nellie Whaley played a delightful piano duet, "Irish Melodies." Mr. Jas. Brown, the well-known local tenor, next favoured the audience with that beautiful selection, "The Minstrel Boy." Mr. Brown, it is needless to say, sang in splendid form, and was enthusiastically received by the audience. For an encore he pleasingly sang "The Island of Dreams." The next number, a recitation entitled "The Exile of Erin," was delivered in a masterly manner by Miss Nellie McCabe.

Father Kelly's sparkling talk on "Irish Wit" delighted his listeners, and he gave many very humorous sketches demonstrating that Pat, as a "funny man," is without a peer. The programme was concluded by a step-dance by Mr. Dave Quinlan, in which that artist showed a thorough knowledge of the various steps included in the buck and wing repertoire.

A very enjoyable evening's entertainment was brought to a close by the singing of "God Save the King."

FALLING HAIR STOPPED

Baldness follows falling hair, falling hair follows dandruff; and dandruff is the result of a germ digging its way into the scalp to the root of the hair, where it saps the vitality of the hair. To destroy that germ is to prevent as well as cure dandruff, falling hair, and, lastly, baldness. There is only one preparation known to do that, Newbro's Herpicide, an entirely new, scientific discovery. Wherever it has been tried it has proven wonderfully successful. It can't be otherwise, because it utterly destroys the dandruff germ. "You destroy the cause, you remove the effect." Sold by leading druggists. The Municipal Ownership Clause In the Agreement

Canadian Machine Telephone Company Agrees With Brantford to Sell to City at Any time After Three Years—Price Settled by Arbitration—Price of 'Phones is $15 and $25—Franchise is for Twenty-one Years.

PETERBORO'S EXPERIENCE IS REFERRED TO

As was stated in the Examiner yesterday, the Brantford City Council on Monday night granted a franchise to the Canadian Machine Telephone Company. The Expositor referring to it says:—

By a vote of 12 to 5 the City Council last night granted the Canada Automatic Machine Telephone Company a 21 years' competitive franchise in this city on terms that are outlined below. Thus has been settled the vexed question which has been to the front all year. The aldermen took the greatest trouble to make a good bargain and secure the best system and are convinced that they have succeeded in their deal with the Lorimer Company. They understand perfectly the system, having inspected it in operation at Peterborough, and look forward to successful competition in the telephone service in this city. The company must commence their work by May 1st and be operating at the end of next year.

Terms of By-Law.

The agreement provided that the company must be ready to operate one year after getting a franchise. Rates are $25 for business and $15 per year for private, with $6 each for extensions.

Along certain streets, already outlined in The Expositor, the company must lay all wires underground, about four and a tenth miles in all.

The city gets the right to run fire alarm wires over company's poles and conduits.

The city gets 12 municipal 'phones at $10 each per year.

The municipal ownership clause is dependent on arbitration. The city may by arbitration acquire system any time after three and before the end of 10 years by paying the present worth of plant plus the estimate of profits from time of acquiring to the end of the first ten years of franchise, or may acquire system at any time between ten years and 20 years by merely paying the present worth of the plant with no provision for profits. In case the city, after calling for arbitration, decides not to buy, the matter drops by the city paying the cost of the arbitration.

The company's rights are defaulted by amalgamating with any other company, or on failing to comply with any clause of its agreement.

Mr. Mackay.

Mr. McKay of the Company, was heard at this stage. He claimed a $15 rate for house 'phones was the best that could be given. In order to start to make money the company would have to get 700 house 'phones in Brantford. At present the Bells had only 200 house 'phones. The difference in revenue on 500 'phones, business and house, between the Bells and the Canada Machine Company would be $4,000 per year. The company had a big undertaking and could do no better than $15 on house 'phones. As an evidence of what competition would do the instanced Peterborough, where for nine years the Bells had had 400 'phones without any variation, but when his company entered the field the number jumped to 700, because competition brought the prices down to what the people could stand.

Machine Company To Erect Office

Will Build Central Office in Brantford.

The Brantford Expositor says:—The Canadian Machine Telephone Company will erect a new building in this city for their central station according to the ideas of the promoters at the present time. As yet no site has definitely been determined upon, but it will be of necessity near the centre of their wire area, which means near the centre of the business portion of the city. No negotiations have as yet taken place. The new building will not have to be a very large one, but will be a great deal of room to allow for the switch board, etc. A local contractor is busily engaged in building a [illegible] which they intend to install when the business will [illegible] will be begun as soon as the frost is entirely out of the ground in the spring.

The High Life's Banquet One Of Their Number

A Delightful Social Function Took Place Last Night in the National Hotel—Mr. W. G. Menzies Presented With an Address and Silver Service—Many Bright Speeches Were Given—The Toast List—High Life Club Enjoy Themselves.

MOST DELIGHTFUL EVENING SPENT

Last night the High Life Club enjoyed a banquet at the National Hotel. There were about thirty-five present and a delightful evening was spent. The gathering was held primarily in honour of one of the members of the club, who is shortly to come a benedict, and, as is natural under those circumstances, it was in every respect a joyous occasion, and some particularly happy speeches were made. This club has a reputation established for doing things well, and in the function under its auspices last night this reputation was more than sustained. In the first place, the menu provided by the National Hotel chef was one calculated to put the partaker in good humour, and it is possible that the typical joyous season of Christmas had its effect in increasing the flow of wit, which seemed to bubble forth spontaneously. Those who participated in this delightful function were Messrs. W. F. Crowley, Godfrey Coughlin, H. Lacheur, Geo. Lynch, V. Hamilton, T. Glover, E. Hurtubise, T. Laplante, L. Dobbin, F. Mc Pherson, Jas. Fitzsimmons, W. G. Menzies, H. Morgan, John McPherson, W. Brown, D. Devine, C. G. Graham, R. M. Glover, L. Leclaire, T. Mellonough, J. Regan, F. Whitcroft, J. Squires, E. Dillon, W. Meagher, R. Desantel, Prof. Milner, T. Meredith, J. Schneider, C. H. Gonsolus, J. Knox, C. Earls, W. Warren and R. Eastland.

The menu, which was an enticing one, was as follows:

Soup.
Oysters a la Creme.
Relishes.
Salted Almonds — Spanish Olives
Fish.
Fillet of Trout, Parsley Sauce
Entree
Lamb Cutlets, Breaded, French Peas
Roasts
Young Turkey Stuffed, Cranberry Sauce
Vegetables
Mashed Potatoes — Hubbard Squash
Entremets
Apple Pie — Neapolitan Frozen Fruit Pudding
Assorted Cakes
Malaga Grapes — Oranges — Apples
Layer Raisins — Assorted Nuts
French Coffee — Cheese and Celery

After full justice had been done to the appetising viands, the first toast, that to "The King," was proposed by Mr. W. F. Crowley, who ably filled the position o toastmaster. It was fittingly honoured. The event of the evening then took place, when Mr. W. G. Menzies, in honour of his approaching marriage, was presented with a handsome silver service on behalf of the members of the club, by Mr. H. Morgan. The address which follows was read by Mr. R. M. Glover:

W. G. Menzies, Esq.,
Peterborough.

Dear Bill,—

While we are gathered here for what will probably be the last time for this year, we have thought it fitting that the coming event in your life, which will perfect you, should be recognized by those of your associates in this club, who have learned with pleasure of the fact that in a short time you are to follow the example of all sensible men.

We rejoice in this prospective pleasure, and hope that life's best things will be yours through life.

On behalf of the High Life Club we ask your acceptance of this silver as a reminder of the many pleasant hours which we trust have been spent as pleasantly by yourself as by us in our associations in club life. That nothing worse than the most perfect pleasure may be your lot through life is the wish of the High Lifers, on behalf of which we subscribe ourselves.

Mr. Menzies acknowledged the gift in an appropriate speech, in which after thanking his fellow clubmen, he referred to the pleasant associations he had enjoyed with them. Mr. Geo. Lynch, in his usual happy manner, favoured the gathering with a solo.

"Our Sister Clubs" was responded to by Messrs. Glover, Graham and Regan. After Mr. R. Desantel had given a solo, which met with distinct approval, the "Peterborough Champions" were honoured in toast, and it was responded to by Mr. E. Hartubise, who spoke in French, W. Meagher and W. Brown. "The Knockers:" J. A. McPherson, F. Whitcroft, T. Mellonough and J. Knox spoke in response to that toast.

Mr. Geo. Lynch was heard in a solo, after which the toast to the ladies was given, and responded to by Messrs. C. H. Gonsolus, H. Lacheur T. Laplante and L. Leclaire; "The Married Men" were honoured, and in response Messrs. D. J. Devine, C. G. Graham, W. Meagher and F. McPherson spoke.

The last toast, that to "The High Lifes," was one of the most enthusiastically honoured of the evening. It was responded to by Messrs. H. Morgan and W. F. Crowley, whose orations were easily the feature of the evening.

This event was one of the most enjoyable in the history of the club, and its memory will linger pleasantly with the members in the years to come.

Sudden Death In Port Hope

Mr. Robert Gray Dropped Dead There Yesterday.

The Port Hope Guide says: Just as we go to press we learn of the very sudden death of Mr. Robert Gray, Cavan street. Mr. Gray has for years been engaged as representative for the tannery, but today was working inside.

About 3.30 o'clock this afternoon he was performing his duties as usual and chatting with Mr. Henry Johnston, an employee, when he suddenly fell to the floor. The men all rushed to his assistance, but life was extinct. Dr. Powers was summoned and pronounced death due to heart failure.

Handsome Gifts To Customers

The Ontario Bank, with its usual enterprise, is distributing to its local patrons a series of handsome calendars for 1906, and Morocco-bound diaries for the same year. It goes without saying that the customers of this popular bank will appreciate this act of generosity on the part of the local manager, Mr. J. Crane.

The Competition Is Appreciated

St. Luke's Parish Magazine this month has the following reference to the story competition in the Examiner:

The Evening Examiner has inaugurated a competition in writing short stories, the best writers to be awarded a prize, to be given by the Hon. J. R. Stratton. This praiseworthy undertaking is designed to cultivate and develop literary talents. In this competition three of our young friends have taken part, and their articles are indeed clever and interesting, and worthy of recognition. We compliment these young ladies and wish them success. The writers are Miss Laura Smithson, Miss Katie Leary and Miss Marion Deane.

Much Evidence Being Taken In Investigation Of Alleged Defective Construction Of The Lift Lock

Engineers and Workmen Have Been Examined—Progress of the Work From Its Initial Stages Carefully Reviewed—Foremen Testify as to Quality of Materials—Conclusion Will Probably be Reached This Evening.

The conclusion of the investigation in connection with the alleged defective construction of the Peterborough lift lock, which has been in progress since Monday, will probably be reached this evening. The evidence taken has been of a most extensive nature and includes a thorough review of the details of the construction work in all its stages. At yesterday morning's session the evidence of Mr. Spence, C.E., was continued, and in the afternoon, Mr. Alex. Richardson, inspector of concrete, took the stand, giving evidence, with regard to his portion of the work. Other testimony taken last night was that of Mr. P. McNamara and Mr. Quinn. Messrs. M. A. McNamara, C. Gordon and J. H. McLellan were examined to-day.

Mr. Henry Holgate C.E., Montreal, who is conducting the investigation, states that the testimony so far heard evidences the fact that the workmen engaged performed their respective work to the best of their ability. The commission will probably be terminated to-night.

The Evidence.

Mr. McLaughlin — We understood from the previous evidence that the timber had been taken out?

Witness — Impossible; the concrete was in above it. A portion was afterwards taken out, the projecting end being cut off at an elevation of about 96.

He had seen the crack in the floor, which runs off to the cut-off wall. It meets the juncture of the two walls and goes through the floor on the west side. The flooring was constructed in 1903. It was done by day labour under Mr. Rogers' instruction, after the contract was finished. Witness was in the office in 1903. He had been over to the lock when it was in progress but could not state as to the nature of the work.

A portion of the timber bolted to the wing wall was cut off on the east side. The general construction was the same on both sides. The first settlement he had observed in the west cut-off wall was in the spring following its construction. The bank had settled away two or three inches. After the sub-structure was put in, further settlement occurred. There was a rupture of the concrete of the cut-off wall, going down about eighteen inches, extending across the top of the wall. A piece was cut out and filled in again. The first rupture was in 1903. The separation was about eighteen inches wide at the top. It was caused in his opinion, by settlement at the south end. There are no broken parts on the west wall. The Wakefield sheeting must have "settled" with the concrete. He believed that settlement is going on there still. Had the cut-off wall been brought down to the natural surface he did not think settlement would have occurred. He thought a foundation of hard pan could have been secured seven or eight feet below the natural surface. This would have been more expensive owing to the excavation necessary. He thought this would have been a prudent thing. Settlements might always be expected. There was an original plan showing the construction of the wing walls upon the hard pan. The breast wall was placed in its present position because of the point selected for the towers was first determined upon. At the time the site was selected for the lock they did not know whether they had a rock foundation. The first plans provided for building upon an earthen bottom. If no rock could be found, a concrete foundation could be built. This was the original intention. A rock foundation was unexpectedly discovered. They excavated down to the rock to secure a foundation for the entire breast wall. A good bottom was obtained. Blasting was done, but did not affect the solidity of the rock. A good foundation had also been found for the towers. He saw no defect in the construction of the walls. The work was exposed in the winter. The cement was liable to be affected by frost. The work on the lock he did not think was seriously affected in this way. Every precaution was taken in the spring. Mr. Rogers had the top picked and rough. Everything was done each year to secure a good bond between the different sections. It is possible to see where the joint between different sections occurred in some places, at some of which "scrage" has occurred. Water had percolated through into the west chamber. The water comes from a point five or six feet above the rock, and cannot, therefore, be spring water, and must come from the upper reach.

Witness had given Mr. Rogers the elevation of good, stiff, gravelly clay for foundation. Upon this the original plan was based. Witness had thought that the original idea of carrying cut-off walls from the wing walls to bank was the best, but he had no decided opinion as to a remedy for the defects arising from the corbing substituted from the original plan. He thought it could be remedied.

Mr. O'Connell insisted upon an answer.

The witness refused to answer, stating his opinion that the construction of the lock had not been thoroughly investigated, in order to come to a conclusion as to what should be done. Soundings should be made with a plummer around the floor space first put in, and also around the breast and wing walls.

A PROMINENT CITIZEN

The Examiner to-day publishes a picture of one of the best known gentlemen in the city. As will be seen, the photo was taken when the subject was in his youth, and that is not so very long ago, because he is still counted among the young men of the city. He has been a resident of Peterborough for about twenty years, and during nearly the whole of that period he has been before the public prominently. He has a knowledge of literary pursuits, and is also looked upon as an authority on municipal matters, and is prominent in church work.

$100,000,000 Is Estimated Amount Damage

Special to The Examiner.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 20. — The insurrectionists have resorted to burning the property of the land owners, and it is estimated that at least thirteen hundred palatial mansions of estate-holders have been burned to the ground. In many cases all the contents of these palaces, including valuable libraries and collections of paintings, have been destroyed. The damage caused in this manner is estimated at $100,000,000. At present the total number of armed peasants in open revolt against the Government is estimated at two hundred thousand. Against these revolutionaries, the government cannot oppose more than one hundred thousand soldiers, and many of these are of doubtful loyalty.

A Pastor Was Remembered

A very happy party, from the Park street Baptist church, bore down on the parsonage, 285 Park street last night, laden with presents, among them being a choice spread beautifully quilted, for the pastor's wife.

After a pleasant time, in which hot coffee and the usual Christmas fare, were served, they retired, relieved of their burdens, and the joy bells ringing in their hearts.—Com.

City to Apply For Right To Acquire Power

Application to be Made to Legislature for Authority to Secure by Purchase or Lease Water Power to Convey to City—Wants to Buy Land to Assist Manufacturers Too—To Buy the Sugar Company Property—The City's Plans.

OTHER NOTICES OF APPLICATION

Last night the Committee of the Whole Council met in the City Clerk's office, when the question of the city's Private Bill, which will be introduced in the Legislature this session, was discussed. It was decided to give notice of two additions to be made to the other requests for legislation.

The two additions to the notice were embodied in the following resolution, which was passed last night:

That the solicitor be instructed to include in notice for legislation a notice of application for authority to the city to acquire the Peterborough Sugar Company land, and to convey it for manufacturing purposes at a nominal consideration to manufacturing industries not already established in the Province, and not similar to any industry in the city, and to give such industries a fixed assessment for a period of ten years, and also for authority to acquire a lease and develop power and convey it to the city and dispose of it.

In addition to this, application will be made to confirm the by-laws passed during the year requiring confirmation, and also the money by-laws passed during the year; for authority to extend the time for issuing the debentures under the $50,000 Collegiate Institute by-law, and to change the mode of payment of same and the amount of interest payable thereon; to authorize the issuing of debentures to pay for the outfall sewer and sedimentation work in Ward 5; to authorize the construction of the drainage works, and the diversion of the creeks in Wards 4 and 5 as local improvements, and the assessment of the cost thereof on the property benefited thereby.

The action of the Council as outlined above indicates a new line of activity. The members, recognizing the value to a city of having water power to influence manufacturers to locate here. The municipalities which are able to offer the greatest advantages in the way of cheap power are likely to be the ones which will secure the greatest number of manufacturers, and the Council appreciates this fact.

The effort to secure the authority to purchase the sugar property is along the same line, and the prospects are, although the Examiner is not at liberty to give details yet, that in a short time a new industry will be secured to locate here, though whether on the property mentioned or not is not decided yet.

Order Will Not Affect Local Packing House

But Decision to Exclude American Hogs Will Seriously Affect Hull Packing House of the George Matthews Packing Company—Hon. Sidney Fisher Gives Reasons for This Order—To Prevent Spread of Hog Cholera—The Local Situation.

CANADIAN BACON'S REPUTATION TO SUSTAIN

Ottawa, Dec. 19.—Hon. Sydney Fisher, after consultation with his colleagues, has decided that the order in Council, prohibiting the importation and slaughter in bond of hogs from the United States, must go into force. It takes effect on January 1. The Minister of Agriculture has reached this decision after patiently hearing the views of the pork packers and pork raisers. Two reasons chiefly have influenced him in the policy he has adopted. One is the necessity for preserving the health of the Canadian hog. Hog cholera is very prevalent in the United States and the disease might easily be brought in with the swine from that country. The second reason is the importance of maintaining the high reputation of Canadian bacon in the United Kingdom. There is reason to believe that United States bacon has been brought into Canada, exported from here to Britain, and sold there as Canadian bacon. This, if continued, would be highly prejudicial to Canadian interests, as American bacon is not nearly as good as the product of this country.

Mr. T. F. Matthews was spoken to in reference to the above matter to-day, and stated that while it would have no effect on the local packing house the effect on the branch of the company's business at Hull, would be considerable. There, during the winter months, they have to depend very largely on the hogs shipped in from the United States; and with this source of supply shut off, the operation of the works would be seriously affected.

Thanks Returned For Kindnesses

Mr. C. J. Burton, of Douro, writes to the Examiner, as follows:—

Having been requested "by the parents of the late W. F. Clark, of Grays, Essex, Eng." to convey to the undermentioned their very sincere thanks for the kind help and expression of sympathy, I thought the best method would be through the medium of your valuable paper.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark and family would like to thank the staff of the Nichol's Hospital for their kindness to their dear son and brother during his illness; also the Rev. E. A. Langfeld, of St. Luke's Church, and Mr. Taylor of the city, Mr. E. Leahy, of Dummer, M. J. Leahy, of Douro, Mr. E. Harrold, of Douro, and other Englishmen of Peterborough who assisted at the funeral.

Sleigh-Riding Accident Injures Two Small Boys

The first serious sleigh-riding accident of the season occurred this morning at the London street hill, when two small boys, Carl Cook, the six year old son of Mr. Robt. Cook, McDonel street, and Johnnie Hart, a son of Mr. Hart, of Bethune street, were injured. The circumstances surrounding the accident are not very clear, since the boys are not in a condition to give the details with any degree of accuracy.

It appears however, that they were sleigh-riding on the London street hill, when they fell off or ran against an obstruction, and one of the boys, at least, was seriously injured. Carl Cook was badly cut about the head and face and eight stitches were placed in his tongue by Dr. Eastwood and Dr. Boucher, who were called.

In addition to the injuries to his tongue, his head was cut and a bad gash over the eye inflicted.

It is not anticipated that any specially serious results will follow young Cook's accident, except that the injury to his tongue may affect his speech. The injuries to the Hart boy were not serious, his arm being cut and bruised.

Route Map Of The New Railway Filed

The Short C. P. R. Line From Georgian Bay to Ottawa Will Pass Through Peterborough County—All Municipalities Interested to be Heard.

The Ottawa Free Press says: The route map of a new C. P. R. line which will connect Ottawa directly with the Georgian Bay has been submitted to the Minister of Railways and Canals for approval. The proposed line is known as the Georgian Bay and Seaboard Railway.

Hon. Mr. Emmerson expects to give all the parties interested a hearing inside of a few days, and he will then pass judgment on the plans.

The proposal of the C. P. R. is to start from the south end of the Georgian Bay, at a point between Pt. Severn and Penetanguishene, and run south easterly for a short distance in Simcoe County. Then it would pass through the counties of Victoria, Peterborough, Hastings, Lennox and Addington, Frontenac and part of Lanark.

Owing to the policy adopted by Hon. Mr. Emmerson only a few weeks ago no map route will be approved till all the companies and municipalities interested are notified and given a chance to be heard. Formerly the cases were heard "ex parte" and the applicants had their plans sanctioned with comparatively little trouble.

The chief object of the company in building the new line is to provide a more effective means of shipping grain and mineral products from the West to the seaboard.

Upon one occasion, about a year ago last fall, when he visited the lock, he found upon the east side, near the north end of the tower, a leak through which muddy water was coming. This was in the bank near the foot of the stairs. He thought the water came from the upper reach. It was above the level of the lower reach. At station 180 plus five, there is a vertical drain from which there is a water lead along the sidewalk, breaking out in the bank. The leak would not have occurred if the work had been properly done. He did not know whether the water was running now. He could last year hear the water running along the breast walls on both sides. Nothing in the way of repairs had been done to his knowledge. Witness did not know why the original idea was changed. Mr. Corry objected to building a corbal because he did not think it a good piece of engineering.

Mr. O'Connel — Did you agree with him?

Witness did not consider it a good way to build the corbal. He had been in the eastern chamber below the breast wall and had noticed leaks there. When he saw it ice had formed two or three feet high; the water was trickling over, coming through the breast wall. He did not think it came from the rock as it was above this. He had noticed one or two leaks in the east and west chambers, two or three feet above the finished level of the concrete. The water came through the concrete. He considered that it was caused by work having stopped upon certain occasions, proper provision not having been made to make a proper bond. The joints may represent the end of each day's work. The water may have been held at the back of the concrete. Richardson was the inspector in charge of this work. He thought that every precaution had been taken at that time to secure a proper bond. The leak still continues. There is water in the floor of the chamber itself. It is a foot or two deep in both chambers. It is frozen there. It is possible to pump it out. He knew of no other defects in the construction of the breast walls. Two of the leaks could scarcely be described as seepage.

Questioned by Mr. Rogers as to the banks at the north end, witness stated that the excavation was 8 feet 7 inches. The drains were removed by Mr. Roger's instructions. They were laid out by the latter's instructions. The general lines had been given witness to lay out the drains. They had been pointed out on the ground by Mr. Rogers. The drains were laid out without the levels being taken. The instructions were given on June 28th, 1898. As instructed by Mr. Rogers witness explained to Mr. Bogue, the general run of the work, the construction of the bank, the location of the stakes, etc. No levels, excepting the original ground levels were taken. He had received no instructions from Mr. Greenwood. Witness stated that as he had taken no levels he had not advised Mr. Rogers. He was opposed to the construction of the centre drains. Mr. Rogers had done no instrumental work. Witness was opposed to the drains when he saw their levels. He naturally supposed that Mr. Rogers was familiar with the ground. He did not think so many cross drains were necessary for so little water.

Mr. Rogers — Would it not be better to have the water carried off through the stone drains than to have the banks soaked with water?

Witness—The earth would be washaway by the water. He thought that if the drains had been about a foot square they would have carried off the spring water. No springs had been apparent upon the surface. Witness approved of the side drains. he had not suggested any change in the construction of the drains. The material used in the banks was of first-class quality. The material used behind the breast walls was damp. In the winter the filling from the cut was often hot, steaming and mushy and should make a compact bank. Under the circumstances he knew of no other reasonable method which could have been adopted to bring better results.

Mr. Spence di dnot recall that a spring ha dbeen found in the northwest corner. He did not know the extent of the settlement of the bank.

Mr. Rogers insisted upon an answer to an inquiry as to the means the witness would adopt to remedy the leak.

Mr. Spence declined to reply. The Commissioner being appealed to, the witness was asked by him if he had any theory as to how a remedy might be applied. Mr. Spence replied emphatically that he had no remedy to reveal at the present time. The inquiry was abandoned.

Mr. Richardson's Evidence.

Mr. Alex. Richardson, sworn, testified that he was an inspector of concrete on the Peterborough lock, commencing in November, 1899, at which time a portion of the breast wall had been built. There was another inspector named Quinn upon the mixer. The proportions of the concrete ordinarily used was 15 feet of gravel, 20 or 21 feet of broken stone and 1 barrel or 375 lbs. of cement. In some special cases this was altered. In some cases five or six bags of cement were used in the mixture, this being the case in the culvert running from the pen-stock shaft longitudinally out to the east end at the entrance. At the entrance pier a poorer quality was used, containing only three bags of cement. The mortar face used on the walls was mixed in the following proportions: Sand, 16 feet; cement, 6 bags. A "continuous" mixer was used—a square box with a worm in it. The water was put in at the lower end. The concrete was partially mixed before it was put in. The gravel was spread on a platform and the cement spread on top of it. It was shovelled from there into the hopper of the mixer. Witness did not consider the mixer a good one. In some cases too much gravel entered, and was shoved through by the worm without being sufficiently mixed. After the cement came from the mixer, a man was kept to spread it on the "skip." Witness tried to get the cement sufficiently mixed when it was being put in the wall. From six to ten men were employed on the wall. He considered that by constant effort, "a tolerably good job" had been made. The watering of the concrete was pretty generally satisfactory. It was usually pretty wet, and was soft, though firm enough usually to allow of "tamping." When it was "tamped" the water sometimes came to the top sufficiently to run off. Witness had sometimes complained to Quinn about the mixing. The contractor's foreman on the wall was Hennessey. Another was on the mixer. McNamara and O'Neill were employed in this capacity.

Asked as to the corbal on the wing wall witness said that the concrete work here was the same as the other. The work cost more for forming at that place. He did not put in the north and east entrance piers. He had put some concrete beneath them afterwards. They were less than a foot below the bottom of the grade of the canal. Witness said the concrete put in afterwards was seven or eight feet below the grade of the canal. Work was commenced upon the side next the canal, where excavations were made in to the piling. A space was left were the cut-off from the floor was to go through. The excavation was made almost all the way up, about four feet resting upon the timber, bolted to the wing wall. They did not come to a solid foundation. It was quite wet. Little water accumulated. He thought that if a satisfactory result should be obtained in this way as if the bank settled, the other would sink with it. The four feet left was the cut-off from the floor, the concrete being built four feet higher there. The cut-off was along the north end, about four feet wide. In the rear of the bank it extended about twelve or fourteen feet. In doing the underpinning the concrete was packed in about two inches back to the sheet-piling. Witness thought there would be a tendency at that place toward a crack, through which water would run. The main thing which was trusted to keep the concrete from rolling over was the timber bolted to the wing wall. This was about 12x12 inches in size. The upper end was cut off the west one. A box was made and placed over the timber to allow for "settlement." The concrete was not placed directly upon the top of the timber. A piece was broken out of the corner of the east wall, which was broken by resting upon the wing wall. He had repaired it, and it was broken out again from the same cause. The western pier was prevented from settling for the same reason. When excavating for the foundation for the entrance pier, he could poke a bar for a distance of six or seven feet below the corbal. The presence of water there was apparent. He would infer that it was wet along the side of the wing wall. He could not say whether this mud was at a point opposite the present subsidence in the outer bank, not having visited the lock. No water was found on the eastern side.

Mr. McLaughlin—As a practical man, do you think the present entrance pier likely to stand and be a satisfactory job?

Witness—No; I would not consider it so. He thought it created a danger of a wash-out.

To Mr. O'Connell witness stated that the concrete followed the Wakefield sheeting around. Concrete had been built down to the bottom of the Wakefield sheeting.

The last time witness had been in the bottom of the chambers was in December last. He was putting in a "deck" as precaution against frost. He had seen water leaking out of the wall in the west chamber and was putting a piece in the wall which had been ruptured sufficiently to allow water to flow through. There was a bulk-head upon the eastern wall of the western section. Nothing was done to form a bond at the junction except to sweep it off. No precaution, in his opinion, would have prevented it opening up.

The water, witness thought, was coming from the rock. The highest point at which the water enters is at the top of the crack, about ten feet high. This is higher than the top of the rock. Witness thought it possible that the water came through the rock. As an explanation, he thought it possible for the water to rise five feet above the rock. He had noticed no difference in the flow of water when there was water in the upper rock, and when there was not. He could not say whether it would leak a quart in fifteen minutes or not. There were no other leaks, except "seepage," in the breast wall.

In the east corner of the east chamber he had noticed a leak not far above the surface of the rock. He did not consider that there were any leaks in either chamber of a serious character. In any case, the water came through a concrete wall. He did not think this was a forty-foot wall. There was rock within three feet of the wall. Water is coming out higher than the face of the rock. He considered that the crack ran back about five feet to the rock, and that the water coming through the crevices in the rock ran through the crack.

There is nothing in the way of seepage, leaks or frost-joints in the concrete to indicate the different seasons' work. The work was left to the weather during the winter. In the spring the surface was brushed off and "roughed." There was filling going on at the back of the wing walls while construction was in progress. The breast wall was brought up to an elevation of about

OUR BRITISH EMPIRE.

England, what are you coming to;
This I ask in pity,
Your poor are starving on the streets,
In your London city;
Your Queen is doing all she can,
And so is your good King.
Your poor are starving on the streets,
I'm sorry thus to sing.

I think I see the reason why,
You are in sore distress.
Your Government is much to blame,
May God your people bless,
You ought to follow Chamberlain,
His policy is good,
To consolidate our Empire,
And buy its people's foods.

Your markets are almost open,
You call this thing free trade,
While foreign markets are all closed
Against the things you made,
How can you call such trade free trade,
Or play with such a tool?
You ought to follow Chamberlain,
And practice at his school.

If you would put a small duty,
Against all foreign wheat,
Would this not help your colonies,
In growing all you eat,
Some say this would make food stuff dear,
I say that cannot be
Because the world's product of food
Would not be less you see.

You ought to follow Chamberlain,
In reciprocity,
Throughout our great mighty Empire,
And make its trade more free,
Your poor may come to Canada,
All who have a strong arm,
For Canada is rich enough,
To give them all a farm.

Your people don't want charity,
They say this one and all,
Your Government is much to blame,
Your duties are too small,
If you would put a fair duty,
Against all foreign goods,
Your poor would then have lots of work,
And money to buy goods.

Remember the British Empire
How once it was so great,
Remember our British Empire,
And do not be too late,
You ought to follow Chamberlain,
And do not stick or burke,
Your poor are starving on the streets,
While they might all have work.

Queens' to Play Here On Dec. 27

Word has been received to-day from Queen's to the effect that they will be here to open the hockey season with the locals on December 27th. This should prove an interesting contest, as the Queen's team always proves a hard proposition to the local team.

Queen's this year will be very fast and as the home team is, by no means, slow, a good game is assured.

St. Andrew's Team Elects Officers

The Young Men's Guild of St. Andrew's church last night held a special meeting to discuss the hockey situation and formed a hockey club with the following officers:

Hon. President—T. C. Elliott.
Hon. 1st Vice-President — R. M. Waddell.
Hon. 2nd Vice-President — R. M. Glover.
President—T. W. R. Black.
Vice-President—W. A. Richardson.
Sec'y-Treasurer—Howard Waram.
Manager—E. Dormer.
Representatives to Guild League — Messrs. Dormer and Shurley.

The Guild will, this year, place a team in the League and the prospects are that it will be a fast one.

HOCKEY

The Junior Centrals hereby challenge the Snow Flakes to a game of hockey to be played at an early date. Hoping that you see the way clear to accept this challenge. R. Robinson, Captain.

eighty before the wing walls were commenced and they were afterwards carried along at the same time. About twenty men were employed upon the walls. He was the only inspector.

Mr. O'Connell—Could you give a thorough inspection?

Witness—Well, I could not be in two places at one time. Another man would have rendered considerable assistance. He thought he had complained sometimes to the superintendent that the work was difficult. Two or three gangs were employed at some times.

Mr. O'Connell—Did you have any trouble with the contractors?

Witness—I did sometimes, about getting the forming in proper shape, and they sometimes wanted to place the concrete upon the walls without sufficient mixing. At nearly every dump he found some insufficient mixing. There was a tendency upon the part of the men to spread without proper mixing. This was the cause of the trouble between him and the contractors. He did not think that much of this kind of work had escaped him. A foreman named McNamara had to be watched closely, and one named Dan Hennessy was inefficient at the commencement of the work. Several others also required watching.

Mr. O'Connell—When you were watching these men what were they doing—scamping the work?

Witness—Oh! they were probably watching me. He thought that three inspectors were probably necessary sometimes, and had spoken of the matter to the Engineer, Mr. Richardson found that Hayes was the only man to be trusted. There was a chance for defects in construction. The greater portion of the work between points 80 and 150 was done with three gangs.

Questioned as to the mortar facing, witness had sometimes found that the men neglected this at times in his absence. The mortar face averaged about three inches in thickness. From point 80 down the wall is not mortar faced upon the back. On the top of the walls the facing was about 1 1-2 inches thick. It was composed for the most part of 6 bags of cement to 18 feet of sand, or about 3 to 1. The mortar facing was not always neglected maliciously. An agitator was installed to work the inering facing. In his absence the agitator was not always used. He did not know that there was any of the mortar facing on the wall omitted, as he insisted upon it being put on. The work was "scamped" to a greater extent upon the wing wall than upon the breast wall. The construction of the work there was considerably more expensive to the contractor.

Mr. O'Connell — And for this reason, I suppose, there was a tendency to rush it through quickly to avoid loss?

Witness—I do not know whether it was for this purpose or to make more money. Opportunities were given for negligent work by the number of the gangs to watch. Friction with the foremen was of frequent occurrence.

Mr. O'Connell — Are there any further defects in either the breast or the wing walls, other than we have discovered?

Witness — Well, what have we discovered?

Mr. O'Connell—There is the defective concrete work.

EVENING SESSION.

James Bogue testified that he was the superintendent for the contractor during the year 1900. At the time he was there some excavation was done and some embankment built. He put in the system of drains. He did not remember if he had a plan. The location of the centre line and of the drains was laid out on the ground by means of stakes. They did the digging, but did not put the stone into the upper end of the cross drains. It was necessary to do some excavating through the south end of the embankment already built. Part of the longitudinal drains were also in the embankment. He had nothing to do with the filling up of the drains. After making an excavation, it is practically impossible, when the earth is thrown in again, to re-unite the different sections. The organization of the contractors was very imperfect. The material excavated from the bottom of the lock was placed in the embankment. He was not over a month with the contractors. The embankment was built by dumping the material of the scrapers, this being tramped in by the horses walking over it. The stone was put in the drains while he was there. There was a tendency to "seepage" in the places filled. It was not watered. Mr. McNamara had charge of clay work at the time he was there.

Mr. A. Jay Richardson re-examined by Mr. McLaughlin, stated that he had nothing to do with the putting in of the flooring in 1903, but had in 1904. In the latter work he dug a trench about eight feet deep at the north end. Concrete was laid along both sides from the south end. The trench was filled with concrete.

In the year 1905 the mud basin was filled with concrete, going 10 feet north and also went down along the sides to the crib. The floor was about one foot deep. The object was to remedy a defect caused by the water running from some point in the catch basin. A leak was found at about the middle of the east entrance. There was a hole about 8 feet deep and three feet in diameter, pear-shaped. The hole was dug out. There was a space of about 8 inches some feet in length beneath the catch basin. The earth was very muddy. The hole was filled with concrete, puked in. He thought a mixture of clay and gravel would make a better bond, on account of the possibility of water running through the junction between the concrete and the clay.

The floor was put in in 1904, was put in by order of Mr. Rogers, and under his personal inspection. Witness thought there might still be a tendency toward a leak in the mud basin. The putting in of the floor reduced the leak for a time but did not ultimately stop it. He had not seen the cracks in the lock at the present. At a stage of one foot twelve witness thought the previous leak was sufficient to fill an inch pipe. On the whole the flooring done in 1904 did little to stop the leakage.

Questioned by Mr. Rogers, witness considered the concrete work which he had done to be a first-class job. With reference to the floor placed in the lock, he did not known that at 175 there was a crack.

Mr. Patrick McNamara testified that he was employed in various capacities in the construction of the canal, commencing in 1897. Corry & Laverdure, he understood, were the contractors. Some excavating had been done north of the C. P. R. tracks. Some of the material excavated had been placed north of the Norwood Road Bridge. Witness was Government inspector of stone protection on the canal. The embankment was started north of the tilt lock. The witness described the manner in which the embankment above the lock was built. He stopped work in December, 1901. He had about some soft earth tailed in behind the breast walls. He inspected the buildings of the side banks, the east banks being commenced first.

THE AFTERNOON SESSION.

At the opening at two o'clock of the tilt lock investigation, the examination of Mr. A. W. Spence was continued by Mr. H. B. Rogers.

Mr. Rogers asked what, if in case the water should get through a crack or other leak, he would consider the best means to adopt to try to stop it? Would it be better to attempt to stop it or make some provision to allow it to get away?

Witness thought that no water should go through. The question was a theoretical one and in this case no remedy which he would suggest would be practicable. If it was possible to stop the water from going through it would be all right. At Kirkfield there had been no cracks in the wall yet the water come through. There was a crack of about half an inch between the pier and the wing wall.

DYSPEPSIA NOW CALLED CATARRH OF STOMACH.

Mr. H. Labarge, 841 St. Catherine street, Montreal, Can, writes:

"I would be ungrateful if I did not write you of the good your medicine, Peruna, has done me.

"For six years I suffered from indigestion and dyspepsia. I tried a number of remedies for this disorder complained with little or no good results. A friend of mine brought me a bottle of your celebrated medicine and I began taking it.

"I soon found it to be just the remedy I required, and after taking a few bottles of it I was completely cured.

We can give our readers only a slight glimpse of the vast array of unsolicited endorsements Dr. Hartman is constantly receiving.

If you suffer from stomach catarrh, write at once to Dr. S. B. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O., and he will be pleased to give you the benefit of his medical advice free.

The Auxiliary To the W.F.M.S. Met Yesterday

Splendid Progress of This Society During Past Year—Addresses on Mission Work by Rev. Dr. Neill and Mrs. Roger—Reports for the Past Year Were Presented—Ellection of Officers Took Place—

VALUE AND NEED OF MISSION WORK DISCUSSED

The annual meeting of St. Andrew's Auxiliary to the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society, was held in the school room of St. Andrew's church yesterday afternoon, about fifty ladies being present.

The president, Mrs. Potter, occupied the chair, and for the Bible lesson took extracts from St. John's Gospel. Mrs. Kerr and Mrs. Lees lead in prayer.

Secretary's Report.

Following is the report of the secretary, Miss Edmison:

As we look over the work of the Auxiliary for the past year, we feel there is much to encourage us. Although the amount of money on hand is not as much as at the close of 1904 still we do not feel that this indicates any lack of interest by our members, as during the previous year we had two life membership fees.

Dux Christus has been studied carefully, and many interesting papers given by different members of the society. Early in the year, Dr. Margaret McKellar of India, gave us an address. At our meeting in March Mr. Beall gave us a most instructive address on Japan and Miss Potter favoured us during October, her subject being "Some of the things that we as Canadians should be thankful for."

We have a membership of 40; 11 are members of the general society and 4 are life members. The average attendance is 22.

The bale of clothing, quilts, etc., sent to the Northwest was valued at $30.87.

The thank offering amounted to $61.06.

At the Presbyterial meeting held in Brighton we were represented by Mrs Potter and Miss King.

The annual meeting of the General Society held in our city this year was attended by many of our congregation, and we hope the stirring addresses delivered by the lady missionaries may inspire some who may have done nothing in the past to join in the work for the future.

Finances and Addresses,

The treasurer's report was read by Miss Lang. The contributions for the year amounted to $131.77. Miss Bertram, president of the Mission Band, read the Mission Band's report for the year showing a contribution of $50.00, making the total amount in aid of missionary work $184.77.

The following officers for 1906 were elected:

President, Mrs. (Rev.) J. G. Potter.
1st Vice-President, Mrs. Kerr.
2nd Vice-President, Mrs. Wm. Fowler.
Treasuror, Mrs. Geo. Lang.
Secretary, Miss Packenham.
Associate Secretary, Mrs. Peter Kerr.
Executive Committee—Miss Rae, Convenor; Misses Robinson, Bertram, Lees, Evans and Tully.
Literature Secretary, Mrs. Stevens.
Organist, Miss Lundy.

Addresses were given by Mrs. W.M. Roger and Dr. J. Neill, Westminster church, Toronto. Mrs. Roger gave a very comprehensive address on "Mission Work in India." She spoke of the great necessity of living a Christian life and particularly dwelt on the great value of religious teaching in the home. She referred to the terrible ignorance of Christ existing in India, and said that the call for missionaries to that densely populated country, was very urgent. She emphasized the great need of training the young in homes that they might take up this noble work.

Mr. Neill spoke of the work that could be done in foreign lands. "The work must be done," he said, "it must be done also before heathenism has gained absolute control of the inhabitants of the vast unchristianized nations across the sea — before it had gained too much ground —in its infancy, if possible." He illustrated the necessity of preaching the Gospel of Christ to the heathen as soon as possible by stating that a child of a leper if taken away from its parents while young would not inherit this dread disease. He referred to the religious teaching of children in schools and pointed out the great importance of instruction in the religion of God while the child was young and, before its mind had become contaminated by the wickedness of the world. Children not taught enough of the wisdom and mercy of God. He said that the Salvation Army in its great work put to shame many of the churches. The need of missionary work is very pressing and the best way to encourage the work was to instruct our boys and girls in the ways of truth and righteousness. He mentioned the great value of reading, but said that there were too many books in our homes to-day; too many books that were of no real value to those who perused their contents. The Bible, short catechisms, Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress and other books of true worth should have the preference over works of questionable value. More for the furtherance of the missionary cause must be done in public schools than has been done in the past. If some verse or text concerning mission work were committed to memory by the Sunday school scholars every year, their knowledge along this line would be really surprising at the end of the year, and more of the great and good men who have sacrificed many of the joys of civilization and home life for the purpose of spreading the word of God among men, should be known.

The young people of to-day are more or less familiar with the leading men in history, war, literature and politics. But how many of them know of the great numbers of God-fearing men that have sought out and taught the millions in foreign lands who were ignorant of the religion of the true God? Very few indeed; and these men are as great heroes as any that ever defended the honour of their country upon the battlefield, men whose work is more worthy of remembrance than the accomplishments of any others in great sphere of art, literature and music. The boys and girls should be made familiar with missionary work from the earliest time that their minds are susceptible to the great value of missionary work. Means should be devised in each Sunday school by means of which something towards missions would be donated each Sunday. If the Sunday school children learn the value of giving now, they will continue to give. The speaker gave a touching instance of a young boy who once handed him a dollar towards missionary work, the first dollar, his mother said, that he had ever earned. The people of this country should realize the great importance of this work and also lead Christ-like lives in home, social and business spheres. The divine words from the very lips of our Saviour are, "Go ye into all the world and preach the Gospel unto every creature."

A vocal solo during the offertory rendered in a pleasing manner by Miss Annie Dalziel was given, and for which she was tendered a hearty vote of thanks. Hymn 445 was then sung and a dedicatory prayer offered by Mrs. Fowler.

Delicious refreshments were served by the executive committee of the auxiliary at the conclusion of the meeting.

WEDDING BELLS

MENZIES-MOYSE.

At three o'clock this afternoon, Dec. 20th, the residence of Mr. Edward Carr, 906 Aylmer street, was the scene of a quiet, but pretty house wedding, when his niece, Miss R. Maud Moyse, daughter of the late Thos. Moyse, of Cobourg, was united in marriage to Mr. W. G. Menzies, son of Mr. W. Menzies, of the Examiner staff.

The residence was appropriately brightened for the occasion, the room occupied by the bridal pair during the ceremony being ornamented with pleasing floral decorations, etc. The bride entered the drawing room to the music of Mendelssohn's wedding march, performed by Mr. Armstrong, organist of St. Luke's.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Torrance, pastor of St. Paul's. The bride was attended by her cousin, Miss Agnes Carr. The groomsman was Mr. Ed. Carr, nephew of the bride.

At the conclusion of the ceremony, the guests, who were for the most part, confined to the relatives of the principals, partook of the wedding refreshments served by the hostess, Mrs. Carr, the bride's aunt.

The numerous beautiful presents received by the bride attested to the esteem in which she is held by friends in this city and elsewhere.

Mr. and Mrs. Menzies, who are both esteemed members of the community, will embark on the 5.30 C.P.R. express this evening for a short bridal tour which will include Toronto, Montreal, Buffalo and other places, and on their return will reside at 291 Rubidge street for the winter.

HUFFMAN—GOODFELLOW.

A pretty though quiet wedding was solemnized this afternoon at 2.30 o'clock, at the residence of Mr. Wm. Goodfellow, North Monaghan, when his youngest daughter, Miss Hannah Bessie, was united in marriage to Mr. Herbert Huffman, of Peterborough.

The ceremony at which were present only a few immediate relatives, was performed by Rev. Dr. Torrance, of St. Paul's church. The contracting parties were unattended.

Mr. and Mrs. Huffman will leave for a short trip to points west, and upon their return will take up residence at 291 Dalhousie street. Both are widely popular, and their host of friends will unite in extending to them best wishes and congratulations upon the occasion of the happy event.

Twenty-four Guests Were Charmingly Entertained Last Night by Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Robertson—A Dainty Menu and Interesting Post-Prandialities—Both Features Were Equally Delightful—Popular Young People Entertain.

THE EVENING WAS MUCH ENJOYED

The members of Mr. George Robertson's class at the George street Sunday school, were delightfully entertained at a banquet last night by Mr. and Mrs. Robertson, at their new home, McDonel street.

The affair was of a delightfully informal nature, and a most pleasant evening was spent.

After ample justice had been done the recherche menu, a short toast-list was proceeded with, Mr. E. M. Best filling in his usual happy manner, the position of toast-master.

After the King had been duly honoured in the usual manner, "Our Host and Hostess" was proposed by Mr. Harry Cressman, a response bemade by Mr. Geo. Robertson.

To Mr. Arthur Mann and Mr. F. Cressman felt the pleasant duty of proposing "The Ladies," to which a felicitious reply was made by Miss Ethel Goodfellow.

Pleasingly interspersed with the toasts were a number of musical selections. Miss Bertha Parnell contributed in good voice, and with excellent effect a vocal solo. A pianoforte solo by Miss Ida Sanderson was much enjoyed, as was also a recitation by Miss Ethel Miller. A vocal duet was given with charming expression by Misses Bertha Parnell and Edna Hill.

About twenty-four members of the class and their associates were present. The banquet was brought to a fitting conclusion by the singing of Auld Lang Syne.

The Conservatives Of West Peterborough

Annual Meeting Was Held Last Night—Election of Officers Took Place—J. J. Lynch Re-elected to Presidency—The Other Officers.

The annual meeting of the West Peterborough Conservative Association was held last night in the Young Conservative Club rooms, George street. About two hundred persons were present, and the principal business transacted was the election of officers and reception of reports. Mr. T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P., was in Toronto, and sent a telegram of regret at his unavoidable absence from the meeting.

Mr. J. J. Lynch, president of the association, occupied the chair, and gave the usual opening address.

The minutes of the meeting held on October 20 were read by the secretary, F. H. Dobbin, and were accepted. The by-laws passed provisionally at that meeting were also read and ratified.

The election of officers took place and resulted as follws:

President, J. J. Lynch.
1st Vice-President, Jas. Kendry.
2nd Vice-President, Col. J. W. Miller.
3rd Vice-President, W. A. Brundrette.
Secretary, Jas. Edgar.
Treasurer and Asst. Secretary, R. H. Waddell.
Chairman for 1st Ward—Mr. J. D. M. Wilson.
Chairman for No. 5 Ward—Mr. Adams.

It was decided to defer the appointment of the township chairmen until a later date.

The usual resolutions of confidence in the leaders, R. L. Borden and Hon. J. P. Whitney, were proposed.

Sodilite Property Is Sold To New Yorkers

Mr. T. H. Crowley returned to the city to-day from Toront, accompanied by Mr. John Stanyer, of Bancroft, the former owner of the property upon which Mr. Crowley made his rich sodilite find.

Mr. Crowley states that arrangements have been made with the New York capitalists, with whom negotiations have been carried on, to purchase the property, and he expects to start for Bancroft in the course of a few days to commence development work on the property.

There are seven other claims which all promise well and which these men are owners of. One of them is a deposit of red oxide, which, Mr. Crowley states, is extensive enough to paint the whole of Ontario red.

They express great faith in the future of that district.

Application To Extend Lines To Stony Lake

The Peterborough Radial Railway Company will, at the next session of the Legislature, make application for an act to extend the time for the completion of the company's railway, and also authorizing the company to construct an extension of its railway from Clear Lake, through the Township of Smith, to a point on Stony Lake, in the County of Peterborough. Mr. Dennistoun, whose firm is making the application on behalf of the company, stated to the Exam... that the reason for it was the fact that he had discovered that the company's charter did not provide for an extension to Stony Lake, and in view of the fact that at some time in the future they might wish to extend their lines there, this application will be made. It did not indicate, he said, that a decision had been reached to work this extension. By the charter, the time for completing the lines expires in May of next 1907, and it is thought desirable to have this time extended, hence the application.

Anniversary At Omemee

Other Intelligence From That Enterprising Village.

Special to the Examiner

Omemee, Dec. 19th. — The wheeling never was better than it is now, and there is a splendid foundation to make good sleighing.

The anniversary sermons in connection with the Methodist church here, were preached by Rev. J. Garbutt, of Beneion Falls.

There is considerable talk about changes in our village council, and it is probable that some of our best-known business men and citizens will be candidates.

Holiday entertainments are in full swing. The Presbyterians have engaged Bert Harvey, comic vocalist, for January 1st, 1905.

Charged With Forgery.

—Joe. McMullen was arrested by Chief Rossel this morning, charged with trying to pass a forged order, supposed to be drawn by and on W.B. Kelly, Bridgenorth, for $21.03. He will come up for trial to-morrow morning at the police court.

Jim Hayes Gets a Month.

—At the Police Court this morning "Jim" Hayes, well known in this city, received one month in jail for vagrancy. Jim is a renowned "boosa-fighter," and although he has a strong disinclination to work, is a very expert woodworker. Jim will be given an opportunity to do some woodwork at Castle Nesbitt. He came into the police station last night and voluntarily gave himself up. A drunk and disorderly was discharged.

The Land of the Aztecs,

Who has not read of the glories and wonders of old Mexico? The days when Montezuma held gorgeous court in the ancient capital of Gran Tenochtitlan are departed, but they have left Mexico one of the most interesting countries in the world. Picturesque ruins and relics, in a setting of flowers and sunshine, everywhere delight the fortunate visitor; each day's travel reveals fresh beauties. And out of the ruins a new Mexico is arising, a land of possibilities, abounding in resources of all kinds. In the peasants' hands the soil will yield five crops a year, metals and minerals in abundance. Our business men have here a splendid field for investment, and should see and judge the land for themselves. Leisurely investigation under sunny skies will be pleasant work, while the ladies will be delighted with tehir bargains in native work and precious stones.

An attractive itinerary, covering the whole of Mexico and the best of the Southern States, and including a visit to Cuba and New Orleans for "Mardi Gras," has been arranged for the Cuthbert House party tour, leaving Toronto early in February next, being the most extensive trip ever taken by any party. The special private train will contain every possible comfort and luxury, and the cuisine equal to that of a first-class hotel. A pleasant, smooth-running trip is assured, the management having had long experience in this branch of travel. Canadian enterprise, when it is the best, is worthy of your attention. Full particulars, with descriptive literature, upon application to E. M. Cuthbert, 25 Maitland street, Toronto, or C. B. Foster, District Passenger Agent, C. P. R., Toronto.

IN MEMORIAM.

Lines on the death of Lionel Youmans who died November 28th, 1905, at the age of 23 years.

In the twilight of the evening
Came the summons soft and low
Jesus saying "I will take you
From this world of pain and woe".

Scarce a month ago he left us
For to work within the woods,
Little thinking that so soon he'd
Be conveyed from this world's goods.

Father, mother spoke with sorrow
When to them he said good-bye
Alas! a dreadful sickness caught him
He came home only to die.

So he's gone from earth to Heaven
And no more on earth will stay
But be ever with his Saviour
In the realms of endless day.

His mother, how she'll miss
His kind and loving care
When with husband, son and daughter
She sees his vacant chair.

How much his friends will miss him
As they gather here and there.
But we hope that all will meet him
In that land so bright and fair.

With tender hands we laid him
In his white-lined grave to rest
And we feel that he is happy
And we know God's ways are best.

A FRIEND.

GEORGE WASHINGTON'S QUEUE

It Hid a Luxuriant Suit of Straight and Very Dark Hair.

The Father of his Country concealed a luxuriant suit of hair beneath his queue wig. Many now wish the old fashion were in vogue, to conceal thinned hair or baldness. Yet no one need have thin hair nor be bald, if he cure the dandruff that causes both. Dandruff cannot be cured by scouring the scalp, because it is a germ disease, and the germ has to be killed. Newbro Herpicide kills the dandruff germ—no other preparation will. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect." There's no sure for dandruff but to kill the germs. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. (Ormond & Walsh, Special Agents.

Selwyn Dairy Company Formed

In Succession to the North Smith Company.

A number of persons interested in the dairy business met in the Temperance Hall, Selwyn on Monday evening 18th. inst., to organize a new company out of the ashes of the old North Smith Dairy Company.

Mr. A. McIlmoyle occupied the chair. After considerable discussion it was resolved to organize a new company, to be known as the Selwyn Dairy Company, and to build immediately upon the old site. The new company starts with bright prospects and with a capital of $2,500.

The Directors are Messrs W. J. Northey, W. Nicholls, F. McKee, A. McIlmoyle and R. Duff, the first and last mentioned being President and Secretary, respectively.

The company will push the building as rapidly as possible and the patrons may rely on having their milk manufactured in a first-class factory and by a first-class maker. Everything will be ready for operation by the first of May.

A Friend Told Me About Bu-Ju

THE GENTLE KIDNEY CURE

Hundreds of people, who have been cured of Kidney Trouble by Bu-Ju, were first induced to try this wonderful remedy by friends who had themselves been cured. The sales of Bu-Ju are daily increasing, because everyone who takes them is benefitted—and these in turn, tell others. So the good news is spread.

Here is what a Picton man says about Bu-Ju:—

"I have used Bu-Ju with great benefit to myself, and cheerfully recommend to all who, I think, are suffering from Kidney Troubles and Rheumatism.

"I think Bu-Ju the best remedy made."

Yours sincerely,
JAMES MILLS.

A New Rifle Policy Being Adopted Now

Sir Frederick Borden Explains the Students' Course.

AT BANQUET AT MONTREAL

All Normal and High School Graduates to Be Obliged to Take Physical Culture Course Especially In Use of the Rifle — Provincial Ministers of Education Express Their Willingness to Co-operate.

Montreal, Dec. 20.—Sir Frederick Borden, Minister of Militia, at a banquet tendered to him last night by the Montreal Reform Club, announced that he had proposed to the Ministers of Education in the various provinces of Canada that all normal and high school graduates be obliged to take a course in physical culture, particularly as regards the use of the rifle. He had also signified the willingness of the Department of Militia to send men to do the training and supply the rifles. From all the Ministers, irrespective of party, encouraging replies had been received, with promises of cordial co-operation. Sir Frederick hoped that by the next session of Parliament he would have a definite proposal to introduce in the House.

Dealing with the Government's militia policy in a wider sense, Sir Frederick made a defence of the present expenditure.

The banquet was well attended. Col. F. W. Hibbert proposed the toast to the Minister.

GRANTS LEAVE TO APPEAL.

In York County Loan Co. Liquidation Proceedings.

Toronto, Dec. 20.—On the application of James Bicknell, K. C., representing 50 Toronto shareholders of the York County Loan Co., and many more from outside, Chief Justice Meredith yesterday morning granted leave to appeal the winding-up order granted by Judge Teetzel on Saturday.

On the question of insolvency, Sir William will not allow appeal. Permission to go to the Divisional Court is granted on the question whether the company is one which comes under the jurisdiction of the court under the Dominion Winding-up Act.

The leave to appeal was granted on condition that it would not cause a stay in the liquidation proceedings, except by order of the Court of Appeal.

Phillip's Examination.

This morning President Phillips will appear for examination under oath, before Official Referee Neil McLean, with an examination for discovery.

R. A. Armstrong and Frank Pancher for the National Trust Co. started yesterday to make a valuation of the real estate of the defunct company.

Too Hasty by Half.

Hon. Colin Campbell, Attorney-General of Manitoba in the Roblin Government, is here in the interests of the Winnipeg shareholders of the York County Loan, numbering about 2,000. "Our city has the third largest number of shareholders in the Dominion," said he. "Our view is that too precipitate action has been taken. We are opposed to all litigation; at least, there should be none until after the Ontario Government's investigation is concluded. I shall see Hon. Mr. Foy to-day."

Big Importation of Implements.

Winnipeg, Dec. 20.—The biggest shipment of agricultural implements that ever yet entered Canada was hauled in from the south yesterday. It consisted of 58 cars to the order of Fairchilds and Co., Winnipeg, from Deere & Co., and the Moline Wagon Co., of Moline, Ill.

Men Blown To Bits In Fearful Explosion

BODIES WERE IN FRAGMENTS

Havoc Wrought In Altman Building Excavation—Workmen Unintentionally Strike a Heavy Charge—Most of the 80 Men in the Excavation Escape—Jacob Metzger, Superintendent, Was Arrested.

New York, Dec. 20.—Three men were blown to pieces, seven others were more or less seriously hurt by an explosion of dynamite in an excavation for the new Altman building. Fragments of the bodies of the dead were scattered over an area of hundreds of feet. The explosion was caused by a workman unintentionally striking a heavy charge of dynamite, which had been placed in a drill hole in a ledge of rock, several days ago, and which defied attempts to explode it at the time. There were 80 men in the excavation at the time. Jacob Metzger, superintendent for the contractors, and superintendent for a construction company, were arrested on a charge of criminal negligence.

Workmen Use Bomb.

Dynamite Explosion Maims.

Montreal, Dec. 20.—An accident, which will probably result in the death of one man and the permanent disfigurement of two or three others, occurred at the quarry belonging to the city at the corner of St. Andre and Laurier streets yesterday afternoon. It appears that four men were engaged in laying a dynamite blasting charge when the foreman told them to clear out of the way. Three succeeded in getting clear, but the fourth could not get away, and was very seriously injured. His name is A. Cloutier, 41 years of age, of 33 Sussine street. The others escaped with less severe injuries.

A STRANGE ACCIDENT.

"L" Trains Collide Running on Parallel Tracks—One Killed.

New York, Dec. 20.—In one of the most extraordinary accidents known to American railroading, two heavily crowded passenger trains came together on the elevated tracks of the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad at 6.30 o'clock last night, near 110th street, in Harlem. J. W. Knapp of New Rochelle was killed and 40 other persons were more or less seriously injured.

Both trains were northbound, and had left the Grand Central station within a few minutes of each other. One was a Stamford local on the New York, New Haven and Hartford, which uses the Central tracks. The other was the Poughkeepsie express on the Central. Rushing along parallel tracks the trains came together. The local was switched from the third track on to the fourth, and in an instant the engine of the express had crashed into the day coach following the smoking-car of the local.

The tracks at this point are about 30 feet in the air. This made the work of rescue difficult and hazardous, and lent materially to the terror of the passengers, most of whom were commuters, residing in nearby points, who had come to the city on holiday shopping tours. Fire apparatus from several stations were summoned, and many persons were rescued. Serious injuries befell most of those in the car demolished by the engine of the express.

John D. Horn, engineer of the express train, was arrested last night on the technical charge of manslaughter, and later was released on bail.

Towerman Dwyer said Engineer Horn of the Poughkeepsie train had disregarded a signal which was set against him, and had come on at undiminished speed.

Three Train Hands Killed.

Reading, Pa., Dec. 20.—Three men were killed yesterday by the explosion of a boiler of a freight engine on the Reading Railway, near Birdsboro.

Two Killed in Train Collision.

Cumberland, Md., Dec. 20.—Two freight trains on the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad collided near Hedgeville, Md., yesterday, in which Engineer H. A. Haas and Brakeman Gillies were killed and several train hands injured.

Fred. Northey Killed at London.

London, Dec. 20.—While placing a very large stone weighing over 450 pounds on the new military store building at Wolseley Barracks yesterday morning, Fred Northey, a mason, was instantly killed, and his helper, Stanley Ferns, very badly injured, though not fatally. While imbedding the stone it became unbalanced and fell to the ground, crashing through the scantlings and other props on its downfall, carrying the two unfortunate men with it.

Four Convicts Injured.

Kingston, Dec. 20.—A derrick in the Penitentiary yard broke yesterday and four convicts were badly injured, and are now in the hospital.

Philippine Products Free.

Washington, Dec. 20.—By a vote of seven to five, the House committee on ways and means reported favorably yesterday on the Payne bill admitting all Philippine products into the United States free, excepting sugar and tobacco, which are to pay 25 per cent. of the Dingley rates until 1909, when they also are to go on the free list.

Russians Are Now Lining Up For Battle

Russian Workmen Issue Call For General Strike.

RESPONSE IS UNANIMOUS

Minister Durnovo Fails to Arrest the Instigators and Walk-Out Is Stated For Thursday — Proletariat, and Government Getting Ready to Lock Horns—Bloody Collisions and Mutilation of Soldiers.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 20.—A call for a general political strike throughout Russia to begin Thursday at noon, was issued last night. The call is approved by the Union of Unions, the Union of Peasants and General Railway Union, and the Councils of Workmen of St. Petersburg and Moscow.

A response received from the railroad men of Moscow is unanimously for a strike. The leaders have declared their ability to stop every railroad in Russia.

The printers of Moscow will strike to-day.

The strike order renders every member of the unions signing it liable to arrest and punishment under the new strike law. Minister of the Interior Durnovo attempted to telegraph orders to Moscow to arrest members of the Railway Union, and of the Workmen's Council, but the despatches were held up by the railroad telegraphers.

The Final Struggle.

Russia is thus apparently on the eve of a great, if not final, struggle for mastery between the Government and the proletariat. Both sides have lined up for battle. There is an air of suppressed excitement throughout the city. The streets have a holiday appearance in honor of the Emperor's name day, and are crowded.

Batteries of machine guns are stationed at various points of vantage throughout the city and patrols of infantry and Cossacks are everywhere. A specially heavy guard is stationed near the Jewish market.

Services were held in all the churches yesterday and in every barracks the Emperor's order for an increase of pay and food was read. It increases the annual pay from $1.85 per year to $3 in case of the ordinary privates, and of from $3 to $6 for privates of the guard. The pay of the non-commissioned officers is increased in proportion; in the case of the highest of the sergeants-major amounting to $36.

Rojestvensky Cheered.

Admiral Rojestvensky and chief members of the staff arrived here last night. The admiral, whose head was still swathed in bandages, gave evidence of the strain and mental suffering he had undergone. He was visibly pleased with the hearty welcome he received from the large crowd.

REVOLUTION'S HORRORS.

Soldiers' Eyes Gouged Out by Insurgents at Takum.

Mitau, Province of Courland, Dec. 17.—(Delayed in transmission.)—The troops, in order to avoid annihilation at the hands of the insurgents, have been forced to abandon the country districts and to concentrate at Riga, Mitau and Libau, where they actually are standing on the defensive, unable to make head against the insurgents. Several detachments have been defeated.

The garrison at Takum, consisting of a squadron of white dragoons and a company of infantry, not being able to depart in time, was set upon at night and lost its commander, Lieut.-Col. Mueller, and thirty men. The insurgents, finding the sentinels, penetrated the town, and laid wire entanglements in front of the house in which the wearied soldiers were quartered. Then they set fire to the houses, and the troops rushing out were shot down from the roofs or cut up in the narrow streets. The soldiers retreated in confusion, leaving their dead. The latter were horribly mutilated by the insurgents, who gouged out their eyes and cut off their ears and hands.

The insurgents, who form great bands, have a regular military organization, and are well armed.

Regular Battle.

Walck, Province of Livonia, Dec. 18.—Details have been received here of a regular battle between the members of a company of dragoons, who were escorting a wagon train containing thirty German families, and an armed band of 4,000 Letts near Roemershof. The expedition was trying to escape to the southward, but the ammunition of the dragoons, as the result of the constant skirmishes, was running low, and it was decided to reach Riga. The expedition ran into a Lett camp, which was strongly barricaded. The Letts opened fire, whereupon the dragoons charged, but were repulsed.

The Letts then took the offensive, pressing on the retreating caravan. The ammunition of the dragoons becoming exhausted, they surrendered, with their charges, on the understanding that they would give up their guns, but would be allowed to retain their revolvers. Another band, however, made its appearance, and insisted that the capture was effected in its territory. The members of this band then carried off the captives to Lennawarden Castle, where they held an orgie over their victims.

Streets Strewn With Bodies.

Takum, Courland, Russia, Sunday, Dec. 17, via Stettin, Prussia, Dec. 19.—A special staff correspondent of The Press, who has just arrived here learns that mobs of Lithuanians and Esthonians yesterday attacked a hundred Cossacks and dragoons, the only military force stationed in Takum. After wild fighting the soldiers were killed to the last man, their arms and legs cut off and their bodies ripped open. The streets were strewn with bodies and dismembered parts. Six hundred troops arrived here yesterday, with three guns shelled the place and charged the mobs of peasants, who surrendered or were dispersed.

In all three hundred soldiers and peasants were killed and many wounded.

Turkish Subjects Suffer.

Constantinople, Dec. 20.—The latest despatch received from Tiflis, Caucasia, yesterday says that three hundred houses in the Mussulman quarter were set on fire by armed Armenians who prevented the inmates from leaving and fired on the firemen who attempted to extinguish the flames. Fifty-seven Turkish subjects are known to have perished. A telegram from Batoum, Caucasia, reports a continuance of the disorders there. Great fears of a massacre prevailed in the Mussulman community.

The Shock Of Explosion Was Felt 30 Miles

JOHN INGRAM WAS KILLED

Brother of Andrew Ingram, M. P. For East Elgin, the Sole Victim, Although a Dozen Others Were Injured—Much Glass in the City Shattered — Not a Building in Rossland Escapes.

Victoria, B. C., Dec. 18.—The unexplained discharge of several tons of high power explosives contained in the joint magazine of the War Eagle and Centre Star mines at Rossland Saturday, caused overground damage estimated in the aggregate at from $50,000 to $75,000, inflicted minor injury upon a score or more of Rossland citizens and killed John Ingram, formerly chief of police of Kootenay City, who had charge of the magazine.

That the fatality was limited to a single individual is little short of miraculous, for the explosion was felt within a radius of thirty miles and in the City of Rossland, nestling at the foot of Red Mountain, in which are the mines that give it birth, not so much as one building entirely escaped.

Houses on the rise of the mountain, and nearest to the mine, are wholly demolished, while for a distance of five miles bricks and plaster fell in showers and window glasses were shattered in the concussion.

Ingram's Body Recovered.

Ingram was in charge of the powder, and his death removed the only possible source of information as to the cause of the explosion. His body was recovered, from the debris, badly mangled. Lockhart, the assistant diamond drill operator, who was at work under the Centre Star offices, was badly cut about the head and legs, but will recover. Several members of the office staff and men in the compressor building were hurt by flying glass or by being thrown violently against the machinery.

Buildings in the immediate vicinity were twisted out of shape, and the windows all broken. The big War Eagle boarding-house is badly damaged, some of the inmates being injured slightly.

Consternation in City.

In the city the shock of the explosion caused much consternation, and did a large amount of damage. Nearly all the plate-glass windows on Columbia avenue were smashed, many people receiving cuts from fragments. Merchants had Christmas goods displayed, much destruction being wrought among these. The amount of glass destroyed is enormous.

Centre Star, War Eagle and LeRoi mines will be shut down for a few days because of injury to the steam and air pipes and compressor machinery, and the practical wreck of buildings containing them.

Mr. Ingram was a brother of the member for East Elgin, Ont.

Dynamite Works Blow Up.

LOST LEGS THROUGH FREEZING.

Owen Sound, Dec 18.—As a result of terrible exposure while lying helpless in the snow for over four days near Killarney, Henry Beck, had both his legs so badly frozen that they were amputated just below the knee at the General and Marine Hospital here.

He was in one of the large contingents of lumbermen who passed through Owen Sound last October, taking passage on the steamer Manitou for the camps.

The heavy work in the camps did not suit the newly-arrived Englishmen, and on Nov. 27 seven of them, Beck among the number, quit work, packed up, and started to walk to Collins' Inlet, fourteen miles distant, and from there to Killarney, fifteen miles further. They were met with a blinding snow storm. All day they battled, but when night came on Beck grew weak and discouraged and finally fell by the wayside. In desperation his companions paid no attention to his cries for help, except to yell back that it was a case of "every man for himself." Beck lay in an exhausted state for two days, until he had recovered strength enough to crawl under the shelter of a tree. Meanwhile he suffered terribly from the cold. Here he was found on Friday, Dec. 1, in a semi-conscious condition by Angus McDonald, hotelkeeper at Killarney.

THE "HARDY" COMBINES.

First to Face Music Will Be Those Which Make Tacks.

Toronto, Dec. 19.—Crown Attorney Curry has now everything in good shape to tackle the alleged combines which come under the Jenkins & Hardy lists.

The first that will face the fire of his queries will be those who make and deal in the busy little tack. Detective Verney is the complainant, and yesterday he laid the informations against James Hardy and Thomas Jenkins, both of the City of Toronto, in the County of York; E. J. Fry, J. Mowat, J. C. Robertson, W. Bruckoff and E. Perkins of the Portland Rolling Mills Co., St. John, N.B.; H. M. Blacklock, W. H. Woodall, J. R. Kinghorn, A. H. Huff, W. McMaster and A. F. McPherson, Montreal Rolling Mills Co., Limited, Montreal; F. W. Knowlton, United Shoe Machinery Co., Montreal; F. H. Whittom, the Ontario Tack, Co., Hamilton; Jas. H. Peck, T. Edmund Peck, W. T. Cumming, E. T. Sinclair and M. A. Irwin of Peck Penny Co., Montreal; Jas. Pender, St. John, N.B.; E. W. Near, the Pillow Hersey Co., Guelph; G. Boyd, G. A. MacAgy and R. Hersey, Pillow Hersey Co., Montreal; in the year of our Lord, 1892, 1893, 1894, 1895, 1896, 1897, 1898, 1899, 1900, 1901, 1902, 1903, 1904, and 1905, at the City of Toronto, in the County of York, did conspire, combine, agree and arrange, the one with the other, and others of them, and with the Portland Rolling Mills Co., Peck Penny Co., Pillow Hersey Co., Montreal Rolling Mills Co., the Ontario Tack Co., the United Shoe Machinery Co., Jas. Pender & Co., and W. T. Woodall and other persons and corporations to the complainant unknown to unduly limit the facilities for producing, manufacturing, supplying and dealing in tacks.

The trial will not commence until the 28th, as so many of the witnesses will have to come from a distance.

HALF A DOZEN CANUCKS.

London, Dec. 19.—(C.A.P.)—Among candidates for Parliamentary honors at the forthcoming general election are four Canadians.

Hamer Greenwood, the Liberal candidate for York City, has for his opponent J. G. Butcher, who was at the last election returned unopposed. York City is a Conservative stronghold, but it is believed Greenwood will be returned.

Foster Boulton, formerly of Toronto, is the Liberal candidate for North Huntingdon, his opponent being A. E. Fellowes, the late President of the Board of Agriculture. Mr. Fellowes' majority at the last election was 1,151, but it is thought that, though the majority to be overcome is large, Mr. Boulton has a fighting chance.

H. F. Wyatt, well known in connection with the Navy League, is the Unionist candidate for the Russcliffe division of Nottinghamshire. Wyatt's opponent is J. E. Ellis, who had the Radical majority at the last election of 446.

Dr. Rankin Dawson, son of the late Sir William Dawson, of Canada, is the Conservative candidate for East Edinburgh. Mr. McRae, the present Liberal member had a majority of 1,291 at the last election.

Toronto, Dec 19.—The Canadian Associated Press despatch is incomplete. There are at least two Canadian members of the British House of Commons who are up for re-election—Sir Gilbert Parker, who has represented Gravesend since 1900; William Allen Baker, who won East Finsbury from the Conservatives a few months ago.

Mrs. John Charlton Dead.

Simcoe, Dec. 19.—Mrs. Ella Gray Charlton, wife of Hon. John Charlton, died yesterday at Twin Oaks, her husband's residence, near Lyndoch. Mrs. Charlton was in her 68th year, and had been ill of consumption for some months. She resided during the Parliamentary sessions for many years with her husband at Ottawa, and was a well-known figure in the Parliamentary society of the capital.

Fishing Schooner Lost.

Halifax, N. S., Dec. 19.—A despatch was received here, stating that the schooner Exotic was a total wreck at Seldom Come Bay, on the north side of Newfoundland. The Exotic had 2,000 quintals of merchantable fish for N. & M. Smith of this city. The cargo was insured for $30,000, and the vessel for $6,000.

NOT A "PATENT MEDICINE."

Scott's Emulsion is not a "patent medicine." It has no secret ingredients. Your doctor can, no doubt, tell you as much about it as we could. We have merely perfected the method of blending the Norwegian cod liver oil, hypophosphites of lime and soda and glycerine. As one grocer will blend coffee better than another so we have succeeded in making Scott's Emulsion a little better than any other cod liver oil preparation. There's no "patent" and the only secret is the secret of knowing how, with the perfected mechanical means at hand to do it. Get Scott's and you get the perfect emulsion. It's the greatest thing in the world for regaining strength and flesh lost through wasting.

IT'S THREAD COMBINE NOW.

Crown Attorney Curry After "Tightest" One of Them All.

Toronto, Dec. 18.—With the raiding of the premises of the Central Agency, Limited, 91 West Wellington street, on Saturday morning, Crown Attorney Curry has started proceedings against what he describes as the tightest of all combines—the cotton combine. The raid took the employes of the office, which is only a branch, completely by surprise. "The company was incorporated for the purpose of benefiting the companies of Great Britain and the United States," said Mr. Curry. "It had such an effect on the trade that the Dominion Thread Mills of Bracebridge, a Canadian company, was practically shut out. It was so powerful that when a department store wished to buy of the Canadian company they endangered their supplies in other articles. Spool cotton was not the only article over which the agency took charge. Among the others is included coats." The company has its headquarters in Montreal.

The subpoenas in the tack combine case will be issued to-day. Some go as far east at St. John, N. B. The case comes up Dec. 21.

WIFE NOW AFTER DIVORCE.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Dec. 18.—After avoiding his wife for the last seven years, David Boynton, who had been living in this city with his former house servant, who posed as his wife, has been discovered by the wronged woman, and its now being sued for divorce.

Boynton was married in Aurora, Ont., in 1877, and the couple lived there several years. Then they moved to Toronto where Mrs. Boynton engaged Anna Short as a domestic. A few months after the advent of Miss Short in the house, Boynton and the young woman disappeared. They came direct here and have lived at 1,617 Payne avenue ever since. A child has been born to them.

Boynton belongs to several fraternal organizations here and has been highly respected by a large number of friends. Mrs. Hannah Boynton, who remained in Toronto, learned of her husband's whereabouts a few days ago and immediately came here and took up her residence with a view of suing for a divorce on statuary grounds.

U. S. Schooner Seized.

Paris, Dec. 19.—The official view is that the recent negotiations have improved the Venezuelan situation.

THE REGINA SCRUTINY.

Result May Place the City in the Liberal Column.

Regina, Sask., Dec. 19.—There has been no change in the standing of the two political parties in Saskatchewan during the last forty-eight hours, the Government claiming sixteen seats and conceding the Opposition eight, with Regina City in doubt.

The scrutiny of the 178 rejected ballots in this city commenced on Saturday morning in the City Hall. Mr. Laird was represented by Messrs. F. W. G Haultain, Ford Jones and A. L. Gordon and Mr. Bole by Messrs. Norman Mackenzie and Alexander Ross. Up to 11 o'clock about one hundred ballots had been passed upon, and the Liberals claim that the effect of the allowed ballots will be to cut Laird's lead of nineteen down to five, and they confidently expect that the remaining ballots will wipe out his lead altogether, and replace it with a small majority for Bole.

The re-count is still in progress and cannot possibly be completed until to-day.

Reports from Moose Jaw and other points indicate that the Liberals are making gains in the scrutiny of rejected ballots.

Extending the Temiskaming.

Toronto, Dec. 19.—Messrs. C. B. Smith, chairman; J. L. Englehart, Petrolea; D. D. Murphy, Ottawa, members of the Temiskaming Railway Commission, have returned from a trip over the line. For forty miles beyond New Liskeard the rails are laid. The commissioners drove thirty miles beyond this limit, up to which the grading has been completed. The section north of New Liskeard is 100 miles in length. It is the intention of the Government to extend the line to meet the Grand Trunk Pacific, which means a further extension of fifty miles.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

A DELIBERATE SUICIDE.

Niagara Falls, Dec. 18.—Conductor Garrett of the Park and River Railway, when passing Park Villa, the residence of ex-Mayor Morton M. Buckley, on the river front, about 8 o'clock yesterday morning, noticed the body of a man on the edge of the precipice inside the Government fence.

He found the body cold in death, and a 32-calibre revolver clinched in the right hand. It was found to be that of Charles Armstrong of St. Catharines, aged aboue 30 years. In his vest pocket was a pawn broker's ticket from Buffalo, bearing Saturday's date, and written diagonally across the back in lead pencil was the following: "Notify George J. Armstrong, Guelph, Ont."

There being only 15 cents in his pocket, the man apparently had pawned his overcoat and spent the proceeds in drinking and, crossing the bridge, put an end to his troubles by emptying three chambers of the revolver into his body—one bullet in his stomach, the second in the left breast, and the third back of the right ear.

School Teacher Kills Negro.

Logan, W. Va., Dec. 18.—Herman Nolan, a negro, was Saturday shot and killed by Miss Daisy Wilkinson, a school teacher. The shooting occurred on the highway running through a woodland near the Guyandotte River. Miss Wilkinson was walking to her school and was overtaken by the negro. He made advances and threatened to kill her unless she would submit. Miss Wilkinson drew a pistol and sent a bullet through his brain. The girl has not yet been arrested, and the indications are that she will not be. Miss Wilkinson is but 20 years of age.

Still a Free Trader.

London, Dec. 19.—(C. A. P.—In his speech at Leeds before 5,000 people, A. J. Balfour, the late Premier, expressed himself as still belonging to the free trade party. Stove Mounters Strike.

Hamilton, Dec. 19.—Twenty-five stove mounters, employed by the Burrow, Stewart & Milne Co., struck yesterday because a non-union man was employed as a riveter. When the men made the kick, the man applied to be taken into the union, but he was refused, because the union said there were union workmen walking the streets idle. The firm refused to discharge the man.

Report On The Inspection Of Insurance

Mr. Fitzgerald, Inspector for Canada, Presents His Report —Says There is a Very Thorough System in Canada— Objects of the Inspection and How They are Attained —Care Taken to Correct all Errors.

THE SECURITIES ARE CAREFULLY SCRUTINIZED

A despatch from Ottawa says:

The Department of Finance gave out a report by Mr. Fitzgerald, Inspector of Insurance, to the Minister, on the manner of the inspection of insurance companies, showing what features are looked into, and the extent to which inspection is carried on. The principal object aimed at in every inspection of a company, he says, is to verify the last sworn statement made by the company to the insurance office, to ascertain if the items called for in the blank forms sent to the companies from the insurance office, have been correctly entered therein, to see that they are in accordance with the books and records, that the value of the assets is not overstated, that the company's liabilities are not understated, and that the income and expenditure are accurately set forth, and where any such statement is found to be inaccurate in any particular, to present same as corrected, to Minister, to be laid before Parliament. Clause 15 of section 25, of the Insurance Act, states that errors met with in the statements made by the companies are (a) those arising from the officer compiling the same placing upon an item an interpretation at variance with the intention of the statement form, (b) those where such officer understands the information desired, but fails to work out the correct result, (c) cases where the opinion of company's officers are at variance with those of the departments, as, for example, in case of loss outstanding at date of statement being omitted, the company's officers have not been reported to the company at the date of closing their books for the year they need not be reported to the Government. All of these classes of errors it is the endeavour to have corrected.

Wilful Misrepresentations Rare.

Cases are rare where wilful misrepresentations have been made in the returns for the purpose of concealing the true standing and condition of the company. All accounts in the general ledger are examined and taking the view that because they also, where found necessary, the journals, cash books, and other records of the company. The total cash receipts of the company are ascertained, and the disposal of the cash accounted for in expenditure for losses and other returns to the policy holders for dividends to stockholders, or for general expenses of the company. In this way is found the exact amount of cash which the company has available each year for investment.

Value of Real Estate.

As to real estate purchased by the company for office buildings, it is usually, but not always, inserted in the return at cost price to the company, and in such case the return is verified by reference to the real estate ledgers. On a few occasions in the past, where the amounts at which buildings were held seemed to render it desirable, the department procured valuations. Such valuations in some instances, bore out the values contained in the return, and where the contrary was the case copies of the valuations were sent to the companies concerned, with an intimation that, in the judgment of the department, the values should be written down, which intimation was sometimes heeded, but sometimes not.

Inspection of Mortgages.

As to mortgages every mortgage is examined and the amount of principal secured thereby and the rate of interest as set forth in the schedule verified. Where the schedule shows overdue interest, the ledger is examined to ascertain whether such overdue interest has been paid prior to the time of inspection, and if paid a note to that effect is made in the overdue interest column. If the interest overdue is not then paid the company's attention is directed to the fact, with a request that an effort be made to realize it, and in case of failure that the amount so overdue, be written off the assets, unless it clearly and satisfactorily appears that the value of the mortgaged property is ample to secure principal and all interest overdue and accrued thereon. It has been the practice to examine the mortgages. A few irregularities are generally found where examinations are made with respect to policies of fire insurance relating to buildings on mortgaged properties, but on the whole, it has appeared in the past that fire insurance is well looked after, and Mr. Fitzgerald knows of no case on which loss has occurred through want of proper fire insurance protection.

Premiums and Accrued Interest.

To outstanding and deferred premiums and accrued interest the examiner cannot apply the usual test of accuracy which he puts to present at his disposal in the case of ledger items of assets. He is able, however, to make an estimate sufficiently close to satisfy him that no error of any magnitude or consequence has been made. In the case of companies other than Canadian the statute requires that there be made with Canadian trustees, appointed under and for the purpose of the insurance act, deposits of securities at least equal in value to liabilities to policyholders in Canada, including matured claims and full reserve or reinsurance value for outstanding policies. Accordingly from time to time demands are made on all such companies for increased deposits, and the sum so deposited by such companies now amounts to $54,195,265 (November 8, 1905,) deposits in several instances being in excess of the requirements of the statute and in no case less than such requirements. It follows from the foregoing that the principal assets—in fact, almost the total assets—in Canada of such companies are in the hands of the Receiver-General at Ottawa, or with Canadian trustees, and where trustees have been appointed, as has been done by eight companies, the assets vested in them, consisting of mortgages, bonds, stock and debentures, are examined from year to year in the same way as the assets of Canadian companies.

Statement of Liabilities.

Particular care is taken to see that the liabilities are not understated. The claim books, and where necessary also the claim papers and notices of claims, are carefully examined ascertain if outstanding liabilities have been accurately estimated, and where errors or omissions are found they are corrected. The insurance act provides that once in every five years or oftener, the superintendent shall value or cause to be valued under his supervision all policies of life insurance of Canadian companies and the Canadian policies of life insurance of companies other than Canadian licensed under the act to transact the business of life insurance in Canada. It was the intention of Prof. Cherrman, the first Superintendent, that the quinquennial valuation of the policies should take place upon the same date, and the first quinquennial valuation was made as at December 31st, 1879. The second of such quinquennial valuation was undertaken as at Dec. 31st, 1884, but the work was then found to be too great to be carried through in any one year, so the companies were divided into groups and the dates of valuation distributed over five years, and the work was arranged so that the policies of any one company should be valued at least once in five years.

Varieties of Insurance.

Mr. Fitzgerald, in his concluding remarks, says:—"There are at present 110 companies licensed under the insurance act for the transaction business in Canada. Twelve varieties of incurance are carried on by them, viz., life insurance, life insurance on the assessment plan, fire, inland marine, inland transit, guarantee, contract, accident, including employers liability, sickness, steam boiler, plate glass, and burglary guarantee. Of these companies fifty-one are Canadian, thirty British, and twenty-nine American. There are also eight line companies, four British and four American, which ceased to transact new business in Canada before the life insurance act came into force, but which are entitled under section thirty-two of the insurance act to carry on all business connected with policies existing at 31st March, 1876. These companies as well as the licensed companies make annual returns to this department. Upon looking through the statements of the business of 1903 examined by the department, it is found that corrections were made in 608 items. Instruction as to the proper and most expeditious methods of compilation of Government returns has resulted in greater uniformity in the statements of companies doing similar kinds of business, and a greater degree of accuracy attained through a smaller expenditure of labour than prevailed in the earlier days of the department. In two or three instances companies invested a portion of their funds in securities not authorized by the statute in that behalf. To this the department of course took exception. The objectionable securities were thereupon disposed of, and other securities substituted, to the satisfaction of the department. In view of the large number of companies (110) to be visited in a limited space, and the large number of items to be checked, it is not contended that every error has been corrected nor every irregularity found. This would be an impossibility, even if a much larger staff than our own was employed in making the examinations. We do contend, however, that no error or irregularity of any magnitude of consequence has been overlooked, and certainly none that has in any way affected the solvency of any company coming under the supervision of this department. The foregoing, deals with the nature and object of the annual inspection of insurance companies by this office, the methods adopted in making such inspection, and, to some extent with the results produced. The question of policy, as to what amendments are necessary or desirable in the insurance act, was not under consideration, and no expression of opinion upon that subject is, therefore, offered."

STONY LAKE.

At Eagle Mount and Juniper
Where large the blue-berries grow
At Julian and at Viamede
Where refreshing breezes blow,

Here will we spend our holiday
Here is rest for the weary brain,
The Kawartha Lakes for a catch of bass,
And a ceasing from work's strain.

Let me partake of Stony Lake
The granite isles and green,
And I would not change my heritage
For that of Britain's Queen.

At Burleigh Falls, where the water falls
And the angler's in his glory,
From dawn to dawn, let care be gone,
A pipe, a jest, a story.

The lilies bloom in Fairy Lake,
Clear Crystal lies the waters,
The fairies they are fairer than
The fairest of Eve's daughters.

And every night our hearts grow light
When music fills the air,
Within five mile to the evergreen isle
The people gather there.

Prosperous Times in Town Of Havelock

Evidences of it Are Not Wanting —Many Improvements, Both Private and Civic—Successful Entertainment in Connection With the Church of England—Presbyterian Church Installs New Electric Lighting System —Personal Items of Interest.

MUNICIPAL MATTERS CLAIMING ATTENTION

Special to The Examiner.

Havelock, Dec. 19.—Mr. Allie Rose, has been laid up with a bad attack of grip for the past week.

Times must be booming as no less than ten pianos have come into town in the past month perhaps if an enterprising piano agent was to strike the council for a new piano for the town hall, he may make a sale, as the one now in the hall is a disgrace to the community.

A big improvement was effected in the Presbyterian church when electric lights were installed. The managers, after a lengthy discussion, as to what would be the best plan for this purpose, decided to install standards along both aisles so as to distribute the lights better.

After it was installed it was plain to be seen that no better way could have been adopted as not only does it improve the appearance of the church but makes sufficient light. There are four three-light standards mounted on a bronze pipe with the latest style prism shades, which makes the light appear more powerful. In the front of the church there are two bracket lamps out of the wall, one at each side, while on the organ itself is a double bracket lamp. The basement is well lit with eleven sixteen-candle-power incandescent lamps.

Rev. A. E. Camp exchanged pulpits with Rev. Mr. Atkinson, of Warsaw, on Sunday. Mr. Atkinson's sermon was appreciated by all who attended.

Rev. A. E. Camp spent Monday and Tuesday the guest of friends in Peterborough.

Which proved to be the event of the season as far as the English Church was concerned took plae on Monday, December 18th in the town hall, when the Girls' Auxiliary gave an amateur drama "Among the Breakers". Before the play a drill by sixteen young ladies was given which made a very pretty picture. This was entitled "The Dairymaids".

The cast of characters in the play was as follows:—David Murray (light housekeeper) Mr. Ward Barlow; Larry Devine the assistant, Mr. P. T. Clark; Hon. Bruce Hunter, Mr. C. A. Ghent; Clarence Hunter, (his ward) Mr. A. Tabriel; Peter Paragraph (a reporter) Mr. S. C. Cross; Scud (Hunter's coloured servant) Mr. E. Lancaster; Minnie Daze (Hunter's niece) Miss M. Barlow; Bess Starbright (cast up by the waves) Miss Bella Caplan; Mother Carey (a reputed fortune teller) Miss H. Caplan; Biddy Bane (an Irish girl) Miss M. Wager. Notes.—Mr. Ward Barlow, as light house keeper played his part very well. Mr. Clark as an Irish lover, certainly made a hit. Mr. C. A. Ghent, as the Honourable Bruce Hunter, took the house by storm—his voice, manner and personal magnetism were all that could be desired. Mr. Ghent is to be congratulated and with a little more study could easily take the front seat in a much larger production. Mr. A. Tabriel, as Clarance Hunter, with the exception of a weak voice, did his part well. Mr. Crows, as reporter, was fine. Mr. E. Lancaster, as Scud, —well, he was the limit. He had the house roaring all the time. Possibly he is a little stiff on account of being in the close quarters of a barrel so long a time. Mrs. Barlow, as Minnie Daze, made the most of a light part. Miss B. Caplan as Bess Starbright was fine and handled her part well. Miss H. Caplan as fortune teller was fine. Miss M. Wager, as Biddy Bane, was good. Her love making to Larry scored a hit. The hall was filled to the doors. A large number of Norwood people attended.

On Wednesday evening the Methodist Church will hold their annual Christmas entertainment in the town hall. A cantata which from all accounts, will be a success will be given.

Mr. W. Andrews is installing an electric bell system between his house and stable.

BANKS WRECKED IN CHICAGO.

Three Institutions Forced to Close Their Doors Owing to the Excesses of Speculators

Chicago, Dec. 19.—The failure of the Chicago National Bank, the Home Savings Bank, and the Equitable Trust Co., all of Chicago, was announced at 3.30 o'clock yesterday morning by representatives of the Chicago Clearing House Association after a session lasting eighteen hours. James B. Forgan, president of the First National Bank, as head of the Clearing House Committee of Chicago Associated Banks, gave forth the statement. The assets of these institutions, it was asserted, were involved in coal and railway properties of John R. Walsh, president of the Chicago National Bank.

Dangerous Dealing.

In a statement given out yesterday Comptroller of the Currency, Wm. B Ridgley, says:

"The critical situation in which these three concerns have been placed has been due to the large loans made to the railroad, coal mining, and other enterprises owned and controlled by Mr John R. Walsh. This again emphasizes the danger of the managing officers of the banks being interested in outside institutions requiring large amounts of money. The Comptroller's office has for some time been criticising the condition of the Chicago National Bank and calling upon its officers and directors to reduce the amount of these loans and the investments in the bonds of Mr. Walsh's corporations, in spite of repeated promises that this should be done these items have been continued in the bank, and in order to prevent further encroachments it was necessary for the Comptroller to take radical action."

The Financial Statements.

The Chicago National Bank was organized in November, 1881, with an authorized capital of $200,000, increased to $500,000 in 1887 and to $1,000,000 in 1901. Its resources, according to one of the latest reports made to the Comptroller of the Currency, are $21,000,000, of which nearly $11,000,000 are loans and discounts, with $4,000,000 cash on hand. The liabilities include nearly $14,0000,000 in individual deposits and $4,000,000 due to other banks

The Home Savings Bank was organized originally in 1867, with a capitalization of $100,000. A late statement of the resources shows an aggregate of $4,232,271, of which $3,782,000 is reported as being held in municipal, railroad and other bonds. The savings deposits aggregate $3,982,653.

The Equitable Trust Co. was chartered by the State of Illinois Aug. 29 1887, to act as executor, administrator trustee, guardian, assignee or receiver and to receive and execute trusts of every character. The capital stock is $500,000. Its resources are $4,612,381 The liabilities include $2,007,563, of which amount $454,000 are deposits in trust, and $500,000 in certificates of deposit.

There is a combined shortage of $6,000,000.

No Cause For Panic.

Washington, Dec. 19.—Secretary of the Treasury Shaw has received the following telegraphic report from Comptroller Ridgley, now in Chicago in reference to the failure of the Chicago banks: "Clearing house bank's guaranteed payment of all liabilities for the three banks, which will liquidate and pay everything in full. The officers and directors will resign and will be replaced by the Clearing House Committee and Examiner Bosworth who will run the banks and conduct liquidation. This should relieve the situation and prevent further trouble here or elsewhere."

Lead is Higher.

Ottawa, Dec. 19.—Latest advices to the Trade and Commerce Department are that the market price in London for lead is £17 2s 6d per ton. The figure at which the federal bounty to the Canadian lead mines ceased was £16 per ton. Twenty mines in the Slocan district of British Columbia produced last week 651 tons of lead.

Woman 102 Years Old a Smoker.

Brockton, Mass., Dec. 18.—Mrs. Mary Barnsby of this city, who has smoked a pipe for 90 years, celebrated her 102nd birthday Saturday afternoon. She is in good health.

Their Holidays Curtailed.

Kingston, Dec. 18.—The cadets in the Royal Military College leave on Thursday for the Christmas holidays. Their holidays this year only last ten days, instead of three weeks, as formerly.

DO YOU FEEL THIS WAY.

Do you feel all tired out? Do you sometimes think you just can't work away at your profession or trade any longer? Do you have a poor appetite, and lay awake at nights unable to sleep? Are your nerves all gone, and your stomach too? Has ambition to forge ahead in the world left you? If so, you might as well put a stop to your misery. You can do it if you will. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will make you a different individual. It will set your sluggish liver to work. It will get into every vein in your body and purify your blood. It will set things right in your stomach, and your appetite will come back. If there is any tendency in your family toward consumption, it will keep that dread destroyer away. Even after consumption has almost gained a foothold in the form of a lingering cough, bronchitis, or bleeding at the lungs, it will bring about speedy cure in 98 per cent. of all cases. It is a remedy prepared by Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., whose advice is given free to all who wish to write him. His great success has come from his wide experience and varied practice.

C. A. Copenhaver, Esq., of Mount Union, Huntingdon Co., Pa. (Box 223), writes: "About twelve years ago I was suddenly taken with a pain in the pit of the stomach which was so violent I could not walk straight. It would grow more severe until it caused waterbrash and vomiting of a slimy yellow water. A physician told me I had a form of dyspepsia and treated me for about six months with but little benefit. Another physician told me my liver was out of order and that I had indigestion. He gave me a treatment and I got some better but only for a short time. I then tried another one, who said I had chronic indigestion, ulceration of the lining of the stomach, torpid liver and kidney affection. He treated me for more than a year and I felt much better, but it did not last. I then took to using several widely advertised patent medicines, but received no more than temporary relief. I then tried Dr. Pierce's medicines, using his 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and the 'Pleasant Pellets,' and in two months' time I was feeling better than I had for years before."

Suffield, Conn., Dec. 18.—After binding the railroad watchman, Wm. Jones, and his 12-year-old son, to chairs in the railroad station here yesterday morning before daylight, five bank robbers pried their way into the Suffield Savings Bank on Main street, blew open the safe after the fourth attempt, and made away with about $50,000 worth of registered bonds and stock, not negotiable according to President M. L. Newton of the institution.

They overlooked $3,000 in cash and negotiable bonds in a drawer nearby. Although the explosion was heard for a quarter of a mile away, the robbers made their escape, leaving no clue whatever.

CURE [illegible] HEADACHE.

WHAT CAUSES HEADACHES?

Blood Poisoning, Always!

The blood is poisoned by retained tissue waste, due to defective action of the bowels, kidneys or skin. The tissue waste, or dead cells, circulating in the blood, irritates the nerves and brain, and headaches and neuralgia are bound to arise. Headache powders and opiates of any kind do harm, by aiding the retention of the blood poison in the system. To cure headaches, purify the blood by opening the bowels, and by stimulating the kidneys and skin to increased action.

Testimonial of Mr. Bert. Cornell, Taylorville, Ont.

Chronic Headaches Cured by Fruit-a-tives

To Fruit-a-tives Limited,
OTTAWA, Ont.

"I was a sufferer from fearful headaches for over two years, sometimes they were so bad I was unable to work for days at a time. I took all kinds of medicines, was treated by physicians, and yet the headaches persisted. A short time ago I was advised to try "Fruit-a-tives" and I did so with, I must confess, very little faith, but after I had taken them for three days my headaches were easier and in a week they left me. After I had taken a box of the tablets my headaches were quite cured. My appetite was also poor and my stomach was bad and now my appetite is splendid and my digestion is excellent. I have been taken in all three boxes of "Fruit-a-tives," am exceedingly grateful to "Fruit-a-tives" for curing me and I give this unsolicited testimonial with great pleasure.

(Sgd.) BERT. CORNELL.

"Fruit-a-tives" cure headaches and neuralgia because they purify the blood by their splendid action on the liver, kidneys, bowels and skin, and thus remove all poisonous material from the system.

Bishop Of Toronto's Christmas Pastoral

The following pastoral will be read in the Anglican churches of the diocese on Sunday :—

Toronto December 12th, 1905.

Beloved Brethren,—Spared by the good Providence of God to greet you once again as your Bishop on our great Christmas festival, I take the opportunity to remind you of all the blessings which flow to us from the wondrous event therein commemorated—the Incarnation of the Son of God in our flesh. These blessings enter into every relationship of our earthly life; they are of every kind, religious and spiritual; national and individual; social and domestic. All that we enjoy of these comes to us through the lifting of our fallen nature into participation with the Divine nature by Christ taking the manhood into God.

Great cause have we to rejoice and be glad at this season when we count up the blessings which have been showered upon us in such abundance; the unprecedented prosperity of our country, the increase of wealth and profusion of harvests, diffusing plenty throughout the land; the enjoyment of peace and liberty, the prevalence of brotherly charity and goodwill; the rich promision and free exercise of spiritual privileges in the means of grace. Surely, no people have been more highly favoured with those gifts that go to make a nation great and happy than are we of Canada at this time.

Such mercies call for a grateful acknowledgment of their source in the goodness of God, who in the gift of His Son has with Him freely given us all things, and for a return from a willing mind of generous offerings for the relief of those who need and for the furtherance of Christ's Kingdom of Peace on earth.

Especially I invite you, dear brethren, to mark your sense of indebtedness to the Gospel of glad tidings heralded on that happy morn of the Nativity, by making a special thank-offering to your Pastor commissioned to minister it to you, that his heart may be cheered by your bounty, and he and his family be made partakers of your feast-keeping.

That you and your households may enjoy, at this holy Season, the richest blessings, temporal and spiritual, which the birth of a Saviour into the world brought down from Heaven, is the earnest prayer of

Your faithful Friend and Bishop,

ARTHUR TORONTO.

Old Resident Called Away

Patrick Leinster Died at the Age of 82 Years.

A much lamented death occurred in the township of Smith on November 29th, when Mr. Patrick Leinster passed away at the age of 82 years and 10 months.

The deceased came with his parents from Ireland, in the year 1834, and located with them, in the effort to build up a home in the township of Smith, remaining where he first located until the end.

Mr. Leinster was one of the sturdy old fashioned kind, and in matters of church and state was a true and faithful man. In religion he was one of the old time Methodists, and always had a kindly word for all with whom he came in contact. His wife, who was a daughter of the late William Morton of Otonabee, predeceased him by some 17 years. He leaves to mourn his loss two sons and two daughters, as follows: Thos. B., and Mrs. John True, in the west, and Wm. C. and Miss A. at home.

The funeral took place on the 30th to the Bridgenorth cemetery. Service was conducted at the home by his pastor, Rev. H. McQuade, who spoke feelingly of the deceased. Thus our fathers are passing away.—Com.

"A ROMANCE OF THE MEDIEVAL AGES"

BY MISS RHEA BODDY.

The story published below was written by Miss Rhea Boddy, a former Peterborough Collegiate Institute pupil, who saw the Story Competition, and submitted her story—not for competition, however. The Examiner gladly publishes this story. Miss Boddy is a daughter of Mr. Thos. Boddy, former C.P.R. Ticket Agent here.

No doubt many readers will pick up this story and exclaim, "Pshaw, who wants to read a sentimental love story," but if you will be patient and peruse it further, you will see it is no ordinary love story, but a tale of a beautiful and courageous woman of those almost old days of our ancestors. Men and women did not marry for honour, wealth, titles, etc., then, but for the pure love of honest and industrious men.

In 17—, a wealthy widow and her son Barton, lived in the seaport town of Bristol. Her husband had been a merchant, who owned numerous warehouses, and had been granted a title and crest by his King. She lived in a beautiful, indoneous house, where everything was furnished with the greatest taste and luxuriance.

Barton, having possessed from infancy a great love for the sea, at once decided to take his father's ship "The Maid of Bristol," and do a little exploring for himself.

On the 14th of January they left the port, and began their ocean voyage. They sailed on and on through many meandrous lakes and rivers, until one evening they came to a large island. Barton and several others took a small skiff, rowed ashore, and decided to camp there for the night. When morning broke lo! the mate Trowley, the ship and all had disappeared. They were determined to make the best of the inevitable, so took instant measures to discover if they were the only inhabitants of the island.

A large band of Indians was the reward of their search. They were very friendly towards these "pale-faces" and Kingswell (Barton) was made a chief in their councils and dances.

They had only been here a short time, but to them it was interminable. At last the monotony was broken by a battle. The opposing tribe had long been considered a deadly enemy by Soft Hand, and the long expected encounter was close at hand. The next evening the storm broke in the deadly fury of Indian arrows and war cries. The fight raged so long and disastrously that the tribe of Soft Hand was completely wiped out except for a young Beothic brave, whom Barton adopted as a younger brother.

Barton, accompanied by Onewna (the young man he had saved) and his seaman at once proceeded on their travels. After rowing for several weeks they came to a small settlement named Fort Beatrice.

MISS RHEA BODDY,

Author of the Story, "A Romance of the Medieval Ages," published to-day

the law. Once on a great gambling bout in England he had shot a man, and for this mad act, committed in a hasty moment, his estates of Beverly and Randon had been confiscated by the Crown. The other inhabitants of the Fort were the Donnellys, Dame and Master Trigget, John Brown and Jean Coutrie. Jean, only possessed Sir Ralph's secret, and the price of his silence was Beatrice's hand. Sir Ralph was averse to the idea of her marrying an adventurer, a libertine, a sea-pirate, etc., so he at once picked on Barton as a worthy suitor.

Jean possessed a great dislike to Onewna, and once in passing him blessed in his ear, "coward," "Sneak." He even stole into the room, where he slept with Barton, and endeavoured to stab him, but he was no match for the Indian's cunning and agility.

The fort was aroused by an attack of Indians one evening just after dusk, but they managed to drive them away.

At last Barton proposed to Beatrice, but when Jean heard she had accepted him, he called Sir Ralph a traitor, and drew his sword and killed him instantly. Barton at once closed swords with Jean, and left him a lifeless heap of clay.

Spring arrived at length and several boats from Bristol, arrived for the usual cod-fishing. Barton at once discovered the "Maid of Bristol" amongst the little fleet. That evening he and several others rowed up alongside the "Maid" and there in the cabin sat Trowley regaling himself with rum, out of Barton's own glass goblet.

Onewna and Barton sprang through the door, and bound Trowley and the mate with a coil of good stout rope. Fifteen minutes later Beatrice, Barton and Onewna filled glasses of good Canary Wine in the hold, and drank success to each other's welfare.

Barton wrapped his sweetheart in a large rapperum, and she slept by the helm till Aurora's golden rays began to show up in the east.

At noon they arrived at the town of St. John's. The Governor was delighted to see them. Barton at once hunted for a clergyman, but unfortunately he was at the cod-fishing near Conception Bay. On his arrival he married this happy couple, and the whole town donned their holiday attire. Strips of bunting hung from every available spot, and the principality enjoyed rich wines and liquers, while the commonalty regaled their appetites with rum and beer. Willing hands then towed their vessel up the river, and through the narrows, and soon after they reached their final destination—Bristol.

In her splendid, but lonesome home, Dame Kingswell sat by the grate with clasped hands. Her robes, though sombre, were of rich material. She wore no personal ornaments save a gold ring and cross, and her hair was snow white. On her lap lay a devotional book, but her hands were folded on the open page, and her thoughts were far, far away.

The room was scantly furnished, and a few paintings adorned the walls. A light rapping sounded, and in walked a beautiful girl in cloak and hats. She advanced quickly in a whispering of silks, kissed the pale hands and said, "My name is Beatrice Kingswell." The widow was sorely puzzled. "I am your daughter, and —oh my mother do not swoon—Barton is awaiting your permission to enter." Incredulously she replied, "I have no daughter, and Barton has been dead in a far off land for years."

"I am his wife," she replied, and hastening to the door Barton rushed in, and clasped her to him. She clung to him for a moment and sobbed hysterically.

Of the future of Barton, Beatrice Onewna, we will leave you, dear reader, to imagine. The little fort on Gray Goose River was overpowered by the French, and the remaining settlers moved to Conception Bay. Here they established themselves securely, and even to-day, perhaps, descendants of those same people cure their fish, and cultivate their little crops around the coast of St. John's.

Violent Headaches.

"I was troubled for a long time with headaches which would come on with such violence that I could not eat or do my work. Headache powders and quick cures did no good. Eight months ago I took six boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and I have not been troubled with headache since." Mr. O. Barber, Simoos, Ont.

Campaign Of Saskatchewan Is Very Bitter

Two Election Arrests Made In Prince Albert, Sask.

SWORE THAT HE WAS PAID $10

Liberals May In Consequence Have the Opposition Candidate, Donaldson, Arrested For Personal Bribery—Conservatives First Cause Arrest of a Deputy Returning Officer—What the Dispute Is About.

Yesterday the Conservatives caused the arrest of a deputy returning officer for failing to seal the lock of his box. He had sealed the box and locked it in the presence of the scrutineers, but the Conservatives claim the lock should also have been sealed.

This is disputed by the Liberals, who in return for this proposed to have Opposition candidate Donaldson arrested on a charge of personal bribery. One of his supporters named Foulds swore that he was paid $10 by Donaldson for the loss of time and expense in going to vote.

HE WAS MISREPORTED.

Dr. McLennan Made No Attack on the Coal Companies.

Halifax, Dec. 21.—The Conservative press published a garbled report of the speech delivered by Dr. McLennan, M. P. for Inverness, alleging that he stated that the big coal companies formed a combine, and parcelled out the contracts for the supply of coal to the Intercolonial among themselves, forcing the Government to accept their terms, and that the Dominion Coal Co. bribed the Intercolonial officials at Moncton by supplying to them free coal. Dr. McLennan repudiates the report and says he merely read the questions placed on the order paper of the Commons last session, inquiring if a combine existed among the owners of the large collieries to regulate prices and supplies of coal, and, if so, whether it was the duty of the Government to break it up and give the smaller collieries a fair field.

Alex. Dick, general sales agent of the Dominion Coal Co., emphatically denied the alleged statements of Dr. McLennan, and says contracts were awarded to his company after tender in the usual way. He characterizes the story about bribing I. C. R. officials as a base and false slander.

LANKY BOB DEFEATED.

In 13th Round O'Brien Jabbed Cleverly and Won.

San Francisco, Dec. 21.—When Robert Fitzimmons and Philadelphia Jack O'Brien entered the ring last night at Merchants' Pavilion, to fight for the light heavyweight honors, O'Brien was favorite in the betting at 5 to 4.

O'Brien jabbed cleverly and won in the thirteenth round.

The men had agreed to fight at catch weights. O'Brien gave out his weight at 165 pounds, while Fitz is said to have tipped the scales at 158 pounds.

Just Missed Flogging.

London, Dec. 21.—Thomas E. Flexen was yesterday sent to the penitentiary for five years for wounding two policemen. Chas. Alberstadt, convicted of indecent assault, was given 18 months in the Central Prison. The condition of his health alone saved him from being flogged.

Plan To Break The Governments Back Is Made

What Russian Revolutionists Plan For Government.

GENERAL STRIKE BEGINS

Empire's Industries Will All Be Closed Up Except Bakeries—Arrest of the Strike Leaders is Proceeding—Riga Workmen Depose a Governor and Organize a Police Force—Strike On at Moscow.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 21.—The proclamation of a general strike for to-day at noon has created the most intense excitement. If it can be successfully inaugurated and maintained the revolutionists are confident that it will break the Government's back. In Government circles, however, confidence is expressed that the proletariat organizations cannot effect a complete tie-up, and that the strike must be of short duration.

This hope seems to be based on the theory that the extreme program of the Reds has alienated the sympathy of a large proportion of the real workingmen, and also upon what they claim to be absolute knowledge, that the organizations are without funds. The Government's calculations, however, have proved to be deplorably at variance with the true situation in the past, and the strike leaders declare the Government is again hopelessly ignorant of the magnitude of the struggle confronting it. Their plans are exceedingly ambitious. From the nature of the appeals of the leaders to the troops, it is evident that they expect to precipitate a crisis in the army.

Twenty-Two Roads Ready.

The central committee of the railroad men of Moscow determined the issue Tuesday night by voting in favor of a strike, and it was telegraphed over the railroad lines that the employes of 22 roads are ready to stop all traffic. The decision is to close everything in the Empire—railroads, manufactures, wholesale and retail stores and all Government works, except the waterworks. The bakeries in the cities, however, will not be closed so long as they do not raise their prices. If they do raise the price of bread even the bakeries will be closed. It was proposed in Moscow to exempt the electric light plants, but this was defeated.

In Poor Shape.

The Government enters on the new struggle greatly crippled. The situation in the Baltic provinces is growing steadily worse, and in the Caucasus the renewal of the outbreak of the Tartars and Armenians has produced another reign of terror. The inhabitants of Tiflis and other cities are begging the authorities to furnish them with arms for the purpose of organizing a militia for self-protection. At Sebastopol new mutinies have occurred, and 1,000 soldiers have been disarmed and are under guard. The troops at Kharkoff have revolted, and the inhabitants are still administering the city.

The weather has become very cold.

Will Take Time.

Although the blow is timed for to-day noon, the strike leaders do not hope to bring the life of the Empire to a standstill by a single stroke, but they will labor for a gradual extension of the strike movement. The nature of the manifesto of the Workmen's Council of Moscow to the army is so inflammatory that even the radical papers are afraid to print it. During the strike it is proposed to stop all papers and to print and distribute only the organ of the Workmen's Council.

The police are hunting down and arresting the strike leaders as rapidly as they can be found, but comparatively few captures have been made, as the leaders keep in hiding, avoiding their residences and meeting in secret each time at a different locality.

Is On at Moscow.

Moscow, Dec. 21.—The strike was inaugurated here promptly at noon yesterday. All the men walked out of the factories and mills, and the trains on the six railroads were left standing in the stations. Shortly afterward an incoming train on the Kursk road was fired into by armed strikers. The engineer and several passengers were wounded.

The strikers generally seem to be provided with arms. There is great excitement in this city.

Fire Department Strikes.

Warsaw, Dec. 21.—Employes of the Fire Department struck last night. The Polish National party has ordered the shopkeepers to remove their Russian signs in order to Polonize the city.

Advices from St. Petersburg say that the railroad men of the capital will strike at midnight. It is believed that the men on the Warsaw roads will join the strike Friday.

It is reported from Nicolaieff, in the Government of Kherson, that two infantry regiments revolted yesterday, and that a sanguinary fight ensued. Details are lacking.

Will Run Troop Trains.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 21.—It is stated that the insurgents have seized the States Treasury at Tukum, Province of Courland.

The Railway Union of Moscow has resolved to run troop trains from Manchuria and to convey grain to the famine stricken districts.

Reports received here from Moscow late yesterday afternoon indicate that the strike was successfully inaugurated and is spreading rapidly.

Governor-General Doubassoff has declared the city to be in a partial state of siege, which gives the civil authorities exceptional powers of arrest, etc. The next move will be to declare a state of siege, in which the military supercedes civil power.

—Snowfall to-day about 10 inches.

Tuesday Will See Beginning Of Investigation

EVIDENCE OF MR. PHILLIPS

Preliminary to a More Full Statement by the Company's Manager and President on Jan. 5 Before the Court Referee—Steps Already Taken Presented in a Report by the Liquidator. Principal Assets.

Toronto, Dec. 21.—The Ontario Government is going on with its enquiry into the York County Loan affairs without delay.

Yesterday W. H. Cross, the examiner appointed by Hon. J. J. Foy, began to issue subpoenas for various persons who are conversant with the doings of the allied companies.

On Tuesday, Manager Phillips will be examined.

Mr. Matheson of Matheson, Starr & Spencer, has been retained by Mr. Cross to assist.

The examination of Mr. Joseph Phillips, manager of the York County Loan, was commenced yesterday morning before the referee, Mr. Neil McLean. The evidence educed concerned preliminary matters and Mr. Phillips was given a number of matters on which to inform himself in order to be able to answer questions fully on Jan. 5, when the next session occurs.

Their Idea of Duty.

Mr. C. D. Scott, at the opening of the court explained that he appeared on behalf of the liquidators and said that they would not consider their duty fulfilled until they had obtained the fullest possible knowledge of the assets, liabilities, dealings of the company's officers and directors with the shareholders, creditors and all the debts and assets of the company, and the disposal that may have been made of the assets, and if it should turn out that there had been any wrongful disposition of the assets rightfully belonging to the shareholders, the liquidators would ask the court to intervene to assist in the recovery of them for the shareholders. The liquidators expected the officers of the company to give a frank explanation of all its dealings and to answer all questions explicitly.

Manitoba's Interests.

Hon. Colin H. Campbell, Attorney-General of Manitoba had a conference with Hon. J. J. Foy yesterday morning and placed before him the views of the Winnipeg shareholders who are opposed to the litigation proceeding before the Ontario Government investigation has been concluded.

Liquidator's Initial Report.

Mr. Scott read the official statement from the National Trust Co.:

The liquidator begs to report to the court as to the steps so far taken in the administration of the estate.

From the books of the company the assets appear to be mainly as follows:

(1) Mortgage loans—

There are a large number of loans on the books of two classes:

(a) Upon properties sold by the company and given back as part of the purchase price.

(b) Loans made to members and secured by mortgages on real estate. These loans are distributed over the whole province.

Principal Assets.

The principal assets of the estate may be divided into three classes:

(a) House properties.

Notice has been given to tenants to pay their rent at this office and the insurance companies have been notified of the change of interest.

(b) Factory premises on Sorauren avenue.

The building is rented and apparently to advantageously situated.

(c) Vacant land.

The company owns a great bulk of the vacant real estate on both sides Roncesvalles avenue between Roncesvalles avenue and Dundas and west of Roncesvalles avenue between Queen street and Howard avenue.

4. Stocks and bonds.

Securities Taken by Liquitater.

180 shares of the capital stock of the Toronto Life Insurance Co. of the par value of $100 each.

The liquidator is making careful enquiries as to the position of these companies and the value of the securities and will, at the earliest moment, report to the court.

5. Loans to shareholders secured by assignments of stock.

Apparently loans were not made in excess of fifty per cent. of the amount paid in by the borrowing shareholders.

6. Moneys due by collectors.

The liquidator has notified all collectors to send in the balance collected to the date of liquidation. It will probably be some weeks before these accounts are finally adjusted.

7. Bank balances.

All balances to the credit of the company at the various agencies are being forwarded to the Toronto office of the company's bank and an accurate statement of the total bank balance will be shortly available.

Took Over $18,000 Cash.

The company's liabilities to the public are apparently of no considerable amount and will not probably be definitely ascertained until the ordinary advertisement for creditors has run its course.

ENORMOUS TRADE INCREASE.

Twenty-six Million For Five Months—Our Exports Jump.

Ottawa, Dec. 21.—The total exports of Canada for the five months ending November 30 of the current fiscal year were greater by five millions than the total exports for the whole of the fiscal year 1895. The increase in domestic exports for the five months over the same period of last year was in round figures $18,000,000, and the gain in the aggregate trade for the five months was $26,000,000. These figures denote the remarkable expansion that has taken place in the trade of Canada in the last decade, and which, to quote a time-worn expression, is still going forward by leaps and bounds. Taking the several items in the exports, it will be seen that during the five months agricultural products increased by ten millions, manufactured articles by one million, animals and their products by four millions and a half, and fisheries by about two millions. Exports of products of the mine and of the forest remained stationary. The gain in the importation of free goods is only about half a million, whereas dutiable goods show a betterment of about seven and a half millions.

SITUATION IN CONTROL.

By Warships Already at Shanghai—May Spread to Interior.

London, Dec. 21.—According to official advices received yesterday from Shanghai, it is believed the situation can be controlled by the warships already there. The only danger is that disaffection may spread to the interior. It is thought that it will not be necessary to send troops as the Chinese Government is taking every precaution to prevent an uprising.

The Foreign Office has disapproved the action of the British assessor in confining Chinese women prisoners in a foreign jail. He has also been instructed by the Minister at Pekin, Sir E. M. Satow, who has ordered the transfer of the prisoners to a native jail.

It is said that this action of the assessor was the cause of recent rioting.

To Investigate.

Pekin, Dec. 21.—The Dowager Empress yesterday issued an edict commanding the Viceroy of Chili, Province of Yuan Shi Kai, commander of the Chinese army, to proceed to Shanghai, investigate the disturbances, secure the punishment of those implicated and impeach the civil and military officials responsible for the maintenance of order.

The Chino-Japanese treaty will be signed on Dec. 22.

Killed by a Trolley Car.

Toronto, Dec. 21.—Miss Susan Carrique, 81 years of age, was killed by a Belt Line car on Bloor street opposite the Orthopoedic Hospital at 9:30 yesterday morning. The woman, who was deaf, was returning to her apartments at 122 West Bloor street. An Avenue road car had just passed and as she was crossing the street diagonally she did not notice the Belt Line car, which was following the other. The body was not run over, but lay across the track under the fender, with the head against a front wheel. She died in a few minutes. Deceased came from Palermo, in Halton County, and has relatives in Burlington and Georgetown.

Murder and Suicide.

Buffalo, Dec. 20.—Driven to desperation by the refusal of his wife to live with him ever since the day they were married, William McCoy, a seaman on the lakes, went to his wife's home at 384 Swan street last night, talked with her for about 15 minutes and then fired four shots at her. Two of the shots went wild, but one bullet hit the woman near the heart and another entered one of her limbs. Death followed in a few minutes. Without waiting to learn whether his wife's wounds were fatal, McCoy put a bullet into his own heart and fell dead. McCoy was 23 years old. His wife was three years younger.

Christmas Eve At the Grange

By Arthur W. Marchmont

Copyright, 1905, by Arthur W. Marchmont

WHEN Awdrey sent her young brother, Gorham, spurring to Hardinge to fetch me in hot haste to Lanston Grange, I knew the cause must be urgent and scented danger in the air. We had heard whisperings and mutterings of fresh Jacobite trouble, and I feared my uncle, Sir Guy Lanston, had allowed himself to be drawn once more into the business.

Some ten days before a stranger, a Master Richard Lovelace, had appeared suddenly at the Grange, and my uncle had set off on a mysterious visit, from which he had not returned. Now, it was concerning this Lovelace that something of a cloud had come between my sweet Awdrey and me. I had come upon the two in close conversation and had seen the fellow kiss her hand with a look in his dark eyes that had set my blood tingling and my fingers pricking with desire to punish him for his meddlesome intrigues.

Awdrey had but laughed at my moody remonstrance, and when I questioned her would tell me nothing.

"Geoffrey, Geoffrey, you but worsen matters!" she cried, with a toss of her pretty head. "Because a gallant gentleman in a hard case lays his lips to Awdrey's poor fingers, and your wits are not sharp enough to see the reason, you must needs leap like a blind horseman into the slough of mistrust and cry, 'It is Awdrey's fault!' Is everything you cannot understand to be Awdrey's fault?"

"And were my lips to go a-mumbling Mistress Pallister's fingers, would you cry: 'Goeffrey is right! Well met, lips and fingers?'"

But at this clumsiness Awdrey bridled and tossed her head again.

"If you leave me like that, Awdrey, I'd better go and"—

She broke into my surly words with a laugh.

"Yes; better go and stay away until your wits are sharpened enough to guess the riddle of your own mistrust. Mistress Pallister, indeed!"

"I'll return when your Master Lovelace has gone," I replied bluntly and came away and for a week had not been to the Grange. Seven miserable days they had been. So you may think how my heart beat when I got her message by young Gorham and knew that in the time of danger she had turned to me and how willingly I sent my horse galloping straight across country to Lanston that bright December morning.

She was waiting for me in the large domed hall of the Grange, pacing restlessly up and down by the huge equestrian statue, the statue of old Sir Guy, who fought with the great Edward and won his gold spurs at Cressy and Poitiers and founded the Lanston family. Her face and manner were full of trouble.

"I have not forgiven you, Sir Mistrust, though I have sent for you," she said. But her sweet blue eyes were telling another tale.

"You are in trouble, sweetheart. When I have helped you, send me away again if you will," I said.

"You have learned how to stay away."

"A sincere penitent should never sue in vain, it is true," she said demurely and then with a smile looked up and added: "So you're forgiven. And, oh, Geoffrey, the trouble is sore indeed!"

"Tell me," I answered, and when she did tell me I saw in truth she had not underjudged it. This Lovelace was a far greater one than I had deemed—no lesser than the young pretender himself. He had come over at the bidding of certain reckless counselors, who had advised that a rising could be organized if he would but show himself to his followers, and now the plans had all miscarried, his presence in England had been discovered, and he had fled to Lanston to hide while means could be devised for his crossing again to France. It was this business which had taken Sir Guy away, and the ill news was come that he had been laid by the heels by his old enemy, the gout, and had done nothing.

Nor was that the worst. Sir Burton Prendergast had got wind of the matter in some way and might be trusted to do his worst against Lanston. A more malignant, rancorous, spiteful rat of a man did not breathe in all the good county of Sussex than Sir Burton, and he had never forgiven Awdrey for having rejected him a year ago nor me for having won her from him and would welcome a chance to strike at Lanston. If it were once known who Lovelace was and that the Grange had sheltered him, the consequences would be no less than ruin. The government had not yet forgiven Sir Guy for his old Jacobite work and would readily seize on a pretext now for punishing him and his.

"I don't know what to do, Geoffrey," cried my cousin, wringing her hands distractedly. "Tomorrow we have, as you know, our customary Christmas eve masquerade and every one will be here, Sir Burton among them, of course, Master Lovelace is known to be here, and if he does not show among the guests suspicion will be aroused, while if he does he may be recognized and we shall be ruined."

"He must be away, sweetheart. I can do it. Why didn't Sir Guy come to me?"

"Because you are not with us in this."

"True, I am no Jacobite, but when was a Hardinge not with Lanston in an hour of trouble? But I can do it. I will."

"I knew you would." And she smiled as she laid her hand in mine.

"I see it," I exclaimed as a thought struck me. "I'll to Shoreham and charter a vessel from old Nick Naselby there, and we'll have her off the coast by dusk tomorrow and a boat in Master's cove, down by Dancher's gully, ready manned for Master Lovelace by then. Let him keep close till then—nay, better, let him ride away openly this afternoon and return secretly after dark, then lie here hidden till the morrow at dusk. I'll be here to guide him, and if we don't trick this Prendergast write me down fool."

"Where can we hide him, Geoffrey?" cried Awdrey nervously. "If any one should come they will surely find him here."

"No one will come, sweetheart. And if they do have you not the safest hiding place in all the three kingdoms, here in this very hall? It is not the first time old Sir Guy has served and saved the Lanstons. Where are your sharp woman's wits, dearest?"

"Of course. I had forgotten the bronze horse." And she smiled.

The statue was, in truth, a hiding place of the best. In the troubles of the civil war the Lanston of his day had conceived a cunning arrangement by which arms and ammunition and at need a fugitive royalist could lie hidden in the great horse. By a shrewd contrivance the legs of the knight swung on hinges and covered a space, large enough to admit a man's body, the entrance being concealed by the armor of the knight and the trappings of the horse, and means had been devised by which air could be admitted through the joints of the armor.

I lost no time, but rode off at once on my errand. I had but little difficulty in providing the needed vessel and arranging among my own men for the boat to be in readiness at Master's cove, and, late though it was, I rattled to Lanston to tell Awdrey that all was well.

But Sir Burton Prendergast was not a vindictive malignant for nothing, and in laying my plans I had not paid sufficient heed either to all that he knew or to all that he would do. And this I was to discover at the Grange in the afternoon of that fateful Christmas eve.

It was just dusk, and while waiting for Master Lovelace to put himself in my charge Awdrey and young Gorham and I stood in the decorated hall chatting with that mingling of nervousness and strained cheerfulness which the crisis of such a matter will commonly evoke when the actors are all alike full of anxiety and each wishful to hide the feeling from the others.

"You are rather like our guest in build, Geoffrey," said Gorham, but Awdrey protested with a blush and a flash of the eyes. Gorham, boylike, was the more positive for the protest, however, and made me stand with my back to them while he pointed out the marks of resemblance, and they were still discussing this when we caught sight of the guest coming down the stairs. Just at that same moment one of the serving men dashed in at the front door and with signs of great excitement and fear exclaimed:

"There's a troop of soldiers in the avenue, Mistress Awdrey, coming to the house. They are almost at the door."

Our consternation may be imagined. Awdrey turned as white as the marble pedestal of the great statue against which we were grouped. Catching Gorham by the arm, I pushed him and the servant toward the door and whispered:

"Take the fellow away and go to meet the soldiers and shut the door behind you. Quick, boy, quick!" The moment he was gone I darted behind the statue, thrust open the secret entrance to the hiding place and called to Master Lovelace. "Your only chance of safety is here, sir," I said, and without more ado I bundled him into it and closed the entrance after him, whispering to him to lie as still as death. "Open the door now, Awdrey, and remember, sweetheart, Master Lovelace left yesterday!"

Then, making a great effort, we began to talk and laugh together, much in our usual fashion, when Gorham came back with the officer in command of the soldiers.

"I am sorry to intrude upon an unpleasant errand at such a time, madam," he said to Awdrey, "but unhappily I have no option. I am Captain Hilary, and my instructions are that a person of dangerous importance, no less than the young pretender, is here in Lanston Grange disguised as one Richard Lovelace, and I have to request you to deliver him to me."

"Perhaps you will allow me to answer you, captain. I am Sir Guy Lanston's nephew, Sir Geoffrey Hardinge, at your service, and caring for matters here in my uncle's absence. My cousins are scarcely fit to deal with such a business. A Master Richard Lovelace was here, but if you will inquire you will find that he left yesterday."

"My instructions are very precise and clear, sir."

"That may be, but I am not concerned with them. Whence comes your information? Who is the spy that maligns my uncle in his absence?"

"I cannot reveal the source of my information, sir, but I have my duty to do," answered the officer.

"And will do it like a gentleman and a man of honor, I am sure. And since we have many Christmas guests on the point of arrival I would beg you to do your will speedily."

Without more ado, a number of the men were brought in, and while Awdrey, Gorham and I waited in the hall they spread all over the house and searched it from roof to cellar. At the end of an hour or so Captain Hilary came with many apologies for the unwelcome business and declared that he had evidently been misled by wrong information.

We watched the soldiers form up and depart, and Awdrey drew a deep sigh of relief as she linked her arm in mine.

"How good that you were here, Geoffrey," she whispered. "And what next?"

"As soon as they are well away your guest and I must be off. Gorham, see that the horses are ready and then slip away and watch the men well out of

Awdrey and I waited alone together in the hall. The strain of the excitement had wrought upon her nerves somewhat, and she was very sweet, gracious and loving as I sought to soothe and reassure her. Gorham came hurrying in.

"There's something wrong still, Geoffrey. Sir Burton Prendergast was waiting by Overbury Cross and met the captain there. They had a long conference and are now coming back here together. Can Sir Burton know anything?"

"We shall see and must hope he does not," I answered quietly. And soon after Captain Hilary returned, Sir Burton with him.

The officer came to the point at once. He had learned that the prisoner he sought was still concealed in the house and said he must therefore take further measures and must remain in the Grange.

I did not like the thing at all, and liked it far less when, at Sir Burton's instigation, he said he would remain in the hall, that all must pass in or out of the house by that way, so that he could see them, and that all the other doors must be locked, with men posted outside.

It was in all truth a very awkward predicament, and as I was racking my brains for some expedient young Gorham's words, that I was like Mr. Lovelace when seen from behind, occurred to me and suggested a plan to outwit them. If the soldiers remained in the hall poor Master Lovelace must either be starved or driven to surrender, and either event spelled ruin. My plan was therefore to play at escaping from the house, get to my horse and lead the soldiers a dance across country in pursuit.

There was a small casement from which I could easily leap to the terrace below, make a dash for the stable yard where the horses were ready and ride away across the park beyond. That was easy, but it must be so done that one or other of the sentries should catch sight of me and thus bring the rest of the pack upon my heels.

I knew where the men were posted, and, having from an upper window attracted the attention of the groom who had my horse in readiness, I went down, opened the casement and leaped out. It was now getting dusk, and a soldier who was close at hand saw and challenged me instantly and discharged his musket as I was darting toward the stable.

In a moment the whole place was in the utmost confusion, and as I mounted, taking care to pretend a violent attack upon the man who held my horse while I told him to say I was a stranger to him, the troopers were already to horse and came clattering round the old house after me.

Things went just as I would have had them. I was careful that none of the men should see my face, and I put my horse at the hedge and leaped into the park.

I did not hurry matters at the start The hedge caused a little trouble to some of the troopers, and, my wish being to bring as many of them as I could away from the Grange, it was my cue to let them think that they could catch me, but this had consequences of a different kind. Those who could not take the leap stopped to empty their muskets after me, and then, finding the gate, they came streaming through.

Old Noll had little relish for the shooting, and when one of the balls, from an accidentally well aimed shot, came ripping and singing close to his ears he shook his head and plunged forward as though impatient to be out of range.

It was a new sensation to play the part of the fox in the hunt, but I had no qualms about the result.

I went easily across the great park, therefore, dropped into Winthrop lane at the end, rattled across Twinbury common and skirted the three cornered copse, being careful all the time to keep as much in sight of the hounds as the fast darkening evening would allow.

Once I played a trick on them and let them come almost upon me. I had breathed old Noll up the steep side of the haunch, and once across it I dismounted and waited for my pursuers. On catching sight of me the men raised such a shout of exultation as brought all the laggards spurring up, and they dashed toward me, making sure of their capture.

But I was ready, and, picking my way along the zigzag sides of the fir wood there, I carried out the plan I had formed. At the bottom of the valley, between the haunch and Dandy Chine, lie the Quagmire woods, as nasty and dangerous a bit of country as the name could mean, and into this I purposed to lead them by degrees. Noll and I knew the way well enough, but it was another case with the fellows who were after me. I led them on, keeping in sight till they were well into the middle of the woods, and when I reached the sudden turn by Dead Man's corner I gave Noll his head, and away we flew along the narrow track, leaving the men floundering in the quagmire, calling to one another and shouting and oathing finely.

We were soon clear off, and, urging the old horse to his utmost efforts, I headed in the direction of Hardinge and rattled home at a pace which would have surprised the soldiers indeed could they have seen it.

Once at Hardinge I changed my costume rapidly, while another horse was saddled, and then galloped back through the night to Lanston. I was all anxiety to know how matters had sped there in my absence and hoped indeed that Master Lovelace had already been released and was away with young Gorham, as I had arranged.

But to my chagrin my ruse had been but partly a success. Captain Hilary and Sir Burton were still at the Grange and in the hall awaiting the return of the troopers with their captive. A number of the guests had arrived and were grouped about in the rooms and hall looking mightily ill at ease and uncomfortable, while Awdrey was far more distressed than before and had been weeping.

"You have been away, Sir Geoffrey?" said the captain.

"I am not aware that I am your prisoner or accountable to you for my movements," I answered brusquely "I think you have carried this farce far enough. In truth, I shall hold you responsible for the outrage to which I have been subjected. Because I chose to leave here and gallop to Hardinge for a change of costume your fellows, forsooth, must needs come clattering after me, firing their muskets and actually putting my life to the hazard. You'll find them now hard stuck in the bogs on the other side of Muttlebury haunch. But the thing is intolerable. Come, Awdrey, let us go to the guests and leave this gentleman to do his will."

The captain's face darkened as I said this, while Sir Burton Prendergast gave me an ugly, sneering look. And when Awdrey put her hand on my arm she showed in her fingers a slip of a note and whispered, "Take it. Danger."

"This farce has gone far enough, Sir Geoffrey, as you say," cried Prendergast, growing angry and coming to us. "Mistress Awdrey will remain in my charge. Have a care," he added in a whisper which could not reach the captain's ears. "I know the secret of this statue and shall tell it unless Mistress Awdrey purchases my silence in the way I have told her."

I could have struck him for his mean, cowardly threat, but I masked my temper.

"Probably she will put herself in my hands, Sir Burton," seeing that she is affianced to me."

"If she does not wish to ruin her father and you all, she will tell you rather that she is affianced to me, Sir Geoffrey. A word from me and this thing will be known. And I am in deadly earnest."

But the game was not lost yet for all that. I knew that my ruse had drawn off nearly all the troops and that if I could but smuggle Master Lovelace out of the statue he could get away easily from the house with one of my men to act as guide.

I stood a moment as if thinking in great perplexity, and then, giving Awdrey, who was very pale and frightened, a significant pressure of the hand that lay on my arm, I released it.

"I see no other course, Awdrey, but to comply. You had better take Sir Burton's arm and go to the ballroom. We must set things going or the whole county will think we are mad."

His face lighted with triumph as he held out his arm and my sweet Awdrey placed the tips of her fingers upon it, while I turned to Gorham and, under pretense of giving him some directions about the evening's arrangements, whispered that he was to get the prisoner out when I had cleared the hall and send him away with my man as guide.

I exchanged a few sentences with the captain, who stood plucking moodily at his mustache, and then went after Awdrey.

All the guests were now in the great ballroom, and, signaling to Awdrey to come with her partner to me, I took my stand close to the door of a small room that lay between that and the dining room. I maneuvered so that Sir Burton stood between me and the door, which I placed ajar, and then my plan was ready.

"This is a serious matter, Awdrey," I said, "and I think Sir Burton and I had better talk it over together."

"I have no wish for your interference, Sir Geoffrey," he replied insolently. "I can manage my own affairs."

"But this is more my affair than yours," I retorted. And before he knew what I was intending I linked my arm in his and pushed him roughly through the door and, clapping my hand on his mouth, forced him through into the dining room beyond. Then I freed his mouth, and he did precisely what I had reckoned on his doing.

He sent up a cry for help, shouting that there was treachery, and called for Captain Hilary, who came running in from the hall, on to which the dining room opened. As soon as the captain entered I slammed the door behind him, and this gave Gorham his cue to act, and, setting my back to the door, I turned upon the two men.

"This is a private quarrel between Sir Burton Prendergast and myself, Captain Hilary, and you will have the goodness not to interfere."

"There is treachery afoot!" shouted Sir Burton, mad with rage. "The prisoner you want is in the hall concealed in the statue, captain. This is a trick to cheat you of him."

"Let me pass, sir. I shall hold you responsible," said the captain to me on the instant, speaking very angrily.

"Responsible for what?" I exclaimed. "The man's mad. Does he mean that he and you have been all this time in the hall there and he has given you no inkling of the story he now tells? You don't believe that, surely?" I said, holding my place at the door and listening with all my ears for some sound that Gorham had done his work.

"Let me pass, sir!" cried the officer, drawing his sword. "In the name of the king let me pass!"

"Do you draw upon an unarmed man?" I exclaimed, and as I spoke I heard a sound from the hall which seemed to show that young Gorham had succeeded.

"If you hinder me further your blood will be on your own head. Will you let me pass?" said the officer fiercely.

"Do you mean you would murder me for a cock and bull story such as Sir Burton Prendergast's?" I asked, delaying him to the last safe second. "The door there through the anteroom is open, but if you prefer this it is nothing to me."

He dashed out sword in hand, and Sir Burton was following him when I laid my hand on him and barred the way.

"I have a reckoning with you," I said, for I wished to give time for Master Lovelace to get clear away, and words between us grew hot and fast until Captain Hilary came back and demanded that Sir Burton should come and explain the secret of the hiding place. I let him go then and followed.

Then Awdrey and some of the guests came out into the hall, and a pretty scene of cross purposes followed. Sir Burton Prendergast asserted that the horse was the hiding place, and he and the officer tried vainly to discover the opening until Captain Hilary, losing all patience, declared that he would have the statue hewn in pieces if the secret could not be found.

"But there is nothing in it," I said for the twentieth time, and at length, when I saw Gorham among the rest and a glance told me all was well, and fearing, moreover, that the statue would really be destroyed, I myself opened it.

"You can see for yourself," I said.

The captain flushed with vexation at cutting so sorry a figure and was in doubt whether to vent his anger on me or on Sir Burton.

"There was some one there, I know," said the latter, trying to bluff it off.

"Do I understand that you make an insinuation of falsehood against me, Sir Burton Prendergast?" I asked, facing him and speaking sternly. "This matter is now personal to me." And, not relishing my stare and having no stomach for a quarrel, he flinched and with a shrug of the shoulders said to the officer:

"I am very sorry, Captain Hilary, but it seems I was wrong."

"What do you propose to do next, captain?" I asked. "We are at your commands, but you will understand that our Christmas keeping is not likely to be the merrier for any prolonging of this matter."

"I shall hold you responsible for this, Sir Burton. You have kept me here while things have been arranged for the prisoner's escape. I withdraw my men and shall make my report." Thus the interfering bully found himself prostrate between the two of us and in danger of kicks from us both. "If the prisoner was in concealment there and you knew it you have prevented my capturing him. Why didn't you tell me, sir?"

I smiled at this turn, but it was not our cue to let the captain believe we had ever concealed any one.

"Rest your mind easy and do not blame even this meddling mischief maker causelessly. We have no one at the Grange whom we wish to conceal." And this was true, for by this time Master Lovelace was well on his way to the port.

Captain Hilary went away then, grumbling and smarting with the irritation of a man who feels he has been tricked, but cannot lay finger on the proof, and as soon as he was gone I signaled to Awdrey and Gorham to lead the guests away while I detained the cowardly traitor who had come so near to causing serious mischief.

"A word with you, Sir Burton," I said shortly. "You have acted tonight the part of a coward and a spy, and in doing it you have cast imputations on me. Tonight I do not make it a personal matter, but tomorrow, if you are still in the county of Sussex, or if within six months you show your face here, I give you my honor that I will horsewhip you first and shoot afterward. You know whether I am a man to keep my word."

He turned pallid with fear, said not a syllable and without more than one sneaking, furtive, frightened look at me slunk away and the next morning left the country for his health's sake.

I was still loitering in the hall when Gorham came and told me how he had managed to get Master Lovelace away, and as I was praising him for his smartness Awdrey came.

"Is all safe now, Geoffrey?"

"Yes, sweetheart; you can dance with a free heart."

"A 'free' heart?" she echoed, playing on my words and smiling.

"So far as all that is concerned."

"'All that' was very terrible while it lasted. But you did splendidly."

"A penitent had to earn his forgiveness, Awdrey. Is it earned?"

"Not quite earned yet. You gave me up very readily to Sir Burton, you know," she cried and withdrew the hand she had slipped into mine, moved some paces away and stood glancing at me, demure in face, but with eyes all alight with smiles.

"LET ME PASS, SIR!" CRIED THE OFFICER.

"How can I earn it? I did what I did for the best."

"You are bad at guessing riddles," she laughed.

"Marplot, Gorham!" exclaimed Awdrey, blushing rose red. But before she could turn to run after him I had caught her in my arms.

"It is Christmas eve, sweetheart, and I am a clown of a penitent," I whispered as I kissed her.

"You deserve to be punished for your dullness," she protested.

"Then give it me back, Awdrey." And I held her happy, blushing face close to mine.

"If I do it's under compulsion."

"That's a new name for mistletoe," cried Gorham again as he ran off to join the dancers.

We lingered a moment for that which was under neither mistletoe nor compulsion and then followed him, forgetting all about the recent crisis and as happy a pair of lovers as all Sussex could find that merry Christmas eve.

Mr. Wm. Watts, of Toronto, is home for the holidays.

Mr. Hugh Lackie, who has been living at Deer Lake for some time, is visiting his sister, Mrs. Geo. McFee.

Mr. Jas. Hendren, of Lakefield, was the guest of his brother, Mr. Reg. Hendren, on Sunday.

The pupils of S. S. No. 6, will hold a Christmas entertainment on Thursday, Dec. 21st.

What might have proven a serious accident occurred to Reeve Darling on Wednesday last. Mr. Darling was driving home from the city and when about three miles out, his horse took fright from a flock of sparrows, which flew out of a fence corner. The vehicle was overturned, and the occupants thrown out, while the horse having gained its freedom, started for home. The buggy and harness were complete wrecks, but Mr. Darling escaped with a severe shaking up.

The tenth meeting of the Municipal Council of the Township of Dummer was held in the town hall on Dec. 12th. The minutes of the last meeting were read and signed. Mr. Martin paid over to the treasurer the sum of $3.00 for timber sold to S. Kavanagh on the 8th line.

Dr. Douglas presented a bill amounting to $30.75 for attendance and goods furnished to Mrs. McPherson during her illness. On motion of Messrs. Martin and Miles the account was passed for payment and orders made on the treasurer for the same, viz:—Dr. Douglas, $11.00, Mrs. Maddicton, $17.50; Lynn Bros., $1.00; A. F. Choate, $1.25. On motion of Messrs. Patterson and Martin, a refund of $2.00 was made to Arthur Nixon for excess of Statute Labour Tax, charged on lot 28, concession 11, in 1960. A bylaw to appoint the place to hold the nominations, polling places, and deputy returning officers for municipal elections was put through its readings and passed. The nominations will be held in the town hall at Warsaw on Friday, Dec. 22nd, between the hours of one and two o'clock p.m., if more than the necessary number are nominated and a poll required, it will be held at the usual places, and by the same deputy returning officers that are already appointed to take the vote on the by-law to adopt Local Option on Jan. 1st, 1906. On motion of Messrs. Martin and Miles, four days' statute labour tax was refunded to Robt. McCracken for work performed in sub-division No. 70. On motion of Messrs. Martin and McDonald, Henry Argue was allowed $5.00 every two months as charity. On motion of Messrs. Patterson and Martin the treasurer was authorized to pay to J. E. Reynolds, trustee of union school section No. 6, the sum of $164.81, being the amount the said township is entitled to receive. On motion of Messrs. Miles and Martin and order was drawn on the treasurer in favour of Mr. Jacob White for the sum of $200, and $4 interest thereon for money advanced previous to the taxes being paid in.

On motion of Messrs. McDonald and Miles the following accounts were passed for payment:—Times, Printing Co., $4.80; C. J. Darling, sessional allowance and commissioner, $33.00; W. Miles, S. A., and commissioner, $28; J. J. McDonald, S. A., and commissioner, $34; J. A. Patterson, S. A. and commissioner, $27.00; E. Martin, S. A. and commissioner, $32; R. Deen, balance salary as clerk, $40; $40; R. Deen, preparing minutes of council meeting for publication, $5; C. J. Darling, attending sale of lands for taxes, $3, Jacob White, survey and report on 11th line, $2; J. White, salary as treasurer, $65; J. White, postage and stationery, $2.

Moved by Messrs. Patterson and Miles, that whereas the council did not forward to the county clerk this year the resolution required by IV Edward VII chap. 22, sec. 3, with reference to county councils, owing to the fact that a circular was received from the Minister of Agriculture stating that it was the intention of the Government to introduce and pass at the next session of the Legislature a bill providing for the repeal of the present County Councils Act, and to provide that henceforth county councils shall consist of reeves and certain deputy reeves of townships, and the mayors of towns not separated from the county. Therefore, resolved that we request that the direct connection formerly existing between county councils and township councils be again restored, and that a copy of this resolution with the corporate seal attached be forwarded to the Hon. Nelson Monteith, Minister of Agriculture.

Council adjourned to meet on Friday, Dec. 15th.

Peace on Earth, Good Will to Men

By J. A. EDGERTON

Copyright, 1905, by J. A. Edgerton

NINETEEN hundred years ago
Came a message sweet and low;
O'er an infant's humble birth
Fell a new strain to the earth.
Angels sang the chorus then,
"Peace on earth good will to men."

THE BABE IN THE MANGER.

SINCE that dim and distant time
War has been in every clime,
Earth has been submerged in blood
Of a common brotherhood;
Yet amid the battle cries
Oft that sweet song would arise.

BACK and forth the standards reeled
On the grim and trusted field,
While after that hallowed air
Rose to heaven like a prayer,
Where the few were chanting still,
"Peace on earth, to men good will."

IN this later, brighter day
Are we nearer peace than they?
Still our soil with blood is wet.
War is round about us yet.
Will the carnage ever cease?
Still we hear the song of peace.

IT will come. 'Tis not a dream.
Through the darkness shines a gleam.
'Tis a glimpse, a prophecy
Of the years that are to be,
Of a new time come to birth,
Of the dawn of "Peace on earth."

"PEACE ON EARTH."

STRANDS of steel and cable bind
Closer all of humankind,
And the workers of the world
Have a common flag unfurled.
Thought and traffic banish strife;
Love becomes the law of life.

NINETEEN hundred years ago
Came a message sweet and low;
And that song by angels sung
Through the centuries has rung.
Hark! It rises once again,
"Peace on earth, good will to men."

Some Christmas History.

In 1805 the terms of peace between France and Austria were argued and agreed to on Christmas. In these Austria was forced to make several large gifts of territory to France, and Italy to acknowledge Napoleon as king of Italy.

Under duress from the powers, Turkey, on Christmas, 1876, gave out a new constitution for the whole Ottoman empire, which granted Christians equal rights with Mohammedans—a decree, by the way, which the sultan began cheerfully to disobey as soon as the duress was removed.

David's Well.

Within two miles of Bethlehem is a well which is said to have been the one from which the mighty men of battle in Israel, after breaking through the Philistine host, brought water to David, in response to his exclamation, "Oh, that one would give me to drink of the water from the well which is by the gate!" David refused to taste the water for which his brave men had risked their lives and poured it out as an offering to God. Some picturesque ruins are said to be those of the home of David's youth.

The new telephone between Rome and Paris will be opened early next year, when a thick wire system will be employed.

A HEROIC BATTLE.

The Enemy Was the Sea, and the Colored Troops Won.

No engagement of the civil war was carried on with more heroism and endurance than that fought by the Forty-ninth United States colored troops after hostilities were over. The Magazine of American History contains an account of the tussle in which the black soldiers bore themselves so bravely. The steamer Merrimac, loaded with cotton, left New Orleans for New York carrying, besides her regular passengers, thirty officers and 900 colored privates.

For several days all went well. Then the vessel sprung aleak, fires were dampened and the alarm spread. It was found that the iron supply pipe through which the water for the condenser was taken from the sea was broken, and the place of leakage could not be reached. The passengers were panic stricken. One small, fat German went about wringing his hands and crying:

'Ach, we are at the bottom of the sea! If we gets pack to New Orleans will dey gif me pack my monish?"

The water gained fast. The only hope lay in keeping afloat until a vessel could be sighted. The colored troops were pressed into service and proved themselves the heroes of the occasion. A line of men was established from the hold to the deck, and buckets were passed as rapidly as hands could move. On deck another line stepped back and forth with well trained military tread. The work below was most exhausting. The men at the bottom could not hold their position more than three minutes at a time. They were blinded and half strangled by the swashing sea water and bruised by the lumps of coal which dashed about.

But no one faltered, and high above the noise rose the clear, sweet voices of the workers, now singing an army song, now a cheery negro melody. The music brought new hope to the hearts of the passengers. Hour after hour the men worked and sang, and the sea did not gain on them.

Two days passed, and the drinking water gave out. Then they could no longer sing, and their parched throats were eased only by a scanty supply of oranges and lemons, but still they worked. On the third day the lights of a steamer were seen only half a mile away. Rockets were sent up, and with great difficulty, on account of her wet ammunition, a gun was fired. To the dismay of all, the steamer passed on. Quickly the soldiers formed a line once more, and the wearisome labor began again.

After sixty-five hours of bucket passing a steamer was sighted which responded to the call for help, and the waterlogged Merrimac was towed into harbor.

The men who had sung so cheerily in the midst of hard labor and in the face of death were thoroughly exhausted, but they had not lost their light hearted gayety.

They have taken first in cattle, sheep and swine, and second in horses, Ohio Agricultural College having taken first place in horses. Hon. Nelson Monteith, Minister of Agriculture, and Hon. The Meaning of Sympathy.

It was a clever Frenchwoman who said: "Those who have suffered much are like those who know many languages. They have learned to understand and to be understood by many. It is an impossibility to fully sympathize with another's experience unless it has been at some time one's own. In trouble or grief we turn instinctively to some one whom we know has been through the same experience. It is the old human longing for companionship that shows itself. The feeling is strong within us that she will feel and know with me. Therein lies the meaning of sympathy."

Arrested in Montreal.

Montreal, Dec. 18.—Guiseppe Zeappulo, an Italian, twenty-five years of age, was arrested yesterday afternoon, charged with having murdered his brother and stabbing his brother's sweetheart, in Newark, N. J., on Nov. 15 last. According to reports it was one of the most brutal and unprovoked murders on record in that district. Jealousy.

WALLS COLLAPSED.

Bad Chicago Fire In Which One Fireman Was Killed and Probably Other Persons Perished.

Chicago, Dec. 20.—One fireman was killed and several employes may have lost their lives in a fire which destroyed the enamel sign factory of the Chas. W. Schonck Co., 7 to 15 Park street last night.

Until the ruins have been searched it will not be known positively whether any of the employes were killed, either in the explosion which started the fire, or by the falling of the walls and floors, which followed soon after.

When the fire was at its height one of the walls collapsed and several firemen were precipitated in the debris. With the exception of one, who was crushed to death, all escaped with a severe shaken up. Many employes were injured in the panic soon after the fire broke out.

Forty girls and 130 men and boys were employed in the factory, and, according to the company, all but two persons have been accounted for.

The police and firemen, however, declare that several of the employes who were unable to make their escape, and were in the building at the time the floors and walls collapsed.

The loss on the building is about $250,000.

Ottawa, Dec. 20.—The Governor-General has received the following telegram from trustees of the Rhodes' scholarship: "Trustees congratulate Canada on Rose's success, winning Ireland and Craven."

The message received by the Governor-General refers to the winning of the Ireland and Craven scholarships by the son of Rev. Dr. Rose, of Centenary Church, Hamilton. Mr. Rose is one of three former students of McGill University now attending Oxford under the Rhodes' scholarship foundation. He won high honors at McGill and his success at Oxford is said to have been phenomenal from the outset. A winner of the Craven is usually a student in his third year at the university, while Rose is now entering on his second year.

AN OPIUM FATALITY.

British Columbia Government Is to Inquire Into Remedies.

Victoria, B. C., Dec. 20.—In consequence of the disclosures at the coroner's inquest, showing the infant son of William Duncan to have died of opium poisoning as a result of the administration of a fractional part of the prescribed dose of a colic cholera and diarrhoea remedy, the Attorney-General's Department has directed Dr. C. J. Fagan, secretary of the Provincial Health Board, to investigate the conditions attaching to the sale of all proprietary remedies containing poison.

This is with a view to the introduction, if necessary, of legislation safeguarding the public in their use of medicines in British Columbia.

Ethel Winters Shot Herself.

Toronto, Dec. 19.—Because she was tired of life, Ethel Winters, one of those who have found this a strenuous life, left her troubles behind, by shooting herself. She only lived a few minutes after firing the shot. Her home was at 47 Chestnut street, where she had been living with a man named Diddy. When she worked it was at the restaurant of Yet Luey, West Queen street. Coroner Johnston did not consider an inquest necessary.

PLUMBERS IN COURT.

Hearing of Evidence Against Batch of 150—Some Were Lucky, But Many Were Held For Trial.

Toronto, Dec. 20.—The hearing of the evidence against the further batch of 150 plumbers on charges of conspiracy was commenced in the Police Court yesterday morning before Col. Denison. The names of all those who had already been fined or who had given evidence in the Assize Court were withdrawn from the list of defendants.

The conspiracy charge against John Hardy was adjourned until the 28th inst.

Mr. Curry was the prosecutor. The defence was represented by Messrs. Riddell, Smoke, Lobb, O'Donoghue and Ald. Coatsworth.

When business commenced, lawyers for the defence made their usual objections, which were overruled.

Mr. Curry called Mr. Meredith, secretary of the Plumbers' Association, as the first and only witness. Name after name was read to him, and he was asked if these men had taken the obligation of the association, if they had taken an active interest and participated in the "bonuses." In most cases the answers were in the affirmative. There were a few who escaped the "yes," when the Crown Attorney immediately withdrew the charge. The lucky ones were:

Alfred Richards, James V. Fullerton, W. J. McNamara, Herbert Johnstone, F. J. Nixon, W. Parmenter, James T Powers, Alex. Purdy, P. Mansell, A. J. Hutchinson, William Bush, Charles Robertson, James M. Hayden, John Gray, S. J. Greer, W. B. Malcolm, T. A. Stevens, Henry Drummond, J. W Oram (dead).

Those whose trial will be continued are:

FIRST ROYAL DOCKYARD STRIKE.

Portsmouth, Eng., Dec. 18.—A strike was begun at the dockyard here Saturday among the men who are building the battleship Dreadnaught, on which work is being pushed with all speed, though the exact reason for the unusual haste has not transpired.

The men have been required to work overtime, and Friday evening the riveters decided their pay was inadequate and refused to resume work until their grievance was adjusted. After some delay Saturday their chief promised to recommend the reform they requested, whereupon the men returned to their labor.

Improvements to Chemong Park

An Interesting Budget of News From Bridgenorth.

Special to The Examiner.

Bridgenorth, Dec. 19.—Nomination on Friday.

The weather continues mild.

The roads are in good condition.

Mr. Wm. O'Leary was in Peterborough on Wednesday on business.

The Bridgenorth Hockey Club is yet to be organized.

Mr. Percy Udy made his regular trip to the back country on Tuesday.

Mort. Quinn, who had the misfortune to cut his foot at Kelly's camp has fully recovered.

It is said there is to be a change of teacher in the Bridgenorth school this Christmas.

The Sons of Rest decided at their last meeting to introduce something in the line of a gymnasium in order to keep their members in condition.

Mr. G. J. Jopling has established a camp on his newly acquired wood property in Harvey, and has a number of men cutting wood and logs.

The Bridgenorth youths have been enjoying the excellent skating on Chemong Lake until the light snow fall came, but now several patches of ice are cleared; they call these rinks and there desport themselves these fine evenings.

The annual Sunday School entertainment in connection with the Methodist church takes place on Friday evening, Dec. 22. Come along and hear the children recite. A very interesting programme is in store for that night. Don't forget to bring your wife, also 15 cents.

Chemong Park Hotel is closed for the winter and the travelling public must look elsewhere for accommodation.

The Smith Township Council held last meeting of the year on Dec. 15th, and a large amount of business was transacted. This is the first meeting since the hall has been moved and repaired.

The annual school meeting of the Bridgenorth school takes place in the school room on Dec. 27th at 10 o'clock a.m. The trustees would like to see a good attendance.

The cottagers will scarcely recognize Chemong Park when they return to this popular resort next summer, as Manager Pope and his gang of men have been doing some execution with saw and axe. Several lots have been improved and a number of new streets opened.

We regret that it is necessary to chronicle the death of our esteemed neighbour, Mr. Robert Telford. It was only last spring that he moved from Harvey and in that short interval he had made many friends. The funeral, which took place on Saturday, was largely attended. The widow and family have the sympathy of the entire community in their bereavement.

Mr. J. N. Telford, who should have been present at the Ladies' Aid meeting last week, was prevented through some misunderstanding, but will report some important matters for the ladies' consideration at their next meeting.

Several from this community attended the tea and concert given by the Central Smith Dairy Company, in the 4th Line Temperance Hall, on the evening of Dec. 15th, and were highly pleased with their outing. The tea was excellent and the programme was superfine, but to the real young people the going home was pure delight, although the temperature was near the zero mark. To show that home-going is somewhat of a mixed pleasure, two examples will suffice: One young man in his endeavour to extricate himself from the crowd, as it emerged from the hall, had the misfortune to lose his cap. A cloth muffler proved a poor substitute, but then he soon had the comfort of a fur muff with which indeed he was sorry to part for a borrowed cap, but they both got safely home. Another dapper youth knows that it is a long drive from the Temperance Hall to Bridgenorth and return, and furthermore that happy thoughts will not keep a fellow warm on the return trip, especially when he finds it necessary to get out and walk in order to keep from freezing.

The Land of the Aztecs,

Who has not read of the glories and wonders of old Mexico? The days when Montezuma held gorgeous court in the ancient capital of Gran Tenochtitlan are departed, but they have left Mexico one of the most interesting countries in the world. Picturesque ruins and relics, in a setting of flowers and sunshine, everywhere delight the fortunate visitor; each day's travel reveals fresh beauties. And out of the ruins a new Mexico is arising, a land of possibilities, abounding in resources of all kinds. In the peasants' hands the soil will yield five crops a year, metals and minerals in abundance. Our business men have here a splendid field for investment, and should see and judge the land for themselves. Leisurely investigation under sunny skies will be pleasant work, while the ladies will be delighted with their bargains in native work and precious stones.

An attractive itinerary, covering the whole of Mexico and the best of the Southern States, and including a visit to Cuba and New Orleans for "Mardi Gras," has been arranged for the Cuthbert House party tour, leaving Toronto early in February next, being the most extensive trip ever taken by any party. The special private train will contain every possible comfort and luxury, and the cuisine equal to that of a first-class hotel. A pleasant, smooth-running trip is assured, the management having had long experience in this branch of travel. Canadian enterprise, when it is the best, is worthy of your attention. Peterborough Likely to Get Railway Shops

Well Founded Regort That the C. P. R. Will Make Peterboro' a Divisional Point—Rrospects for This City Developing Into Important Railway Centre—To Handle Grain Route to Georgian Bay Ports—Report That 20 Acres Land is Bought

LOCAL OFFICIALS WILL SAY NOTHING

That Peterborough is destined to become an important railway centre is practically assured according to a report which comes from an apparently reliable source. The statement was made to-day that in the near future the C. P. R. will establish large workshops in this city. This statement was made by a gentleman who is in a position to know whereof he speaks, and as a proof of the truth of this report, it is stated that the company has purchased twenty acres of land in or near the city.

The branch from Victoria Harbour or Midland is almost certain to come here, and if that is the case, the shops will most assuredly follow. This will be the first divisional point east of Georgian Bay, and the large shops will be here in preference to the western end of the branch, in view of the fact that it is on the mainline of the Ontario and Quebec division.

If this statement is true, and there is every reason to believe that there is at least a strong probability of it, the benefit to Peterborough will be considerable.

The local railway officials are reticient on the matter, and when Mr. W. McIlroy, the city agent, was asked to-day by the Examiner as to ed that he could say nothing on the matter, either confirmatory or in denial.

The very strong probability, however, and one which has a good colour of truth is that while probably no definite decision has as yet been reached, the Company is considering most favourably the proposal to make Peterborough a divisional point. This much is practically certain, that if the branch from the Georgian Bay touches Peterborough the shops will come.

The importance of the new branch is one which few people appreciate. It means that the bulk of the grain from the Northwest will be shipped to the sea board over the new line, not only that, but, since the new port will be made the C.P.R's important shipping point on the Georgian Bay, all the freight from the east to the Northwest will be shipped over this new line to be transhipped on the C.P.R. steamers to the west.

It will thus be seen that Peterborough stands right in line for prominence in railway circles, and the fact that the land has been secured, if it is a fact, goes far towards substantiating the truth of the report that the shops will be established here.

While Havelock may still remain the divisional point for the main line, on account of its regulation distance from Toronto, about 100 miles, which is the usual distance for divisional points, it is probable that all the work will be done and the principal divisional offices located here.

Narrow Escape From Drowning

The Ice on Mud Lake Gives Away Under Heavy Pressure.

Last Wednesday, while attempting to cross Mud Lake with a 3000 lbs. team of draft horses, and a load of considerable weight, the ice gave away in a place where the water was fifteen or twenty feet deep, with the result that the team was completely immersed.

Mr. McManus, the driver of the team, jumped as soon as he was aware of his dangerous position and thereby escaped a dip in the chilly depths. The ice simply cracked under the sleigh, so it did not sink into the water.

A threshing gang of about fifteen men, who were working at Mr. D. Quinlan's farm, on the Emismore side of the lake, at once rescued the team, but not before, however, the harness had to be cut, an axe being the instrument used for the purpose. A spreader and hame strap were lost in the accident.

Mr. McManus is to be congratulated upon his narrow escape, and it lucky for him that he did not find a resting place in the frigid waters of Mud Lake.

Snowfall Over 10 Inches In Solstice Storm

Phenomenally Heavy Storm Commencing at an Early Hour Caused Street Railway Considerable Difficulty--Sweepers Unable for a Time to Cope With the Conditions, Though Cars Were Running Almost Continuously

FALL WAS TEN INCHES AT NOON

The storms accompanying the winter solstice broke out with considerable fury all over the Province this morning. The gales of the night were followed by a heavy snowfall, commencing at an early hour this morning, and, from its commencement at about 5.30 o'clock, until 7, it is estimated that the amount of the fall exceeded four inches.

The coming of the sleighing will be hailed with delight on all sides, concluding, as it does, the assurance of a bright and enjoyable Christmas season.

This morning's storm is regarded by weather observers as a phenomenally heavy one, even in view of the usual severity of the storms of the summer and winter solstice on June 21 and December 21 respectively, and two recurring periods at which the sun is farthest from the equator, and which mark mid-summer and mid-winter.

Considerable difficulty was experienced by the Street Railway Company early this morning. The sweeper was placed in operation when the snow was about half an inch in depth, but the rapidity with which the snow descended precluded the hope of keeping the tracks in all parts of the city clear, but while portions of the service were blocked for a short time, the cars were kept running continuously in different parts of the city. The greatest difficulty was experienced between 7 and 9.30 o'clock, after which hour the service was not interrupted.

The total snowfall up to noon, according to observations taken, was slightly over ten inches. Owing to the dampness of the snow, this was equal to about twelve or thirteen inches in an ordinary storm.

Handsome Designs At The Schools

With the approach of the Yule-tide it is an ill-constructed juvenile, indeed, who does not imbibe and become more or less saturated with the joyous spirit which fills the atmosphere, and, as natural consequence, shows a strong indisposition to follow with due earnestness the routine work of the year. The influence of the season can scarcely fail to be a benign one, and to appeal most strongly to the highest qualities in the youthful breast, and, for this reason, its cultivation is desirable.

Tangible evidences of the presence of the spirit of Christmas gladness and good cheer may be seen at the Central School, where in a number of the rooms the blackboards have been covered with decorative designs in coloured chalk, treating in allegory, different phases of the youthful conception of Christmas, and its accompaniments. A wide range of subjects have been vividly depicted, and in many cases, both in draughtsmanship and colour scheme, the work evidences a very considerable ability. Santa Claus, in his nocturnal act of descent of the chimney, is a favourite subject. The Christmas bells and the mistletoe also form the basis of many artistically conceived designs. A considerable portion of time during a few days preceding the close of the term, is annually devoted to this work, and most properly so, in view of its value from an educational point of view, as well as the spirit it cultivates.

The rooms in which work has been done are those of the principal, Mr. William Smith, Mr. J. C. Smyth, Miss Oulton, Miss Nicholls and Mr. T. J. Wallace. The work is uniformly excellent and reflects the greatest credit upon the teachers.

Encouragement For Mr. Neill In London, Eng.

London, Dec. 20.—Encouragement is being given here to Mr. Neill, promoter of the automatic telephony, who promised the French Government to find husbands in Canada for the thousand girls his invention has thrown out of work. It is said there will be no difficulty in keeping his promise if Mr. Neill goes to the Western Canada Secretary of the Canadian Emigration Society.

FIRST REPORT OF YORK LOAN LIQUIDATORS.

The National Trust Company, Limited, liquidators of the York County Loan and Savings Company, has issued the following report to Mr. Neil McLean, Official Referee:

"The liquidator begs to report to the Court as to the steps so far taken in the administration of estate.

"The books of the company will not be balanced for some little time, as the staff was engaged, prior to the liquidation in mailing notices of the meetings to be held in connection with the amalgamation. The staff is now at work on the posting, and the liquidator hopes to have all accounts balanced within a reasonable time.

Mortgage Loans and Real Estate.

"There are a large number of mortgage loans on the books of two classes: — (a) Upon properties sold by the company and given back as part of the purchase price; (b) loans made to members, and secured by mortgages on real estate. These loans are distributed over the whole province.

"The liquidator has given notice to the insurance companies of the change of interest, and is notifying the borrowers to make all payments to this office. A list is also being prepared in order that a valuation of the mortgaged properties may be made by the liquidator's inspectors.

"Real estate is the principal asset of the estate, and may be divided into three classes: — (a) House properties — Notice has been given to tenants to pay their rent at this office, and the insurance companies have been notified of the change of interest; (b) factory premises on Sorauren avenue — this building is rented, and, apparently, is advantageously situated; (c) vacant land.

"The company owns a great bulk of the vacant real estate on both sides of Roncesvalles avenue, between Roncesvalles avenue and Dundas, and west of Roncesvalles avenue, between Queen street and Howard-avenue.

"The liquidator has given instructions for a complete report upon its title to these properties, and a number of other matters which must be definitely ascertained before a proper valuation can be made. Its inspectors are, however, already at work gathering material which will assist them in reporting to the court.

Stocks and Bonds Taken Over.

"180 shares of the capital stock of the Toronto Life Insurance Company, of the par value of $100 each.

"$212,500, par value of bonds of the Southern Light and Power Company.

"$65,000, par value of bonds of the Lisat Piano Company.

"The liquidator is making careful inquiries as to the position of these companies and the value of the securities, and will, at the earliest moment possible, report to the court.

"Apparently loans were not made in excess of fifty per cent. of the amount paid in by the borrowing shareholders.

"The liquidator has notified all collectors to send in the balances collected to the date of liquidation. It will probably be some weeks before these accounts are finally adjusted.

"All balances to the credit of the company at the various agencies are being forwarded to the Toronto office of the company's bank, and an accurate statement of the total bank balance will be shortly available.

"The liquidator took over from the company's manager the sum of $18,000, on hand at the date of liquidation.

"The company's liabilities to the public are apparently of no considerable amount and will not probably be definitely ascertained until the ordinary advertisement for creditors has run its course.

Liabilities to Shareholders.

"The liabilities to shareholders will not be definitely ascertained for some time to come. The books of the company will be balanced at as early a date as possible, and will be checked by the receipt books of the shareholders as the same are sent in. It is at the present time impossible for the liquidator to answer any individual enquiries from the shareholders, and their letters are filed unanswered with all their claims, but will be given attention latar. The liquidator is forced to take this course, in order that its staff may devote their entire energies to the preservation of the assets and the organization of a system for the proper recording of the many different classes of shareholders' claims.

"The liquidator hopes to be in position to make a further report to the court at an early date."

Will Work Be Discontinued?

Date Specified for Completion of East City Sewer Has Passed.

At last night's meeting of the Board of Works, Ald. Adams, chairman, brought to the attention of the members an alleged intention upon the part of Mr. Jas. Bogue to discontinue work upon the outfall sewer in East City. The contract called for the completion of the work by Nov. 30th, 1905.

The conditions of the contract, as drawn up by Mr. Willis Chipman, under which the work was being done, were read by the town solicitor. Under the provisions of this, payment further than the 80 per cent. paid as the work progressed was voided, unless the work was continued.

The city engineer stated that payment had now been made up to 75 per cent. of value.

It was decided that in case the work was actually discontinued that the contractor's securities be notified.

The cause, as stated at last night's meeting of the alleged desire upon the part of Mr. Bogue to discontinue the work until the spring, is the great difficulties which have arisen in the part so far constructed by reason of the excess of water, causing the contractor to become discouraged at the prospects.

The Closing Exercises In THREE KINDERGARTEN SCHOOLS Held Yesterday Afternoon

The One Hundred and Sixty Kindergarten Scholars Entertained Their Friends Very Pleasantly Yesterday—Three Delightful Closing Functions—The Work of the Children Was Witnessed With Deep Interest—Address on the Kindergarten Work—Its Growth and Development--What it Accomplishes.

Yesterday was a great day for the pupils of the kindergarten departments of the Peterborough schools. In the three schools the 160 pupils participated in closing exercises, and in each the children were satisfied that they had enjoye d the time of their lives.

A large number of parents and friends of the children in each of the three schools were present, and they enjoyed to the full the exercises of the afternoon.

The teachers are to be congratulated upon the success of the afternoon. The work of the children reflected great credit upon the careful and intelligent training which they had been given during the past term, and, at least, among those who witnessed the work performed by the young students.

Mr. D. Walker, inspector of schools, as is his custom, attended the three schools, and Mr. W. Pringle, chairman of the Supervision Committee, was at the South Central and East Ward Schools.

CENTRAL SCHOOL.

The commencement exercises of the Central School kindergarten yesterday afternoon brought an impressive reminder to the large number who attended the event, of the immediate approach of Christmas, with the accompanying yuletide joyousness and good cheer.

The bright little tots composing the class acquitted themselves in a manner reflecting the utmost credit upon themselves and their teachers. About sixty of the little ones took part, and the bright, happy countenances, irradiated with the glow of health, spoke volumes in explanation of the pleasure and genuine interest which they felt in their work. Attired in dainty white frocks, and with masses of curls tossed about as they romped, the little girls presented a naive and winsome appearance which appealed strongly to the spectators. The entertainment provided by the children was of about two hours' duration, and was most enjoyable to the large number of friends who attended.

The kindergarten room was decorated most artistically for the occasion by the teachers, the work of the children being a chief feature. This was of a uniformly high order, and reflected great credit upon the teachers and pupils. The room was filled to its utmost capacity with parents and friends of the pupils.

The exercises were of a varied character, commencing with a march. The singing of the little tots was most creditable, and evidenced an excellence of training.

Mr. Duncan Walker, city inspector of public schools, gave a brief introductory address of welcome to the visitors, explaining also the nature of the exercises of the afternoon, which was to a large extent an interpretation of the Christmas story. The teachers would be glad to have the school visited when the ordinary routine course of instruction was in progress.

Mr. Walker also gave an explanation of the gifts to be presented during the afternoon, which were displayed upon a well-laden Christmas tree. The gifts were largely those made by the children for their parents, others being presented to the children by their friends. But one of the pleasant features in connection with the gift-giving was a large number subscribed for and purchased by the children. These consisted of fruit, which will be presented to the Children's Aid Society.

The kindergarten is in charge of Miss M. R. Warner, her assistants being Miss A. H. Cameron and Miss Muriel Martin. Miss Hazel Dean, Miss Mabel Bradburn and Miss Hawson assisted with the exercises of the afternoon. The tuition given of the teaching staff, as exemplified in the exercises of the afternoon, evidences the highest efficiency. This is specially marked in the unfeigned interest of the children, who were thoroughly impregnated with zeal and enthusiasm. Pianoforte music was contributed in a most pleasing manner for the exercises by Miss Cameron and Miss Dean. The programme concluded with a number of bright and joyous Christmas carols.

SOUTH CENTRAL SCHOOL.

There were forty-two well pleased Kindergarten pupils, and about twice as many adults, at the closing exercises of the South Central Kindergarten Department, yesterday afternoon, when one of the most delightful functions of the kind ever held in Peterborough, took place. To the majority of those who attended the exercises, what they saw, and heard, was a revelation. That the little tots could perform the work which they did yesterday, and in the manner which characterized it, who seem incredible to one who had not actually seen it done.

This wass the annual closing exercise of the South Central Kindergarten, and it was a pronounced success from every standpoint. Not only was it a pleasing event in the lives of the forty odd pupils, to whom it was a day long to be remembered, but the adults who were favoured with an invitation, and who accepted it, will look back upon it as one of the most delightful afternoons which they have ever spent.

The Kindergarten rooms, in which the exercises were held, were beautifully decorated, and the decorations were the work of children exclusively, except the Christmas tree; and not only was this the case, but the scheme of decoration was one which the pupils had suggested, and it was executed according to their ideas. It presented not only a very pretty appearance, but it also furnished an effective object lesson of the work done by the children.

The manner in which the children carried out the programme, which was a most enjoyable one, reflected great credit on the work of the teachers, Miss Davidson, Miss Rush and Miss Bell, who yesterday were the recipients of many compliments upon their work. Music formed the major part of the programme yesterday, and, to say that it was appreciated, is stating it mildly. A feature which was most interesting, and which furnished an education to the visitors, was the demonstration of work, and to those who have never seen the method of teaching employed in this department, it was a distinct revelation.

Over Five Miles Concrete Walks Laid This Year

City Engineer Submits Special Report to Board of Works Covering the Construction of Walks—Cost This Year Exceeded That of 1904—The Reasons for This Increase—13,645 Feet Inside Tree Line—Gravel and Broken Stone.

STATEMENT OF THE WORK ON STREETS

At the meeting of the Board of Works last night the City Engineer submitted a report, addressed to the chairman, of the amount of concrete walks laid this season, together with the quantity of gravel and broken stone placed on the streets. The cost of the concrete walks this year was slightly higher than it was last year, the reasons for which are given in his report. In the statement of concrete walks he gives the total at 138,164 26-100 square feet, or 26,632 62-100 lineal feet, equalling 5 4-100 miles, of which 13,645 5-100 lineal feet, or 72,350 95-100 sq. feet is inside the tree line, and 12,986 57-100 lineal feet, or 65,804 31-100 square feet is outside the tree line. The total cost was $14,346.91, and the average cost per square foot 10 38-100 cents. The cost exceeds that of last season's work by 88-100 cents per square foot, which is accounted for by the expensive nature of some of the sections, entailing more constant removal of plant. Also a large proportion of the work was done at long distances from the gravel pit, and wages were higher than last season.

The statement of the amount of gravel and broken stone laid on the streets during the season of 1905 was submitted, and is as follows:

Gravel—	Cub. Yds.
From No 4 Ward pit	8,410
From No. 5 Ward pit	171
From Murray street grade	450
Purchased from builders	1,313
	10,350

Broken Stone.

Laid on various streets, including re-surfacing of three blocks of George street, 2,745 cubic yards.

Nominations To Take Ptace Friday Morning

Prospects are That There Will be no Contest for Mayoralty and for Water Commissioner—New Constitution of the Board of Education—Nine Members to be Elected by General Vote—A Dearth of Alderman Candidates.

MAYOR BEST WILL BE THE NEXT MAYOR

To-morrow morning the nominations for the Mayoralty, Aldermen and Board of Education, and Water Commissioners, will take place.

At ten o'clock, in the City Council Chamber, the nominations for Mayor, Board of Education and Water Commissioners, will take place. The strong probabilities are that for the first and last there will be no election. The general impression is that Mayor Best will be unopposed; and that Mr. T. F. Matthews, the member of the Board of Water Commissioners who retires, this year, will also be returned without opposition. The Commissioners have, by their business-like management of the waterworks department, made it one of the best conducted of the civic departments, and there is every reason to believe that Mr. Matthews, who has filled the position of chairman, should be returned if possible. It is customary that the Mayor should be given a second term, and in compliance with this custom, there is every probability that he will be returned without opposition.

Next year the Board of Education will consist of nine members, elected, and one appointed by the Separate School Board.

The Board of Education will be elected by general vote of the city, the same as aldermen. Each voter may mark his ballot for nine men, but can only vote in one ward.

At twelve o'clock the nominations for aldermen will take place. At this distance it looks as if there will be a dearth of candidates, a number of the present aldermen having signified their intention of retiring from the council, and the number of new men who are offering themselves is small.

However, between now and to-morrow there may be some new men available.

OUR NEED FOR FIRE PROTECTION.

Peterborough frequently boasts of being ahead of other cities and towns in almost every respect—more progressive, more alert, more wide-awake. This may apply in many things, but facilities for fighting fire are not included. In this regard Peterborough is lamentibly behind the age. There is no necessity for going into details; for every citizen knows that our general fire-fighting equipment is antiquated and inefficient. And it wouldn't be safe to tell in detail all the deficiencies. If the Underwriters' Association should discover all the nakedness of our local fire "system" it is very probable that not only would commercial, but domestic rates of insurance advance, with the result that the increased payments for insurance would be many times the amount of the interest on the equipment whose cost the people are asked to sanction on Jan. 1st, 1906.

When we boast of our progress, we must not forget that our fire-fighting appliances are far inferior to those of other places of a similar or even less size. Those places have found the establishment of an adequate and effective fire service a paying investment. The possession of such a service gives the place a character and inspires confidence in the citizens and in the public who have business relations with such places. A wholesale merchant placing a bill of goods in a town, with a good fire-fighting service feels fairly sure that loss by fire will not be added to other risks of realizing on his sale. Now we want Peterborough to be well spoken of in every way; whereas at present we are in danger of getting black listed every day in regard to our fire-fighting equipment.

We desire and must have new manufactories in Peterborough if we must keep and maintain our lead. What inducements have we to offer in addition to cheap power and good transportation? Can we offer cheap insurance rates and the best possible protection from fire? No we can't do so; and this inability is injuring Peterborough more than is thought. We all have an interest in having our manufactories run under the best conditions. The more we have the more we owe to them. Has the average citizen ever reflected how much we owe to our manufacturing industries? All the industries of the town give employment to round numbers to about 3,000 hands, which means that about ten thousand persons derive their livelihood directly from the operation of our manufacturing industries—two-thirds of the population of the city. These ten thousand persons very largely maintain our merchants, for all their earnings are spent in town. They occupy houses owned by our moneyed classes and the chain of the mutual dependence of the various elements of our citizenship is unbroken and cannot be broken except to the injury of all classes concerned—and all are concerned.

The working classes are concerned perhaps most directly in the question of the provision of a good fire system. Suppose a fire should break out in one of our large manufacturing establishments—if it is obstinate and does not yield readily to control, what chance have we to save the buildings and machinery with our ricketty old engine and generally ineffective fire equipment? The experience with fire in connection with one of our large industries is a shuddering reminder of the possibility of destructive results easily possible with defective fire equipment. The burning of one of our large factories would mean the throwing out of employment of hundreds, and the suffering, or at least, inconvenience of three or four times as many hundreds dependent upon them. On the hands falls the greatest loss — the proprietors will be very largely protected by insurance, but no workman can get insurance against the loss from the loss of his job.

But what is the use of insisting further. Any elector with a disposition to think for a moment cannot but see that every class of the community is interested in the city having an adequate and efficient fire protection system. The passing of the bylaw to provide such a system may involve a little additional expenditure for taxes, but much less than will be likely to come for increased insurance rates, not to speak of the great risk we run every day and hour of increasing losses by the destruction of some large industry which will represent a loss to very many ratepayers hundreds of times greater than any increased expenditure can mean. Think over the matter, reason it out, and no sensible ratepayer will be at a loss as to how to vote on Jan. 1st.

Closing Exercises Of Kindergarten

The programme yesterday opened with a hymn, "Good Morning," after which Mr. Pringle, chairman of the Supervision Committee, who was present, gave a short address, dealing with the advantages of the Kindergarten work, and explaining the methods of teaching.

Mr. Pringle, on behalf of the teachers and also of the Board of Education, welcomed the visitors to the school. In his address he explained briefly what the kindergarten work was and what it accomplished. The fact that so many of the parents and friends of the children were present was gratifying to the teachers, and was an encouragement to them in their work. If they would visit the schools frequently their presence and the interest which it gave evidence of would relieve the work of the teachers of much of the monotony which at present was a feature of a teacher's work.

Speaking of the history of the kindergarten work, Mr. Pringle said that in 1875 it was established in the United States, in St. Louis, Mo., by Hon. W. T. Harris, superintendent of education, and in the five years succeeding the number of pupils increased to 8,000, thus furnishing an evidence of its feasibility, and resulting directly in its adoption as part of the public school system of the United States.

The kindergarten, he explained, was the connecting link between the home and the public school. In it the home influences were retained, and the child, by a continuance of his play, is gradually taught discipline and system, and his senses developed.

Mr. Pringle was of the opinion that if the parents understood more thoroughly the principles and practice of kindergarten work they would appreciate its advantages more fully.

One of the evidences of the fact that kindergarten work is productive of good results was furnished while Mr. Pringle was speaking. Despite the fact that there were over forty pupils present, one could have heard a pin drop, so perfect was the order which prevailed.

The children were seated at their tables and gave a number of motion songs, including, "Finger Song," "Sunshine," "Dolly Song," "Baker" "Blacksmith," "Thanksgiving," "Jack Frost," and "Snow Flakes." The rendition of these songs provoked much well merited applause. The children were then marched from the room, the tables removed, and the pupils re-appeared, and delighted the visitors with a number of Christmas songs.

The most interesting feature of the afternoon's programme, as far as the children were concerned, was the appearance of Santa Claus, who entered the room to the accompaniment of sleigh bells and the merry shouts of welcome of the children. He delighted the hearts of the little one by presenting them with the gifts which the candle-illuminated tree was laden, and, this task completed, he took his departure, followed by the farewells of the children.

That the function was a successful one goes without saying, and it is doubtful if during the Christmas season there will be any which will bring such unalloyed happiness to those who participate, either actively or otherwise, as the Kindergarten closing exercises.

EAST CITY SCHOOL.

The annual Christmas exercises in connection with the East City kindergarten were held yesterday, and as usual, proved most enjoyable and interesting. The little tots showed evidence of careful training, and the programme presented was a very creditable one, the chorus work being especially effective. The kindergarten room was prettily decorated for the occasion with evergreens, flags, etc., and a large Christmas tree bearing on its capacious branches many gifts, added a holiday effect to the appearance of the room. Mr. J. W. Kelly, physical instructor of the East Ward School, made a most capable chairman.

The programme was made up of choruses, songs, recitations, instrumental sketches in imitation of bees, butterflies, and other common objects, circle games, and a children's cantata, and ended with a Christmas tree. All the numbers were well presented, and the children carried out their parts in a manner that was highly creditable to themselves and the clever teachers who have had their tuition in charge. Although all were of very tender years, the little ones displayed almost no signs of nervousness, and the presence of the large audience did not seem to embarrass them in the least, as they entered into the various games and occupations as earnestly as they do in the usual routine of school wok.

The beautiful choruses rendered by the children were among the prominent features of the afternoon's programme, and they were presented in a most creditable manner. The choruses were as follows: Morning hymn —"Forgot-me-not;" "Beautiful Snow Flakes," season chorus; finger song, "Thumbkins;" chorus, "The Little Kitty;" "Squirrel," bird song; trade song, "The Carpenter;" Christmas, "Happy Christmas Day." The bird song was especially effective, the whistling of the boys who took part being remarkably well rendered.

Individual numbers were furnished by several members of the class. Miss Alma Beavis gave a very clever recitation and was warmly applauded. Miss P. Long's rendition of the solo, "Little Bo-Peep," was very enjoyable, and the child was enthusiastically applauded. Master Clifton Carruthers rendered his solo, "Piggie-Wig and Piggie-Wee," in an especially clever manner.

In the second part of the programme the children showed themselves very proficient in their gift and occupation work. The little ones illustrated their usual school work by making geometrical forms. In the transition class the stick exercises were shown, the children making geometric designs after a given centre had been dictated. Each child was allowed to make any designs it wished. The baby division showed its cleverness in chain work, making use of mucilage and brush.

The instrumental sketches formed an enjoyable portion of the programme. They were in pantomimic form, depicting the following things: 1, flying birds; 2, fire bells, alarm, gallops to fire, fire out, horses tired: 3, bees; 4, sewing machine; 5, scythe movement, butterflies; 7, blacksmith; 8, pop-corn; 9, mice. The children quickly responded as the plan changed the movement, and the various sketches were cleverly cleverly carried out. Several circle games concluded the second part of the programme.

The third part consisted of a children's Christmas cantata, the characters being as follows: Star Queen, Jean Anderson; attendants, Jean Kemp, May Cook, May Smith, Hettie Record, Wilhelmina Gaskins, Prudence Long, Thelma Bailey and Madeline Long; other characters, Harry Smith, Greta Graham, Clifton Carruthers and Dorothy Langfeldt. The cantata, which taught the lesson that "love is the key to blessings" untold was very ably given, and the children are to be congratulated. Little Miss Jean Anderson, as the "Star Queen," won much praise for the able way in which she performed her duties.

The big event of the day for the children was the distribution of presents from the big Christmas tree. Santa Claus in the person of Harry Neill made his appearance without mishaps, coming by the chimney route, as do all conventional Santas. The sound of bells was heard first, and then Santa Claus appeared, much to the delight of the majority of the children, but to the awe of a few, who, much as they loved the famous old gentleman, were a little doubtful about approaching too near. This feeling, however, quickly disappeared, and the little ones eagerly advanced to receive the presents distributed.

Miss Williamson, the director of the kindergarten, and her able assistants, Miss May Denne and Miss Edna Rogers, are to be congratulated upon the work of their class, which was certainly deserving of a great deal of credit.

No joy or pleasure on this earth quite equals that which comes into the home when baby arrives. Who can describe the happiness of man and woman, joined in wedlock, as they look upon the fragile, delicate mite that is blood of their blood and flesh of their flesh? And who can depict the hopelessness and dejection that hover about the home where the wife is incapable of becoming a mother? Barrenness proceeds from some derangement of the distinctly feminine organs. Many of the common ailments known as "female troubles" cause it. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription overcomes barrenness by stamping out diseases of women, and by healing and curing ulceration. It tones up the system, stops drains, and restores strength. During gestation it modifies morning sickness, gives elasticity to the overstrained parts concerned, makes the hour of baby's coming short and almost painless, and gives wonderful recuperative power to the patient. By making the mother strong and cheerful, it makes the little one healthy, vigorous and good natured. Insist upon the medicine dealer giving you Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription when you ask for it. Substitutes are often dangerous.

Mrs. James W. Blocher, of 630 Catherine St., Syracuse, N. Y., writes: "Your medicines have done wonders for me. For years my health was very poor; I had four miscarriages, but since taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Favorite Prescription' I have much better health, and now I have a fine healthy baby."

A lively discussion took place with reference to the account of F. Bartlett, Inspector of Construction Work of the outfall sewer in East City, Mayor Best contending that he was justified in his refusal to sign the cheque upon the certificate of the City Engineer. The question at issue was whether Mr. Bartlett was entitled to remuneration from the commencement of the work, or whether it should be for actual work done, regarding the extent of which some misunderstanding arose. The Mayor insited that the provisions of the resolution of employment were not carried out.

Aldermen Tovey and Ald. Hall could see no tangible reason why he should not be paid. Ald. Adams was also satisfied that the Engineer's certificate was in accordance with the resolution. The matter was dropped and Mr. Bartlett will get his pay.

Moved by Ald. Hall, that W. Chipman be paid $150, in full of account for all services in connection with the sewer sedimentation tank in East City.—Carried.

Mr. Hunter, a new resident of Peterborough was, on motion heard. He was introduced by Mr. Hefferman, by whom, in Mr. Hunter's behalf, a request was made for the construction of a sewer on Boswell avenue, with connection to his residence. The petition was already in. About 100 feet would be necessary. The work would connect with Robson's contract. The latter asked an advance of 22 cents per foot to do the work.

Moved by Ald. Hicks, seconded by Ald. Hall, that the sewer, with connections on Boswell avenue, be finished as far as the season permits by day labour.—Carried.

The question of the boundaries of the Riverside Park next came for discussion. The City Engineer in a communication to the Board, pointed to the desirability of a definite determination in the matter being arrived at, in view of the intention expressed by members of the Park Company, to fill in a portion of the channel south of their property, in the deed of which the boundary is fixed by the bank of the channel.

Moved by Ald. Hicks, seconded by Ald. Hall, that the Shareholders of the Riverside Park Company, be requested to meet the Board with reference to the boundaries of the Park.—Carried.

Moved by Ald. Hall, seconded by Ald. Johnston, that the City Solicitor be authorized to approve the amended contract with the G.T.R. in respect to the sewer beneath their tracks, providing that the city assume the liability in case of damages arising therefrom.—Carried.

Moved by Ald. Hall, seconded by Ald. Johnston that the resolutions with reference to the lowering of the grade of the G.T.R. tracks on the Lakefield Branch be amended, leaving out the provision with regard to culverts at the street intersections.—Carried.

Moved by Ald. Hall that the street inspector be instructed to inquire into the matter of the drains crossing at Murray and Bethune streets, and to do such work as will carry off the overflow.—Carried.

Regarding 55 barrels of cement unused on sidewalk construction, it was decided to leave the disposal in the hands of the chairman to deal with as he deems best. The cement post originally $1.70, and $1.65 was now offered by the Peterborough Hadeware Company.

An Appropriate Gift is Made

An English physician named Scholes has written a book of over 400 pages to disprove the current view that the coloured races are essentially inferior ocially and intellectually to the white races. He claims that the ancient Egyptians were of negro stock, that European civilization was of comparatively mushroom growth, while the Egyptians, Mexicans, Peruvians, Chinese and other coloured races attained to high degree of culture long before our ancestors emerged from semi-barbarism.

Pleaded Guilty to Forgery Charge

There were two local young men charged with being drunk and disorderly this morning, but it happened that each one was guilty of only half of that offence. The one who was drunk had to pay $2 for imbibing, and the disorderly man "coughed up" $2 and costs, amounting in all to $5.05. They were ordered to pay their fines forthwith, and the money was forth-coming soon after the Court's judgment was pronounced, although neither one had the necessary cash upon his person at the time.

Joe McMullen, who hails from Morganston, faced the Magistrate on a most serious charge, that of having cashed a forged order for work, drawn on the Ontario Bank, and purported to be signed by Mr. W. B. Kelly, bridgemouth. The amount of the order was $21.05.

McMullen pleaded guilty to the charge and was remanded for a week.

"What did you do with the money?" said the court.

"I spent part of it", was the reply.

"He has two dollars and thirty cents left" said the chief.

The prisoner who was eighteen years of age, and therefore a minor, said that he had obtained liquor in a number of local hotels, and interesting developments will probably follow. He stated in court the names of the hotels that had supplied him with liquor.

"You're starting young" said His Worship, in referring to McMullen's offence.

The court instructed the chief to communicate with his father, James McMullen, Morganston, and see if he would make good the money that his son had fraudulently obtained.

"He surely will, for such a good boy", said His Worship.

McMullen, although a comparative stranger to Peterborough, will be on the "inside" for the next week and perhaps longer.

Mr. W. Bunton's Christmas Wishes

One of the neatest greeting cards sent out this season is that issued by Mr. W. Bunton, General Manager, excuse the lapsus pennae—City Passenger and Ticket Agent of the Grand Trunk Railway. The design is in good taste, with a dash of claret in its make-up, the embellishments being the work of an artist. On one leaf is a fine life-like half-tone of the C. P. T. A. in one of bismost serious poses—just as if he meant "business," followed with a pleasant "Yours sincerely for a happy and successful year in 1906." The other leaf bears a railway scene in half-tone, showing "Not ye old dyme, but the up-to-date Premier Train of the Grand Trunk Railway System."

Pastor Brace Is Honoured By His People

Was Presented Last Night at Close of Week-Night Service With Address and Roll of Bills—A Complete Surprise—Address Expressed Appreciation of His Services—Prosperity of the Church is Gratefully Acknowledged.

AN ENJOYABLE SOCIAL EVENING SPENT

Things were unusually lively at the Park Street Baptist Wednesday evening service, the Deacons and Dorcas Ladies moving about significantly before service opened aroused suspicions and immediately after the Benediction was pronounced, Deacon Gillespie advanced to the side of the pastor and read the subjoined address, while at the proper moment Deacon Barrie presented a substantial Christmas box to the pastor, in the shape of a roll of bills.

It was a complete surprise to him the whole affair being managed so successfully.

The pastor was visibly affected during the address read under profound silence and at its close, with some difficulty he acknowledged the gift on behalf of himself and Mrs. Brace.

The large and representative gathering sang very heartily "Blest Be the Tie that Binds".

Dear Pastor,—At this time of the year when the "Joy Bells are ringing in our hearts" and when so many deem it a privilege to bestow gifts upon those they love, we desire to express our appreciation of your faithful service and untiring zeal in the Master's cause.

We rejoice with you in the fact that many who a year ago were in the gall of bitterness and bond of iniquity, through your faithful proclamation of the Gospel are to-night rejoicing in a full and free Salvation, and we are confidently looking forward to the year upon which we soon shall enter, D.V., praying that our Heavenly Father may still more abundantly bless both pastor and people and that we may become more like him, who, when He was reviled reviled not again, and through our united efforts many who are still in the broad road that leads down to death, may hear the voice of Jesus through your life saying unto them "Come unto me all ye that labour and are heavy laden and I will give you rest" and be safely gathered within the fold, and not only have these names on the pages of our church register, but "Written in the Lamb's Book of Life". We, therefore, ask you to accept this gift, not so much for its intrinsic value, but as an expression of our gratitude to God for blessings received individually and as a church and now wishing yourself and Mrs. Brace and every member of the family, a very merry Christmas and happy New Year. We pray that you may be long spared to fill out the old, old story and Jesus and His Love.

Only Two Teams Yet For The City League

The meeting of the City Hockey League held last night was unproductive of results, other than an adjournment for six days to allow other teams to signify their intention of entering. At last night's meeting two teams only, the Bankers and Suicides were represented, and, it was decided to adjourn the meeting until Tuesday night in order that any other teams which might desire to enter such a league might have an opportunity of being represented at the meeting.

The prospect at the present time does not look very promising. With only two teams of course a league will be impossible, and, the feeling at the meeting last night was that perhaps other teams would be prepared to enter if an opportunity were afforded them of doing so, and to give that opportunity an adjournment was made until Tuesday night.

Messrs. Horace Walkey and G. L. Main represented the Bankers last night and Messrs. Wilson and Westerstone were there representing Suicide Club. Both these teams will be strong this year, and if a league is organized the prospects are that the games will be considerably faster than they were last season. The Bankers will have a team which should give any of them a hard run for their money. They have a number of fast men, and if a league is formed with the financial men in it there will certain to be some pretty fast contests. The Suicides too, have some good men, and a series of games between these two teams should furnish some good sport. The Auburns are reported as being strong and the prospects are good for a second Peterborough team which could enter a City League, which would give a four team league, and would make a splendid series of games.

No officers were elected last night, as reports presented, this business will be taken up at the next meeting on Tuesday night in the Y.M.C.A. Hall, when any team with City League aspirations is requested to send a representative, and, in case there are no further teams offering, the project this season will be abandoned.

More Troubles for Stanley Adams And His Company

Meets With Difficulties in London, Where a Disagreement Arose Over Terms of the Contract—Adams Says They Were Broken—He Claims $200 for Concert—Receipts Were Less Than $100—Lawsuit is Coming Soon.

SOME LIVELY SCENES BEHIND THE CURTAIN

The Grand English Concert Company which appeared here two weeks ago to-night, seems to be running in hard luck, as the following despatch from London shows:—

"I am sorry to have kept you waiting, ladies and gentlemen, but we have just been having a dispute behind the scenes about our contract. And there will be more about it yet."

This was a statement made by Stanley Adams, manager and member of the English Grand Concert Company, in the middle of the company's performance at the Grand Opera House last evening. The audience had been waiting about ten minutes for the next number on the programme, which was to be given by Mr. Adams.

Everyone was commencing to wonder what was the matter. To say that the audience was surprised when the above statement was made, somewhat heatedly, by Mr. Adams, is putting it mildly.

Started Programme Again.

Then the programme went on.

That which was going on behind the scenes was of an even more interesting nature.

In brief, Madame Langley, the principal artists of the company, and Manager Adams claim that they were promised $200 cash for their performance. Messrs. A. D. Jordan and W. D. Marshall, of this city, the booking agents, claim that their contract was to give the English people 60 per cent. of the receipts.

There was a material difference in the two figures, since, on account of the climates of the house, 60 per cent. of the receipts amounted to only a little over $60.

Mr. Adams told the Free Press that when in Toronto ten days ago, Mr. Jordan rang him up over long-distance telephone and verbally changed the written contract, which was on the 60 per cent. basis, to the $200 agreement.

Will Start An Action.

Mr. Adams states that he will immediately engage the services of a Toronto lawyer and enter suit against Mr. Jordan.

On the other hand, Mr. Jordan claims that he told Mr. Adams over the 'phone that the new agreement was only to be optional; that is, that he reserved the right to return to the 60 per cent. basis if the receipts were not large.

As it turned out, the English people refused to take any money at all.

Good Offer To Mr. R. N. Jolliffe

Will Teach Vocal Lessons in Stouffville Conservatory.

Another evidence of the fact that Mr. R. Norman Jolliffe has attained success in the musical profession in Toronto, is the offer which he has received to accept the position of vocal teacher in a Conservatory of Music at Stouffville.

After New Years Mr. Jolliffe will go to Stouffville one day a week to take up the work there, and in the meantime will continue his work in Toronto. The attention which his work in the Queen City has attracted is evidence of his ability, and that he will make a success of this new line of activity is assured.

At the meeting of the Mutford board of guardians, Suffolk, England, it was reported that a profit of $270 had been made on the year from the pigs kept by the guardians at the workhouse.

The Trading Stamp Is To Go

Trading Advertising Company Quits the Field.

The following article from the Toronto Mail and Empire, will be read with interest by the retail merchants especially, who have been working to have trading stamps done away with:

It would seem that the fight put up against the trading stamp has at last borne fruit, judging from the following circular letter, which has been sent out by the Trading Advertising Company, of which James A. Wilder is the manager:

"Dear Sir, — In regard to the saving coupon we find that it is going to be impossible to continue business profitably on the present plan, and we have therefore decided to discontinue the same. We would advise you not to give saving coupons to your customers, unless it is understood that you are to redeem them. We are sorry that matters have turned out this way, but the stand that the Retail Merchants' Association have taken against us makes it impossible for us to continue. Thanking you for being willing to assist us as you have done."

When the Trading Stamp Act was passed by the Dominion House last session the Trading Advertising Company announced that they would be able to continue in business under another plan, known as saving coupons. This plan the Retail Merchants' Association declared, was contrary to the provisions of the Criminal Code.

The Trading Stamp Act was passed so that when retail merchants give their customers tockets, coupons or cash register receipts, they must have the merchant's name, address and the mercantile value of each ticket or coupon, and they must be redeemed at any time by any person at the store where they are given out. This gives the customer a chance to get full value for discount, when the tickets are supposed to represent, and it prevents the merchant from redeeming them with cheap articles of furniture or other articles of very little value.

The Plaintiff To Appeal Case

The plaintiffs in the McWilliams-Dickson Company case have served notice of appeal on the defendants' solicitor from the decision of the Judge in the first case tried at the fall assizes, in which the decision was against the plaintiffs.

The grounds upon which the decision is opposed are largely technical.

POST CARD CORRESPONDENCE.

In this column will be published communications upon post cards only. It will remain open for the use of readers who are invited to contribute suggestions, inquiries or replies. Anything of a scurrilous personal nature will be prohibited.

Editor of Post Card Column:

The competition stories in your paper written by children are deserving of praise, but there are a few statements made that would be misleading. One writer states that the Township of Cavan was at one time in the County of Peterborough, which is not correct. Others state that when the Prince of Wales visited here, the children of the public schools sang the National Anthem before him, but the fact was that the words were changed to "God Save the Prince". One would infer from some of the stories that the Prince came here by the Midland railway, when it was by the old Cobourg road. The location of the Island near Young's Point, where the Indian girl was buried is but vaguely described and would not aid one in finding the spot. In one of the cleverest of the stories, the writer gives the improbable story of the lost children procuring plenty of venison and partridge without apparently any fire-arms and living through the winter without any implements for constructing even a cabin.

Yours, etc.

THE EXPERIMENTAL UNION.

Toronto Globe.

One of the greatest services to agriculture rendered by the research methods of recent years is the definite light thrown on practical problems by systematic experimentation. Much had in the course of generations been learned from experience of individual cultivators of the soil, but for lack of accurate records and of widespread diffusion, those empirical results had comparatively little effect in improving practical methods of placing them on a strictly scientific basis. The first agricultural teaching institution to enter extensively into systematic experimentation, was the Ontario Agricultural College of Guelph, and it is still the most important experimental station in the world, if account is taken of the effectiveness of its propaganda, as well as the value of its discoveries. Other institutions have for years been imitating its methods, but so far it has in point of helpfulness, kept easily ahead of them, and from present appearances it is likely to hold a lead for an indefinite period. Its preeminence is largely due to the publicity given to its work by Farmers' Institutes and by the Experimental Union, both of which are closely related to the colleges and depend largely upon it for their vitality and aggressiveness,

During the present week, contemporaneously with the Winter Fair at Guelph, the Union has been holding its annual convention. This serves the double purpose of keeping the alumni of the college in touch with the institution, and of keeping them and the members who never received a college education in touch with one another. The meeting has this year been of unusual interest, the attendance has been large and the proceeds have been varied and instructive. It is impossible to estimate accurately how much the college owes to this organization, with Prof. Zavitz as its moving spirit and guiding intelligence. To thousands all over the Dominion who never saw the College and Experimental Farm, their names are now household words and if the institutions continue to be liberally supported and wisely managed its reputation and helpfulness will both be indefinitely enhanced.

Banquet Of Black Knights At McCallum's

Elaborate Supper in Honour of the 217th Anniversary of the Relief of Derry—A Splendid Toast List Run Off—Several Persons Present Contributed to Evening's Entertainment in Song and Verse—Late Brother Robt. Weir Highly Spoken Of.

ORANGEMEN CELEBRATE MEMORABLE EVENT

A large number of members and friends of the Royal Black Knights of British America, Chapter 261, gathered around the festive board at McCallums restaurant last night. During the evening a splendid toast list was run off and all the toasts were honoured in a very eloquent manner. The feast provided by mine host McCallum left nothing to be desired and there could be no doubt, judging from the way the tasty viands were partaken of, that it was enjoyed to the "fullest", by all those who had the honour to assemble round the banquet table, which was laden with the choicest and most appetizing delicacies.

Touching reference was made by many who spoke, to the lamented death of Brother Robert Weir, Past Preceptor of the Black Chapter. He was characterized as both a model and most highly respected citizen and member.

After the health of the King had been proposed by Preceptor Wm. Armstrong, and most heartily drunk, the toast to King William II. was enthusiastically honoured. Colonel Miller, in an eloquent and forceful response to "Canada Our Home", emphasized strongly the fact that we owe to our country the greatest loyalty and respect. He also spoke of the numerous advantages and great wealth, and feelingly referred to the bravery of the sons of our native soil, who had laid down their lives in defence of the Empire. Alderman Batten responded in an able manner to "The Black Institution", making brief reference to its history, and speaking of the good work it had done, and was, accomplishing. The speaker prophesied, amid much applause, that in a few years it would be second to none in Canada. "The Day We Commemorate" brought Preceptor Armstrong to his feet. He dwelt upon the great loss the Chapter had sustained in the death of Brother Robert Weir. Brother Weir, the speaker said, led a model life, and he commended those present to follow in his footsteps. Last night was the 217th anniversary of the closing of the gates of Derry, the Maiden City of Ireland, and to commemorate this the supper was held. The relief of Derry is an event dear to the heart of every Orangeman, and one that marked the everlasting supremacy, in British domains, of Protestantism over Roman Catholicism. The Preceptor described in a very graphic manner, its siege and relief. The United Empire was honoured by Messrs. John A. McWilliams and Ed. Dormer.

Bro. Allen Parker then gave a very humorous reading that elicited much mirth, entitled "When Father Rode the Goat."

Colonel Miller recited in his usual capable manner "The Crutch in the Corner", telling of the great privations of a soldier, who had been crippled for life, fighting for his country, and the only reward for his loyalty and valour was "that crutch in the corner, yonder".

The toasts to the press and our guests were honoured by the press representatives present, and by those who had the honour to be the guests of the chapter.

"Our Host" was deeply drunk, and responded to by Mr. McCallum.

The singing of "God Save the King" brought a thoroughly enjoyable evening to a conclusion.

A Resolution Of Condolence

Was Passed by Court Littlejohn C. O. F.

At the last meeting of Court Littlejohn, No. 92, C.O.F., the following letter of condolence was ordered to be sent to Mrs. Carlos Greene, on the death of her husband:—

Peterborough,
December 6th, 1905.

To Mrs. C. Green,

Dear Madam,—We, the members of Court Littlejohn No. 92, C.O.F., desire to express our deep regret and heartfelt sorrow on account of the affliction that has lately befallen you and your family by the loss of your husband. Why such chastisements should fall on us it is not for us to pass an opinion on, but all we can say is that it has been the will of the Supreme Ruler of the universe and although a hard task for you to bear still we are conscious that it has been so ordained for a wise purpose, and not one of us could wish him called back again as we can fully rest assured that the change has been a happy one for him and he is now under a guardian, under whose care and heavenly protection we can look for consolation when any like event may happen to us.

We are, Madam, your sincere and sympathizing friends.

JAMES A. LANG,
ROBERT MULLIGAN,
J. A. MORGAN.

A WOMAN TO BE PRETTY

Must Have Luxuriant and Glossy Hair, No Matter What Colour.

The finest contour of a female face, the sweetest smile of a female mouth, loses something if the head is crowned with scant hair. Scant and falling hair, it is not known, is caused by a parasite that burrows into the scalp to the root of the hair, where it saps the vitality. The little white scales the germ throws up in burrowing are called dandruff. To cure dandruff permanently, then, and to stop falling hair, that germ must be killed. Newbro's Herpicide, an entirely new result of the chemical laboratory, destroys the dandruff germ, and, of course, stops the falling hair, and prevents baldness. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Ormond & Walsh, Special Agents.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

Mr. A. H. Bradburn, manager of the Grand Opera House has experienced considerable difficulty in booking plays this season up to the present time, but from this on, he promises an almost unbroken list of attractions. He now has all affairs in connection with the Opera House running smoothly and a great many first-class productions will appear here as may be seen from the following list of plays that has been booked. It would be a good idea for theatre goers to cut out this list and preserve it as it will be convenient for reference, as those who wish to attend any particular plays mentioned may note the dates that they are billed to appear here and make arrangements for keeping the dates open sometime ahead. Following are the attractions that will be seen at the Grand Opera House up to January 23rd. A further list will be published later:—

December 22nd, Kyle's vaudeville; December 26th, 27th, 28th, Crocker's educated Horses; December 28, "The Serio-Comic Girl", re-organized from the great hit of last season, the "Serio-Comic Governess", and played by the same high-class company; December 30, "The Way of the Transgressor", the great spectacular and sensational melo-drama will be seen here for the first time. This company carries sixty-eight full cars of scenery, which will be paraded on the principal streets on the day of its presentation. On January 1, Summer's Stock Co. will make its initial appearance in Peterborough and will hold the boards for the remainder of the week. Dora Thorne will be the attraction for January 8th. The Canadian Dairymen's Association convention will be hield at the Opera House on January 10, 11 and 12. On January 23rd His Highness the Boy, a high-class and tuneful musical comedy that is being well received in the best theatrical circles, will be presented.

Manager Bradburn has plays booked right through to May, but for the present this list should be sufficient.

Lamented Death of James Byrne

Highly Respected Citizen Passes Away.

A well-known and respected citizen of Peterborough passed away last night at 11 o'clock in the person of Mr. James Byrne, George street. The deceased had been confined to his bed for five months with tuberculosis and bore his long illness very patiently. He had been a resident of the city for nearly thirty years and a wide circle of friends will mourn his death.

The late James Byrne was born in Kingston, March 28, 1856. His father, Jas. Byrne, was born in Ireland, and came to Canada when quite young, dying in Belleville in 1875.

When he was quite young Mr. Byrne's parents moved from Kingston to Perth, where the subject of this sketch was educated. Here Mr. Byrne first entered business life, conducting a photograph establishment. Afterwards he tried the marble and stone-cutting trade, in which he was eminently successful. In 1869 he went to Campbellford, where he entered into partnership with Mr. T. Fitzgerald. He afterwards returned to Belleville and then in 1877 he came to Peterborough, starting in business at the corner of George and McDonel streets, where he conducted a very successful trade. During his later years he was through illness unable to continue in the marble business and purchased the hair goods store on George street, which his wife still carries on.

On May 28th, 1887, the deceased was married to Margaret Dobbin, daughter of the late John Dobbin of North Monaghan, who survives, with one daughter, Helen.

In religion he was a Methodist and in politics a Conservative. He was a member of the Masonic and Forester and Oddfellow Orders.

The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon at 2.30 o'clock from the family residence, George street, to Little Lake Cemetery.

A Gyr-falcon Hawk is Shot

Mr. C. Telford Secures Specimen of Northern Hawk.

Mr. C. Telford, who resides on the shores of Telford's Bay, Mud Lake, opposite Chemong Park, has shot a hawk of a special, which, so the taxidermist who is mounting the bird, says, is unknown in this part of Canada.

This mammoth bird, measured three and a half feet from tip to tip. It is an inhabitant of North Labrador, and adjacent cold districts, and is known as a gyr-falcon hawk.

Mr. Telford was skating on the bay when he noticed the bird sitting in a willow tree on the shore. He immediately went to the house and brought out his rifle, and shot the hawk, which was then apparently resting from his long journey southward.

Trenton Route Deputation Will Go to Ottawa

Mr. Andrew Cameron, of Hastings, Was in the City This Morning—Speaks With Reference to the Organization of the Deputation—Mr. Cameron an Enthusiastic Believer in the Industrial Future of Hastings—Send Representatives.

ACTION WILL BE CO-OPERATIVE

Mr. Andrew Cameron, of Hastings, is in the city to-day. Mr. Cameron is one of Hastings most prominent tizens, and is an enthusiastic believer in the necessity for the immediate completion of the Trent Canal. He has been instrumental during the last few months in arousing a very considerable enthusiasm along the proposed route of the canal from Rice Lake to Trenton, with a view to the definite establishment of Trenton as the outlet.

Mr. Cameron is now engaged in organizing a large deputation consisting of representatives of the various municipalities from Rice Lake to Trenton, to go to Ottawa during January for the purpose of impressing upon the Government the absolute necessity for the early completion of the canal, and the superiority of the Hastings-Trenton route.

He is a firm believer in the future of Hastings as a manufacturing centre. It has splendid facilities, is an important distributing point for cheese, hogs and produce, and also possesses magnificent water-power privileges.

Mr. Cameron is the well-known and popular representative for the Hastings-Warkworth-Roseneath district of the Ogilvie Milling Company, and is constantly in touch with every hamlet and municipality between Hastings and Trenton. He has just returned from the latter place, where he was in consultation with the Mayor, Dr. Jakes. It is the intention of Trenton and Hastings to co-operate in the organization of the proposed delegation which will go to Ottawa early in January. In fact, if Hastings, Campbellford, Frankford, Trenton and other towns along the proposed route possessed more such enthusiastic and aggressive men as Mr. Cameron, the early completion of the Trent Canal would be doubly assured.

The City Clerk Was Identified

City Clerk Armstrong is apparently pretty well known to a good many persons in this city. His picture twenty years ago, and published in yesterday's Examiner, was recognized by a number of readers, and for a couple of hours the telephone wires were kept hot with messages, inquiring how City Clerk Armstrong was. The first to telephone in was Mr. F. J. B. Mitchell, the Hunter street grocer, who is usually in the lead in sending in identifications. Rev. E. A. Langfeldt was also one of the first to recognise the resemblance to Mr. Armstrong, and others who telephoned were, Miss W. Blewett, Miss Nellie Grady, Mrs. Ed. Comey, Ald. Johnston, Ald. Hicks, D. H. Moore, Ald. McIntyre, F. E. Bell, T. S. Pratt, R. B. Wood, Miss Annie Kelly, Dr. Burnham, Mr. Hoover, Mr. A. Brown, Miss Downie, Miss Denne and Mr. J. N. Turner.

Mr. Armstrong has the distinction having been recognized by more ladies than any of the pictures published.

AMUSEMENTS

The following extract showing that mothers would do well to let children attend the matinee performances of "Crocker's Educated Horses," is clipped from a very complimentary half column article in The Galt Reformer, written in reference to the above attraction that appeared in Galt a short time ago: "As indicating its beauty and healthfulness it might be mentioned that Reverend Rural Dean Ridley, who attended last night's performance, felt impelled to seek out the manager and congratulate and thank him for the treat enjoyed."

• • • •

What a Galt Paper Says

About Crocker's Educated Horses, which appear at the Grand Opera House Christmas Day and two days following:—

To say that Prof. Crocker's animals are "trained" is to use a term too hackneyed to convey adequate idea of the perfection of subjugation and intelligent amenability to tuition to which he has brought his equine pets. Pets they certainly are, for not one of the whole galaxy of intelligent beasts but evinces towards his master in every movement, some indication of affection for and absolute trust in him. And the master moves about among them with unstudied ease and assurance amounting to positive nonchalance—as though there was nothing for him to do but just let his four-footed friends have a time and make entertainment for the audience.

As indicating its beauty and healthfulness it might be mentioned that Rev. Rural Dean Ridley, who attended last night, felt impelled to seek out the manager, congratulate him and thank him for the treat enjoyed. Matinee at 3 p. m. Christmas Day. Jd145.

Mayor Best Gets Second TERM BY ACCLAMMATION; Mr. Matthews Re-elected

Eighteen Candidates Placed in Nomination for Board of Education—Nine of These Only to be Elected—Mr. D. W. Dumble a Candidate—Criticizes Action of Last Year's Board of Education—Says People Were Not Taken Into Board's Confidence.

This morning Mayor Best was elected by acclamation for a second term, in the Chief Magistracy of the city. His name was the only one placed in nomination for this position, and after the nominations closed, in a short address he accepted the office and gave a hint as to his policy for the coming year.

Mr. T. F. Matthews was also elected by acclamation to the Board of Water Commissioners, from which position he retired by lapse of his term.

These elections were anticipated, no one having any idea that there would be any opposition to the election of these two gentlemen.

In the election for the Board of Education there will be a contest, eighteen persons being nominated.

Little Interest.

An evidence of the general lack of interest on the part of the citizens in the election was furnished by the fact that at ten o'clock, the hour set for the opening of the nominations, the only persons present in the council chamber were the City Clerk and C. Clement.

The aspirants for honours, however, soon began to arrive in straggling groups, and at 10.30, when the first nomination was made, there were about thirty persons present.

The Nominations.

The nominations were as follows:

Mayor.

Water Commissioners.

T. F. Matthews, nominated by R. E. Wood, and seconded by J. H. Hughes.

Board of Education.

W. H. Hill, nominated by W. H. Moore, and seconded by T. F. Matthews.

Dr. Boucher, nominated by Adam Hall, seconded by R. E. Wood.

W. G. Ferguson, nominated by W. H. Hill, and seconded by W. J. Thompson.

P. Campbell, nominated by J. J. McBain, and seconded by W. H. Moore.

E. A. Peck, nominated by W. H. Moore, and seconded by J. J. McBain.

J. J. Hartley, nominated by Adam Hall, and seconded by R. E. Wood.

M. A. Morrison, nominated by M. W. Matchett, and seconded by Wm. Pringle.

Robert Fair, nominated by G. M. Roger, and seconded by W. J. Johnston.

J. L. Hughes, nominated by W. H. Lilley, and seconded by M. W. Matchett.

J. J. McBain, nominated by James Stevenson, and seconded by J. L. Hughes.

B. F. Ackerman, nominated by M. W. Matchett, and seconded by W. J. Thompson.

D. W. Dumble, nominated by Jas. Stevenson, and seconded by Henry Best.

By a misunderstanding as to the time for closing the nominations, Mr. R. B. Rogers' name was left off the list, his mover and seconder being of the impression that nominations opened at 11 o'clock.

The Mayor Speaks.

After the nominations Mr. S. R. Armstrong was voted to the chair, and called upon the Mayor-elect to address the meeting. His Worship spoke briefly, thanking the citizens for having elected him to the highest position in the city. He appreciated very highly the honour which had been shown him by electing him two years in succession by acclamation.

In his address to be given later he would outline his policy for the next year, which would be one of development of the industrial enterprises. His plan was to secure power for the city to sell to industries locating here. The city should be in a position to offer manufacturing concerns power at a low price, and at long contracts, and this would be his aim during the coming year. He was not in a position, however, at present, to say what the council would do. They were looking after two or three places from which power could be secured. He again thanked the citizens for electing him.

Mr. T. F. Matthews.

Mr. T. F. Matthews was then called upon, and in a practical address gave some facts in reference to the operations of the waterworks, with which he had been associated since the town took over the plant in 1902. After the first year the commissioners decided to make a reduction in the rates, and this was done; with the result that the average reduction to the small householder was 33 1-3 per cent. In spite of this reduction the net revenue had increased, as figures will show. The revenue for 1902 was $23,359.14; 1903, $24,095.51; 1904, $25,907.41, and the estimated revenue for 1905, was $28,500.00, and the actual revenue will probably exceed this figure. The present debenture debt is $292,000, an increase from $237,000, the initial debt, when the plant was purchased. The amount asked from the Town Trust Commissioners this year for interest and sinking fund was $16,665.82, an increase of $1,390.32 over last year. Last year the Commissioners paid back in discounts to water users $2,006.19, which for nine months in 1905 $3,326.18 had been paid. During this year there had been laid 2,502 feet of 4 inch mains, 5,410 feet of 5 inch mains, 644 feet of 8 inch mains, 4,560 feet of 12 inch mains, the latter being the auxiliary main from the old pumping house to Smith street; seventeen hydrants were set; 24 street valves placed in and 216 services laid, making a total of 1,777 services. There are at present 25 1-2 miles of mains in the city. Mr. Matthews referred to the improved service since the completion of the new auxiliary main, which was connected on Dec. 9th. The pressure in the city was 15 pounds higher than it was before with the same pressure at the pump house.

The average pumping record was 1,000 gallons per minute.

The plant was operated by the commissioners as they would operate their own businesses, and with Mr. Henderson in charge the expenditures were kept down, and value was received for every dollar spent.

The School Board.

Mr. D. W. Dumble next addressed the meeting on School Board matters. He said that he, with some others, felt that some new blood was needed on the Board, and he had decided to be a candidate at this election.

Mr. Dumble paid particular attention to the Collegiate Institute matter, and criticized the action of the Board, charging that they had used bad judgment, and that they had not been frank with the people. He referred to the purchase of the property for the joint purpose of armoury and Collegiate Institute erection, and claimed that the town had got the worst of the bargain. The School Board gets for its $10,000 one acre of land, and since they paid one-third of the whole cost, they paid for one-third of the building, but they do not get it, because the Government retains it. All the Board gets is two lots, upon which to erect the Collegiate Institute.

If this place is to be a military centre, would it be desirable for the Collegiate Institute to be located near the armoury, and to have artillery thundering around the school. He felt that the conviction was growing that the better thing to do was to ask the Government to give them back the $10,000, and build the Institute some place else. What was needed, he thought, was that the public schools should be improved first. He believed that the people had not been taken into the confidence of the Board in this and other matters during the year. It was not right that a member of the Board should tender for the construction of the new Collegiate Institute. Under the circumstances, he felt that there was a necessity for some new blood on the Board, and he had consented to allow his name to go before the electors. He would not ask anyone for a vote, but if they wanted him to serve them he was willing to do it in their interests. The business of the Board should be conducted in a manner to inspire the confidence of the people. If the people wanted him he was willing to act, but he was not anxious for the position.

This closed the speaking, and the meeting adjourned until 12 o'clock for the nomination of aldermen.

Shareholders Little Interest In York County

About Half of the Members of Local Shareholders Represented at General Meeting Held Last Night—They Decided to Take no Action—Mayor to Call a Meeting When Necessary—He Will Watch Shareholders' Interests.

GOVERNMENT SHOULD PROTECT THE CITIZENS

The meeting of the shareholders of the York County Loan and Savings Company, held last night in the court house, adjourned from Monday afternoon, was not nearly as largely attended as that of Monday, the unfavourable weather doubtless having an effect on the attendance, as well as the feeling that there was really nothing which they could do to improve their position.

After considerable discussion last night, a motion was made that the matter be left in the hands of the Mayor, who will act in the interests of the shareholders, and, after the liquidator has made his report, and calls for the shareholders to prove their claims, he will call a general meeting of the shareholders, and action will then be taken. This represented the sum total of the business transacted at the meeting, which was attended by about sixty persons.

One of the shareholders thought the meeting should take some action advising the Government that it was time to call a halt to the formation of companies which secured the money of poor people by offering to do things which they could not possibly do, and then go into liquidation, with the result that the persons who paid money into the concern lost all they paid in.

The Mayor presided at the meeting, and called upon the city solicitor to explain the situation.

Mr. Hall, in response to the invitation, shows the present position of the company, stating that while an order for the winding up of the company under the Dominion Act had been granted, an appeal had been entered against this judgment, and an application to have the company wound up under the Ontario Act made. The winding up at present was taking place under the first order, and, in the meantime, the Government had appointed an auditor whose duty it is to examine the books of the company with a view of finding out how its affairs had been conducted, and to ascertain whether there has been any irregularity.

The probability was that it would take some time to wind up the affairs of the company, in view of the fact that it owned land in Toronto which was estimated to be worth in the neighbourhood of a million dollars, and in case the liquidator decided that it would be in the interests of the shareholders to hold it, and sell by piecemeal, it might be some time yet before it was disposed of. If it were sold en bloc the price obtained might not be as great, but the returns would be quicker.

If he were offering advice, he would say that it was better for the shareholders to do nothing at the present time except to appoint a committee to look after their interests, and to advise them when, and how, to prove their claims, which would have to be done, sooner or later.

Mr. R. F. McWilliams also addressed the meeting and gave his views of the situation. He did not advise them specially, but pointed out that there was a danger, if the individual shareholders acted for themselves that they would not keep themselves posted on the situation.

Mr. R. J. Todd, after some further discussion moved that the matter be left in the hands of the Mayor, the latter to call a general meeting of the shareholders at the proper time, and to advise them when to send in proof of their claims.

Before this motion was submitted the Mayor said he understood that the Bank of Ottawa had some proposition to submit, and called upon Mr. Hatton, the solicitor of that institution to explain it. Mr. Hatton then addressed the gathering, as representing the Bank of Ottawa as well as some of the shareholders. He stated that the latter could not very well ask the Company to carry out its part of the contract to pay the money if they did not keep up their payments and fill the contract. His advice, therefore, was that the monthly payments should be continued, only that they be paid into some chartered bank, and he stated that the Bank of Ottawa had authorized him to say that they would accept these payments in trust for the shareholders, paying them interest on the money thus deposited with them, and keeping it to be devoted to the interests of the shareholders, whose affairs they would attend to, and the money could be withdrawn at any time.

To this suggestion there was some opposition, the feeling being that enough money had been paid in now, and Mr. McWilliams explained that there was no necessity to continue payments, in view of the fact that the liquidator had applied to the court for an order directing the shareholders not to pay any more money into the company. This order, he stated, had been given, consequently there was no necessity to continue the payments.

The motion of Mr. Todd was seconded and on being submitted to the meeting was carried unanimously. The matter now stands that nothing is being done at all until the Mayor calls another meeting of the shareholders.

Port Hope Route The Only Feasible One

The Port Hope Times, in its enthusiasm for the completion of the Trent Canal by way of that town, publishes the following.

"And engineer of wide experience, one who is in a position to know the substance of the reports which the surveyors of the various proposed southern routes of the Trent Valley Canal will make to the Government, declares that the Trenton route is out of the question, and that it will be impossible for the Government to select it, however much it may desire to do so.

"The Port Hope route, he declares, is beyond question the best in every respect, and the reports will indicate this fact. This route is the most likely to be adopted so far as can be known. The only other route which presents anything approaching the advantages of the Port Hope route is one that has been surveyed to Cobourg. And this route is in many particulars much inferior to that via Port Hope."

Citizens Express Views On Fire Protection Proposal

The Situation is Viewed From Two Different Standpoints—The Position of the Small Householders—Why They Should Support the By-Law—The Question From an Understood Standpoint—To Secure Manufactures We Must Have Protection.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—There is one phase of this fire protection situation which it seems to me has not been impressed upon the ratepayers clearly enough.

Peterborough owes its present existence to the fact, that it possesses certain advantages from an industrial standpoint, and if Peterborough is to attain any future distinction it will be as a manufacturing centre. But manufacturers before deciding to locate in any town or city take into consideration all the surroundings, and one of the things which every manufacturer is particular about is that after his plant has been erected there is every reasonable chance that it will be given protection from fire.

Looking at it from this standpoint is it any wonder that more industries do not locate there. I happen to know that at the present time the authorities are in negotiations with a large manufacturer to locate here, an industry which, if secured, would add from 200 to 300 men with their families to the population of the city. One of the things to which he took decided objection was the present condition of the fire-fighting equipment of the city. The capitalist stated that in his opinion it was entirely inadequate to the requirements of the citizens, and that he would consider that if his plant were here now it would be practically unprotected. He will not reach a definite decision until after New Years, and if the ratepayers vote in favour of the bylaw the probability is that this gentleman will locate here, as this seemed to be about the only objection to bringing his manufactory here. This is one case in point, and there are other almost identical instances which might be referred to.

The matter resolves itself into this, practically, that if the ratepayers do not vote to give to property, business, manufacturing and residential interests better protection, we will have to be satisfied with the industries which we have now, because I am certain that few large concerns, would care to locate in a place where the citizens were so little interested in the preservation of their town that they refused to vote enough money to provide a decent, not to say satisfactory, fire protection equipment. This is a most serious matter, and I sincerely hope, that the ratepayers will appreciate its seriousness. I am interested only as a citizen, anxious to see the city make progress, and this is my only reason for writing this letter.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—As a small householder in the west end of the town, I have given considerable thought to this question of improved fire protection, and more particularly since the vote on the $25,000 by-law was taken last summer. At that time, I must confess, I was not specially friendly to the proposal, and, in fact, did not understand it fully, and for that reason I did not vote at all. But, Mr. Editor, I have been thinking the matter over in the meantime, and I have decided to vote for the by-law this time.

The question of protection from fire is one which every householder should be interested. In many cases mechanics have built for themselves homes, and some are paid for and others are not. In any event, the loss would be a serious one if they were destroyed by fire, and, on the other hand, the premiums which the insurance companies charge on fire insurance policies are large enough now, but I understand that they will be put higher still if the city does not make some improvement in the equipment. I am informed that this is the intention, and if it is I say we should at once take steps to make the necessary improvements asked for.

Then there is a still more serious side to the question. Suppose the works in which I am employed, for instance, those of the Wm. Hamilton Mfg. Company, be destroyed by fire because the protection was not sufficient, what position would it place one in, and what position would it place the other 200 men, employed there, in?

I find that at present there is practically no protection should a big fire break out, and there is no guarantee that such a fire will not start at any time. For these reasons, Mr. Editor, I intend to support the $25,000 by-law on January 1.

Mary Baker Eddy's Views On Christmas

The Christian Science Sentinel says:

In the Christmas Section of the New York World of December 10, there appeared a symposium entitled, "The Significance of Christmas. Notable Comments by Prominent Representatives of Different Creeds," to which Rev. Mary Baker G. Eddy contributed an article worthy of notice for the exalted spiritual concept of Christ and of Christmas which it presents. The teachings of this article should not fail to elevate the world's thought of Christmas from a material to a spiritual plane. Mrs. Eddy's article follows:

Christmas as in Christian Science.

Certain occasions, considered collectively, individually, and observed properly, tend to give the activity of man infinite scope; but mere merry-making or needless gift-giving is not that wherein human capacities find the most appropriate and proper exercise. Christmas respects the Christ too much to submerge itself in merely temporary means and ends. It represents the eternal informing Soul recognized only in harmony, in the beauty and bounty of Life everlasting,—the truth that is Life,—the Life that heals and saves mankind. An eternal Christmas would make matter a nation save as phenomenon, and matter would reverentially withdraw itself before Mind. The despotism of material sense, or the flesh, would flee before such reality to make room for substance, and the shadow of frivolity and inaccuracy of material sense would disappear.

Christmas, in Christian Science, stands for the real, the absolute and eternal,—the things of Spirit, not matter. Science is divine; it hath no partnership with human means and ends, no half-way stations, nothing conditional or material belongs to it. Human reason and philosophy may pursue paths devious, the line of liquids, the lure of gold, the doubtful sense that falls short of substance—the things hoped for and evidence unseen.

The basis of Christmas is the Rock, Christ Jesus; its fruits, inspiration and spiritual understanding of joy and rejoicing; not because of tradition, usage, or corporeal pleasures, but because of fundamental and demonstrable truth, the heaven within us. It is love loving its enemies, returning good for evil, that suffereth long and is kind. It elevates medicine to Mind, it casts out evils heals the sick, raises the dormant faculties, appeals to all conditions, and supplies every need of man. It leaves hygiene, medicine, ethics, and religion to God and His Christ, to that which is the Way, in word and in deed,—the Way, the Truth, and the Life.

Hitherto there is but one Jesus Christ on record. Christ is incorporeal. Neither the you nor the I in the flesh can be or is Christ.

Mary Baker G. Eddy.

Pleasant View, Concord, N.H.

Card From Mrs. Mary G. Eddy.

No person of prominence in the country has been more sought after for magazine and newspaper articles than Mary Baker G. Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science. In recent years she has almost uniformly refused requests of this kind.

This year, however, she consented to write an article for the Christmas World on "Christmas as in Christian Science." This remarkable article from this remarkable woman appears on the second page of the Christmas section of to-day's World. A subsequent letter from Mrs. Eddy to the Editor of the World, possibly explains why she is averse to writing for publication. Her statement is as follows:

Nota Bene.

I hereby certify that counterfeit letters frequently follow my contributions to newspapers, letters representing the opposite of my views, feelings, and nature, the contents of which are so subtle that I expose this lawlessness to save those to whom they are addressed from being misinformed.

Mary Baker G. Eddy.

THE PHYSIC HABIT
THE RESULT OF USING SALTS, CASTOR OIL, ETC., INSTEAD OF THOROUGHLY CURING CONSTIPATION BY
DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

"Oh, a dose of salts will fix me up all right," you say, when the bowels become constipated and the liver and kidney sluggish and congested.

And the temporary relief you obtain in this way deceives you for a time, but you are soon in distress again, and must increase the dose and resort more frequently to the use of this weakening and debilitating treatment.

Constipation and intestinal indigestion cannot possibly be cured until the liver is made active in its work of filtering bile from the blood and pouring it into the intestines, where it acts as a natural cathartic, hastening the process of digestion, and the removal of waste matter from the body.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have a direct and specific action on the liver. They not only afford prompt relief, but positively strengthen and invigorate the kidneys, liver and bowels. Instead of encouraging the physic habit, they thoroughly cure constipation, liver complaint, biliousness and kidney disease.

If you would like to regain your old-time vigour, and feel strong and well again, use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. The backaches and body pains will disappear, your appetite and digestion will be good, you will escape sickness and disease because the filtering and excretory organs will keep the body cleansed from poisonous waste matter.

Mrs. Thomas Cowert, Highland Grove, Peterborough Co., Ont., writes: "I was a sufferer for years with stomach trouble and terrible headaches and spent a good many dollars in medicine without receiving any benefit. Hearing of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills highly recommended I determined to give them a trial and did so with satisfactory results, as I was very greatly benefitted and do not hesitate to recommend this treatment as the best obtainable for such ailments."

Presentation To Popular Teacher

Mr. M. J. McDonnell Remembered by Separate School Students.

Yesterday morning the senior fourth class at the Separate School read an address and made a presentation to their teacher, Mr. M. J. McDonnell. The address, which was read by James O'Brien, spoke of the many pleasant hours that had been spent together by the scholars and their teacher during the past term, and of the high esteem in which Mr. McDonnell was held by his pupils. Fred. Conroy made the presentation, which was a pretty silver card receiver.

Mr. Pearce's Mine Promises Well

A Good Property From Reports From Gold Fields.

The Goldfield Daily Sun, has the following to say of a mining property in which Mr. Pearce, city engineer, of Newport News, Virginia, and a former Peterborough boy, is largely interested:—

Considerable attention is being attracted among mining men, who are operating to the south of Goldfield, by the working of some New York people who are re-developing the Buckskin group of five claims, three and one-half miles south, just over the Cuprite district line. They are prospecting a huge outcropping of gray granular quartz at a considerable depth by shaft and tunnel. Should the present values of $5.12 on the surface continue to increase, as they are now doing in the shaft that is being sunk on the foot wall, it is expected to create quite a stir in Cuprite mining circles, for it will be taken as an indication that the best values are to be found with depth. The formation is an alaskite, and is considered by many as one of the few places in the district where the true formation is visible.

The cropping is fully seventy-five feet wide and can be traced over 1000 feet long. The main shaft is being sunk by contract and is already down a considerable depth. The tunnel has also been started and it is the intention to drift across the ledge at a depth of about twenty feet. Considerable trenching has been done by the former owners and several smaller ledges have been uncovered. The New York parties acquired the property by purchase about ten days ago.

They have organized the Buckskin Gold Mining Company and have also secured a lease of 200 by 300 feet on the Silver Pick ground on the outskirts of Columbia, adjoining the Miesmer lease on the east. A shaft has already been started and it is expected to cut the ledge at a depth of sixty feet.

Mark St. Church Special Services

Testimony Meeting on Wednesday Evening.

The last service, on Wednesday evening, at the Mark street church, took the form of a testimony meeting throughout. Many who had been Christians for years, told how God had revealed Himself to them in these meetings, more clearly along many lines. We were encouraged very much to hear a number of voices giving God the glory for the change of heart which they have experienced. Several of these were heads of families.

"Them that honour Me, I will honour," God says in His holy word. God's Spirit is working deeply in the community and seems to indicate strongly that its impelling power in both pastor and people will necessitate a continuance of these special services in the New Year.—Com.

No Formal Proof Is Necessary Yet Say Liquidators

All That York County Shareholders Can do is to Send in Receipt Books and Certificates —No Extra Expense Will be Incurred—Committee Representing Shareholders to Act With Liquidators—The Policy in Winding up Company.

SHAREHOLDERS WILL BE FULLY PROTECTED

The following article in the Toronto News will be of interest to the many local shareholders of the York County Loan Company:

The Attorney-General has intimated that he desires that the liquidators of the York Loan Company, in their conduct of the matters, including the realization of assets, be counselled and assisted by the advice of a committee of persons chosen by the shareholders residing in the different provinces, so that all shareholders may, through these representatives, feel assured that the conduct of matters is being wisely done, and may, through such representatives, present their views to the liquidators upon such matters.

As the number of claimants is so large the costs of proving claims will be very great, unless some simple and inexpensive method is devised to meet the exceptional case of this company, and he desires this also carefully considered.

The Liquidator's Views.

With reference to the suggestion of the Attorney-General, Mr. W. T. White, manager of the National Trust Comany, the liquidator said this morning that it was of course a matter for the courts to decide upon, but that it was not at all unusual for a committee appointed in the interest of shareholders and creditors to be named by the court for the purpose of assisting and advising in liquidation proceedings. It was almost the usual course in the case of liquidation of large companies and financial concerns.

Keeping Down Expenses.

With regard to the other suggestion of the Attorney-General regarding claims, Mr. White said:

"The liquidator desires that shareholders be put to no unnecessary expense in proving their claims. No formal proof is necessary at the present time. Receipt books and certificates may be sent in and will be checked with the books of the company. The liquidator then proposes to report to the court for approval claims where the amount shown due by the receipt book is verified by the company's books. Where there is any difference the liquidator proposes to take the matter up with the shareholder direct, and endeavour to adjust the claim in order that it may be reported to the court for approval.

Fowl Stolen From Welcome

A week ago last Saturday night Welcome was visited by thieves who stole twelve geese from Mr. Thos. Martyn and two from Mr. Philip Sleemon. The theft wa sperpetrated some time after midnight. Mr. Martyn had eighteen fine geese. The thieves drove the geese up a lane, where the noise of capturing the birds would not be heard at the house, and succeeded in getting twelve of the eighteen. At Mr. Sleemon's farm the thieves only secured two, but would undoubtedly have taken more, but Mr. Sleemon's dogs barked and alarmed them.—Port Hope Guide.

CHRISTMAS GIFTS.

No matter what the weather — whether Christmas is green or hoar—Christmes with the Christmas spirit comes the same. This is the season of gift-giving and the forms taken are as infinite and varied as the faces and expressions of man. While the essence of the gift is in the spirit of remembrance and good will that should be behind it, "the way of the world" influences our gifts and we have exemplified the Scripture—"to him that hath shall be given." The rich are richly remembered and the poor are too often forgotten. This is not the Christmas spirit nor the spirit of the great Gift Who gave Himself, if there was anything special in His coming—to the poor especially. Therefore should we of our abundance remember those less fortunately placed in the world, less happily endowed with material things. Unfortunately the wealthy and comfortably placed are not the most thoughtful—they will lavish expensive gifts upon those like themselves—overladen with worldly goods, but the poor are overlooked. The Examiner feels that it could do more good this Christmas season than a regiment of missionaries if it could make all those able to remember the poor at this time, willing to do so. What an infinity of happiness, although only of a temporary character, would be scattered throughout the city If one could only put the purse in the heart as largely as the heart is in the purse, the result would be to revolutionize Christmas Day of 1905 in Peterborough. "Think on these things."

The Liberal Government of Great Britain is the first Government in the world to make a working man a Cabinet Minister. The spirit of the democracy is asserting itself. Hon. John Burns the celebrated labour representative in parliament has lived on an allowance of $570, and his sudden jump to $10,000 a year, his offical emolument, has not spoiled him. He attends court dinner—not in court dress—but in his every-day attire.

A Beautiful Special Number

The Examiner has received, after some delay, a copy of the splendid special number issued by the Stratford Beacon to signalize and celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of its establishment. The Beacon is among the best of our daily exchange visitors, shining brightly from day to day, but its semi-centennial number is a brilliant triumph of journalistic enterprise and typographical skill. It is an ambitious publication of 100 pages quarto, printed on calendared book paper, illustrated with exquisite photogravures, and is in every way worthy of the occasion and of the journal and city in whose interests it is issued. It succinctly and illustrative y records the progress of the past fifty years and gives one a splendid idea of the present industrial, commercial, civic and residential resources of the Shakspearean City. While helping to make Stratford famous, the special number furnishes in itself an evidence of the existence of ones of the most enterprising factors, the Beacon, whose proprietor and editor, Mr. W. M. O'Beirne, is to be heartily congratulated upon the excellence of his semi-centennial number and the enterprise it so creditably represents. When a better special journalistic number than the Beacon's semi-centennial reaches our sanctum we shall send it to Brother O'Beirne as a "marked copy."

LEFT PETERBOROUGH SOME YEARS AGO

The remains of the late Archie Brooks, who expired in bed at Kenora about two weeks ago, will, it is expected arrive in the city this evening upon the C.P.R. local.

Since the arrival of the first telegram from Mr. A. T. Fife, of Kenora, conveying the sad intelligence of the death, further particulars have been received.

The late Mr. Brooks was in charge of a mine some 65 miles from Kenora, and resided by himself in a cabin, no other settlers living in the district. The first knowledge of his death was received from a number of Indians who were hunting in the regon, and who for several days noticed that no smoke arose from the chimney of the cabin. Filled with a superstitious fear they had not sufficient temerity to enter the building but hastened to the nearest fur-trading station, some twenty-five miles distant, to impart the intelligence.

A visit was at once made by the trader to the cabin, and examination revealed the fact that Mr. Brooks had died suddenly, probably of heart failure, several days before. His body was lying upon the bed, close beside which upon a bench his clothes were neatly laid. The evidences all pointed to the belief that death had come instantaneously and unaccompanied by pain or suffering. This theory is further confirmed in view of the fact that the deceased had before retiring for the night prepared and left ready for use in the morning a quantity of shavings and kindling which were lying beside the stove. The first intelligence of the death received in Peterborough was by means of a telegram from Mr. A. T. Fife, formerly of Peterborough and a son of the late Dr. Fife.

The funeral will take place on Saturday, Dec. 23rd, at three o'clock from the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. James Rose, River Road, about half a mile from Locks Bridge, to Little Lake Cemetery, for interment.

The Judges Make Their Awards In Competition

Miss Mary Casey, Mr. Stanley Fife, Miss Florence Hurley and Miss Carrie Barrett Were the Winners—The Judges Give Reasons for Their Decisions—Two Tied for First Place.

The task of judging the stories submitted to us in the Examiner competition, while exceedingly pleasant, has been one of no little difficulty, no two of the examiners agreeing as to the relative merits of the various stories. Many of these are of a high order, showing much originality, considerable imaginative power and skilful treatment.

After very careful consideration, re consideration and consultation, it was decided to recommend the four following as, in our opinion, the most deserving:

2—"The Unfortunate Trio," Miss Florence Hurley.

3—"How Hugh Was Lost and Found," Miss Carrie Barrett.

The stories, "The Duty of MacNab" and "Silk or Gingham," while differing in character, were considered the best in their class, and equally worthy of a first place.

JAS. A. HALL.
HAMPDEN BURNHAM.
F. D. KERR.

Peterborough, December 21, 1905.

In view of the fact that the judges have decided that two stories were equally meritorious, the Examiner has increased the value of the first prize from $10 to $15, and divided it between Miss Casey and Mr. Fife, giving each $7.50 value. The other prizes are valued at $6 and $3 for second and third prizes respectively, and to-day the winners were mailed orders for books to the value of the amounts of their prizes.

This competition has been conducted most satisfactorily, so far as this paper is concerned, and the response to the invitation to contribute stories is gratifying. The primary object in the competition, that of the development of literary talent, has been reached, it is believed, as far as possible.

In presenting these prizes to the winners, the Examiner wishes them a very Merry Christmas.

$200 to be Spent On the Vestments

Last night the members of the George street Methodist choir met a committee representing the Quarterly Board, when the question of the vestments which the lady members of the choir will wear was discussed. It was decided to purchase twenty-five vestments for the ladies, the cost to be in the neighbourhood of $200 for the whole. The matter of raising the money to pay for them was also considered but nothing definite was done at this meeting. An organ recital will be given early in January, the proceeds from which will be devoted to the fund for the purchase of the vestments.

The Most Brilliant Canadian Harness Horse

What "The Canadian Horseman and Live Stock Journal" Says of This Fast Pacer—Great Record of this Splendid Horse.

The Canadian Horseman and Live Stock Journal devotes a great deal of space to the Keswick family of trotters and pacers. In addition to three excellent photogravures, they publish the following account of Maud Keswick, 2.03 3-4, formerly owned by Mr. G. W. Fitzgerald of the city, with an introduction to her owners, Messrs. Sheppard & Willoughby, as follows:—

The most brilliant representative of the Canadian light harness horse is presented to the readers of the Sportsman on this page. Maud Keswick, 2.03 3-4, and the pride of Bay View Farm, started the season with a record of 2.12 1-4, which after a succession of brilliant victories won against the best horses in training in the United States, she reduced to her present mark. She is owned by the Messrs. Sheppard & Willoughby, both well known horsemen, but the senior partner, Alderman O. B. Sheppard, of this city, is particularly well known, not only to our own citizens, but to the amusement loving public of the Dominion. He was for many years manager of the Grand Opera House, and for a number of years past has been manager of the Princess Theatre, the leading house of public amusement in Toronto. Mr. Sheppard for a long series of years, spent money liberally in the purchase and breeding of trotters and pacers. But although he has owned some good horses, some that were able to go out and pay their way either on the turf or the ice, it was not until the last season that he and his partner blossomed forth as the owner of two bright particular stars.

Maud Keswick, the whirlwind of the west, that swept down the Grand Circuit, the observed of all observers, is a daughter of Keswick, 10134, record, 2.18 1-4 (owned by Mr. Curtis, of Lindsay, Ont.), he by Jay Gould, 2.17 1-4, by Hambletonian 10; dam Arnette, by Young Jim, 3009, he by Geo Wilkes, by Hambletonian 10; second dam Nancy Dillard (dam of Pembroke, 2.27 1-4, and Spencer, 2.29 1-4), by John Dillard, etc., etc.

Maud Keswick, on her dam's side, is bred as follows:—Dolly Tariff, by Tariff, 30327, by Clarion Chief, 3,640.

Maud Keswick, 2.03 3-4, started the season at Windsor, Ont., on July 18, where she finished a close second each heat. Time—2.07 1-4, 2.09 1-2, 2.10 1-4.

Before her next race at Detroit on July 26th, her trainer had been able to give her a little more of the work she so much needed, and she won a brilliant race, best 4 in 3; her time being 2.04 1-4 and 2.09.

At Buffalo, N. Y., on August 9th, she again gained first honours, winning in straight heats. Time—2.11 1-2, 2.10 1-2, and 2.08 3-4.

At Poughkeepsie, N. Y., a week later, she finished in third money.

At Providence, R. I., on August 28th, she captured the second heat in 2.05 1-2, but had to be content with second money.

At Syracuse, Ohio, on September 21st, she was in finer form than on any day during the whole racing season. She won from a strong field in straight heats. Time—2.01 1-2, 2.01 3-4, and 2.06, jogging under the wire pulled almost to a stand each heat.

At Cincinnati, O., on September 29th, she won second money, securing two heats in 2.05 1-4, and 2.05 3-4.

At Lexington on 3rd October, she won the Classic Tennessee $3,000 stake, winning the first, second and sixth heats, and getting her present record of 2.03 3-4 in the second heat, the fastest time in which this stake was ever won.

She is a mare possessing exceptional qualities; is level-headed at all stages of the game; possesses bulldog courage and tenacity, and will fight every heat, no matter how prolonged they are to the last inch.

Going into the hands of Harris James just prior to the Windsor meeting with a record of 2.19 1-4, she retires into winter quarters with a mark of 2.03 3-4, and the reputation of being one of the most promising pacers that ever took the Grand Circuit track. At different times during the season, her trainer and driver worked her a half in :58 3-4 seconds and one quarter in :27 3-4. In fact, in two or three of her races she possessed such a world of speed that he would have had no difficulty, if driven out, to score close to two minutes. He was content, however, to let out just the necessary number of links to win with, and she loses the distinction of having the fastest mile to her credit in a race by a mere fraction of half a second, which was scored by the Broncho, the only mare in the world having a faster race record.

Senior Y.M.C.A. Gym. Classes

Closed on Tuesday Evening for the Holidays.

The Senior Y.M.C.A. Gymnasium Classes, so successfully conducted by Mr. E. E. Lord, during the past three months, were closed on Tuesday evening for the holidays.

The classes will begin again on Friday evening, January 5th, when new men will be able to join.

An event of note in the Physical Department will be the visit of Dr. Fisher, of New York city, who will speak at a social gym. rally on Tuesday evening, January 9th. Dr. Fisher is one of the International secretaries in the physical department.

Mr. Richard Baker, the efficient Janitor of the Y.M.C.A., was given a surprise by the occupants of the Y.M.C.A. dormitories on Thursday night, when they presented him with a fine over-grown turkey, as an expression of Christmas wishes to Mrs. Baker and himself.

BASKET-BALL.

A telegram was received this morning from Toronto, accepting the challenge of the Peterborough Arrows for a game on Christmas night. The Toronto team is at present leading in the City Intermediate League, and is playing the fastest kind of ball, and no doubt will make the Arrows work hard to defeat them. Game called at 8.15 in Y.M.C.A. gymnasium. Admission 15c or 2 for 25c.

LACROSSE.

The Hon. Chas. W. Cross, the new Attorney General of Alberta, is well known to many of the old time lacrosse players of the Capital, who competed against Charlie when he was a member of the Toronto and Tecumseh lacrosse teams. Charlie was a home player of no mean ability and he made matters interesting on many occasions for the stalwarts of the Capital lacrosse team. The Toronto Star has this to say of the new Attorney General:—Madoc, Marmora, Orillia and Clinton all lay some claim to Hon. Chas. W. Cross, the new Attorney-General of Alberta, because he belonged to the lacrosse clubs in those towns. But the Hastings Star thinks that Hastings had more to do with his career than any of the other towns. True, he never lived in Hastings, but on Dominion Day, 1898, the boys in Hastings took lacrosse sticks, went over to Madoc, and trimmed the team of which Charles Cross was the star. It was the first defeat that the home team had met with on its own hill-side in eleven years. Charlie Cross quit the game right there, went West, and started in to learn the Attorney-General of Alberta business.

THE MICROSCOPE

Proves That Parasites Cause Hair Loss

Nine-tenths of the diseases of the scalp and hair are caused by parasitic germs. The importance of this discovery by Prof. Unna, of the Charity Hospital, Hamburg, Germany, can not be overestimated. It explains why ordinary hair preparations, even of the most expensive character, fail to cure dandruff; because they do not, and they can not, kill the dandruff germ. The only hair preparation in the world that positively destroys the parasites that burrow up the scalp into scales, called scurf or dandruff, is Newbro's Herpicide. In addition to its destroying the dandruff germ, Herpicide is also a delightful hair dressing. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Richard Bryan Gets a Month

Richard Bryan was responsible for the only police court case held this morning. Bryan although he is apparently not addicted to drink, is without a home, friends or money, and said he was unable to obtain any work.

"Where do you come from?" said the court.

The prisoner stated that he came from near Cobourg.

"There's a good goal in Cobourg" said the Magistrate, "and don't think that its right that this county should provide accommodation for poor people from outside districts." But as Bryan didn't have the necessary transportation "goods" he was given a chance to distinguish himself with the Castle Nesbitt snow shovelling corps.

Mr. B. T. Huston Was Honoured

By His Pupils at the Close of the Term.

Mr. Bent Houston, the popular teacher at Colpsprings, Otonabee, was made the recipient yesterday of a beautiful gold watch chain by the pupils of the schoool. Mr. Houston has discontinued teaching, and the gift, accompanied by an appropriate address, was occasioned by this fact, as well as the general esteem in which the teacher is held by his pupils.

The address was read by Miss Rita Smith, and the presentation made by Master Gilbert Downer. The afternoon was much enlivened by the arrangement of a programme of an impromptu nature, which proved most enjoyable. An opening chorus by six little girls was a pleasing number. This was followed by recitations by the following scholars: Gladys Rose, Rita Smith, Ethel Robinson, Everett Kidd, Florence Rose, Edith Peters and Fern Smith. Mr. Houston's retirement from work in the pedagogic field is generally regretted by the pupils and people of the community in general.

POST CARD CORRESPONDENCE.

In this column will be published communications upon post cards only. It will remain open for the use of readers, who are invited to contribute suggestions, inquiries or replies. Anything of a scurrilous personal nature will be prohibited.

Editor Post Card Column:

Dear Sir,—I wish to register a vigorous protest against the treatment given the public at the Post Office. They are treated at least by some of the clerks, as if they had no rights at all:

This morning, two gentlemen, box holders, received cards in their boxes, asking them to call for parcels. The parcel wicket was open and the clerk was giving a parcel out. These two gentlemen civilly asked the clerk in charge to give them their parcels, but the only answer they got was to tell them in a curt tone to "go to the other wicket" at the same time slamming the door in their faces.

If this is the kind of treatment the citizens have to be subjected to by the clerks, I think it is time something was done to stop it. If the clerk had asked them civilly to take their cards to the other wicket they would have thought nothing of it, but the manner in which they were spoken to was most offensive.

FAIR PLAY.

Editor Post Card Column:

Dear Sir,—I notice in last night's Examiner in this column, a letter criticising the stories in the Examiner, and doubting improbabilities as to facts. It's a mighty sight easier to criticise than construct — destroy than build up. If the critic would enter upon a story contest with his or her equals in age, there might be room for a little fault finding. It must be remembered that some of these writers were only fourteen or fifteen years of age and had not the personal knowledge of places and conditions which adult's would have. There is very little current writing these days but could be picked to pieces and furnish discrepancies. I was once told by a newspaper editor that the writings of lawyers, doctors, and ministers,—members of the "learned professions" had to be pretty carefully edited as to punctuation, grammar, spelling, construction and clearness of expression, before they would pass. Let the strong, like "Citizen" be merciful.

CITIZENESS.

The Land of the Aztecs,

Who has not read of the glories and wonders of old Mexico? The days when Montezuma held gorgeous court in the ancient capital of Grand Tenochtitlan are departed, but they have left Mexico one of the most interesting countries in the world. Picturesque ruins and relics, in a setting of flowers and sunshine, everywhere delight the fortunate visitor; each day's travel reveals fresh beauties. And out of the ruins a new Mexico is arising, a land of possibilities, abounding in resources of all kinds. In the peasants' hands the soil will yield five crops a year, metals and minerals in abundance. Our business men have here a splendid field for investment, and should see and judge the land for themselves. Leisurely investigation under sunny skies will be pleasant work, while the ladies will be delighted with their bargains in native work and precious stones.

An attractive itinerary, covering the whole of Mexico and the best of the Southern States, and including a visit to Cuba and New Orleans for "Mardi Gras," has been arranged for the Cuthbert House party tour, leaving Toronto early in February next, being the most extensive trip ever taken by any party. The special private train will contain every possible comfort and luxury, and the cuisine equal to that of a first-class hotel. A pleasant, smooth-running trip is assured, the management having had long experience in this branch of travel. Canadian enterprise, when it is the best, is worthy of your attention. Full particulars, with descriptive literature, upon application to E. M. Cuthbert, 25 Maitland street, Toronto, or C. B. Foster, District Passenger Agent, C. P. R., Toronto. 4d142

Knit Together The Empire Is His Policy

Bannerman's Colonial Policy Outlined In Speech.

THE PREMIER'S FIRST GUN

Finds No Tendency Towards Disruption Except In South Africa — Declares For Free Trade and Advocates Home Colonization—Peace Abroad and Economy at Home Policy of British Liberals.

London, Dec. 22.—Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman's first speech since he accepted the Premiership was delivered at Albert Hall last night before a mass meeting. The Premier was supported on the platform by 15 members of his Cabinet. Next to the Premier, John Burns, was the hero of the evening, being acclaimed by continuous applause and musical honors until the picturesque representative of labor in the British Cabinet was palpably embarrassed.

The Prime Issue.

The Premier avoided the question of home rule for Ireland. He said that the fiscal question was the prime issue of the campaign against a Government whose Minister "made a midnight flitting on a murky December evening."

A feature of Sir Henry's speech was the announcement that the Government had decided to stop the importation of coolies into South Africa until such time as the question for or against such importation could be decided by a South African Parliament, elected by popular vote. This was greeted with tremendous enthusiasm.

Foreign Relations.

Speaking of foreign relations, Sir Henry first expressed his kindly feeling toward Russia in the present trial through which that country was passing.

In the case of Germany, he said, he saw no reason whatsoever for estrangement, and welcomed the unofficial demonstrations of friendship which recently had passed between the two countries. Regarding the United States, France and Japan the Premier accepted the existing conditions, and approved everything which tended towards peace.

Sir Henry upheld this announcement with another which elicited applause. He said that the growth of armaments was a great danger, that force was not the only remedy and that economy must be adopted. The Government would oppose aggression, and would be animated by a desire to remain on the best terms with all nationalities and to co-operate in the common work of civilization. He rejoiced that the principle of arbitration had made great strides.

For the People.

In general terms the Premier outlined his policy for retrenchment, and for a complete system of Government by the people "for the good of the greatest number."

In equally general terms he gave notice that most of the domestic acts of the late Government would be traversed by the incoming Liberal Government, and he made a powerful bid for the popular vote.

Colonial Affinities.

By C.A.P.—"It is surely unnecessary," he said, "for us Liberals to make public protestation of our affection for the colonies and of our desire to bring them closer and closer to ourselves. The relations between the colonies and the mother country have never been settled on lines of party politics, but if they were to be so conducted surely the democratic and progressive instincts and institutions of these great communities would find more affinity among us than among our opponents.

"I have heard with relief and pleasure from Lord Elgin that he finds no trace of any tendency towards the disruption of which we were told but a month ago. No sign of tension or friction exists, everything is smooth, save the one ruffled spot of South Africa."

The Premier advocated colonizing their own land at home, making it less a pleasure ground for the rich and more a treasure house for the nation. Protection would be death to the desired reforms. Peace abroad and economy at home would be their policy.

BOOZE OR MEDICINE?

Which will you have? If a woman suffering from one of the delicate ailments peculiar to your sex it will be well for you to know that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the only remedy advertised for such maladies which is absolutely free from intoxicating liquors and all other harmful agents. The good you feel from its use is not the delusive exhileration from a tippling beverage, from which the system reacts into a worse condition than before. It may be a little slower in manifesting its bracing and invigorating action, but its benefits are none the less positive and, best of all, they are lasting. It's an honest medicine—not a beverage.

"I have been taking your medicine for the last three weeks and can say I am gaining strength," writes Mrs. Seneth Kinny, of 908 East Madison Street, Mount Pleasant, Iowa. "I have been having very poor health all winter. I doctored with our family doctor but was relieved only while taking the medicine. I took Dr. Pierce's medicine several years ago. I knew it was good for any one suffering with female trouble. Have taken only one bottle and am gaining strength very fast. I could not eat nor sleep when I began taking the 'Favorite Prescription.' Heart troubled me and I had cold and numb spells till my heart would almost stop beating. Have had one child since first taking your medicine. If I continue with your treatment am positive I will be cured."

Every suffering woman in this land should write to Dr. Pierce and learn how certainly he can help her to health and strength. It costs nothing to write and receive entirely free the advice of one of the most experienced physicians in this country. His great thousand-page book the Common Sense Medical Adviser, in stiff paper covers, will be sent free for 21 one-cent stamps the bare cost of mailing; or, send 50 stamps for cloth bound. Christmas Cheer at the Charitable Institutions--Special Provision for Yuletide Festivities—Decorations and Christmas Trees--Other Enjoyable Events Planned for Pleasure of Inmates and Patients.

HOW CHRISTMAS WILL BE SPENT

Christmas good cheer is properly confined to no bounds. It goes beyond the individual and the home circle and invades and pervades organized charities. The inmates of the several city charitable institutions are not to be forgotten, and as detailed below preparations are in the making to gladden the lives of the inmates at least on Christmas day, with special reminders of the day and its significance.

THE NICHOLL'S HOSPITAL.

Special provision is being made at the Nicholls Hospital for the observance of Christmas and much will be done to make the yule-tide an enjoyable one for both patients and nurses.

The rooms will be open for the reception of visitors after ten o'clock, and, as is usually the case, will probably be extensively visited. The interior will be decorated by the nurses, and Christmas trees placed in the wards. A feature which promises to be a highly pleasing one will be the singing by the nurses of Christmas Carols. There are at present in the hospital twenty-seven patients, about one half ladies. Three babies are also numbered among the present inmates.

ST. JOSEPH'S HOSPITAL.

The hospital will be decorated with scrolls, evergreens, ferns and palms, in the wards and corridors. The patients at the hospital are about evenly divided as to sex. All arrangements as to the character of the celebration are not yet completed.

HOUSE OF PROVIDENCE.

The present inmates of the House of Providence number 82, about equally divided, as to sex. There are twenty-nine children. The home will be decorated with appropriate yule-tide emblems, and provision will be made for the celebration of Christmas.

There is at present practically no sickness in the House, with the exception of one elderly female inmate. A Christmas tree has been arranged for the children.

THE CHILDREN'S SHELTER.

The many youthful inmates of the Shelter have been satisfactorily "placed" and there now remain only two of the large number who have been cared for during the summer and autumn months. The children have been placed in homes principally out of the city, which give every assurance of comfort and satisfaction.

THE PROTESTANT HOME.

There are at present twenty-six inmates at the Protestant Home, of whom fifteen are female and eleven male. This constitutes about the usual number.

Arrangements have been made for a Christmas tree on Saturday evening. Many contributions to the yule-tide cheer of the inmates are received annually, and there is every reason to believe that this year will be no exception to the rule. Mrs. K. Eardley-Wilmot, whose large sympathy has been so generously manifested upon so many occasions, has kindly consented to sing on Saturday evening. The Home will be decorated with evergreens and bunting. There is at present no sickness in the Home.

BARNADO HOME.

There are at present about thirty children at "Hazel Brae," all of whom are in good health.

A special Christmas entertainment and Christmas tree has been arranged for, and will be held on the afternoon of Christmas day.

A number of former Barnardo children from the city and district usually visit the Home to spend Christmas.

The "Home"-comers usually number ten or fifteen. The entertainment will consist largely of recitations and music by the children.

Nominations In Douro Township

In the nominations in Douro today, Mr. F. Mober was re-elected Reeve by acclamation. Two new men are in the field for councillors, viz., Thos. E. Young and Michael Walsh. The old council was re-nominated as follows:—B. Leahy, F. Leahy, J. Allen and W. Quinlan. Six men are thus in the contest for the council.

An Outbreak Of Smallpox In This Province

This is What Dr. Sheard, of Toronto, Expects to See—Says a House-to-House Visitation Will be Necessary—Severe Outbreak Looked For—Boards of Health Should Take Action at Once—Situation Serious.

HE ADVISES THAT HEALTH BOARDS ACT

The Toronto World says:—"I am quite certain we are going to have an epidemic of smallpox throughout the province. I don't care who the medical health officer may be, he will have to meet the situation. We are going to have a large number of cases, and the situation will become serious. It is a question whether we should not have everybody vaccinated."

This was the emphatic declaration made by Dr. Sheard at the final meeting of the Toronto board of health yesterday afternoon. The doctor, continuing, referred to the serious outbreak of smallpox that occurred some years ago in certain parts of the United States, when, it being found that the disease could not be stamped out, resort was had to a system of house to house vaccination.

"That is certainly the only thing that will meet the case, in my judgment at all", was the doctor's emphatic assertion.

Dr. Sheard when asked afterwards if he thought house to house vaccination should be enforced at once, replied: "It will come to that, not to Toronto alone, but to the whole province." He said also that it was idle to expect that the city was going to continue escaping smallpox so well as had been the case up to date.

"I really expect quite a smart outbreak here," said Dr. Sheard. "The cold weather will have the probable effect of increasing the spread. There will be a greater tendency for people to be closely housed and brought into more intimate contact, while traveling about with doors and windows closed will make for greater dissemination of contagion."

Asked what he believed should be done at once, the medical health officer said the local boards of health should urge upon the government that a policy of compulsory vaccination be carried out all over Ontario.

Dr. Sheard replying to Dr. Noble's suggestion that anti-vaccinationists claimed illness and death were sometimes due to the practice, said that of the four or five thousand people vaccinated at the city hall last year, he only knew of four cases of "sore arm". As to the efficacy of the treatment he stated that of the last 54 cases of smallpox treated, only two patients had been previously vaccinated, in both instances early in life.

"Murphies" For Christmas Trade

That the Peterborough people are getting tired of the unsubstantial delicacies that heretofore have been the chief articles of consumption at the Christmas dinners was demonstrated when a couple of days ago Mr. James R. Bell, the well known local grocer, received a shipment, that was conveyed up the Otonabee River on the Steamer Water Lily, of 92 bags of potatoes.

One team in a single load conveyed to his store the load of potatoes which, so it is said, is the largest that ever was drawn in Peterborough.

Thirty Candidates Were NOMINATED TO-DAY For Aldermanic Honours

Nomination Was Attended by no Excitement and Little Apparent Interest—Usual Post-Nomination Speech Making Was Dispensed With—The Contest on January 1st Promises to be Keen—The Candidates Nominated.

The aldermanic nominations opened at twelve o'clock noon at the city empty benches evidently not furnishposed for the struggle in this field of municipal honours. The nomination was attended by no excitement, and little interest, the number present during the appointed hour being small.

The usual flow of oratory upon such occasions was dispensed with, the empty benches evidently furnishing the necessary inspiration to stimulate rhetorical flights.

Of the number nominated a considerable portion will probably withdraw, although the contest on Jan. 1st promises to be of the keenest possible nature, and the probabilities are that the number necessary to fill the aldermanic chairs will be greatly exceeded by the number of candidates.

The nominations commenced to come in at 12 o'clock, and continued in a desultory manner until about 12.45, when the last was received. They were as follows:

Jas. Finnie, proposed by J. E. Hayes, seconded by Walter Wood.

Geo. E. Elliott, proposed by W. H. Robertson, seconded by George K. Martin.

H. C. Winch, proposed by T. F. Matthews, seconded by H. Best.

Geo. Hall, proposed by T. J. Begley, seconded by R. Sheehy.

Roland F. McWilliams, proposed by Jos. Batten, seconded by J. B. Bryson.

Thos. Kelly, proposed by Robt. Fair, seconded by Walter Wood.

Robert Sheridan, proposed by O. S. Matchett, seconded by G. H. Duncan.

W. H. Bradburn, proposed by Adam Hall, seconded by T. F. Matthews.

Jas. G. Graham, proposed by G. H. Duncan, seconded by O. S. Matchett.

Adam Hall, proposed by Frank Adams, seconded by Thos. Kelly.

A. Mollonald, proposed by T. F. Matthews, seconded by R. Fair.

A. A. McIntyre, proposed by Jos. Batten, seconded by T. J. Begley.

E. F. Mason, proposed by F. Adams, seconded by H. Best.

Jos. Batten, proposed by G. H. Duncan, seconded by R. Fair.

C. H. Clementi, proposed by T. F. Matthews, seconded by A. Hall.

G. W. Green, proposed by Adam Hall, seconded by T. J. Wilson.

W. J. Johnston, proposed by R. Fair, seconded by T. J. Wilson.

A. W. Cressman, proposed by Adam Hall, seconded by T. F. Matthews.

G. J. Tovey, proposed by Jos. Batten, seconded by W. G. Morrow.

John Nugent, proposed by W. G. Morrow, seconded by Adam Hall.

W. J. Thompson, proposed by Adam Hall, seconded by W. S. Davidson.

E. G. Patterson, proposed by W. G. Morrow, seconded by T. F. Matthews.

Jos. Crowe, proposed by J. E. Johnston, seconded by G. Abern.

Thos. J. Wilson, proposed by W. H. White, seconded by J. E. Hayes.

At the conclusion of the proceedings the city clerk stated that all declarations must be filed before nine p.m. Saturday.

The candidates who wish to run as members of the Board of Education, must also make declaration of their qualifications before 9 o'clock to-morrow night, and those who do not intend to run must file a written statement (witnessed) to that effect also before 9 o'clock on Saturday night.

A Coasting Accident With Fatal Results

Adam Hayes Died at Nicholls Hospital Last Night at Eight O'clock--Accident Responsible for Death Occurred Last Tuesday Sled Hit Stone and End Struck Victim of Accident in the Abdomen--An Operation Had to be Performed.

DECEASED WAS FIFTEEN YEARS OF AGE

The particulars surrounding the death of Adam Hayes, fifteen years and six months of age, are particularly sad.

Last Tuesday, between the hours of 11 and 12 o'clock, the deceased boy was sleigh-riding on the sidewalk on the right hand side of Queen street. At the foot of the incline, which was at the end of the sidewalk, and at the corner of Simcoe street, there is a drop of over two feet, the height at which the sidewalk is elevated above the ditch at the roadside. The boy slid forward on his sleigh, his breast striking the ground. The sleigh tilted up and struck him with great force in the abdomen, inflicting severe internal injuries. Quite a crowd gathered around, but none of them seemed to have presence of mind enough to assist the little sufferer, who was writhing in great agony, when Mr. W. H. Meldrum, whose mill is only a few yards from the scene of the accident, came to his assistance. Mr. Meldrum found him lying upon the slope of the roadside ditch, and, seeing that he was suffering intense pain, gently lifted him into the buggy of Mr. Leonard Orde, who resides near Zion, Otonabee, and who, at the time, happened to be at the mill. Mr. Orde drove the victim of the accident to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Hayes, 179 Sherbrooke street. His parents perceived by his actions that he was suffering great pain, and at once called in two doctors. About 8 o'clock on the night of the accident it was found necessary to remove him to Nichols Hospital, where an operation was performed yesterday afternoon. At 8 o'clock last night, about five hours after the operation, he passed away. Up to the very last he retained consciousness, but his suffering was intense.

The late Adam Hayes was rather a delicate boy, and for that reason his parents, who have the heartfelt sympathy of the community, always kept him at home.

No definite arrangements for the funeral have yet been made, but it is probable that it will take place Sunday afternoon.

Two Mayoralty Candidates in Toronto Election

Special to The Examiner.

Toronto, Dec. 22.—The mayoralty fight in Toronto this year will be between two candidates, Controller F. S. Spence and Alderman Emerson Coatsworth. Mayor Urquhart was nominated, but withdrew in favour of Spence. There was a large crowd at the nominations, which were held in the City Hall, and great interest was taken in the contest, as both nominees are strong temperance men, although opposed in politics, Spence being a Liberal, and Coatsworth a Conservative.

The following extract showing that mothers would do well to let children attend the matinee performances of "Crocker's Educated Horses," is clipped from a very complimentary half column article in The Galt Reformer, written in reference to the above attraction that appeared in Galt a short time ago: "As indicating its beauty and healthfulness it might be mentioned that Reverend Rural Dean Ridley, who attended last night's performance, felt impelled to seek out the manager and congratulate and thank him for the treat enjoyed."

EXAMINER WISHES ALL A MERRY CHRISTMAS

A VERY MERRY CHRISTMAS TO YOU

Take our "Merry Christmas" this evening as a personal one—it is given in much the same spirit as a cheery "good morning," from friend to friend. But may we not speak a word of business, too? As its Christmas time, we'll do it in a very cordial way.

In our weekly or daily announcements in the papers, we try to tell you of the store happenings in much the same manner as would a personal friend. Read them, then, as though engaged in friendly conversation.

Almost daily we invite you to the store in the very same spirit as we would in asking you to pay a neighbourly visit.

The store is yours and in it you may come and go at will—we never plague you to buy. Take this friendly way of serving you in lieu of a personal handshake.

Yet, this is a store, after all—the better store for never getting into sordid ways.

The store will be closed all day Monday, for 'twill be Christmas day. If for no other reason the day's holiday is due our help for the extra hours and effort they have given you (for us) in the past week's holiday service.

The day will be theirs to enjoy—we hope it will be yours as well. Let us enjoy it in the broadest, most liberal way—forget business in a day of good cheer.

A PROMINENT CITIZEN

The above photo was taken about 41 years ago, and is that of a gentleman who has been a resident of Peterborough for about 43 years. Presentation To Mr. Cluxton

Pleasing Event at C. G. E. Works This Morning.

Mr. W. Harold Cluxton, superintendent of the Porcelain Department of the C. G. E. Works, was this morning surprised, and honoured, by the presentation of a handsome umbrella, accompanied by an address, by the employees of his department.

The address was read by Mr. Thos. Turcotte, and the presentation made by Miss Katie Conroy.

Mr. Cluxton replied in an appropriate manner, expressing his appreciation of the kindness manifested by the donors, and extending the compliments of the season.

The address was as follows:

Mr. Cluxton, —

This lady is appointed by the employees of the porcelain department to present you in their names this small token. In presenting this, in their behalf, I assure you that you will ever be remembered with feelings of the highest regard and esteem.

At the same time an address and presentation was made to Mr. J. A. Brown, foreman of that department. The address was identical to that made to Mr. Cluxton, and he was presented by Miss Donovan with an umbrella, on behalf of the staff.

Mr. Brown also acknowledged the gift in suitable terms.

Peterborough Boy Has A NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEATH In Northern Lumber Camp

With a Companion Was Caught in Woods at Night and Chased by Pack of Wolves—Just Reached an Old Shack in Time to Escape—Remained There All Night and Shot Their Pursuers—A Close Call Which Neither Will Wish to Repeat.

From letters received in the city, is learned the timely escape of a Peterborough boy from the fangs of a pack of hunger-maddened wolves in the northern wilds, (where the young man is clerk to a lumber camp. One day last week he went with one of the markers of the company on an expedition which took them a long distance from the main camp. As is the custom, they took with them their rifles, and varied the business features of the expedition with a stray shot at the game which is not infrequently encountered.

On their return the early darkness of early mid-winter began to settle upon them when they were ten or fifteen miles from home. Both voyagers recognized the serious, not to say perilous, character of the situation. In these northern wilds, among the many wild beasts that abound in the almost undisturbed wilderness, the wolf is not by any means unknown, and the two belated men, with bated breath, discussed the gruesome possibilities which their long distance from camp in the deepening gloom of the fast-falling night, created.

Their fears were not inexcusable nor groundless. The peril from wolves in the forest may well make the stoutest heart quail, for it is a danger with which no courage nor skill in woodcraft or hunter's resources can cope; neither were they groundless, for, to their horror, there suddenly broke on their ears a sound that chilled the blood in their veins, and made their hearts for the moment stand still—the horrible howl of wolves, met with answering howls, which seemed to envelop them in a rapidly-closing circle of gleaming fangs, dripping foam, and hunger-whetted; to rend the flesh and gnaw the bones of the doomed men. For the moment they seemed to be doomed; they stood almost paralyzed by an enervating horror which stunned them with despair, and for a space, robbed them of the power of motion as well as speech; for, as the narrowing circle of the converging packs seemed to be closing in with a terrible impetuosity, they stood stock still—speechless, and, as they knew, helpless in the face of the hopeless odds confronting them and the inevitable horror impending.

Suddenly, as if with one accord, and as men recalled from the dead, they gasped the word "shack," and made a bolt for a hut, to whose presence and vicinity, though previously known to them, the horror of the moment had made them utterly oblivious. Hope loosed the paralysing bonds that had bound their feet a moment before, and, running as they never ran before, nor will hereafter, and still holding their rifles, they reached the shack, and had just nicely got inside and secured the door, when the mass of wolves broke against it like a foaming wave on a bluff, the fierce impact shaking the hut as well as its inmates, though they were for the moment safe.

With recovered safety, and a removed certainty of a horrible death, the pair regained their coolness, and several of the wolves were shot through the cracks of the shack. As soon as a wolf was killed his ravenous mates tore him limb from limb and devoured him. The snapping of jaws, the rending of flesh, the crunching of bones, and the snarls of the struggling pack, as they gorged their cannibal feast, was terrible to hear, especially as the young men's escape from having a horrible personal interest in a similar scene was so narrow, and recent.

Having proved that the hut was safe, the young men made the best of the situation. With the hunter's pocket axe, some of the bunks of the shack were broken up and a fire kindled in the stove, which was in a fair condition. One of the pair had in his pocket a partridge, which he had shot on the way, and the other had some bread left from their luncheon—a sort of meal was improvised, and the night spent there. The wolves renewed their assaults from time to time for hours, and, finally, baffled and beaten, they slunk away. The imprisoned men waited for the daylight, and then made their way to camp with wearied bodies and thankful hearts. As long as life shall last, the horror of that fearful night—especially of the first moments of shock and surprise—will be a vivid spot in their memory.

Candidates Are Slow in Making Declarations

At 2:30 This Afternoon Only Nine Candidates Had Filed Declaration of Qualification—Probability of an Election by Acclammation — Ald. Hicks Decides to Stand for Re-election—Twelve Candidates in Field for School Trustees.

SOME PRE-ELECTION INFORMATION

At 2.30 this afternoon only nine candidates for aldermen had filed with the city clerk declarations of qualifications, and at that rate the prospects were not bright for a contest.

One of the pleasant surprises was the announcement that Ald. Hicks had decided to reconsider his determination to withdraw from the contest, and would stand.

The candidates who had filed declarations up to that time were Messrs. R. Hicks, J. Smith, Geo. Ball, R. F. McWilliams, Thos. Kelly, J. G. Graham, C. Clementi, W. J. Johnston and Geo. J. Tovey.

There is bound to be an election for school trustees, twelve having signified their intention of running, and the probability is that Mr. J. J. McBain will do so, making thirteen. Those who will stand are Messrs. W. Pringle, W. H. Hill, Dr. Burnham, W. G. Ferguson, J. J. Hartley, John Crane, Dr. Morrison, Robt. Fair, H. Morgan, Jas. Stevenson, B. F. Ackerman and D. W. Dumble.

Good Cheer Social.

At the Y.M.C.A. last night the boys held a good cheer social. Each boy brought some useful gift, which will be given to the Children's Aid Society. A short and interesting programme was rendered, and afterwards refreshments served.

Building At Stony Lake

Many New Cottages Will be Erected.

Present indications point to the probability that building operations will be in full swing at Stony Lake during the present winter.

Mr. H. Casaels, who has been up to the present connected with the C. P. R. works, has severed his connection with that institution and will, it is understood, at once commence upon several new cottages to be erected during the winter. Among those will be that of Mr. J. C. Rice, of Toronto, whose former cottage at Grassy Island will be replaced by a new one. Hon. L. Graham will also have a new cottage, 28x48 feet in size, erected at Kilunda. An octagonal addition will be erected at Mr. Thos. Barrie's cottage. Mr. H. A. Piper will also enlarge during the winter.

Handsome Gold Watch Was Presented

To Mr. T. G. Anderson, Foreman of C. G. E. Pattern Shop, on the Occasion of His Departure—Associate Foremen of the Works Assembled Last Night at His Residence—Will Open Private Enterprise in Hamilton After the Holidays.

DEPARTURE IS MUCH REGRETTED

A pleasing event took place last night at the residence of Mr. T. G. Anderson, corner of Aylmer and Sherbrooke streets, when about fifteen of Mr. Anderson's associate foremen of the C. G. E. Works assembled and made him the recipient of a tangible token of esteem. The affair was occasioned by his approaching departure for Hamilton, where he will inaugurate a private enterprise in the way of a pattern jobbing shop. He has been connected with the C. G. E. pattern shop during the past three years, previous to which he was engaged in a similar line of work with the Hamilton Manufacturing Company.

The event of last night came as a complete surprise to Mr. Anderson. An address, most artistic and dainty in design, was read by Ald. G. J. Tovey, after which a beautiful gold watch, bearing the following engraved inscription, was presented to him by Mr. W. H. Smith: "To T. G. Anderson, from his associate foremen of the C. G. E. Co." The address, upon which was a number of artistic views, was as follows:

Peterborough, Dec. 25.

Mr. T. G. Anderson,—

Esteemed friend,—It is with regret that we, your fellow workmen in the Peterborough Works of the Canadian General Electric Company, learn of your intended departure from our midst.

During your residence among us we have always found you a genial and obliging companion, and we can assure you that the good feeling displayed has been, from the first, heartily reciprocated, and we hope that in your new field of labour success may crown your efforts as it has in the past.

We feel that we cannot allow this opportunity to pass without expressing, in a tangible way, our appreciation of your many good qualities.

From our association with you at work and at play we have learned that you are well worth watching.

We therefore ask you to accept this watch, assuring you that it is not for its intrinsic value that it is given, but as a small token to aid memory to revert to bygone days, when you were in Peterborough, and surrounded by friends who now wish you many years of life's choicest blessings.

J. G. M. Wilson, W. H. Smith, F. A. Taylor, R. Cotterell, G. J. Tovey, J. Y. Gerrard, W. H. Robinson, A. W. Pattreson, R. E. Harding, F. E. Lord, J. B. Cunnannon, W. J. Lloyd, J. A. Goulet, H. Gould, R. W. Carson, J. A. McWilliams, field, T. Molden, F. Derrick, W. Watts, A. E. Frost, R. E. Layfield, T. Malden, F. Derrick, V. A. Brundrette, M. Mowry, F. Packenham, W. Gere, J. A. Perry, J. F. Morrison.

Mr. Anderson, though taken completely by surprise, made an appropriate reply expressive of his appreciation of the kindness of the donors, and also of his regret at the necessary severance of the pleasant associations of the past.

Mr. Anderson's genial disposition has made him a host of friends in Peterborough, among whom his coming departure on January 2 will create general regret.

Some New Phases Of The Fire Protection Question

"Economy" and "Convert" Address Letters to The Examiner To-day in Which They Give Some More Facts in Reference to the Proposal to Improve Fire Protection.

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Dear Sir,—I would like to ask if I have been correctly informed when I am told that the Board of Fire Underwriters at Toronto are not aware of the condition of the Peterborough fire equipment. I was told to-day that this is a fact, and if the facts were known the rates of insurance in force in this city, both for business and residential risks, would be very materially increased. I am told that at the present time the equipment of the firehall is not nearly up to the requirements as set forth in the rules of the Underwriters' Association, and that we are only being given a period of approbation to give us an opportunity of making the improvements necessary, and if these improvements are not made our rates will be jumped up.

If this is a fact, and I am informed by a gentleman whom I think is in a position to know, it seems to me that we are in a serious position, and if the improvements proposed to the service by the $25,000 by-law will place us out of danger, as I am informed it will, it seems to me that the people of this city should support it.

Goodness knows, we have enough to pay now without having an increase in our fire insurance rates. They've been jumping up the life insurance rates on us in the fraternal societies lately, and now it looks as if those of us who have a little fire protection on our homes are to have to pay more for that.

It appears to me, Mr. Editor, that it would be better to pay twenty-five cents a year more taxes for a few years in order to keep our insurance rates low, and at the same time have some additional protection afforded to our property. I am not a financier, but I think I can see that if by spending a few cents each for a few years we can improve our fire fighting service, it would be economy to do it.

I will thank you, Mr. Editor, if you can find room to publish this letter.

ECONOMY.

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Dear Sir,—I was talking this morning to a gentleman who is visiting here from Brantford, and the conversation turned on the question of fire protection. I asked him about the fire equipment of his city, and took him around to see the firehall here, because, while I have heard it said that our equipment was away behind the times, I had never fully understood that it was as bad as it was represented. I am convinced now, though. This friend of mine was simply amazed when he looked into the firehall and saw the equipment. He asked if that was all the protection Peterborough citizens had for their property, and when he was told that it was, and, further, that while the steam engine was all right as an ornament, but that if the whole city was to burn down not a pint of water could be thrown by it, he was astounded.

"Why," said he, "if this was in our city, there would be a revolution of the people unless the Council provided better fire protection," and when he was informed that it was not the fault of the Council, since they were anxious to improve the system, and to this end had already submitted a by-law twice to the people, and each time it had been defeated, he was greatly surprised that the people were so short-sighted as to defeat a measure which was intended to be such a direct benefit to them. I confess that what he said made me feel a little ashamed of myself at the last time the by-law was voted on I did not go out to vote, but I intend to vote this time, and to vote for the by-law, too.

Yours truly,
A. CONVERT.

Christmas Event At Auburn

Charming Entertainment by the Union Sunday School.

The Union Sunday school, Auburn, was the scene of a very largely attended and in every respect successful Christmas entertainment. Rev. F. J. Scott, pastor of the Murray street Baptist church, occupied the chair. Great credit is due to Miss Ellis, Mr. Pratley, and their able corps of assistants, for to their enterprising efforts the success of the affair is largely due.

The several numbers were very ably rendered, and choruses and dialogues gave evidence of thorough and painstaking instruction.

"Gospel Bells," a hymn beautifully sung by those present, and prayer, offered by Rev. Mr. Scott, preceded the programme.

The opening number, Christmas Joys, sung by the school, was very acceptably given. Following this was the address of the chairman, Rev. Mr. Scott. Miss Bessie Carter gave a recitation, which was well received. The next number, a dialogue, entitled "Seven days of the week," in which five girls took part, was a pleasing feature of the programme. Miss Ethel Long was heard in a capably rendered recitation, after which an instrumental duet, one of the most appreciated numbers of the programme, was given by Messrs. Elphick and Hall. A recitation by Master Johnny Kemp was well received. "Miss Prism" was a dialogue well presented by Miss Carter, Gladys Hewie and Eva Flannery. A recitation by Miss Ruth Billings was the next very enjoyable number. "Beautiful Morning so Bright," a chorus by the Sunday school, was a song most appropriate for the yuletide season and its good rendition evoked much applause. Miss Eva Flannery again gave another well received recitation Following Miss Flannery's recitation, Messrs. Eyre and Hall rendered a duet in their usual musicianly manner. "Assisting Hezekiah," was a dialogue that created a most favourable impression with the audience. This dialogue gave evidence of considerable talent. Miss L. Porter and Messrs. H. Porter and G. G. Pratley Miss Hazel Billing's recitation was a very pleasing number. "Rainbow" by seven girls was received with much applause. Master Bertie Guy gave a recitation that pleased his listeners. A unique dialogue in which twelve boys took part was one of the best numbers on the programme. Miss B. Powell was next heard in a splendid recitation "Christmas Chimes," was a stirring number rendered by the school. Miss Gladys Hewitt charmingly rendered a recitation which was followed by the last number sung by Santa Claus, which character was impersonated by Mr. G. G. Pratly. Following this was perhaps the most enjoyable feature of the programme, the distribution of prizes by Santa Claus.

FAKE HAIR PREPARTIONS

Do Hair No Good, But Often Cause It to Fall Out.

Many hair preparations are "fake" because they are merely scalp irritants. They often cause a dryness, making the hair brittle, and, finally, lifeless. Dandruff is the cause of trouble with hair. It is a germ disease. The germ makes cuticle scales as it digs to the root of the hair, where it destroys the hair's vitality, causing it to fall out. To cure dandruff the germ must be killed. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect." Newbro's Herpicide is the only hair preparation that kills the dandruff germ, thereby leaving the hair to grow luxuriantly. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Ormond & Walsh, Special Agents.

In Britain fishermen have had a strange "catch" off Southend, having taken a dummy torpedo in their net. That has been handed over to the naval authorities, who had offered a reward of $25 for its recover.

Give Us Men

If we can get competent men, we will by good team work build up the circulation of THE SATURDAY EVENING POST to unheard-of figures. It is now three-quarters of a million copies weekly, so mething never before attained by a weekly magazine. We want one good man in this town to organize a selling force and push it thoroughly and systematically.

Entertainment At St. Paul's Was Enjoyed

Sunday School Scholars Gave Entertainment Which Took a Novel Form—"Giving, Instead of Getting", Was the Lesson Taught—A Delightful Programme of Music Was Rendered—Choruses by Scholars in Costumes.

ADDRESS ON "GIVING" BY REV. DR. TORRANCE

To develop the spirit of giving, not getting, was the spirit sought in the Christmas entertainment in St. Paul's Sunday school room last night, given by the scholars of that school, and the result which was attendant upon the entertainment was most gratifying to those who planned it. A number of persons remarked that it was the most successful entertainment that had ever been held in that church. Instead of receiving gifts, as is the usual custom at Christmas entertainments, the children gave, their donations taking the form of fruit, dolls, toys, silverware, groceries, clothing, books, etc., and their offerings were distributed to the poor of the city, a committee being appointed for that purpose.

The school room was filled to overflowing and a most delightful evening was spent, and by none was it more enjoyed than by the children, who were, in some cases, denying themselves, in order that they might contribute to the happiness of others, who were less fortunate.

The whole evening partook of the nature of the giving spirit, and the results attained are most satisfactory to those who had the matter in charge.

The school waas divided into sections, and each section composed of about twenty-five young people, ranging from the smallest primary scholar to those in the Bible classes, marched into the room to music, each bearing their gifts, which were placed on the platform.

The nurses' section was the first, and as about twenty-five young ladies, dressed in spotless white, entered the room, singing "Hark! the Herald Angels Sing," they gave an offering of jellies.

The primary class girls followed, and they gave dolls, which will go to gladden the hearts of many children in the city to-morrow. They sang "Little Mother," while marching to the platform.

The boys of the Primary Class came next, and they sang "Jolly Fellows," and gave a number of toys.

Jack Fife followed with a recitation "Bob's Victim." The fruit section was the next to appear, and singing "The Harvest is In," they marched to the platform, where they deposited their articles of fruit.

The silver section, with their gifts, followed, and sang "Merry Bells are Ringing." The groceries and clothing section was a large one, and their donations were of a nature which the recipients will appreciate. They sang, "I am Glad there is Something to Do." The Quakers representing the countries of Europe, gave recitations, the young ladies being dressed in costume. A duet, "Norway and Sweden," was much appreciated. This section made gifts of Quaker Oats, which will doubtless produce "the smile that won't come off."

The King's Daughters" offering was books, and these will be sent to the northern part of the county, where the schools are not as well equipped with libraries as Peterborough is.

To the great delight of the children, Santa Claus, who was represented by Mr. C. N. Brown, made his appearance, and was warmly welcomed.

And address by Rev. Dr. Torrance on "Giving," closed a most enjoyable programme. After singing "Praoise God from whom all Blessings Flow," the gathering dispersed.

Cow Testing Association

Will Prove of Great Benefit to Dairymen.

Probably every farmer in Canada would like to obtain more profit from each individual cow in his herd, but at present there is lack of co-operation amongst farmers to accomplish this object.

In Denmark, the home of agricultural co-operation, there have been testing associations since 1895, and there are now nine thousand farmers having their cows tested systematically. Similar work will pay here, and pay well.

Wherever such work has been done, the average production per cow has speedily been raised twenty-five, and even fifty pounds of butter per annum. Surely there are hundreds of farmers, painstaking and thoughtful, willing to show a little enterprise for an almost certain return of from five to ten dollars more than at present from each cow per year.

In Michigan an association was organized in September, 1905. Canadian farmers need to take this matter up quickly and seriously.

As an instance of what substantial progress is possible when individual cows are tested, a farmer near Cowansville, Que., furnishes a striking illustration. In 1896 fifteen cows were kept giving an average of only 131 pounds of butter. In 1900 tests were commenced of each cow separately, the milk being weighed regularly. In 1901 twenty cows were kept on the same land which when purchased in 1881 would not decently keep nine cows) and the average production per cow was 254 pounds of butter. This increase of 123 pounds per cow can be attained on many other farms.

In some illustrative testing undertaken in 1904 and 1905 by the Dominion Department of Agriculture it was shown that very poor returns are received from many cows, therefore the urgent need of cow testing associations is apparent. Valuable practical bulletins on the subject are available and will be sent free to any applicant.

Where any twenty patrons of a factory will agree to weigh the milk from each cow on three days during the month through the milking period, and furnish themselves with scales and sample bottles costing about two to three dollars complete, the Minister of Agriculture announces that the testing will be done free of cost to the patrons. As the Department is anxious to assist farmers in organizing, Mr. J. A. Ruddick, Dairy Commissioner, Ottawa, will be glad to hear from any progressive farmer or factory owner in any community relative to this most important matter, and will arrange for meetings to discuss the question.

Whooping Cough.

"My three youngest boys had whooping cough this winter and we could get nothing to help them until I sent for Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. It arrested the coughs at once and they kept right on improving until they were cured at the cost of one dollar. That was not a large bill for so dangerous and distressing an ailment." — Mrs. Wm. Ball, Bracebridge, Ont.

Arrangements have been made with the Sultan of Brunei, Borneo, for the establishment of a British resident at the Sultan's capital.

Local Option Is the Issue In Lakefield

The Contest for Reeve and Council Will be one of the Most Strenuous in Village's History--Candidates for Reeveship Divided on the Local Option Question — Nominations Took Place Yesterday—Two Candidates in the Field.

THE COUNCILLORS AND TRUSTEE CANDIDATES

Special to The Examiner

Lakefield, Dec. 23rd.—The nomination proceedings for the village council and Board of School Trustees yesterday were decidedly interesting and the prospects are that the campaign will be a sharp one and it will probably be fought out on the local option lines.

The contest for the Reeveship will be between Messrs. F. J. Moore and A. J. Kidd, the present reeve retiring from the contest. Of the two candidates for Reeve one is a local optionist and the other opposed to it. The nominees for this office were E. A. Tanner, F. J. Moore, F. J. Lillicrap, and A. J. Kidd. Of those Messrs. Tanner and Lillicrap withdrew their names from the nomination leaving but two in the field.

The candidates for Councillors are Messrs. Robt. Duff, F. Burgess, R. Lennox, R. Carter, J. W. Cornish, T. Z. Webster, Geo. Hendren, Geo. Baptie and A. J. Kidd, the latter retiring to accept the nominations for Reeve. All the councillors of this year are standing for re-election.

The nominations for School Trustees are:—Messrs. Geo. Payne, J. Hull, R. Q. Dench, J. W. Bullock, J. W. Ridpath, and J. Stewart. Three of these will be elected and the members retiring are all re-nominated, viz., Messrs. Payne, Ridpath and Stewart.

At the conclusion of the nominations the retiring Reeve and the members of the council addressed the electors, giving an account of their stewardship during the year and the candidates for Reeve also gave short addresses, asking the support of the electors.

The probability is that the contest will be one of the most bitterly fought in the history of the village, both sides working hard to win.

Smith Council By Acclamation

The council of the township of Smith, was re-elected by acclamation yesterday at the nominations held in Bridgenorth. The council is composed as follows: Reeve, R. N. Scott; councillors, Messrs. T. H. Graham, J. H. Garbutt, W. J. Northey and R. White.

WOMAN'S NEED
AT THE CRITICAL PERIODS OF HER LIFE AND HOW IT IS BEST SUPPLIED BY
Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

We are sometimes asked why Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is so successful in curing the ailments peculiar to women, and this is the explanation:

The feminine organism is a regular network of nerves, and consequently requires an enormous quantity of rich, nourishing blood.

At the critical times such as the dawn of womanhood, the child-bearing and nursing age and the change of life, nerve force is consumed at a tremendous rate.

The blood is drawn away from other parts of the body, and the result is neuralgic pains and aches, failure of the digestive system, and a run-down condition of the body generally.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food supplies exactly what is most needed at these times—the very elements from which rich blood and vital nerve force are made.

Women who suffer from weakness and irregularities from painful periods and distressing headaches, from tired, worn-out feelings, and the disorders of the digestion, will be surprised at the benefits obtained from the use of the great food cure of Dr. Chase.

Mrs. Chas. Keeling, Sr., Owen Sound, Ont., writes:—"It is a pleasure to tell what great benefits I have derived from the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I am fifty five years of age, and for about five years my life was one of great suffering from nervousness, weakness and extreme physical exhaustion. I could not sleep, and hot flashes would pass through my body from feet to head. I consulted our family physician and two other doctors, but they told me about my time of life I was likely to be troubled that way. I continually grew worse, and despaired of ever being cured. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food came to my notice, and as we have Dr. Chase's Receipt Book, I had confidence in the doctor. I was so surprised at the help I received from the first box that I brought three more. They built me right up, and made me feel healthy and strong again. They have proven a great blessing to me, and I hope this testimonial will be of help to some weak, nervous woman suffering as I did."

It is well worth your while to put and, while the blood and nerves are being revitalized and the form rounded out, note your increase in weight, so that you may have positive proof of the blood-forming value of this great medicine. 50 cts. a box, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. Portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, on every box.

Such a Crowd.

Probably never before in the history of Peterborough did such an enormous crowd come here for the Christmas market, and shopping via G.T.R. as the one that filled the coaches, on the Port Hope route, this morning. It was found necessary to stop the train below the diamond for ten minutes and collect the tickets so dense was the mass of humanity that was packed on the train. The passengers were principally from Millbrook, Fraserville and other small places along the line. If the means referred to above had not been resorted to to collect the tickets, a large number would undoubtedly have been given free transportation.

A Creditable Publication.

For those who would know Canada as it is, the Canada of the woods and the out-of-doors, the Canadian sporting Magazine, Rod And Gun in Canada, published by W. J. Taylor at Woodstock, Ont., is absolutely essential. The December (Christmas) number is full of interesting information about delightful outings it is possible to have in this grand Dominion of ours, where Nature is at her best and provides lavishly for the entertainment of the men who live in the cities, and who go to the woods for their vacations. The whole field, from Labrador to British Columbia, is covered in this number, and many of the articles are finely illustrated giving us glimpses of the possibilities of enjoyment outdoor life in Canada affords. A perusal of the stories of Rod And Gun In Canada would go far to remove any misconceptions of the residential and sporting attractions of Canada and make the Dominion better known throughout the world.

CHRISTMAS TIDE.

With all the world, The Examiner joins in giving cordial Christmas greetings to its hosts of friends in city and county. The greatest festival of the world's history stands for all the good, for all the enjoyment, for all the civilization, for all the brotherly feeling, for all the tenderness, gentleness, sweetness and light that make life to-day the brightest and best of all the years since life was given to man. At this season all the world unites in wishing mutual good-will, and in Canada these greetings were never exchanged under more prosperous and happy conditions, with more generally diffused well-being, with more peaceful conditions and with more hopeful outlook. Cast the horoscope of Canada as you will, only brightness and benefit appear. We can well enjoy the day, both for what it means in origin and significance, and also for all the uncounted good to the world, to the Empire, to the Dominion, to the Province and the city it represents. Peace on earth and to men of good-will is the talisman of the hour, and in this spirit the Examiner wishes its readers, one and all, great and small, good and b—otter,

A MERRY CHRISTMAS.

REMEMBER THE POOR.

During this Christmas tide of good cheer the thoughts of those who are in a position to give, should take a wider range than that of merely including their personal friends in their efforts to increase the feelings of general happiness which seems to pervade the very atmosphere at the present season of the year. It should be borne in mind that we have amongst us some to whom Christmas does not mean as much as it does to others. The gaunt spectre of poverty stands between them and comfort, and unless remembered by those in better circumstances, the glad yule tide will bring nothing but feelings of sadness. Fortunately, there are not many families in want in prosperous Peterborough, but Mr. Cochrane, agent of the Children's Aid Society, has some several families on his list to whom any gifts would be most welcome. There are also two little children at the Shelter whose Christmas could be made a glad one by a little forethought.

More Honours For Peterboro' Firm

Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons, yesterday received a letter from J. D. Orr, secretary of the Canada National Exhibition, apprising them of the fact that they had been awarded a diploma for their exhibit at the Toronto Exhibition. The letter is as follows:

"I am pleased to inform you that you have been awarded a diploma for your exhibit at the National Exhibition. Your exhibit was a most creditable one indeed. Wishing you the compliments of the season.

"Your very truly,
"J. D. ORR.
"Manager and Secretary."

Mervin's 'Xmas Bill of Fare

Market conditions are still bending your way, and we are letting you have the fullest advantage of it for the holidays. Here are some of our special purchases for the festive season:

A two-year-old heifer weighing 740 pounds, from Mr. W. Thompson, of South Monaghan. Beat that if you can.

GENERALLY SPEAKING

THE PEOPLE have abundant chance to discriminate on January first in the exercise of their franchise. They have the opportunity of selecting ten aldermen from a candidate roll of thirty; they are called upon to choose nine members of the School Board from a list of eighteen; they are required to pronounce upon the reduction of licenses; and they are finally asked to express their approval of the bylaw to provide the sum of $25,000 to furnish a new fire station and hall, and proper and efficient fire-fighting appliances.

NATURALLY, different electors will attach varying degrees of importance to these several questions; but it is pretty certain that none of the others transcend in present importance, and influence upon the future of the town, the question of what is popularly known as the fire-bylaw. Almost any nine of the candidates nominated will constitute a school board, which in one year's term of office cannot very seriously prejudice the educational interests of the city, and, if they show a disposition threatening such a condition of things, they are amenable to the force of public opinion, and can be morally restrained and influenced. The same applies to the Board of Aldermen that may be elected. Somewhat similar will be the consequences of a vote on license reduction. Whatever that vote may be the License Commissioners, who have the deciding power, and full responsibility, are not bound to be guided by the vote of the people. If the people call for license reduction, the commissioners are not bound to act on the demand, though they probably would do so. The vote of the people, whichever way it may be, will only constitute a moral backing for the commissioners — it will have no legal force unless it is followed by a resolution of the city council, requiring a reduction of licences.

A VOTE adverse, wise or otherwise, upon these matters, may easily turn out to have no very positively evil or beneficial effect. But a vote adverse or favourable upon the fire bylaw, is capable of having, and will most certainly have, a very seriously evil, or decidedly beneficial effect, upon the best interests of the city, in a way to vitally affect its present and future well being and progress.

AS REMARKED in these columns a day or two ago, as is known to every citizen, the firefighting equipment of the city of Peterborough is antiquated and inefficient — quite behind the age, and in almost every way inefficient. True, our water system has been placed in a more, and most, efficient condition, capable of meeting all ordinary requirements for fire protection.

BUT THE DANGER lies in the lack of equipment to meet extraordinary conditions. Experience has shown that the water mains cannot be depended upon in every emergency. The fire at the cereal works was a case in point, and if the provision of a fire and a chemical engine, and proper auxiliary equipment, would result in only saving industrial establishments, like the cereal companies and the electric works, from destruction, the prevention of the loss of buildings, loss of employment and loss of wages, to our employed citizens, would represent far more than the cost of the equipment, the bylaw is asked for to provide. It is just for such cases of emergency, and for the protection of those sections of the city not reached by the waterworks mains, that improved fire-fighting equipment is needed.

FORTUNATELY — or, unfortunately, if it lead to apathy and indifference — Peterborough has in recent years not been visited by a disastrous and general big fire, like Ottawa or Toronto. One will not find these places without adequate fire equipment. If Peterborough had had a severe scorching, involving thousands of dollars of loss, there would have been no hesitation in providing double or treble $25,000, for proper fire equipment to guard against repetition of such destruction. Does not common prudence dictate the expenditure of so comparatively small a sum to place the city in a position of comparative safety?

WHAT IS THE COST, and the comparatively small addition to the tax rate, compared to the advantages, which a good fire equipment would bring? On every thousand of assessment, the increased sum, would at the present rate of taxation, be only 25 or 30 cents per year — two or two and a half cents per month. Then even this trifling addition would be almost cut in half by the revenue derived from the present fire hall premises converted into shops — $300 or $400 per year. Then weigh this against the advantages:

WOULDN'T it be worth something to be able to tell manufacturers seeking a home here, that we can give them first-rate railway facilities — and soon, canal transportation — cheap power and first-rate fire protection? It is not enough to tell manufacturers that they have cheap power and transportation. We must assure them that when their factories are built, they will not be at the mercy of fire—for we must have a first class fire department?

Would it not be worth something for workmen in our great factories, to go home at night, feeling secure that if a fire should break out, they could reasonably count on our fire department quenching the flames, and preventing the destruction of their factory, and the loss of their job?

WOULD it count for nothing, if we were in a position to defy the fire insurance underwritors to send their agents to discover our beggarly fire equipment and advance the rate of insurance to an extent which would involve an annual cost for insurance to our citizens many times greater than the cost of a good fire equipment?

WILL IT COUNT for nothing if residents not reached now by the water mains are given the protection from fire which a proper equipment would provide? Is it fair on the part of those who now enjoy the measure of protection represented by the hydrants, to deny to those who pay their share of the taxes, some measure of protection, they are now deprived of?

DOES IT MEAN nothing that Peterborough, the best and most progressive, the most go-ahead junior city in the Dominion, should take second place in the matter of fire equipment to nearly every other minor city and important town in Ontario? If we are at the front in other things, let us at least be on a level with our rivals in this matter, which is not a matter of mere sentiment, but a matter of vital moment.

No Election In Otonabee

Last Year's Council Was Re-Elected by Acclammation.

Special to The Examiner

Keene, Dec. 23rd.—At the nomination meeting held in the Town Hall, Keene, the Reeve, Mr. John Fife, and Councillors Christopher Howson, W. J. Porter, W. B. Stewart and Duncan Cameron were re-elected by acclamation. Mr. James Drummond, presided. There was a good attendance. The reeve and councillors gave short addresses also Messrs. J. Casey and Thomas Johnstone, County Councillors, spoke on their work in the County Council during the past year. Though there will be no election for Reeve or Councillors, a vote will be taken on local option. This fact will have a tendency to make the vote on local option very small although it is not expected that it will give either side any advantage.

Minto Club Holds First Ball

Successful Opening of Series of Season's Social Events.

The first opening ball of the newly organized Minot Club, was held in the Foresters' Hall, Simcoe street, last night, and was a marked success, a large number of young couples being present. The Minto Club will hold monthly balls and weekly social assemblies during the coming winter months. A feature of these balls will be the introduction of a new dance every night on which they are held. All the functions under the auspices of the Minto Club, with Messrs. George Armstrong and Geo. Maitland, the enterprising members of the committee in charge of affairs, will doubtless be very largely attended, and successful in every respect as was that of last night.

At last night's ball Mr. Archie Moore officiated as director of ceremonies, and splendid music was furnished by the Webster orchestra.

A Crash In Plate Glass

A Gentleman Mistook Glass for The Air.

About 8.30 o'clock this morning, while Lang and Maher's clothing store was a veritable Mecca for bargain seekers a peculiar accident took place, when an old gentleman from Millbrook, and his grandson, were leaving the store. The gentleman is very short-sighted, and as he was leaving the store, probably being somewhat confused by the large crowd, did not notice that the door was closed, but mistook the plate-glass front for the opening. When he was very close to the door the little lad opened it hurriedly, with a forcible jerk, his grandfather's knee striking the glass, shattering it completely. Quite a curious crowd gathered around to witness the wreckage.

A. H. STRATTON & CO.

In all the city churches to-morrow special Christmas services will be held, and, as is usual on these occasions, the music will form an important portion of the day's services.

The choirs for some weeks have preparing for the servi[illegible]row, and the music will be of a more than usually elaborate nature.

The churches to-day present a very beautiful appearance. In some cases the work of decoration has been proceeded with during the greater part of the week, and the work of the ladies, who have spent so much time, which at this season is precious, will doubtless be appreciated by the Christmas church goers.

The sermons, too, will be appropriate to the occasion, as will be seen by the church announcements made below.

The services in the various churches in the city to-morrow will be as the notices show, most interesting.

In view of the fact that there will be unusually large congregations at the churches to-morrow, a request is made that those who attend be in their places early

Latest News Of Winter Sports

Bankers' Team Will be Strong

The Bankers of this city will soon be under way, and although they have not yet held their first practice, it is safe to state that they will have a gilt-edged organization. Speedy forwards are at a maximum although Macfarlane and Milhern, a couple of fast forwards who a few season's ago, figured on the Peterborough Juniors and Farriers, respectively, last year will not be available, and while their loss will undoubtedly be much felt, there are a numbers of men to choose from who are fast enough to qualify for very select company.

Lindsay, Bowmanville, Port Hope, Toronto and other places will probably have Bankers' sevens this winter and a number of exhibition games which should prove good drawing cards for the towns in which they are played, will doubtless be arranged. The banks of Peterborough have always had and still have some good men in various lines of athletics and this is more especially marked in the matter of hockey. But this is not true only of this city but of other places all over Ontario and in fact, Canada, that can boast of sporting organizations.

The Peterborough Bankers have made arrangements for the rink for every Tuesday and Thursday evening, between the hours of 7 and 8 o'clock throughout the coming winter. Their colours are black and white and their sweaters will be emblematic of the profession. Upon the sweaters will be a monogram consisting of a bag of gold upon which will be a dollar mark. The yoke of the sweater will be white as will also the trimmings, while the body will be black.

HOCKEY

G. Nicholls and these are requested to turn out to practice with seniors.

• • • •

• • • •

The Toronto hockeyists are certainly justified in singing "It was not like this in the olden days", as is shown by the following clippings from the News:—

"A year ago now the local hockey teams were all in the best of shape and ready to go on the ice to play the game of their lives."

"This will be the first Christmas in some time that there has not been a hockey match in Toronto."

• • • •

While the locals have been rather restricted in the matter of practices this winter, only having had two so far, they have gone one better than the St. Georges of Toronto, who have had to call off their game with the Vics of Montreal, on account of their poor condition, having had only one practice this winter. Very bad this weather for hockeyists, very bad.

• • • •

The World, Toronto, says:—"Hockey players transferred by banks from one town to another need expect no consideration from the O.H.A. if they are unfortunate enough to fall foul of the transfer rules. These players applying for permits from places in which they have recently located were turned down by the sub-committee, which met at The Star office yesterday afternoon. They are Roy Armstrong and James Widdis, now of Newmarket, and Leon Keye, a recent arrival in Guelph from Lindsay. Armstrong is a crack player and a brother of the well-known Hal Armstrong. Until a short time ago he lived in Allliston, but his transfer to Newmarket debars him from playing this year. Widdis is a former Owen Sound man."

• • • •

Brockville's Federal League team and Queen's will play an exhibition game in Brockville next Friday, the 29th.

• • • •

"Smith's Falls Federal Seniors had their first real workout Tuesday night the line-up being as follows:—Forwards, May, Service, Fraser, Ross; points, Brown; goal, Mereau. Lesueur took Armstrong's place on cover. It is not certain if Armstrong will turn out and play this winter or not."—Toronto World.

CURLING

The games for Monday have been postponed on account of the soft ice, unless the weather becomes milder there will be curling on some of the rinks, but the scheduled games will not be played.

BASKET BALL.

Don't miss the game Christmas night between the Toronto Central team and the Local Arrows. The game should be fast and close as both teams have won most of their games this season. There will also be a musical programme and an enjoyable evening is assured to those who attend the game. Admission 15c or 2 for 25c.

-THE TURF.

Several papers have stated that Mr. H. A. Cook, the well-known horse trainer, who is at present in this city, has been expelled from the turf by National Trotting Association, but as the report of Board of Review does not make any mention of his case this is highly improbable.

• • • •

The last report of the official board of review of the National Trotting Association contains the following items of interest to local turfmen:—

Case 4618.—"Thomas Johnston, Peterborough, Ontario, Canada, vs. F. J. Daly; Orillia, Ontario, Canada, George Powell, Orillia, Ontario, Canada, and Chestnut mare, Orillia Belle. Application for an order under rule 7.

BOXING AND WRESTLING

Everything must give to hog fought his last fight but he has made this statement so often that some people will doubtless regard it with as much favour as an habitual "boozer's" New Year's vow never again to touch liquor.

• • • •

O'Brien is the popular hero now. But wait till they begin to lose money on him.

• • • •

Boxing and wrestling are very dead sports in Peterborough at the present time. A couple of years ago there was a slight flurry of interest created but it was the dying man's final effort that raises false hopes in the minds of his family, who think that his sudden display of animation is a sure sign of recovery but which really is the kindling of the man's last spark of vitality. And so was it with boxing and wrestling. Boxing and wrestling are all right in themselves, but when followed by the gang of bums and thugs that are identified with the lowest occupations on earth, it's no wonder that decent people have ceased to take any interest in them. All the bouts are faked or fixed and it's only the "wise guys" and "those on the inside" that have a chance to make anything out of these despicable robberies and what's more a man, to use a slang phrase, is a "sucker" to support such a mob of unprincipled hoodlums by paying to see a crooked and in every instance, a disappointing performance. In half the cases the principals never show up and in the case of a local unknown appearing against an outside wonder—a greenhorn that doesn't know an uppercut from a strangle hold usually comes out and makes an exhibition of himself with another "dub" who isn't much better than himself. But the thing's dead and gone and it's to be hoped that no more smokers managed by outside rogues will ever be recorded as a sporting entertainment in the fair city of Peterborough. But it's like pulling teeth to refer to these disgusting affairs so the best thing to do is to drop the matter. What the Black Plague was to Europe years ago, these affairs are to the sporting world.

Note.—The above article does not refer to local athletes or athletic bodies whose encouraging successful boxing and wrestling contests and other sports deserve the highest praise, it is the outside rowdy element that it is intended to condemn.

The Russian A Frenchman

Threatened to Stab a Local Groceryman.

Simon Reger displayed a "stabbing" tendency last night which resulted in his arrest. Reger, who was at first thought by the police to be a Russian, but who was, at this morning's police court, found to be a Frenchman, went into a grocery store on Charlotte street yesterday evening, while very much under the influence of liquor, at 7.30 under the influence of liquor, at 7.30 to stab the proprietor. Reger feigned a very limited knowledge of English at the police station last night and at this morning's session of the police court, but he certainly knew enough of it to hurl at the grocer referred to above, some very, to say the least, uncomplimentary epithets. He also badly frightened a lady who was outside the store and who ran through the store to the rear which is occupied by the proprietor and his wife and sought refuge there. In the meantime the proprietor telephoned for the police and an officer soon arrived upon the scene and took the man into custody. The prisoner said he was a shantyman and stated that he was bound for Toronto. He knew enough English to make himself understood.

"Two dollars" said the court.

Reger went down in his "clip", for the two and paid the money to the chief.

POST CARD CORRESPONDENCE.

In this column will be published communications upon post cards only. It will remain open for the use of readers, who are invited to contribute suggestions, inquiries or replies. Anything of a scurrilous personal nature will be prohibited.

Peterborough, Dec. 22.

Editor Post Card Column:

Dear Sir,—Kindly allow me space in the columns of your paper to explain why the snow was not removed from the sidewalks on Thursday morning, viz. I was called away on Monday on urgent business at Blakmore, but before going asked a citizen of this ward to do the work should it be needed, which he promised to do in my absence. The result was he did not attend to it. As soon as my son found out he would not do it, he hustled around and secured some one who did it during the afternoon. In the meantime, I was fourteen miles in the country, trying to make my way home through that same storm on wheels, which took me from early morning till evening to reach the city having an awful experience.

Hoping this explanation will be satisfactory to those of this ward who experienced some difficulty in making their way through the snow for a few hours, I am,

Yours truly,
A. McCARTHY.

THE HOSPITAL FOR SICK CHILDREN

For it Cares for Every Sick Child in Ontario whose Parents Cannot Afford to Pay For Treatment.

The Hospital for Sick Children, College street, Toronto, appeals to fathers and mothers of Ontario for funds to maintain the thousand sick children that it nurses within its walls every year.

The Hospital is not a local institution—but Provincial. The sick child from any place in Ontario who can't afford to pay has the same privileges as the child living in Toronto and is treated free.

NURSE READING A STORY.

The Hospital had last year in its beds and cots 891 patients—316 of these were from 217 places outside of Toronto. The cost is 1.14 cents per patient per day, and there were 133 sick little ones a day in the Hospital.

Since its foundation the Hospital has treated 11,262 children. About 8,000 of these were unable to pay and were treated free.

MASSAGE.

Everybody's dollar may be the Friend in Need to Somebody's child.

Your dollar may be a door of hope to somebody's child. The Hospital pays out dividends of health and happiness to suffering childhood on every dollar that is paid by friends of little children.

THE CONVALESCENTS SWINGING DUMB BELLS.

If you know of any child in your neighborhood who is sick or crippled or has club feet send the parent's name to the Hospital.

See what can be done for club-foot children. There were 38 like cases last year and hundreds in 30 years.

BEFORE AFTER

Please send contributions to J. Ross Robertson, Chairman, or to Douglas Davidson, Sec. Treas., of the Hospital for Sick Children, College Street, Toronto.

Christmas Market Prices Were Good

That they were unmarried was evident from the mutual interest which was manifested, but just the reason why they wandered into the Christmas market this morning was scarcely so apparent. Nevertheless they were there, and the rejoiner, in affectionate tones of the prospective bride, in reply to a query, epitomized the general view of visitors to the Christmas market this morning. "I'll do anything else," she murmured, in dulcet tones, "but here's where I quit!"

The market was a surging, crowding mass of humanity from an early hour, and purchasers and vendors were scarcely distinguishable in the crush which prevailed. All varieties of seasonable farm produce were well represented in the offering. Turkeys were of course prominent among the farm produce. Prices were somewhat above those asked last week, though the visible supply appeared to be disposed of rapidly.

Turkeys of every variety were offered and sold at prices ranging from 90c to $2. The price of eggs was also a somewhat uncertain quantity, from 25c to 30c being asked. Butter sold at 22c per lb. Geese were much in evidence, and sold at from $1 to $1.25. There were scarcely so many chickens as upon the previous Saturday, the price being from 50c to 65c. Ducks were $1.

Upon the outside market, a considerable quantity of apples were offered at 75c and 80c per bag. Pork was 9 and 10c. Beef was offered in large quantities at 4 11-2 and 5 1-2 cents for fore and hind quarters respectively. Potatoes were also much in evidence, the price being $1 per bag. A small quantity of mutton was offered at 9c lb.

Mr. J. J. Hartley Denies Charge

Mr. J. J. Hartley, a member of the Board of Education last year, and for many years, and a candidate for next year's Board was interviewed to-day in reference to the statement made in a morning paper to-day in the report of Mr. D. W. Dumble's address yesterday at the nomination proceedings. In the speech, Mr. Dumble is reported to have said that Mr. Hartley had tendered on the election of the new Collegiate Institute.

Mr. Hartley gives this an emphatic denial. He never tendered either directly nor indirectly for the proposed Collegiate Institute and states that the charge that he had done so, is an unfair one.

EXPERIENCE OF A BIRCHTOWN LADY

Miss Mary Brown, of Birchtown, Shelburne Co., N.S., relates an experience that is of immediate interest to thousands of people in all parts of Canada. These thousands are the people who face a square meal with mingled feelings of pleasure and dread, in other words, the victims of Indigestion and Dyspepsia.

"I can say I had Dyspepsia for some time," says Miss Brown. "I tried many medicines, but never met with anything to help me till I used Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

"After taking three boxes I think they have made a perfect cure. And as it is over a year now since I took them I think I can safely say the cure was a permanent one."

If you want to eat three square meals a day and enjoy them use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Question Now Is Will The Big Strike Fail?

GOVERNMENT FORCED HAND

Strike Leaders Now Feel That a Blunder Was Made In Accepting Challenge While Organizations Were Unprepared—Non-Union Workers Attack Strikers, Fearing for Usual Christmas Gratuities.

St. Petersburg, Dec 23.—Some of the strike leaders already discouraged by the prospects of failure, do not hesitate to say that the decision to accept the challenge of the Government while the organizations were unprepared was a blunder, and that it can only be redeemed by forcing a conflict which will arouse the populace.

Several attempts at "red flag" demonstrations in the Vassili Ostrov and other industrial districts yesterday were dispersed by Cossacks.

There were several attacks on strikers by non-union workers, who fear that the strike will jeopardize the gratuities usually received by them during the Russian Christmas.

During Thursday night the authorities succeeded in getting a sufficient number of sailors from Kronstadt to operate all but one of the electric lighting plants. This was particularly galling to the strikers, as the darkening of the city and the stopping of the railroads were the most effective means of making the strike generally felt.

In the industrial districts many of the strikers seemed to have only the vaguest ideas of what they were striking for. Outside of the industrial regions there is little evidence of a strike.

The Russ, evidently discounting the failure of the strike, yesterday, declares that in any event "every defeat is a revolutionist victory and every victory of the Government approaches its final surrender."

Got In First Blow.

There was some extension of the strike yesterday in St. Petersburg, but the Government plainly holds the upper hand here. The success of the strike generally speaking depends on its development of Moscow and other places in the interior. Evidently the leaders hope to precipitate matters at Moscow with the view of setting up a provisional Government there if they can effect a split in the army, and also to secure possession of the other towns as they have in the case of Kharkoff, but their plans have not matured.

The Government, it is now apparent, took the revolutionists off their guard and forced the issue, preferring a test of strength before the workmen's organization was complete, confident that a defeat would greatly impair the prestige of the revolutionary leaders among their followers, and afford the Government time to marshal the forces of conservatism which are disgusted with the prevailing chaos and give the Government time to hold the elections.

Trains Under Military Guard.

The railroad men's strike committee made heroic efforts to stop trains from being run out of St. Petersburg yesterday, and succeeded in inducing practically all the station and roundhouse men, and many of the trainmen who remained on duty Thursday to join.

Nevertheless the Government has been despatching trains under military guards over all the lines, although regular schedules have not been maintained. Soldiers with flags on their bayonets have been doing duty as switchmen.

The strikers are intensely enraged at their failure to suspend traffic. They stopped a train from Berlin Thursday night outside of St. Petersburg, using a red lantern, and ordered the engineer out, but the soldiers' guard hurried up, drove off the strikers and the train proceeded.

Agitators will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

A Terrorist Circular.

The landlords throughout the country were empowered by an imperial ukase made public yesterday to organize guards for the protection of their property.

The boldest of all the bold pronunciamentos of the revolutionists is a mysterious hand bill with which Tsarskoe-Selo was flooded yesterday. Professing to allude to a terrorist plot against the Emperor the hand bills say:

"There will be a little puff of smoke. Pay no head to it as the result will be the best thing possible for everybody."

The police have been baffled in their efforts to find the printers and disseminators of these bills.

All Stores Closed.

Minsk, Russia, Dec. 23.—The general strike has begun here. All the stores are closed.

Ammunition for Baltic Provinces.

Paris, Dec. 23.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of The Petit Parisien, in a despatch dated Dec. 21, says that the Government is preparing to suppress the revolt in the Baltic Provinces and that large quantities of ammunition are being sent to the fortress of Duenaburg.

Poland Under Martial Law.

Warsaw, Dec. 23.—A proclamation of the Governor-General was gazetted here yesterday establishing martial law in all of the ten Governments of Russian Poland and appointing ten temporary military Governors-General.

Plague Threatens Russia.

Berlin, Dec. 23.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of The Tageblatt telegraphs as follows under yesterday's date: Slowly but surely the danger of a great plague epidemic advances. Nothing more can be done to suppress it and already the indication covers an area of 180 by 300 miles. Owing to the lack of doctors it is impossible to isolate the sick.

A NIGHTMARE

Gives point to the fact that excessive or irregular eating disturbs the digestion. Nightmare or night hag has its day time correspondence in the undue fullness after eating, with the belchings and sour or bitter rising so often experienced after too hasty or too hearty eating.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures dyspepsia or bad stomach. When the weak stomach is strengthened and invigorated the whole body shares in the increased strength derived from food properly digested and perfectly assimilated.

"I was a victim of sleeplessness and extreme nervousness induced by chronic indigestion and I felt heavy, tired and worn out continually," writes Miss Mary Smith, of 1818 No. Wahsatch Street, Colorado Springs, Colo. "Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery was the only medicine which relieved me. Within a week after I began using it that heavy oppressed feeling after meals had left me, and I found that I was able to sleep better than for months previously. My appetite was gradually restored, general system was toned up, nervousness became a thing of the past and I have now been in splendid health for over nine months."

Sometimes a selfish dealer tempted by the little more profit paid on the sale of less meritorious medicines will offer the customer a substitute as being "just as good" as the "Discovery." It may be better for him because it pays better, but it is not as good for you, if you want the medicine that has cured others, and which you believe will cure you.

1000-page Doctor Book sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to cover postage only; 80 stamps for cloth-bound copy. Formerly sold for $1.50 to extent of over 500,000 copies. Every family should possess a copy for ready reference in case of sudden illness or accident. It is illustrated with hundreds of wood-cuts and several colored plates. Address Dr. R. V. Church Conference Finds a Basis For Practical Work in Coming Together.

Toronto, Dec. 23.—The official report of the proceedings of the church union committee, which has been in session this week in the Metropolitan Church, prepared and published under authority by the secretaries, was made public last evening.

Summing Up Resolution.

The judgment of the joint committee respecting these reports is summed up in the following resolution, which was moved by Rev. Principal Scrimger, and seconded by Rev. Principal Shaw, and unanimously adopted:

"That this joint committee, having received the reports of the various sub-committees on doctrine, polity, the ministry, administration and law, and also the reports of the various denominational committees, rejoices to find the substantial unity existing among the negotiating churches, and feels encouraged in continuing further negotiations for union."

SUICIDE OF A "SANTA CLAUS."

Joseph Miller Buys Children Presents and Then Hangs Himself.

Toronto, Dec. 23.—By hanging himself with a shawl strap to the post of his bed, Joseph Miller, aged 28 years, of 512 West Front street, committed suicide last night.

Miller went to his room about 7 o'clock and at 8 o'clock, his wife found him dead.

Dr. George Smith was called, but nothing could be done. Coroner Wilson decided not to hold an inquest.

Miller came from North Gwillimbury three weeks ago, and although he had often declared he would commit suicide, last night he seemed to be in good spirits.

In the afternoon he drew $5 65 from the bank and bought some presents for his little children and wife. This seems to point to the fact that his action was not premeditated. His action is attributed by his wife to a sudden fit of melancholy.

Direct Line With Mediterranean.

London, Dec. 23.—Hon. Raymond Prefontaine, at the Chamber of Commerce banquet in Paris, spoke in support of the projected steamship line between Montreal and Mediterranean points. Mr. Lemieux described the strong sympathy of the French-Canadians to France, the land of their fathers, a sympathy which existed side by sidew ith firm attachment to Great Britain.

Vesselmen Object.

Ottawa, Dec. 23.—Vesselmen from the Maritime Provinces are complaining of the $5 tax exacted by the United States from Canadian vessels touching at ports in the Eastern States. The money is taken in the form of a fee for a certificate for a clean bill of health, which must be obtained. As to the head tax, that, it is asserted, is collected spasmodically, seemingly at times when money is needed.

The Counter Policy Is An Adroit Move

OF LITTLE EFFECT FOR YEAR

Rand Officials Say 48,000 Chinese Coolies Are Already In the Transvaal—Home Rule, In the Face of This Policy, Will Likely Be Practically Shelved—What Mining Officials Have to Say.

London, Dec. 23.—The announcement made by the Premier, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, in his speech Thursday night has aroused a storm of indignation among the Conservatives as the result of which the question of home rule for Ireland appears likely to be well nigh forgotten.

Whatever may have been the intention of the Premier, his action is looked upon in some quarters as an adroit counter move to Balfour's plan for forcing discussion of home rule to the front in the forthcoming campaign. In any case it projects a new and totally unexpected theme of contention into the forefront.

It had been supposed that the new Government would do nothing of the kind without first appointing a commission to consider the question. The leading officals of the board, as a general rule, reserve their opinions on the matter, but they admit that the action of the Government can have little effect for at least a year, as 48,000 Chinese coolies are already there, while the original idea was to experiment with 50,000. The elections for the new Government of the Transvaal will take place in February.

What Mining Officials Say.

Johannesburg, South Africa, Dec. 23.—Mining officials here deplore the action of the Home Government regarding the importation of Chinese coolies, as announced by Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman in London Thursday night.

In mining circles it is pointed out that expensive preparations had been made for the coolies, and that the prevention of their importation would entail much hardship on the mine owners.

The latter are determined to make a strong campaign with the possible result of serious difficulties.

The cry is raised that the Government is interfering unwarrantably with the rights of the Transvaal. Many persons here look for an outburst of disloyalty.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

For the first time since the opening of the Grand, vaudeville held away upon the boards, the initial performance being furnished by T. E. Kyle and Company. The acts of the evening were of a varied character, and ran in quick succession the emotional gamut from grave to gay, though at recurring intervals the process was reversed, and the audience was reduced to gravity of the "grave"-yard order.

A number of decidedly clever turns were, however, introduced, during the evening. Two dialogue scenes presented by Mr. and Mrs. Kyle won much appreciation. In the concluding one the comedy touches were delicate, and created a decided contrast with the grotesque attempt at humour in a preceding "coon" act. The acrobatic acts were interesting, and both an aerial ladder turn by a feminine artist, and a barrel-jumping feat were well applauded.

The attendance was large.

Mr. Geo. Garnette, called on the Examiner to-day to pay a tribute to the performance given by Prof. Crocker's educated horses, which appears here on Monday. Mr. Garnette saw this show in England several times, and states that it is in many respects a most creditable entertainment, and one which cannot fail to please. On one occasion he saw it in a hall with an audience of 5,000.

Carroll in the leading roles, is offering to the theatre going public a production which has scored an instantaneous success and which is receiving the most favourable comment of press and public in all the leading cities of the country where it has been seen. Miss Beaumont, as a singer of rare voice and talent, whose stage presence is pleasing while her co-star Mr. Carroll is one of the foremost comedians on the American stage. The staging of the play is on a lavish scale and the costumes and other accessories of the most elaborate character. The supporting company is composed exclusively of artists of pronounced ability and with the pony ballet add much to the attractiveness of the production.

Charles Leary's Assailant Will Pay the Penalty

The Yakhi Indian Who Struck Him Will be Shot by the Authorities --- Ald. Leary Has Just Returned From Los Angeles, Where He Took His Brother--His Recovery Now Only a Matter of Time--A Rough Country.

SOME PECULIARITIES OF OLD MEXICO

Mr. R. H. Leary returned on Saturday from Santa Ana, Mexico, where he went to attend his brother, who, it will be remembered, was very seriously injured some weeks ago. It will be good news to Mr. Leary's friends to learn that he is on a fair way to recovery. Ald. Leary took his brother to Los Angeles, Cal., where he is to be well cared for, and his complete recovery is now only a matter of time. His escape from death was a miraculous one, his skull being fractured six and a half inches deep made in his brain.

A week ago last Friday Mr. Leary was taken from Santa Ana, a drive of 65 miles, to the nearest railway station, and from there to Los Angeles, where he is in good hands and will speedily recover.

His assailant, a Yakhi Indian, is under arrest, and will be shot by the authorities for the offence.

Ald. Leary was not particularly favourably impressed with Old Mexico as a desirable place of residence, even outside of the danger of assassinations which one is continually in. It is very rich in gold and other minerals, but this is its only advantage.

The company for which Mr. Leary worked, the Llewellyn Iron Company, of Los Angeles, has a contract for $250,000 for installing a 100 stamp mill, and Mr. Leary was in charge of this work when he was hurt. The company working the mine is spending $1,500,000 in developing it before any gold will be taken out an evidence of their faith in the wealth of the property.

Ald. Leary came from Los Angeles to Chicago on the Golden State Limited, one of the finest trains in America, and his trip home was much shorter than his outward trip. He left his brother on Tuesday and reached Peterborough on Saturday night. He intends in the near future to take his family to California for a trip.

How Christmas Day Was Spent In Peterborough

Some Respects in Which Peterborough Was More Fortunate Than Her Sister Ontario Cities' The Usual Home-Comings Yesterday — Railways Busy Traffic—Church Services Well Attended—The Day's Entertainment for Home People.

THE CHARITABLE INSTITUTIONS CHRISTMAS

Peterborough was more fortunate in its Christmas weather, than the majority of Ontario cities. It was the only one west of Ottawa in which there was sleighing, without which no Christmas seems like Christmas. In Toronto, and all the cities west of here, there was either mud, or bare ground.

In this respect Peterborough was better of then her sister cities. It was typical Christmas weather here, and the day was enjoyed by all who remained in the city. There was the usual exodus, as well as the usual home-coming, and they were about equal, as far as numbers are concerned.

All the trains going out on Saturday were crowded, in some cases two sections being run. The C. P. R. noon express on Saturday, as well as the 5.15 express going west, were both run in two sections, and were both crowded. The midnight train the same day was in two sections.

The G.T.R. trains were also loaded to their limit of capacity, but in spite of the fact they left on time. The officials of the railways are well pleased with the volume of business done this Christmas, the traffic being well up to that of former years.

Visitors from west of Toronto, report that there was very little extra traffic west of that city, but a great deal coming east of Toronto.

For those who remained in the city yesterday, there was plenty to entertain and amuse. There were, of course the usual family re-unions, when the absent members of the families returned to spend the day with friends.

The church services were well attended and the music and sermons were appropriate to the day.

The skating rinks were well patronized, and the ice was in good condition. This, too, was a pleasure which the majority of cities had to forego and the people of Peterborough appreciated it to the full.

In the hospitals, House of Providence, Protestant Home, and the Children's Shelter, and other similar institutions yesterday, the patients and inmates were not forgotten, and to those who were in a physical condition to enjoy it, the day passed pleasantly. There was the usual distribution of dainties, and that they were appreciated was evident.

To the children at the Shelter it was one of the merriest days they had ever spent. The friends of this institution, and they seemed to be legion, did not forget the children on Christmas, and they sent them many gifts, which gladdened the hearts of the little ones, and made the day a happy one to them.

On the whole the day was passed most pleasantly in the city, and will linger in memory in the minds of a great many to whom it was for various reasons a Merry Christmas.

Cannot Change The Assessment

Decision Against Supreme Court Royal Arcanum.

New Mork, Dec. 23.—Justice Gaynor in the Equity term of the Supreme Court in Brooklyn to-day handed down a decision in the case of James L. Mock, formerly Secretary of Berkeley Council, 1,945, of Brooklyn, and others against the Supreme Council of the Royal Arcanum denying the right of the Supreme Council to raise the rates or in any way change the assessments of a member from what they were when the member was admitted to the orders.

Justice Gaynor said: "The amendments complained of which increase the assessments are void for the reason that they change the contracts of the members of the organization. I need add nothing to what I said in Langdon v. the American Legion of Honour on the same head."

The hearing in this action took up two days and among the witnesses heard was Wm. O. Robson, Secretary of the Supreme Council. Mr. Robson said the Royal Arcanum had now in force about $575,000,000 in insurance certificates, and that under the laws of Massachussetts the order had the right to increase the assessments or change the rates under proper procedure.

The kite, according to the ornithological authorities, is declared to be extinct, and it is practically so. But a vigilance committee has, nevertheless, been formed in Wales for the protection of the bird.

General Store Was Destroyed

Heavy Loss Sustained by Brother-in-Law of Mr. W. J. Morgan.

Intelligence was received on Saturday by Mr. W. J. Morgan, of a disastrous fire at Rainham, Haldiman county, Ont., which entirely destroyed the general store premises of his brother-in-law, Mr. Hair.

Mrs. Hair at the time of the occurrence was about to start for Peterborough for a holiday visit with her brother, Mr. Morgan, and had for this purpose packed her trunk, and made other preparations.

Mr. and Mrs. Hair have resided for about one year at Rainham, and conducted a prosperous general store business. The information regarding the amount of the loss, or regarding other details of the fire is extremely meagre, but it is expected that the damage to stock alone will be over $5,000, practically nothing being saved.

A Record Breaker.

—The case of the Messrs. Long Bros. as a sample of the experience of many of our merchants regarding the abnormally large business done last Saturday. In this instance Mr. Harry Long states that the day was a genuine record-breaker. Never before in their twenty-nine years' business in Peterborough did sales reach the figures they did on Saturday.

Child Wanders In Bare Feet

Much Alarm Created in West End Household.

A child of an Elm street resident yesterday afternoon created much anxiety for some time. Caps boots or stockings, it wandered down the street into terra incognita and for a time the utmost efforts of the family failed to result in securing any information as to its whereabouts. Inquiry was made of the police, but this also failed in the desired end, and the search was continued, the mother of the infant being naturally in a state of alarm and uncertainty. The infant, it is understood, has since been recovered.

Two Choirs In New Vestments

In two city churches on Sunday the choirs made their first appearance in vestments. The lady members of St. Paul's and Charlotte street choirs were gowned on Sunday, for the first time in their new apparel, and the effect produced was most satisfactory.

A number of persons who had, before they saw the vestments, expressed opposition to the proposal, were, after Sunday, heartily in favour of them, and stated that they were agreeably surprised at the improvement which the gowns made.

CRISIS OF GIRLHOOD

A TIME OF PAIN AND PERIL

Miss Emma Cole Says that Lydia E Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has Saved Her Life and Made Her Well

How many lives of beautiful young girls have been sacrificed just as they were ripening into womanhood! How many irregularities or displacements have been developed at this important period, resulting in years of suffering!

Girls' modesty and oversensitiveness often puzzle their mothers and baffle physicians, because they withhold their confidence at this critical period.

A mother should come to her child's aid and remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will at this time prepare the system for the coming change and start the menstrual period in a young girl's life without pain or irregularities.

Miss Emma Cole of Tullahoma, Tenn., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I want to tell you that I am enjoying better health than I have for years, and I owe it all to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"When fourteen years of age I suffered almost constant pain, and for two or three years I had soreness and pain in my side, headaches and was dizzy and nervous, and doctors all failed to help me.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended, and after taking it my health began to improve rapidly, and I think it saved my life. I sincerely hope my experience will be a help to other girls who are passing from girlhood to womanhood, for I know your Compound will do as much for them."

If you know of any young girl who is sick and needs motherly advice ask her to write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., and she will receive free advice which will put her on the right road to a strong, healthy and happy womanhood.

Entertainment On Friday Night

Successful Christmas Event at Coldsprings, Otonabee.

The Cold Springs Union Sunday School of Otonabee, held its annual, and, as usual, very successful, entertainment, Friday night. The room was decorated very prettily with bunting and evergreens, which presented a most attractive appearance. The different numbers of the lengthy programme were given with excellent effect to a large and appreciative audience, the efforts put forth by those participating being greatly applauded by those present. Miss Laura Bennett, superintendent of the Sunday school was in the chair, and presented the following programme:

Chairman's address... ....
Recitation, Who made the Speech.....
Miss Roxie Downer
Dialogue, The Village Meddler.....
Mrs. A. Huston, Miss M. Long, Mr I. Pammett, Mr. B. Bennett.
Recitation... ... ... Miss M. Waldie
Song, The Snow Brigade...Six boys
Solo, The Miner's Dream of Home...
Miss M. Kitney
Recitation, Choosing a Name .....Miss Maggie Bennett
Dialogue, The Thorn and the Rose...
Miss Grace Kidd, Miss Emily Deyell, Miss Minnie Kitney, Mr. Peter Gillespie.
Chorus, The Good Old Christ Comes Home..... .....Children
Recitation... ... ...Miss Emily Deyell
Recitation... ...Master Everett Kidd
Doll show... ... ...Six Girls
Recitation... ... ...B. Huston
Solo, in costume, Silver Threads Among the Gold..Miss M. Kitney
Dialogue, Cast Thy Bread upon the Waters...Misses Gladys Wooly and Miss Gladys Rose.
Recitation... ... ...Miss Rose Witticks
Chorus, Do you Know the Song the Angels Sing?... ... ...Children
Dialogue, Three Smart Girls .....
Miss Audrey Spears, Miss May Smythe, Miss Annie Peters, Miss Jennie Huston, Messrs. F. Kitney, I. Pammett, H. Peters.
Chorus, Good Night ... ...Children
God save the King.

The different selections given by the children were admirably produced, and great credit is due them as well as to the trainers, Miss F. Kitney and Miss L. Bennett. The recitations by Miss Roxie Downer and Miss Maggie Bennett, two promising young elocutionists, were among the best of the items. The dialogues were given in a skilful manner, and some of those who took part would have done credit to the stage. The two solos by Miss Minnie Kitney were as usual much appreciated by the audience, and Miss Deyell's and Master E. Kidd's humourous recitations caused the relaxation of the sternest faces. The recitations by Miss M. Waldie and Miss Witticks were also well-received. The financial issue of the concert was, too, a very gratifying success, and the committee in charge deserves praise for the outcome of their undertaking.

William Quay's Will Makes Some Queer Conditions

A Late Port Hope Resident and His Will—Son Must Not Gamble—Another Son Punished for Alleged Indifference—They Must Work or the Money Stops—If Legatee Objects the Legacy is Cancelled—Other Provisions.

PETERBORO' DIVINE BURIED DECEASED

The will of the late William Quay, who died in Port Hope suddenly on October 13th, has been filed for probate. Some of the conditions of that document are somewhat out of the ordinary, and are given below. He says:

"I hereby direct my said executors and trustees to give to my son, Thos. John Franklin Quay, fifteen thousand dollars, on the following conditions, viz., he shall personally appear before the said executors in Port Hope before receiving any part thereof. He shall not be engaged in Malt or Spirituous Liquor traffic, or in any form of gambling ,or games of chance, directly or indirectly, or through any agent or partner, or in any other way whatsoever; and he shall only participate in my residuary estate on same conditions; and he shall furnish executors yearly with a reasonable proof that he is strictly observing the above conditions. The above fifteen thousand dollars to be given to him only if the above conditions are complied with, as follows, viz., one thousand dollars six months after my decease, and one thousand dollars each year thereafter for fourteen years.

"To my son, William F. A. Quay, M.D., the sum of five thousand dollars as follows: viz., five hundred dollars five years after my decease, and five hundred dollars each year thereafter for nine years; but before receiving any part thereof, or any share in my residuary estate, he shall appear personally before my executors in Port Hope. The amount of this bequest and the conditions attached are based entirely on his gross indifference and demeanour towards me when in Canada in 1903, and in 1905.

"In case of accident, ill-health or other infirmity befalling any of my sons, leaving them unfit, in the opinion of my executors, to manage their own affairs properly, my said executors may stop their allowance and administer to the actual requirements of such and their families as my executors deem necessary out of my estate; and if any of my sons die, leaving a wife without issue, such wife if she is and continues to be a proper and a worthy woman, may have three hundred dollars a year while she remains a widow. If any of my sons die, leaving issue, such shall receive equally if more than one, the share their deceased parent was entitled to, except a reasonable share for their mother's maintenance to be decided by my executors.

"It shall be compulsory on all my sons being able bodily and mentally that they apply themselves diligently and continuously to some honourable occupation or calling, failing such my executors may withhold the above bequests.

"I hereby direct my executors and trustees to purchase four diamond scarf pins of the value of one hundred dollars each; one for each of my friends, Francis Howard Kilbourne, one for John Henry Helm, one for J. W. Clemesha, M.D., and one for my son, Ralph I. D. Quay, D.D.S.; legacees may choose for themselves.

"I direct my said executors to give to my daughter, Nellie I. Kilbourne, my two pictures, 'Looking In,' and 'Looking Out,' also my cider down quilt and morocco writing case. To Agnes Bleakley, my niece, my black metal clock and my plain gold ring, given to me by her mother. To Richard Westaway ,my seal cap and winter overcoat, and a suit of black clothes. To my son, Ralph I. D. Quay, my gold chain and charm. To Elizabeth Bouskel Chambers, of Peterborough, two hundred dollars. To Mary Wilcock Walker, wife of Hugh Walker, two hundred dollars. To Ida L. Clark, of Oswego, N.Y., one hundred dollars.

"I hereby direct that in case any person or persons shall enter proceedings or cause such to be entered, or be in any way mixed up or concerned in disturbing or trying to break or set aside my will, such person or persons shall receive nothing out of or from my estate either directly or indirectly whatsoever, even though their names may appear in this my will as legatees.

"I hereby desire to be buried from the Methodist church, and that my body be taken there the morning of my funeral at daylight, and that the organ, pulpit, rail and my pew be properly draped at my expense; and in case of any objection to this either by the minister or trustees, the beforementioned bequest of two thousand dollars to the trustees of the Methodist church in trust shall be entirely cancelled and be void. Dr. Crothers will bury me and a quartette choir will sing. Fee $10."

Salvation Army's Annual 'Xmas Entertainment

Presents Were Distributed Last Night in the Barracks—Highly Enjoyable Song Service by Junior Corps' Members—A Large Attendance—Barracks Prettily Decorated for the Event—Other Features of the Evening.

WAR CRY SALES WERE LARGE

The Trojan wooden horse, famous as it was, would scarcely make a good "also ran" in comparison with the one which Staff-Captain McAmmond and Mr. Samuel Dancy were moving from the platform at the Salvation Army Barracks this morning, when The Examiner called for the purpose of having a look in at the aftermath of the enjoyable and highly successful Christmas celebration held last night.

The wooden equine, it is true, bore this morning a Christmas turkey-like aspect, it being decapitated for the purpose of moving; nevertheless, it last night performed a highly useful purpose, furnishing unlimited enjoyment for the children of the junior corps, who gave their annual service of song. The presents were distributed after the service, and instead of the usual Christmas tree, the horse and cutter, driven by Santa Claus, and laden with gifts, was introduced as a means of distribution, and proved a delightful innovation, indeed.

The chair was occupied by Sergeant-Major Braund, of the junior corps, who gave a short address upon the work in his department during the year, many advances having been made. Three classes have been added, and a still further enlargement of another class is in prospect, and will follow the reorganization upon a new basis of the Sunday School. The meeting was opened by a selection by the band.

Mrs. (Staff-Captain) McAmmond read the report of sales of the Christmas War Cry, in which the magnificent total of 1,350 copies has been reached. The highest number sold in any previous year was 500. The effort, notes itabing, as it did, no little amount of energetic labour, speaks volumes for the progress made during the year. Many large individual sales were reported, the largest of which was 213 by Mr. Samuel Dancy.

The song service was a most delightful event, about twenty-five children taking part. The Christmas story was told in song, with graphic verbal interludes by Miss Millie Dacon. This was followed by the distribution of prizes, the duties of Santa Claus being performed by Mr. Fred. Grey.

The barracks was beautifully decorated for the occasion with appropriate yule-tide emblems, bunting, flags, streamers, etc. The attendance was large, the seating capacity being taxed to its utmost. Altogether the affair may be classed as one of the most enjoyable of the Christmas season.

Safeguard the Children

DR. CHASE'S SYRUP OF LINSEED AND TURPENTINE

There are some reasons why Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is the most suitable treatment obtainable for children.

It is pleasant to the taste, and children like to take it.

It is composed of simple ingredients of proven value in the cure of throat and lung troubles.

It is positively free from anything of an injurious nature, and can be used with perfect safety with the smallest child, so long as directions are followed.

It promptly relieves even the most severe chest colds and brings about a thorough cure.

You are not experimenting when you use Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, for it is the standby in thousands of homes, where time and again it has proven its exceptional worth.

When you make up your mind to safeguard your children by keeping Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine in the house, do not allow your dealer to persuade you into taking something on which he has a larger profit.

Mrs. (Wm. Ball, Bracebridge, Ont., writes:—"I can recommend Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine most heartily for all forms of colds, and I think if every family would use it for their little ones it would save lots of worry and expense and find it prompt and lasting in its effects.

"My three youngest boys had whooping cough this winter and we could get nothing to help them until we sent for Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. It arrested the coughs at once and they kept on improving until they were cured at the cost of one dollar. That was not a large bill for so dangerous and distressing an ailment."

In the hour of emergency, when croup or colds seize your child, the cheap substitutes will fail you, but Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine never disappoints. 35 cts. a bottle, at all dealers.

He has gone into business for himself, and is doing well. He likes the winters of Manitoba better than those of Ontario, the steady cold suiting him better than the alternate freezing and thawing.

That he has not forgotten Peterough is evidenced by his expressed hope that it is growing, and that it is wearing well the dignity of a city.

The nominations of the united Townships of Galway and Cavendish resulted in returning the old reeve and councillors by acclamation. The council, therefore, for 1906 will be constituted as follows: C. Coben, Reeve, Councillors, H. Beckett, D. Curlin, J. Clark, Wm. Hunter.

Wooden Wedding Was Celebrated

A large party of friends met last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Mitchell, at 407 Sherbrooke street, to celebrate their wooden wedding. After the usual exchange of greetings and after the presents which were many and costly, were viewed, the party sat down to a sumptuous supper. After the supper the guests spent an enjoyable evening in games and music.

Amongst the guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Weir, of Otonabee; Mr. and Mrs. T. Mitchell, of Peterborough; Mr. and Mrs. Erskine, of Peterborough; Mr. and Mrs. Girvin of East City; Mr. and Mrs. R. Mitchell of Otonabee; Mr. and Mrs. H. Mitchell of East City; Mr. R. J. Mitchell of East City; and Mrs. and Miss Jackson, of Peterborough.

Pleasing Gift Was Received

Mr. Alex. Edmison, of East City, was the recipient yesterday of a handsome yule-tide remembrances from his son, Dr. Edmison, of Kenora, formerly of Peterborough, in the form of a box of Lake of the Woods trout.

Saturday's Picture A Difficult One

The "Prominent Citizen" picture in the Examiner of Saturday, was a hard one, and only five persons telephoned an identification to this office. It may be, however, that others knew the gentleman, and were too busy to telephone. The picture was one of Mr. Richard Errett, and the first to identify it was Mr. F. J. R. Mitchell, who again had the distinction of being the first to telephone to this office. Mr. R. R. Hall, M. P., Dr. Burnham, and Mr. Errett, along with a fifth gentleman, who modestly asks that his name be withheld. His picture was published once in this series, and he evidently thought that he was given enough publicity on that occasion.

THE AXE AGAIN.

(London Advertiser.)

When Premier Whitney on Thursday was questioned as to the reported dismissal of Dr. Russell, superintendent of the Hamilton Asylum for the Insane, he replied that he knew nothing of it and "did not believe it was so." Dr. Russell informs the public that he has not been dismissed, but has been asked to send in his resignation.

It is to be hoped that Dr. Russell will refuse to take the hint, and will place upon the Government the responsibility of showing cause for its action. A man in Dr. Russell's position is apt to consider it beneath his dignity to wait to be kicked out of office, but he will be submitting to a greater indignity if he obligingly sends in his resignation, which will create the impression that he has deserved dismissal. He has a very good opportunity to do the public a service by placing the Government on trial and challenging the spoils system. He has a very high reputation in the medical profession, and his administration of the Hamilton Asylum has been considered exemplary. If he will stand to his guns he will arouse public sympathy and indignation, and aid in routing the spoils brigade, which is beginning to get the upper hand.

Toronto News on The Spoils System

To Be Completed by Steady and Continuous Pressure

In its comments on "Current Events," the Toronto News has the following:

"The Kincardine Review says: 'The Toronto News is perfectly willing to have civil servants dismissed, but not without a public investigation. That is very proper when the charge is motive partisanship or malfeasance, but what about the numerous civil servants against which neither charge can be made, yet who are absolutely useless? The News must know that there are many such.'

"The answer is that the News is not discussing the ordinary removal or retirement of officials, such as might occur under any Government. It is discussing removals for partisanship, the danger being that under cover of a general charge of partizanship, the spoils system may be introduced. The weakness of the position of the Kincardine Review, and some other journals which do not advocate the spoils system, is that they ignore the fact that a fight is in progress over that point; that there is enormous ,widespread and constant pressure for the introduction of the spoils system. They are crying peace when there is no peace.

"We have some journals indignantly denying that there is an approach to the spoils system, and others like the Hamilton Spectator, using language which means nothing but the introduction of the spoils system, and we know that behind the latter class of papers is a very strong and persistent demand for clearing out the old officeholders. Then we have dismissals that are unexplained, followed by some vague and irresponsible charge of partisanship. Nobody expects that the spoils system will be introduced all at once by legislation or formal regulation. If it becomes the prevailing system, it will be by steady pressure, accompanied by surrender, not of the whole field at once, but of point after point. No official is perfect and steady pressure is pretty sure to discover some weakness that may be used as a pretext for dismissal. The only safeguard is to resist the pressure, and discourage the office seekers."

HOUNSELL-CARTER.

A very pretty event took place on Christmas day, at 9.30 a.m., at the residence of Mrs. E. Carter, 193 Auburn street, when her daughter, Miss Mary Carter, was married to Mr. George Victor Hounsell. Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, M.A., rector of St. Luke's Church, officiated at the ceremony. The wedding was very quiet, only the immediate relatives being present. The bride was given away by her mother. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Anderson being the witnesses. Many pretty and valuable presents testified to the high esteem in which the bride is held. She took an active part in church work, and is a member of the Girls' Auxiliary of St. Luke's Church. Mr. and Mrs. Hounsell left on the noon train to spend a short honeymoon in Toronto and other western points. After their return they will reside at 193 Auburn street.

HOBBS—OLIVER.

A quiet, though pretty, nuptial event took place yesterday at the residence of the groom's father, Park street, when Mr. John Lester Hobbs and Miss Annie Oliver, daughter of Mr. Elias Oliver, of Fenelon Falls, were united in marriage by Staff-Captain McAmmond, of the Salvation Army.

The bridesmaid was Miss Grace Cover, the groom being assisted by Mr. Ernest Sarjeant. The ceremony was attended by only a few relatives and immediate friends of the contracting parties. Mr. and Mrs. Hobbs will reside in Peterborough.

YOUNG—ELMHIRST.

At St. Andrew's manse this afternoon, at three o'clock, a wedding was performed, the principals being Mr. Festus Alexander Young, of Chandos township, and Miss Mabel Jane Elmhirst, daughter of Mr. Philip Elmhirst, of Anstruther.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. G. Potter. The bridesmaid was Miss Clara S. Elmhirst, and and the groomsman Mr. Jas. E. Roberts.

Mr. and Mrs. Young will reside in Chandos, to which place they will go to-morrow.

DOUBLE WEDDING.

The Port Hope Guide of Thursday said:

An event of unusual interest took place yesterday when two of Campbellcroft's fairest daughters were united in marriage to two of Peterborough's popular young gentlemen.

The brides were Miss Amy M. Wright and Miss Hannah B. Wright, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Wright, "Fairview," Campbellcroft, and the respective grooms were Franklin Alexander Coates and David James Cameron, both of Peterborough.

The brides, who were given away by their father, looked very pretty, Miss Amy wore a rich gown of white silk with all over lace trimming and Miss Hannah in a rich attirement of white eolianne trimmed with all-over lace and insertion.

The ceremony took place in the parlour under an arch of evergreen and holly and the large palms formed a very effective background. The Rev. Wm. Johnston, pastor of the Presbyterian church, Millbrook, officiated and the brides in turn acted as bridesmaids. Miss Flossie Chislett, organist of the First Presbyterian Church, presided at the organ. After the nuptial ceremony the guests, numbering about seventy five, sat down to a very sumptuous wedding dejeuner. Congratulations were showered on the young brides and the best wishes of their many friends extended.

The bridal party left on the 4.30 train for Toronto and other western cities, after which they will take up their residence in Peterborough. Mrs. Coates' going away dress was green ladies' cloth with hat to match while Mrs. Cameron's was of brown ladies' cloth with hat to match.

The costly array of presents testify to some degree the popularity of the brides. The gift of Mr. Coates to his bride was a beautiful sable muff and Mr. Cameron presented his bride with an elegant gold watch and chain. The brides also received crescents of pearls for their services as bridesmaids.

The brides have always taken an active part in church and social work and while much regret is expressed in losing them from Campbellcroft, still their large circle of friends wish them all the prosperity and felicity this world can afford in which the Guide joins.

Among the guests present were Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Chislett, Miss Flossie Chislett, Miss Maggie Chislett, Miss M. Lockington, Miss S. Atkins, Mr. S. Lockington, Port Hope; Mr. and Mrs. A. Pratt, Mrs. W. L. Stewart, Cobourg; Mr. Stewart Wright, Miss M. Wright, Toronto; Mrs. G. Armstrong and Miss N. Bill, Port Dover; Mr. and Mrs. A. Cameron, Peterborough.

Death Of A Former Prominent Resident

A Leading Toronto Educationalist—At One Time a Citizen of Peterborough.

The following from the Toronto World of Monday, refers to the late Dr. McFaul, who will be remembered by many in Peterborough, as a member of the teaching staff of the Collegiate Institute about twenty-five years ago. He occupied the position of English master for some time, and afterwards was appointed public school inspector for the town. He was an active and energetic man, a hard worker and ambitious. He married Miss Annie Nesbitt, a granddaughter of the late Walter Sheridan, treasurer for many years of the County of Peterborough, previous to the appointment of the late Mr. Pearse to the position. Dr. McFaul's widow has many friends in the city, who will sympathy with her in her great loss.

One of the best known of local educationalists was suddenly removed by death on Saturday night in the person of Dr. John H. McFaul, 497 Carlton street.

Dr. McFaul, while he had suffered from intermittent attacks of heart trouble for the last two years, had been apparently enjoying good health of late. He was present at the nominations in the city hall on Friday morning, and it had been expected by his friends that he would offer himself as a candidate, his tenure for a number of years of the office of secretary-treasurer of the high school board having made his name a familiar one in educational matters. About 8 o'clock on Saturday night he felt unwell and retired to his room. A few minutes later he was discovered in a dying condition and passed away shortly afterwards. The cause of death was angina pectoris.

Born in 1849, in Wellington, Prince Edward County, of U. E. Loyalist stock, it was in 1885 that he came to Toronto as an instructor in drawing at the Normal School. Previous to this, he had been a school inspector at Peterborough, and later St. Catharines. He took up medicine as a study, and began practice about fifteen years ago. He continued to take a deep interest in the schools, and in 1894 was appointed secretary-treasurer of the high school board by the city council, retaining the position up to the time of the amalgamation of the public and high school boards.

Dr. McFaul made a specialty of drawing and penmanship. In 1892 he brought out a manual of drawing adopted by the government as a public school text book and retained as a standard for a number of years. He was also the originator of a number of copy books, he being the master of a clear, copperplate style of writing, that was used for illustration purposes.

Deceased had been, since coming to Toronto, a member of Sherbourne Street Methodist Church. He leaves a widow and two daughters, Mrs. Dr. Atkins, Detroit, and Mrs. A. E. Brownlee, of this city. There are two brothers, Leonard and Edward, Seaforth, and Mrs. Hare of Bloomfield, is a sister. The funeral will be held on Tuesday at 2 p.m. Rev. R. P. Bowles will conduct the services, which will be under the auspices of St. Andrew's Masonic Lodge.

The Riverside Park Boundary Question

To-night the Board of Works will wrestle with the question of the boundaries of Riverside Park, and the meeting promises to be an exceedingly interesting session. The syndicate owning the park property will be represented at the meeting to-night, and will endeavour to prove that the boundaries which they claim are within their right.

It is stated that in all probability the Council may find that they are not legally entitled to even as much as the syndicate was prepared to concede to them. According to the present prospects the meeting will be an interesting one.

Cooney Again on the Warpath,

—Alf. Cooney walked into the police station this morning and gave himself up. Alf. was considerably under the influence, and was very shaky and nervous when he sought the solace of the cells. Beyond doubt he is in a deplorable condition. "You'll have to send me to the gaol or hospital, for I'm sick and diseased," he remarked, after he had been locked up. Cooney is a well known offender and has been up on charges of drunk and vagrancy several times. He has also done time on the hill.

Sunday At Park Street

Large congregations gathered at the Christmas services in the Park street Baptist church on Sunday last. The various musical numbers rendered by the choir during the evening service were much enjoyed. Mr. George Gobeen was in good voice in his solo, "Man of Sorrows, oft Reviled." A quartette by Miss Mabel Gillespie, Mr. and Mrs. John Rowe, and Mr. Jas. Tranter, was rendered with good effect.

The services of the day were well attended and were most appropriate.

Broke His Leg In a "Scrap"

Serious Results Following Row in Hotel Bar,

Last night between the hours of 7 and 8 o'clock a young man, Scriver by name, was found in a helpless condition on the sidewalk in front of the City Hotel. At first it was thought that he was not seriously injured, but upon being lifted from the sidewalk he uttered an exclamation of pain, giving evidence of the great suffering he was undergoing. Seeing that his pain was intense, several helping hands carried him into a nearby barber shop, where a doctor was telephoned for. When the physician arrived upon the scene he pronounced the young man to be suffering from a fracture of the leg. The ambulance was at once telephoned for and the victim taken to the Nicholls Hospital.

It appears that Scriver and another man had an altercation in the hotel bar, and that in a fall sustained by Scriver, he broke the leg. But it is really marvellous that he should have struggled right out into the street. He did not appear to be under the influence of liquor.

Much Activity In The Peterborough Horse World

The Examiner representative paid a visit to Liggett's stables on Christmas Day, and saw the fast local horses, under care of Trainer H. A. Cooke, that are stabled there.

Gradicator, by Agitator, a fine jet black stallion (no whits whatever), owned by Mr. A. Rountree and some other local gentlemen, shone like a bottle in his comfortable box stall and gave evidence of judicious feeding, training and grooming. Gradicator, who was until lately the property of Father O'Gorman, of Gananoque, stands sixteen hands high and is eight years of age. The big stallion is a very likely looking horse. He has no mark. Gradicator will probably be entered in the green race at the local ice races.

Expelled, by Bourbonaise, owned by Mr. R. J. Munro, is by no means the most elegant beast in the stable, but he is clean limbed and has a good head. He is a chestnut and of good disposition. Expelled is the biggest horse in the barn, standing 16 1-2 hands in height. Expelled has a long steady stride and is one of the best roadsters that Trainer Cook has on his string. He is eight years of age and is rapidly improving in speed. Expelled will start in the .25 trot or pace at the Orillia ice races, which will be held on the third and fourth of January. He will also start at Port Perry, Lindsay, and probably at the other towns on the circuit.

Miss Paisley, by Montrose, owned by Mr. Geo. Liggett, is one of the most likely steeds in the barn. Miss Paisley, very unfortunately, has lately been undergoing a course of veterinary treatment for acute indigestion, but her owner has decided to take a chance with her in the free for all at Orillia. She will also be entered in other towns on the ice circuit. She has a mark of 2.24 1-4 over ice and 2.26 over dirt.

Little Jap, by Wild Brino, has a mark of 49 3-4, and is beyond doubt the most symmetrical little animal in the stable. He is the property of Mr. R. J. Munro. Little Jap stands fourteen hands three inches and is clear cut all through. He is a kind, even-tempered horse. Little Jap will start in the .50 pace in Orillia, and will also be entered in the ice races at other towns on the Midland Circuit.

The City League Meeting To-night

The adjourned meeting to re-organize the City Hockey League, for the season, will be held to-night, in the Y.M.C.A. parlours. The prospects are that there will be at least three teams ready to enter the league, the Bankers proposing to enter two teams for the sake of ensuring the organization of the league.

All teams wishing to enter a city league, are asked to send representatives to the meeting, for, unless there are sufficient teams represented at the meeting to-night, there will be no league this year.

The Sweaters of the Snowflakes, another enthusiastic juvenile organization, are very natty being navy blue and white in colour with white shoulder, white cuffs, white fringe at button and a white monogram S. To-night the last practice of the seniors before the first game of the season to-morrow night with the Queen's University team will be held. The team will be chosen at the practice to-night, and the teams for practice will line up to-night as follows:—

Fitzpatrick — Crough
Point.
Stroud — Glover
Cover Point.
Cavanah — Crowley
Forwards.
Graham — Whitcroft
Morgan — Watson
Currier — Parnell
McGrath — Rose

The Peterborough Juniors played their first game this season when they clashed with the junior aggregation of Belleville last night. Considering the fact that many members of the team have never handled a stick this year till last night and also considering that the team has never practised together before this year the showing of the home team was very creditable indeed. The game was rather rough throughout and in the latter part of the second half Rose was seized with a cramp in the leg and had to be carried to the dressing room. Several of the players on both teams were ruled off for rough play during the game. With a little more practice the locals feel confident of their ability to defeat the Belleville seven on any ice. The lighting in the Belleville rink was very poor and nearly all the winners' scores were obtained on long lifts. The rink was filled with an enthusiastic crowd.

Peterborough set the ball a rolling by scoring the first goal after which Belleville landed two straight. Peterborough then evened up, making the score two all. Before half time Belleville placed three straight in the nets, leaving the half time score 5-2. In the second half Peterborough took a decided spurt for the border and managed to score four in succession before the Cemetarville bunch got a look in. This left Peterborough in the lead by one goal. Score 6-5. Belleville was not long in evening up, but the tie remained unbroken till a few minutes before time, when Belleville copped the winning point. Final score 7-6.

This afternoon the Emeralds and the Crescents played on the river and the game resulted in a victory for the former by 1-0.

SKATING.

Commencing on the 17th and ending last night there was a six day skating race at Wesley Rink, Winnipeg, in which there were eight starters. On each of the six nights the race lasted half an hour, making the total length of time that the race occupied three hours. If the six days' bicycle races that are held at Madison Square Gardens, New York, were conducted more after this manner the infamous exhibitions would be less brutal and demoralizing.

BOXING AND WRESTLING

The different sporting editors are not tearing to pieces Dr. Osler's theory since Harvey Parker lost the welterweight championship of the world to Charlie Conkie, of Hamilton, and since Fitz, the old-time wonder of the roped arena, has succumbed to Jack O'Brien.

• • • •

Despatches state that Fitzsimmons is broken hearted over the result of his last fight. In spite of the fact that it was generally rumoured that O'Brien could not hit hard he had Fitz's countenance decorated in a manner that was not in keeping with the Christmas season. If O'Brien meets Marvin Hart it will be a case of the Kangaroo and the bear.

• • • •

Professional boxing used to have quite a hold upon the Toronto sporting public, when Matty Matthews, Rube Ferns, Frank Erne, Jim Pop, Jack Gerrard and a number of other top notchers provided entertainment for large crowds but now amateur boxing alone holds the boards. On the 9th of January Charles Harkenschmidt, who claims to be the Swedish champion, and Frank Gotch, Champion of America, will wrestle best two out of three falls for $1,000 a side. If this Hackenschmidt is anything like the redoubtable "Russian Lion", wrestling with American champions should prove for him a very profitable business.

BASKET BALL.

The Westmount Basketball team of Montreal, Intermediate champions, of Quebec, will play the local Brownies, Junior Dominion Champions, at the Y. M.C.A. here on Saturday evening. The Westmount team was the only one to defeat the Brownies during their Eastern tour at Easter, winning out by a score of 36-23. This year they have defeated the Central Y.M.C.A., of Montreal, and the McGill College team. The Brownies are under a heavy expense in connection with the game, the Easterners making the trip specially for this bout.

• • • •

Last night at the Y.M.C.A gymnasium the Clippers, of Toronto, defeated the Arrows by a score of 36-35. The half-time score was 23-14. The game as far as the play went was comparatively even but the locals were unfamiliar with the new rules and were not as sure shots as the visitors who displayed great accuracy in this respect. The Arrows were probably a shade faster than their opponents who, however, were more familiar with the rules and who were considerably heavier than the homesters. Mr. John Laing gave perfect satisfaction as referee. Following is the line-up:—

Liquor Source of Expense.

—At the police court this morning a young man appeared on the dual charge of being drunk and disorderly in a public place, and of having asked for liquor during hours that its sale was prohibited. He pleaded guilty to both charges, and on the first the fine and costs amounted to $5.75. It cost him $4.20 for asking for liquor after hours.

Carpenters' Union.

—Through an unfortunate error in the Examiner, in its issue of Tuesday last, in a report of a meeting of the Carpenters' Union, held on the previous evening, it was stated that a resolution of endorsation of the course of Ald. The Examiner had been informed that the resolution had been passed, but, it appears, the information was incorrect.

Editor Post Card Column:

Dear Sir,—I should like to ask you this question. In the event of Mr. Dumble, Police Magistrate, being elected a member of the School Board, and if it were necessary for the Board to bring prosecution in the Police Court for truancy or other cause, would Mr. Dumble act as prosecutor and judge all at once? It seems to me that there would be a mix up in such an event.

Yours truly,

Editor Post Card Column:

I notice in the Globe that in Bowmanville they can't get enough candidates to act as councillors. Now I don't wonder. Aldermen get no pay and any number of kicks. Besides they lose business in looking after the city business. I would advocate cutting down the number of Aldermen to five and paying each a fair sum—say $300 or $400, to indemnify them against financial loss. We should then get good men to offer and the people would be more careful whom they would elect.

Yours, etc.

A Minister Of The Crown Is Taken By Death

Hon. Mr. Prefontaine Dies While On Duty in France.

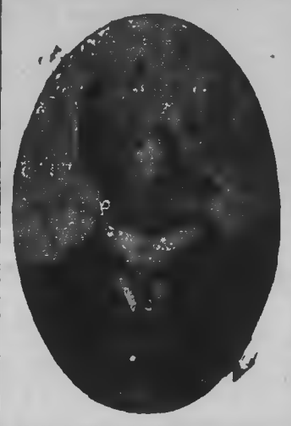
IN PARIS, 9 P.M., CHRISTMAS

Trouble of the Heart Carried Off Canadian Minister of Marine and Fisheries Suddenly — Body Will Be Brought Back to Canada—Illness Became Serious on Saturday—Sketch of His Career.

Paris, Dec. 26.—Hon. Raymond Prefontaine, Canadian Minister of Marine and Fisheries, died suddenly at 9 o'clock last night. The cause of his death was angina pectoris.

Mr. Prefontaine, accompanied by Randolph Lemieux, the Canadian Solicitor-General, came to France a couple of weeks ago from London, in connection, it is said, with the establishment of a line of steamers between Marseilles and Canadian ports.

Soon after his arrival in Paris, the Minister complained that he was suffering from heart trouble, but he continued to fill his engagements.



HON. RAYMOND PREFONTAINE.

During the progress of a banquet given in his honor Dec. 21, he was seen to be suffering acutely, but this at the time was attributed to emotion while replying to a toast to his health.

The Minister on Saturday visited Lille and Dunkirk, but on returning to the Hotel Continental here, he was compelled to take his bed, and a physician was sent for. The latter pronounced Mr. Prefontaine's illness to be serious, and a specialist was called into consultation. Complete rest was advised, and all engagements were cancelled.

At 9 o'clock last night the administration of medicine was followed by a choking sensation. The last sacraments were administered and death followed immediately.

The British Minister, Sir Francis Bertie, was notified by Minister Lemieux, and arrangements for the funeral of the Minister were at once begun.

The body will be taken to Montreal, Que., for interment.

Hon. Mr. Prefontaine came here from London, where he was negotiating with the Imperial authorities concerning the establishment of a naval militia in Canada, a subject in which he was deeply interested. A few days ago he was quoted as saying that the change in Government in Britain had delayed his plans, but that he was assured that the new Government was quite sympathetic with his designs.

Sketch of His Life.

The Hon. Joseph Raymond Fourier Prefontaine has long been an active figure in municipal, provincial and federal politics. He was born at Longueuil, Chambly, County of Quebec, Sept. 18, 1850. His family was of ancient descent, his ancestors having made their home in what was then New France in 1680. He was educated privately at St. Mary's College, Montreal, and finally at McGill University, where he took the degree of B. C. L. in 1873. In the same year he was called to the bar, where his rise was rapid. M. Prefontaine possessed unusual ability and forensic skill, and his firm of Prefontaine, Archer and Perron enjoyed one of the largest practices in Montreal. In 1893 he was created Queen's counsel.

First Sat For Chambly.

In 1875 he made his first appearance as Liberal candidate for the Quebec Legislature in his native district of Chambly, and, in spite of considerable odds, was successful. In the Legislature he made his mark, but on offering himself for re-election in 1878, was defeated. His opponent, however, was unseated. In 1879 M. Prefontaine was again successful, but was again defeated in 1881. During the period he interested himself in municipal life, and in 1879 was elected a councillor of Hochelaga, at that time the principal east end suburb of Montreal. His policy in municipal affairs was progressive, and he worked strenuously on behalf of the citizens. He supported the annexation of that town to the City of Montreal, and the union was completed in 1884. For some years before he had acted as mayor of Hochelaga, and was returned to the ward as alderman to the City Council. He sat continuously until 1898, when he was elected mayor by acclamation, re-elected in 1900 by a large majority. He withdrew voluntarily in 1902, although nominated for re-election. He also acted on the Board of School Commissioners, to which he was elected in 1886.

In National Politics.

M. Prefontaine's appearance in the field of national politics was made under circumstances of peculiar interest. After the Northwest Rebellion, an election occurred in Hochelaga County, which had been arranged by the late Sir John A. Macdonald, apparently to test the strength of the parties. The Liberal candidate was M. Prefontaine, and the election became of national importance. He won a decisive victory. He was re-elected in 1887 and 1890, and, in 1896, became first member for the new constituency of Maisonneuve by a majority of 1,576, which was increased in 1900 to 1,774. In the latter year he was also Liberal candidate in Terrebonne, and was elected for that constituency also.

On the re-construction of the Laurier Cabinet, brought about by the resignation of Hon. J. I. Tarte in November, 1902, Mr. Prefontaine was appointed Minister of Marine and Fisheries, and has since held that portfolio.

M. Prefontaine married in June, 1876, Hermantine, a daughter of the late Senator J. B. Rolland, by whom he had three sons, Rolland, Adrien and Fernland. He was on the directorate of the Confederation Life Assurance Co., the Montreal Land and Improvement Co., and other important concerns.

Interviewed In Paris.

A few weeks ago M. Prefontaine, accompanied by Hon. Rudolph Lemieux, went over to London, and from thence to Paris. It was but Saturday that hew as interviewed in the French capital, and quite approved of the entente cordiale between France and England, and expressed the opinion that the new Premier, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, would be defeated at the coming election if he did not back it up.

"As Canadians are loyal to the crown," both M. Prefontaine and his colleague remarked, "We think that no better course could be adopted."

M. Prefontaine has been a consistent advocate of unity between the French and English-speaking populations of Canada.

Cabinet Meeting Called.

Ottawa, Dec. 26.—The news of the death of Hon. Mr. Prefontaine came as a painful shock. The first official notification was a cable received by Sir Wilfrid Laurier about 3 o'clock. It was from Hon Rudolph Lemieux, but contained nothing but the bare announcement of the death and said details would be forwarded later. Up to a late hour last night no additional information had been received.

On receipt of the cable the Prime Minister immediately notified the various Cabinet Ministers and called a Cabinet meeting to arrange to bring the body home.

The sad news spread very rapidly and the Premier and Cabinet Ministers were besieged with inquiries.

Consternation and Sorrow.

Montreal, Dec. 26.—The news to the effect that Hon. Mr. Prefontaine had died suddenly in Paris caused consternation amongst his many friends, in both party camps here, as well as deep sorrow. Raymond Prefontaine is perhaps the best-known man in Montreal, and, unlike other strong party men, had no personal enemies. From alderman to mayor he had worked up a strong following and when he entered the Federal Cabinet his municipal friends, irrespective of party name, were then his adherents. While no other Liberal could poll a big majority in Maisonneauve, the Minister of Marine could always count on two thousand majority at least, the English-speaking electors voting for him to a man.

Approved South African War.

He especially won the confidence of the extreme loyalists when he at once advocated sending soldiers to fight for the Empire in South Africa, and at the same time he held the French-Canadian masses in the hollow of his hand.

There were a great many who did not support M Prefontaine's municipal projects, but one and all have been only too ready to testify to the wonderful energy and ability which he had displayed as head of the Department of Marine and Fisheries.

The day after the late Minister was sworn in he told your correspondent that it would be his policy to sink all party feeling when dealing with his department, and all will agree that he left his record.

STOMACHS ON STILTS.

The man who puts on stilts does not increase his actual stature. He only feels taller. Stimulants are the stilts of the stomach. They make a man feel better for the time being, but he feels a great deal worse for them afterward.

The need of the man whose stomach is "weak" is not stimulation but strength. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery perfectly answers that need. It contains no alcohol or whisky. It cures the weak, foul stomach with its attendant bad smelling breath, coated tongue, bad taste, poor appetite and kindred symptoms.

"In the year 1899 I had an attack of indigestion and got so bad that my home doctor said he could not do me any good," writes Mr. G. Treat, of Gordonville, Texas. "I wrote to you and you advised me to use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, so I bought six bottles, and when I commenced using it I was so weak could hardly walk about the house. By the time I had used one bottle my stomach and bowels commenced to heal. There were strips of the lining of my stomach or bowels (I don't know which) as large as a man's two fingers passed and I had a good deal of misery in my stomach and bowels, and also in the rectum especially. I could not eat anything without having much distress afterward, but by the time I had taken eight bottles of the Golden Medical Discovery" I was sound and well, and could eat anything I pleased without suffering in the least. Could also do as much work in a day as I ever could. I have not suffered from the trouble since, and it was four years ago that I was so sick."

The sole motive for substitution is to permit the dealer to make a little more profit. He gains; you lose. Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery."

HONORS RETIRING MINISTERS.

Royal Victorian Chain and Windsor Uniform to Lansdowne and Balfour.

London, Dec. 26.—The King has awarded two unique honors to two of the chief men of the outgoing Ministry. The Marquis of Lansdowne received the Royal Victorian Chain of the highest class.

The Royal Victorian Order was instituted by Queen Victoria in 1896. It is practically restricted to the royal family and its connections abroad, but was conferred upon the late Archbishop of Canterbury on the occasion of the coronation of King Edward. The only other non-royal holders of the decoration are the Dukes of Argyle and Fife and Lord Curzon.

Mr. Balfour's strange sounding honor of the Windsor Uniform is a much coveted distinction. It consists of a double-breasted blue coat with a scarlet collar and cuffs and buttons bearing the royal crown. It is worn only at Windsor Castle. The wearers are limited to the royal family, the royal household and a very few privileged persons.

THE SHANGHAI TROUBLE.

Chinese Minister At London to Negotiate With British Government.

London, Dec. 26.—The correspondent of The Morning Post at Shanghai says that the Chinese Foreign Office has instructed the Chinese Minister at London to negotiate with the British Government regarding the mixed court dispute, to demand the dismissal of the police concerned in the recent outbreak.

Another Riot Probable.

Shanghai, Dec. 26.—The mixed court was reopened Saturday. The German assessor and armed foreign guards were present, but everything was normal. All was quiet yesterday, but bluejackets and guards will be still posted around the foreign concessions. There are rumors of another riot, but all precautions have been taken.

FRENCH SQUADRON TO MOVE.

Cruiser Division Gets Sudden Orders to Sail on Unknown Mission.

Paris, Dec. 26.—The Minister of Marine has ordered the commander of the Northern Squadron to have his cruiser division in readiness to start immediately on receipt of orders for an unknown destination.

Officers and men on Christmas leave have been telegraphed to return to their ships.

It is believed the division will go to the Morocco coast during the coming conference on Moroccan reforms.

Woman Clerk Arrested.

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 26.—Miss Lulu Bowen, for seven years a trusted clerk in the Oakland postoffice, was arrested Sunday night for the embezzlement of $8,000 of Government bonds. When confronted with evidence by secret service officials, she confessed. Her dishonesty caused a sensation in Oakland, where she was a leader in the Baptist Church, and the only support of her widowed mother and younger sisters.

Osler Convert a Suicide.

Sherman, Tex., Dec. 26.—Dennis B. Taft, aged 70 years, a stranger, ended his life by casting himself under the wheels of north-bound Fort Worth & Rio Grande express train No. 10 last evening. In a letter found addressed to the coroner, he stated that he was a convert of Prof. Osler. W

Rev. J. G. Lewis Was Remembered

His Congregation Presented Him With A Purse.

The pastor, Rev. J. G. Lewis, B.A., received a pleasant surprise on Saturday evening, when he was presented with a well-filled purse, as a token of good will on the part of the congregation.

The preacher conducted both services on Sunday. There was a good attendance, many strangers being present.

A short Christmas service was held on Christmas morning and the usual Epworth League meeting was held in the evening.

On Wednesday evening there will be a union prayer meeting and Epworth League service. An extremely interesting topic will be presented. At the close there will be a meeting of the committee to arrange for the children's social evening in connection with the Sunday school.

The special services will re-open on Monday, January 8th, and come for at least one week.

Altar Vases Were Dedicated

In St. Luke's church, at the Sunday morning service, the Rector dedicated a pair of brass altar vases as a memorial to the late Zetta Mary Jameson. The vases are of solid brass, and very artistically engraved. They were given by Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Jameson, in memory of their daughter. The inscription is as follows:

"To the glory of God, and in loving memory of their daughter, Zetta Mary, who died December 21, 1903, this memorial is dedicated by her parents, F. J., and Lavinia Jameson. 'Until the day dawn.'"

Fifteen Candidates For ALDERMAN AND Twelve For School Board

Three of Each Will be Left at Home on New Year's Day—A Comparatively Small Field of Aldermanic Candidates—Six New Men in the Council This Year—Three of These, However, Have Had Municipal Experience—The Men Who Are in the Field Now.

On January 1st the names of fifteen candidates for aldermen will go to the electors. Of the thirty, whose names were placed in nomination, fifteen have retired, leaving the same number to go to the polls. This is a smaller number than usual, last year's contest being between nineteen candidates. Those who filed declarations of qualification before 9 o'clock Saturday night were:

ROBT. HICKS,
JOHN H. SMITH,
GEO. HALL,
THOS. KELLY,
JAS. G. GRAHAM,
C. H. CLEMENTI,
GEO. J. TOVEY,
R. F. McWILLIAMS,
GEO. H. DUNCAN,
W. J. JOHNSTON,
E. F. MASON,
F. ADAMS,
A. A. McINTYRE,
THOS. J. WILSON,
GEO. E. ELLIOTT.

It will be seen that of last year's council only six are again in the field, those retiring being Messrs. Scott, Batten, Hall, Crowe, Leary and Begley, so that if all the members of last year's council, who are running, are returned, half the council of 1906 will be new men.

Three of the other six, however, have already served terms in councils in Peterborough or Ashburnham. Messrs. McWilliams and Kelly having been in Peterborough Council and Mr. Smith in Ashburnham. Mr. Geo. Elliott has also had considerable municipal experience, having served in the Smith Township Council for a number of years, served as reeve.

Twelve candidates are in the field for the Board of Education, and nine of these will be elected. The candidates are:

W. PRINGLE,
W. H. HALL,
DR. BURNHAM,
W. G. FERGUSON,
J. J. HARTLEY,
JOHN CRANE,
DR. MORRISON,
ROBT. FAIR,
H. MORGAN,
JAS. STEVENSON,
B. F. ACKERMAN,
D. W. DUMBLE.

Ald. Johnston Defends His Aldermanic Record

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—There are three matters I would like to set before the ratepayers, who will be called upon to make their choice of twelve aldermen on Monday next, viz.:

My relation to organized labour.
My position on license reduction.
My position on proposed fire fighting equipments.

You will have noticed a short time ago a paragraph in one of our city dailies, to the effect that the Trades and Labor Council did not intend to place any labour candidates in the field this year, and that they were not going to endorse me, as my actions in the council were not in the interests of working men.

This was not official, never having been passed by the organization in their meetings. It was just the opinion of one or two, who are sore over something that has been bothering them for some time.

When I read the matter over I asked the writers of this, through the press, to define what acts of mine were unsatisfactory, but up to the present, I have heard nothing more of it—only the effect it is having with some throughout the city.

Then again, another paragraph appeared from the Carpenters and Joiners, endorsing me as their candidate. This, it appears, is not official either. I suppose some brother carpenter, thinking that while it was not talked of in the meetings, it would be their pleasure anyway.

I have never been requested by either the Trades Council or Carpenters' Union to bring up any matters in the City Council, excepting a certain number of propositions endorsed by them a year ago, which they thought would be for public benefit. One of these was to have an assessment commissioner appointed, and this I endorsed to the best of my ability.

The other, which I did not endorse, was the proposal to pay by frontage tax the cost of cement sidewalks. They were thoroughly advised of my stand on this question. I favoured general tax and I favour it to-day more strongly than ever, because the people said by their votes we want sidewalks paid by general tax.

I can attribute considerable to the several bodies of organized labour for my election as a representative in the Council, and for that reason I think they might have called me to account in a different manner if my actions were unsuitable to them.

I think when I was elected to the position of a councillor that I went there to represent the people in general and do what I believed to be right and in the interests of all classes of people.

In my two years of council work I have endeavored to do what was right, and I leave the matter to the consideration of every ratepayer to judge for themselves whether they consider me worthy of representing them for a further term.

I want the people in all parts of the city to fully understand that I am representing no sect, no organization, but fully representing the interests of every one to the best of my ability.

I am a strong advocate of labour, because I have always worked for my interests I may possess at this time. I have always looked upon the interests of the employers as well as employed, and I have always felt that any employer who carries responsibility, both mechanically and financially, should be respected and his interests guarded, as well as the man who works his day's work.

I firmly believe that an action of this sort, as taken by the Trades Council, is a step in the direction of throwing away any influence that an organization of this kind may possess.

Now about the question of license reduction.

My stand on this question is fully before the people.

Some people are of the opinion that the Ministerial Association had no right to take any action on this matter. I, for one, believe they had. What are those people stationed amongst us for? Is it not to look after matters pertaining to our government and try and elevate us to a better plane of living that we may be better people? This is a question that apparently no one else seemed to move in. They took it up with the License Commissioners, who jointly presented the case to the Council, stating that they considered it should be presented to the people. The Council are the representatives of the people, and have decided, as is well known, to have the ratepayers speak on the matter, and in my opinion they have a right to vote on it, as they are the ones who support both hotels and churches.

Men who are keeping the law and are trying their best to keep good houses for the benefit of the travelling public have nothing to fear. It is better, in my way of looking at the matter, to have, say fifteen good, well kept houses, than to have twenty-one, with some continually breaking the law and degrading the name of a business of others who are trying to keep a good house.

We see the need more and more of some line of action being taken on this matter, and if the people will state by their vote that they want license reduction, somebody will have to carry out their request.

The License Commissioners will be strengthened in their work by having the voice of the people at their back in the performance of their duties.

Now about the firehall improvements. If it were for no other reason than having firehall appliances that would be a credit to Peterborough I would try and better the conditions and put us in an insurance class that would better our insurance rates.

Our appliances are much the same as they were in years gone by, only instead of being drawn by hand they are drawn by horses. I am just as anxious as any ratepayer to keep down taxation, but when I consider the great benefit it is going to be to everyone I will gladly pay the small amount of 25 cents on $1,000 assessment.

Some people are always complaining that the protection only benefits merchants and industries. Well, take it from that point if you will. If, through our defective alarm system, one, two or three minutes are lost in getting to a fire which may start in one of our industries or mercantile centres, the consequences may be serious. If it is an industry that employs a number of men, how does it affect you as a workingman if you are out of employment while this building is being rebuilt, or, if it is part of our mercantile centres, or a large fire in residential centres, where a large revenue is derived from taxes, who is making up this revenue while this property is in ashes? You and I and everyone else in the community, by having a little added on our taxes, because all current expenditures is pretty much a fixed amount.

A combination chemical and hose wagon is very necessary in first stages of a fire. Longer ladders are needed to reach the highest points of buildings. A steamer is very necessary in case of emergency. Had it not been for the fire engine the new cereal mill would have suffered much worse from the fire than it did. A new hall is needed to place these appliances in and get our fire department into better working shape.

The pamphlet that will be distributed to each ratepayer this week will, I trust, be a convincing argument in favour of the passing of the by-law.

I have placed my position before you in as plain and conscientious a manner as I possibly can. I have taken a stand for what I think is right, and in the face of the hot opposition which seems to assail me I will leave the matter in the hands of the people, knowing that, whether I am one of the representatives or not, I did my duty and tried to carry to a successful issue matters that were for the general benefit of all.

I took a stand on these questions, and I will not show the white feather by backing down on any of them.

Yours truly,
W. J. JOHNSTON.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

Those who visited the Grand Opera House yesterday afternoon and evening, and there were two crowded houses, saw a most creditable performance. Prof. Crooker's educated horses furnished a couple of hours solid enjoyment, and the audiences gave evidence of their pleasure in an unmistakable manner. The feats which Prof. Crooker's pets performed, were in many cases, marvellous, and a credit, both to the intelligence of the animals, and the training of Prof. Crooker. Some good moving pictures were shown between acts.

The show as a whole was a good, clean performance, and is well worth seeing. The show will be given again to-night.

The New York Clipper of this week says: "Danny Simons, comedian, with the Adam Good Co., which plays the Cohn and Grant 'New England Circuit,' is making an emphatic hit, he informs us, throughout the circuit. His historic act, "Teddy's Charge of San Juan Hill," has been a feature and he is presenting it at each performance. Mr. Simons is the originator of the act.

The York Loan Company to Be Reorganized

Special to The Examiner

Toronto, Dec. 27. — The affairs of the York County Loan and Savings Company will be aired before the Legislature at the coming session. Mr. Jas. Bicknell, K.C., stated to-day that he proposed to apply for special legislation directing a reorganization of the company. He added that he had not withdrawn his application to have the winding up proceedings conducted under the Ontario Act.

Mr. W. McIlroy Expresses Views

On Question of Increased Fire Protection.

Mr. William McIlroy, C. P. R. City Passenger Agent, when asked to-day by the Examiner, as to his opinion with regard to the question of additional fire protection for the city, expressed himself as strongly favourable to such a course. A new fire hall and additional equipment were both necessary, and if both could not be secured at once, the former, under no circumstances, should be neglected. The present fire hall was, in his opinion, far behind the necessities of a city of Peterborough's proportions.

Mr. McIlroy cited the progress shown in the town of Gt, where he formerly resided. A new fire hall, possessing all modern facilities, and which will be sufficient to meet the demands for many years to come, had been erected there. The matter of the cost had not been considered a serious one, and had not proven so subsequently. The investment had generally been considered as a most satisfactory and profitable one.

"The business interests of Peterborough," Mr. McIlroy added, "urgently require greater safeguards against fire than those at present offered, and unless some provision is made, the lack of decisive action will probably at a sooner or later date result disastrously."

The Christian Scientists S. S.

Facilities Are Inadequate

Dr. F. L. Robinson Expresses Opinion on Fire Protection.

In reply to a query by The Examiner this afternoon as to whether he considered increased fire protection desirable, Dr. F. L. Robinson, Charlotte street, replied, "Most decidedly! It is urgently necessary for both business men and manufacturers."

Asked as to what, in his opinion, would be the most desirable course to pursue in the matter, Dr. Robinson expressed himself as strongly favourable to the immediate erection of a new firehall and the strengthening of the equipment as quickly as circumstances will permit. This was not only desirable, but imperative. The defeat of the former by-law was largely attributable, in his opinion, to a lack of sufficient interest on the part of a large portion of the ratepayers. The advantages of an additional protection merely from the point of view of the influence upon insurance rates should be an important feature in the consideration of the question. The Simcoe street, or other central location should be secured. The equipment should be made sufficient to afford protection to all residence properties on the outskirts. In conclusion, Dr. Robinson thought a prime consideration should be the influence of an adequate system of inducing the location here of new manufacturing concerns.

A Moral Reform League Formed

An Organization Was Effected Last Night.

A representative gathering of citizens interested in the moral progress of the city was held last night in the Y.M.C.A. Hall, when a discussion on matters of moral reform took place. A prominent organization, known as the Citizens' Moral Reform League, was formed. Officers were appointed to act emporarily, but after the new year another meeting will be held, when the permanent officers will be elected, and the policy of the new organization determined.

Will Rev. Mr. Langfeldt Leave Peterborough?

A report was current on the streets to-day, that Rev. E. A. Langfeldt had been offered the rectorship of a large Episcopalian church in one of the large American cities.

When asked by the Examiner, if the report was true, the reverend gentleman refused to say anything for publication.

It is learned however from an absolutely reliable source, though not from Mr. Langfeldt, that the report is correct, though what action he will take on the matter, is, of course, simply conjecture as yet.

STORY COMPETITION

The Examiner has received the following letter from Mr. G. S. Fife, one of the winners of the story competition recently conducted by this paper:

Peterborough, Dec. 25, 1905.

The Examiner Printing Co.

Peterborough.

Gentlemen,—Your note and enclosure of the 22nd inst. have reached me. Thank you very much for them.

I also wish to thank you for the interest which you have shown in our school and its pupils, which induced you to inaugurate this competition. Aside from the prize which the judges have thought fit to award me, novice as I am at the art of story-writing, I have had much pleasure in taking a part in this competition, and I am glad if the object of the company has been reached.

Wishing your house a most prosperous New Year, I am

Yours truly,

G. S. FIFE.

THE STORY COMPETITION.

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Otonabee, Dec. 11, 1905.

Dear Sir,—As a member of the family of one of the very oldest settlers of Otonabee, I take up my pen to correct what seems to me a very gross injustice mentioned in Miss Jean Campbell's so-called tale of early pioneer life. Now, I have always been told by my father, also other old settlers, that the Cameron family, whom she makes out by her narrative to be so very degraded, were among the most highly respected of the early settlers and were always ready to lend a helping hand to those in need of assistance, and particularly old Mrs. Cameron, who was a veritable mother in Israel to all the sick and unfortunate, frequently going on horseback distances even as far as twenty miles to nurse some sick person, and thus earning their lifelong gratitude, and as for them having to leave Scotland for being caught poaching, the idea is utterly absurd, as old Mr. Cameron left Scotland with the highest testimonial as to his character in his possession, which his descendants hold to this day. Also the trumped up story of drunkenness among them, (even if it had been true, which it is not), surely, for the sake of those past judgone some other subject could have been more suitable.

Dear Mr. Editor, surely our forefathers, whose memories we have been brought up to revere, were not such inhuman monsters as Miss Campbell depicts them. Surely, she must have fallen asleep in Aunt Margaret's cosy kitchen, and perhaps have dreamed the greater part of this very strange narrative.

In all the tales I have listened to of those far back days, I have never heard of men fighting with handspikes, and of sometimes murder being done. I am sorry that, for the sake of gratifying mere personal spite, such a foolish thing has been allowed to creep into this very interesting competition, which I am sure promises to be very instructive to the younger generation if only truthful tales are written of those men and women who bore all the trials and privations of those early days with so much courage and fortitude.

Yours very sincerely,

One in Defence of the Truth.

To Supply Wives To Westerners

The Proposed Salvation Army Matrimonial Bureau.

A matrimonial bureau will probably be established by the Salvation Army. Commissioner Coombes has just returned from a trip through the Northwest and British Columbia, and he was impressed with the need of some reliable agency of this kind. A great many applications have been received, he says, from good, honest, hardworking men, asking the assistance of the Army in securing good wives. The men will not trust the ordinary matrimonial agencies, but would have confidence in the Army, and the Commissioner is convinced that an exceedingly useful work could be done by helping the Western bachelors to meet women of such character as the Army could recommend.

Interested in Immigration.

The Commissioner also stated that he found the Western people very much interested in the Army immigration scheme, and he anticipated no trouble whatever in placing the ten thousand immigrants who will be brought out next spring. He will leave for London in January to complete arrangements for this undertaking.

Cooney and Curtis Both Wanted Time

Two Prisoners Willing to Take Six Months in the Central--Cooney Desired "Light" Work--The Other Man Wanted "Just the Same as Him"--Frank Eano Fined $1 for Peddling Without a License.

LIGHT DOCKET THIS MORNING

"Two souls with but a single thought, two hearts that beat as one."

The above applied to Alf. Cooney and William Curtis, both of whom were charged with vagrancy, and both of whom wanted lodging for the winter. In the case of Cooney's request, there was a supplementary clause that the work be "light."

"Are you not able to work?" asked Mr. H. Rush, J.P., who presided in Mr. Dumble's absence, of Cooney.

"No," said Cooney, "that is I am not able to do heavy work. I can do light work," he added.

"Do you want to go some place where you can be given light work?" asked the court.

"Yes," was the reply.

"Well, I'll give you six months in the Central. They will probably provide you with some light work there."

"All right," was the cheerful reply.

"William Curtis, you are charged with being an idle person, and having no visible place of abode," was the charge preferred against the above mentioned individual.

"No place to stop at," added the accused in corroboration.

"Do you want to accompany Mr. Cooney?" asked the court.

So he was also given six months in the big building in Toronto, a place that is generally much dreaded by even the toughest characters, and that two prisoners should voluntarily seek refuge behind its protective walls is rather a unique situation.

"I think that Mr. Longo should pay this boy's fine," said the court, referring to Frunk Emo, who was charged with peddling without a license, for Longo, the Italian fruit merchant, whose place of business is 144 Hunter street.

The boy pleaded not guilty to the charge, and said that Mr. Longo had hired him to carry parcels, but as there was nothing pressing in that line he set him at peddling fruit. Under the statutes a man cannot engage in peddling without a personal license. The license of his employer does not permit an employee to engage in peddling.

"In imposing the lowest fine possible, which is a dollar without costs, I think you are a good little boy, and you won't do it again—will you?"

The boy promised he wouldn't, and his father handed the money to the city clerk.

Resolution Of Condolence

Moved by Mr. Wm. Graham, and seconded by Mr. R. J. Edmison, and resolved,

"That the Central Smith Dairy Company take this, the first opportunity that has presented, to place upon record an earnest expression of the deep sense of loss the company has sustained by the death of Mr. C. D. Moore, a member of this company and a member of the Board of Directors since its organization—who has, in that capacity, by his energetic and effective service, been largely instrumental in making the Central Smith factory one of the best equipped and most successful in the district; that this meeting tender to the sister and other relatives of the late Mr. Moore its sincere sympathy and condolence with them in their bereavement, and that the committee appointed for that purpose forward a copy of the resolution to them.

Local Option Campaign In Lakefield Village

To the Editor of the Examiner,—

Dear sir, permit me to give a final message to voters. A glass of whisky, what is it? Grain has been destroyed, and the fiery demon released. The decomposed sugar in the grain turns into alcohol—a poison. It is not a food, it does not aid digestion, it does not enrich the blood. One glass of whisky will cause the heart to beat 6000 extra strokes a day. It does not strengthen; it weakens.

A glass of water! It was not brewed in a dingy building, over a simmering still, choked with poisonous gasses, and surrounded with sickening odours. Down in the depths it begins and wends its way to the gushing fountains. No poison lingers beneath its surface, no madness, no murders, no suicides, no broken hearts, no widows' tears, no blood stains, no lost souls in its depths.

We arraign the drink traffic before the bar of justice. Let the jury be chosen and let the witnesses take their places, ready to answer when called.

The first witness shall be the church—what have you to say? It has robbed my pulpits often of my ablest men; it has often emptied my pews of its best tenants; it has enticed from me my young; it has strangled conviction and left my treasuries empty, while it has made me work harder. It has sworn to be my eternal foe.

Let the state testify. Intemperance has been my worst enemy from the beginning. Egypt, Assyria, Babylon and Rome, all became its prey. It has taken my best judges, legislators and monarchs. It has corrupted laws, and has even tried to mock my system of trial by jury. It often controls elections, fills the jails with criminals and increases taxation; 90 per cent. of the murders are stimulated by it; 75 per cent. of the crime is due to it; 25 per cent of the insane are directly manufactured by it, saying nothing of its influence over the other 75 per cent. Where is there a greater thief than intemperance? It steals brain, health, home, money, character, reputation, honesty, life and soul.

Let education speak. The liquor traffic is my enemy. The money that ought to go for books is spent for drink. Poor clothes, poor food and a hovel, are not conducive to advancement.

Let the home testify. The liquor traffic is my worst enemy. It destroys love in me, makes crying children, makes hollow-eyed, broken-hearted wives and mothers. It takes bread from the hungry, clothes from the shivering, carpets from the floors and pictures from the walls. It makes good loving husbands, fathers and brothers, into demons.

What does the judge say? "Gentlemen of the jury, I charge you bring in a verdict of guilty. Look not upon the wine when it is red. Woe to him that giveth his neighbour drink. Woe to them that are mighty to drink wine, and men of strength to mingle strong drink."

Here are two condemnations: one by God's prophet, Habakkuk, against those who give others drink, and the other woe is pronounced against the drunkard.

Electors, it is for you to say whether you will give your neighbours drink or not. By voting for local option you avoid the sentence; by voting against local option you bring that woe on your own heads and its attendant condemnation.

Yours sincerely,

D. R. CLARE.

Purity of The Blood

THE BEST PROTECTION AGAINST DISEASE — OBTAINED BY USING

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

If you enquire into the cause of sickness, pain and suffering, you will find that fully nine-tenths of it result from derangements of the liver, kidneys and bowels.

This was the truth arrived at by Dr. Chase when he began experiments which led to the discovery of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

The liver and kidneys are intimately related as filterers of the blood, and the regularity of the bowels depends on the healthful action of the liver.

Hence it happens that when the liver and kidneys are made healthy and vigorous by the influence of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, such diseases as biliousness, liver complaint, kidney disease, indigestion and constipation soon entirely disappear.

With the liver and kidneys in healthful working order, the purity of the blood is ensured and you are protected against colds, fevers and contagious and infectious diseases.

As a family medicine to promptly cure the most common ills of life, there is no preparation that can be compared with Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. In every neighbourhood there are people who have proven merits of this great medicine. Ask them.

Mr. Jos. Lutton, Belleville, Ont., writes: "I was troubled very much with kidney disease for a long time and was unable to obtain relief. A friend advised me to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and they have proven of very great benefit to me. I have used a number of boxes of this excellent medicine and feel it a duty to recommend it to other sufferers.

"My mother thinks that there is no better tonic than Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and others of my friends have used this food cure with splendid results."

Mr. Buchanan's Publication

A copy of the Lethbridge Herald, the new Liberal paper in which Mr. W. A. Buchanan, formerly of this city, has purchased a half interest, has been received at this office. It is a bright, newsy, six-page weekly, and is, to all appearances, a pretty lively youngster. That Mr. Buchanan, with his experience and ability in newspaper work, will make a success of his new venture, there is little doubt.

Riverside Park Was Subject Of Discussion

At Meeting of Board of Works Last Night—The Southern Boundary Has Not Been Definitely Determined—Notice of Legislation to Prevent Pollution of Water Supply Authorized—Sewer Pipe to be Purchased.

POWER PRIVILEGES WERE REQUESTED

By previous arrangement four members of the Riverside Park Company, attended the meeting of the Board of Works held last night. The purpose in view in the arrangement of the joint-meeting was that of discussing the boundaries of the Park Company's property, particularly the southern portion. The members of the delegation present were Messrs. F. W. Jameson, J. J. Hawden, Dr. Wightman and James Metheral.

Considerable discussion took place with regard to the question at issue, the net result being a resolution, moved by Ald. Hicks, seconded by Ald. Johnston, instructing the Town Solicitor to examine and report upon the Registry Office records bearing upon the property. The question arises over the southern boundary of the Park, which extends to the bank of the channel according to the provisions of the deed secured in the purchase of the property from the Burnham Estate. The channel between the southern shore of the Park and the island to the south has been staked out by the Company with the intention of filling it in, as soon as material is available. The channel has evidently been altered by the action of the water and the determination of the location of the southern boundary arises on this account in the channel being a shoal, the depth of the water being not over twelve inches where the stakes were placed. The Park Company claim the entire water front of their property. A survey of the property was discussed and this will probably be made at a later date.

A communication was received from the Peterborough Light and Power Company, requesting permission to run a line of poles from Nicholls Oval to Curtis' Brick Yard, Mr. Curtis being anxious to have the power as soon as possible. The request was granted, upon motion by Ald. Johnston, seconded by Ald. Batten.

A communication was received from the Bell Telephone Company, requesting permission to erect five poles on Dublin street, south side, between Rubidge and Downie.

Moved by Ald. Tovey, seconded by Ald. Batten, that the request be granted, the work to be under the supervision of the City Engineer.—Carried.

The Town Solicitor was authorized to give notice of legislation as follows:—

To authorize the Commissioners of the Waterworks to take means to prevent the pollution of the source of supply of the waterworks and to provide that the provisions of subsections 4 and 7 of section 64 of the Municipal Waterworks Act may be made to apply to the River Otonabee above the waterworks dam, and to Katchewanooke, Clear and Stony Lakes, and the streams emptying into the same.

Moved by Ald. Hicks, seconded by Ald. Johnston, that the Town Engineer procure a car-load of 6-inch sewer pipe to be used on sewers to be built by day labour by the corporation.—Carried.

Election In Ennismore

There will be an election in Ennismore for the council, six candidates being in the field, Messrs. Michael Perdue, Timothy Grough, William Harrington, Daniel Kennedy, Michael O'Connor and John Geary. The receveship goes by acclamation to Mr. Samuel Killen.

CATARRH

The true Cause and the true Cure.

How and why "Fruit-a-tives" completely eradicate this disease from the system.

Catarrh means inflammation. Ordinary catarrh is inflammation of the nose cavity opening into the throat. This cavity receives all the air going to and from the lungs. Food and drink passes through it to the stomach. And the prime cause of catarrh is indigestion.

Because indigestion means an irritated stomach. This irritation spreads to the throat and nose. Belching gas keeps up the inflammation. The blood is impure and badly nourished. And nine times in ten, there is Constipation and poor skin action.

The only way to cure Catarrh is to cure the cause of catarrh. Digestion must be improved — inflammation in stomach soothed—blood purified—and the liver strengthened so it will give up enough bile to make the bowels move regularly every day.

Fruit-a-tives or Fruit Liver Tablets will always cure Catarrh of the throat and nose because these marvellous fruit tablets cure indigestion—sweeten the stomach—and eradicate all impurities from the blood by its stimulating and invigorating action on liver, bowels, kidneys and skin.

Leave sprays, atomisers, powders and snuffs alone. Take "Fruit-a-tives" regularly—be careful of your diet—and catarrh will soon be a thing of the past.

One 50c. box of "Fruit-a-tives" will prove how effectively these tablets relieve catarrh—and will do you so much good that you will gladly continue the treatment until cured.

50c. a box or 6 boxes for $2.50 Sent prepaid on receipt of price, if your druggist should not have them.

MR. PREFONTAINE.

How popular Mr. Prefontaine was, even with those who did not always see eye to eye with him, was shown when the news of his sudden death at Paris came to the city last night. Within an hour of its reception the news of his death spread to all quarters of the city, and everywhere it evoked instant expression of deep regret, followed almost invariably by tributes of admiration for the many good qualities of a man whose character combined many attributes that appealed to the human side of men. Mr. Prefontaine was sympathetic, generous, bore no malice, took blows as he gave with unfailing smile, and held to the very end practically all of the friends he had made in his early days in public life. He was high minded, capable, hard-working, ambitious. Many, and The Herald among them, did not approve the methods he sometimes adopted. Over against that, which is now a tale that is told, has to be set the number of his actual accomplishments. He has had to bear the blame of much that happened at a critical period for the growth of Montreal; he is entitled to the credit, also, for much of the work that set Montreal in the way of becoming the great city it has become in these last fifteen years, and the still greater city it will be in the next twenty-five.

In his position as Minister of Marine, Mr. Prefontaine found scope for his really remarkable abilities as an organizer and constructive statesman. What he did he did thoroughly. Having undertaken the improvement of the St. Lawrence Channel, he applied himself to it without interruption, with the result that the work has now been brought almost to a completion, and what has been done has received the unstinted praise of those in the best position to judge of its suitability.

In one sense, at least, Mr. Prefontaine was well suited for a great career in a cosmopolitan city. French by birth and early association, much of his education was English. Confident at all times in his reliance upon the masses in the East End, he was perfectly at home in dealing with the captains of commerce and industry in the West End. He was a managing man. That he was proud of his French origin was perhaps best shown on the occasion when, suddenly informed at the last instant that the civic address to the Duke of York must be read in only one language, he promptly mounted the stairs and read it in French. That he could understand and sympathize with the ideals of the English-speaking element was shown when he went down to the station to say farewell to the troops bound for South Africa, at a time when the East End was seething with indignation at attacks, made with a political motive, upon a French-Canadian Premier and the Province of Quebec in general. A man with a mind big enough to ignore the tide of passion then running, prepared to ignore Phillip drunk out of respect for Phillip sober, was fitted for a great part. — Montreal Herald.

"NEXT TIME."

Tardy and ungracious admissions by the Conservatives of defeat in Saskatchewan are coupled with the prophecy that Mr. Haultain will continue the fight over the educational clauses in the autonomy bills and will defeat the Scott Government "next time." There is always solace for the defeated party in the contemplation of victories in the dim and hazy future. When the party cools off sufficiently to do some hard thinking it will doubtless occur to its members that if they could not win this time with an appeal to religious prejudices they will have no chance four years hence by which time the record of the Scott Government will have taken the fire out of the agitation. The educational issue was at its maximum strength as a vote-getter on December 13; it is, if not actually dead at the moment, very much battered, therein bearing a strong resemblance to its creator, Mr. Fred Haultain. Mr. Haultain's political future is overcast. He is, of course, a comparatively young manager and may retrieve himself. But it is questionable whether the Conservatives of Saskatchewan will desire to perpetuate his leadership. He has always had among them many enemies who followed him on this occasion only because they recognized that he was the only man who could make a fight against Mr. Scott. Now that he has failed they will probably not hesitate about putting the knife into him. The fact that Mr. Haultain has needlessly and wilfully antagonized a considerable section of the Saskatchewan people will be another strong argument with the Conservatives in favour of having another leader, not subject to this disadvantage, before the next election comes round. But this, of course, is a matter in which the Liberals have but a slight interest. They have beaten the supposedly invincible Mr. Haultain on the field of his own choosing and on his own issues, under circumstances which gave him certain very considerable advantages which were peculiar to this contest and can never recur; and the reasonable presumption is that they can repeat the feat when the time comes.—Manitoba Free Press.

Peterboro' Boy In Real Estate

The following item of real estate news appears in a Spokane newspaper of recent date. The Fred. K. Hughes referred to is a son of Mr. J. L. Hughes, Park street, this city, and will be remembered by many of our citizens:

R. H. Dunn and Miss Marion L. Kimball, composing the real estate firm of R. H. Dunn & Co., yesterday sold their business to L. J. Studebaker, of Newport, Wash., and Fred. K. Hughes, of Spokane, who will operate under the name of the Globe Investment Company.

Mr. Dunn and Miss Kimball have been connected with the firm for two years. The firm was Roderick & Dunn for the first year, and was then joined by Miss Kimball, when it became R. H. Dunn & Co.

Mr. Studebaker has been interested in mines and oil lands in Montana for some time and made his headquarters at Newport. He has never engaged in business here, but Mr. Hughes has conducted real estate business here before.

NO ELECTIONS.

For the first time in the history of Belleville there will be no municipal elections in this city for the following year. The mayor was elected by acclamation, as well as the school trustees, and there were twenty-one candidates nominated for aldermen. Out of that crowd of aspirants there were just the ten old reliable men who controlled the finances and workings of the city for last year, who had sent in the necessary qualifications, which entitled them to once again preside at the helm of municipal affairs. Although a goodly number of good new men were nominated, they all apparently had confidence enough in the present council to allow them to once more go on and guide the destinies of this fair city through the storm and strife.—Ontario.

TRAINS WERE LATE.

Much annoyance was felt and expressed Saturday night at the late arrivals of the trains. The westbound 6.23 train to Toronto was one hour and fifteen minutes late and the Coboconk train left for its destination two hours late. The 8 o'clock train from Toronto arrived in two sections.—Lindsay Post.

CHRISTMAS GIFTS.

One of those pleasing incidents that go far to make the relations between employer and employee as it ought to be, and incidentally to send up the price of turkeys, took place on Saturday, when the employees of the Beal Leather Co., to the number of 50, were each presented with a turkey and the best wishes of the president for their welfare. —Lindsay Post.

BELLEVILLE POST OFFICE.

Christmas was opened by a big crowd at the postoffice. When the wickets were opened the large crowd pressed in, and in a short time one of the large plates of glass that protects the letter boxes was smashed in, and a general squeeze of the ladies took effect, but the postmaster was at once on hand. He went at the outside of the wickets, and, by stopping the delivery for a few moments, told the persons who were now screaming because of the glass breaking, that if they did not stop they would get no mail. He then had them form in line, and by 12 o'clock all had got their mail.—Ontario.

To-night's Meeting Of The Trades Council

To-night an important meeting of the Trades and Labour Council will be held. It is expected that at this meeting the attitude of the Trades Council in the municipal elections will be decided on. Whether the Council will endorse any of the candidates for the city council, or not, is, of course, not known yet, but at any rate there is little doubt but that a discussion on the question will take place, and some matters will be threshed out.

The report that at the last meeting of the Trades Council an alderman's record was criticized, and the counter report that this statement was not according to the facts will, in all probability, be dealt with at this meeting, and the prospects are that the discussion will be heated, since there have been contradictions of the first published report.

No Sleep For The Kidneys.

Old people are especially liable to Kidney and Bladder Irritation. The organs are weakened by age. This starts up inflammation—blood is not properly purified as it goes to the kidneys—and the bladder is unable to retain the urine properly. There is a constant desire to urinate day and night—and sound, restful sleep is unknown.

A Pretty Yule-Tide Wedding

HALL-TEMPLEMAN.

The joyous yule-tide spirit, coupled with the brightest favour of the sunshine which proverbially greets the happy bride, were the charming adjuncts of one of the prettiest of the house weddings of the holiday season, which took place this afternoon at 2.30 o'clock, when Miss Florence Carolyn Hall and Mr. George Earl Templeman, of Montreal, plighted their troth in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends. The ceremony was performed by Rev. F. J. Scott, pastor of the Murray street Baptist church at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth A. Hall, mother of the bride, Simcoe street.

The bride, who was given away by her brother, Mr. W. E. Hall, of Toronto, looked charming in a gown of cream brocaded silk, trimmed with embroidered chiffon, with the traditional tulle veil and orange-blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white roses. Her travelling suit was of navy blue Panama cloth, with hat to match.

The bridesmaid, Miss Ada Templeman, of Toronto, was exquisitely attired in white silk, with Valenciennes trimmings, and carried pink roses. Little Miss Jean Elliott was a petite and charming ring-bearer, and was dressed in pale blue silk. Mrs. Elizabeth A. Hall, mother of the bride, was gowned in a dainty creation of black brocaded silk, with white chiffon and sequin trimming. The groom was assisted by Mr. George B. Hall, of Hamilton, brother the bride.

The house decorations were of holly and evergreens, and were most beautiful. The ceremony was performed beneath a wedding-bell in the drawing-room. Mendelssohn's wedding march was played by Mr. Clarence Hall, cousin of the bride.

At the conclusion of the ceremony a dainty and recherche wedding dejeuner was served, the table decorations being carried out in a charming colour scheme of pink and green, consisting of roses and smilax, festooned with pink ribbon.

A large number of exquisite wedding gifts and congratulatory favours, were received by the bride and groom. The groom's present to the bride was a beautiful pearl sunburst; to the bridesmaid, a pearl crescent, and to the groomsman a pearl stick-pin. Others among the large and sparkling array of gifts which testify to the wide popularity of the bride among a host of friends in social circles of the city, were a beautiful cabinet of silver, suitably engraved with an appropriate legend, presented by the choir of the Murray street Baptist church; a cheque from her mother; and a Limoges dinner set from the groom's father.

Among the many guests from out-of-town, who were present at the ceremony were Dr. Lovering, of Montreal, Mr. J. W. Templeman, Coldwater; Miss Lillian Beamer, Hamilton; Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hall, Mr. Maxwell Hall, Mr. Clarence Hall, Miss Jennie Hall, Miss Ada Templeman, Mrs. W. M. Fair Mr. H. Fair, Mr. E. G. Armstrong, Toronto, and Miss Hattie McKee, Marysville, Kansas.

Mr. and Mrs. Templeman left on the 5.30 train for a trip to Toronto, Buffalo and Rochester, and will not take up residence at once. Mr. Templeman is connected with the Allis-Chalmer-Bullock Electric Company, of Montreal.

WOOD—CONKLIN.

The Seattle Times of a recent date contains a report of the wedding of Mr. J. E. Wood, formerly of this city, where he was employed with Adam Hall, with portraits of the bride and groom. Mr. Wood is now the president of the Woods Chemical Company. His many friends here will learn with pleasure of the success he is meeting with both in business and society. The Times speaking of the wedding says:—

At their new home at Green Lake seventy-five guests attended the wedding of Mr. J. E. Wood and Miss Lucy Lyda Conklin. "O, Promise Me," was rendered beautifully by Miss Hattle, following which, to the strains of "Lohengrin," the bridal party appeared, Mr. Hammond and Miss Mueller, Mr. Swarthout and Miss Ramage attending the happy couple, the bride leaning on the arm of her father. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Frank Arthur Heath.

The bride wore a beautiful gown of white silk mull trimmed with handsome lace, white ribbon, with pearl ornaments, and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses.

The bridesmaids, Miss Olive Mueller and Miss Helen Ramage, were daintily dressed in pink and white figured mousseline, and carried bouquets of pink carnations.

The house was artistically decorated with ferns and ivy and palms, combined with pink and white; the colours of the S. and R. Club, of which the bride was a member.

Mr. Wood arrived in Seattle from Peterborough, Ont., five years ago, and established a business here. Miss Lucy Lyda Conklin came to Seattle with her parents, two years ago, from Minneapolis, Minn. A year before coming West Miss Conklin graduated with special honours from the Northwest Conservatory of Music. On reaching Seattle she became one of the founders of the S. and R. Club, and has until recently been its president. She is also a member of the Green Lake Musical and Literary Club. They will reside in this city.

It appears that the local hotel men were holding a meeting yesterday, and some generous-hearted bonifacr suggested a collection for the Children's Aid Society. NATURE SPARES

The Stricken Rose From Grief.

What a forunate provision of nature it is that deprives the rose of mental suffering; for how poignant would be its grief to discover, in the height of its blooming glory that a canker fed at its heart, and that its beauty and fragrance were doomed forever. Nature always spares the suffering; she is a veritable storehouse of pleasing rewards for those who seek her aid. In the years gone by falling hair and grayness have cast a gloom over the lives of thousands of young women but thanks to the investigation of scientists the true cause of hair destruction is now known to be a germ or paracite that burrows into the hair follicles. Newbro's Herpicide absolutely destroys the germ, thus permitting the hair to grow as nature intended. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10 cents in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Ormond & Walsh, local agents.

The City Hockey League Elects Season's Officers

The City Hockey League last night formally reorganized for the season, electing officers and transacting other routine business. The meeting was held in the Y.M.C.A. parlours, and was attended by representatives of the three teams which will constitute the league this year, viz., the Bankers, High Lifes, and sucides.

The officers elected were:

President, F. A. Clark.
Vice-President, Jos. Maher.
Secretary, G. L. Main.
Treasurer, C. Wilson.

The Executive Committee will be composed of the officers elected and a representative from each of the teams in the league.

A committee composed of Messrs. Main, Weatherstone and H. Morgan was appointed to confer with the Guild League officers and secretary of the Rink Company with reference to arranging hours for the playing of league games. The proposal was that the City and Guild League games should be played on Thursday nights.

The prospects are that the games in the City League this season will be much faster than they were last year, the three teams entering each having some fast men on their line-up.

Petes Gave Bay City Bunch a Hard Game

It looked like old times last night to see the skating rink filled to the doors with hockey enthusiasts, and it was evident that Belleville people have not by any means lost their love for Canada's great winter sport. The attraction last night was an exhibition match between the local junior O.H.A. team and a picked bunch from Peterborough. The game was fast in spots, but the lads were all inclined to "rough it up," and there was a good deal more dripping than one sees at the ordinary hockey match, and as a consequence, one or two of the worst offenders were decorating the fence most of the time. "Billy" Burke was referee, and did his level best to make the boys play hockey. As a referee, Mr. Burke is strictly all right. It was 8.30 when the match began, and right at the start the Petes jumped into the game with a rush for the Belleville goal. The attack was successfully repulsed, but the visitors scored in five minutes, just the same. Then Belleville, for a time, had much the best of the play, scoring the next four goals, one on a corking lift by Campbell at point. Peterborough got the next, and the next came to the locals, which left the score at half time 5-2 in favour of Belleville. It looked easy.

But you can't always tell. When hostilities commenced in the second half it looked as though the old story, "blew up in the stretch," was about to be repeated. Certainly the local bunch had gone up in the air for a time, for the Petes landed four goals inside of ten minutes, thus leading by one goal. The locals, however, responded gamely to the encouraging shouts of their friends, pulling themselves together, and yanked the game out of the fire by scoring two more goals and winning about as close a match as one would wish to see by a score of 7-6.

As before stated, there was quite a bit of rough play, which the referee did his best to check. The Fitz-Jeffries features of a hockey match are much better cut out. As usual, when players are not in the best of condition, there was a good deal of "scramp" in evidence, Ferguson of the visitors having to be carried off once. The ladies looked at the little scene as though it were a moving picture of the siege of Port Arthur. It is worthy of mention that of the Belleville players who took part in the match last night, all but one belong to that game little athletic organization known as the "Greys," and the members of that club are to-day, quite justifiably, patting themselves on the back. That there is still a good deal of room for improvement in Belleville's junior O.H.A. team we are not prepared to deny, but it must be remembered that so far this season there has been little chance for practice. When the opportunity for steady practice comes the lads will soon get into better condition, and, under the coaching of that fine hockey general, "Sandy" Burrows, will speedily put up a game that should land them on top of group No. 2, if it doesn't put them in the finals, and that is not by any means among the impossibilities.

Peterboro' Has Largest List

The Toronto Globe to-day, referring to Peterborough Intermediate O.H.A. players says:—

Peterborough has a great bunch of hockey players from which to select an O.H.A. team, the largest list sent in to the association so far this season. Altogether there are 24 candidates for the team, including some well-known hockey performers and most of the Rugby champions. Players registered at O.H.A. headquarters yesterday:—

Peterborough—Intermediate, — W. E. Wasen, W. F. Crowley, Roland M. Glover, W. H. Cavanah, Chris. G. Graham, Walter Parnell, Harry Morgan, Fred. J. Whiteroft, W. E. Meagher, R. Melville Moore, W. Fitzpatrick, Ernie A. Ford, D. A. Edwards, Robert S. Hall, A. M. Regan, E. Hurtubise, G. Nicholls, C. Currier, W. H. Stroud, L. M. Watson, J. T. McCabe, Fred. McGrath, Herbert J. Long and W. Rose.

The Charlotte Street Guild Hockey team had a rattling good practice last night on the All Saints rink, but owing to the fact that the rink was very recently engaged for the practice and that it was not announced in the columns of the local papers, the turnout, while it was very gratifying, was not as large as it otherwise would have been. Among those who showed up to good advantage were Cross, Alford, Moore, Thornton, Ryan, Sanderson, F. Roddy, Wilson, Dusty and Elmer Taylor, a new and promising man from Kinmount. Thornton showed up particularly well in goal and seemed to have an eagle eye for everything that came his way.

Westmounts and Brownies

Will Clash on New Year's Day at Y. M. C. A.

On New Year's night in the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium the Westmounts, of Montreal, will play the Brownies. The Westmount team is a very fast aggregation and are confident of defeating the Brownies on their own floor. The Brownies, as is well known, are no juveniles and the game will undoubtedly be lightning fast from beginning to end. The Westmounts have "cleaned up" all the Montreal basketball teams and are about the fastest quintette in Eastern Canada. They hold the championship of Quebec province.

BASKET BALL.

The Brownies and Harriers will play an exhibition game to-night between the hours of 7 and 8 o'clock at the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium. There will be no admission fee.

REPORT FAVORS M'CALL.

President of New York Life Continues In Office, But Armstrong Committee May Help Him Out.

New York, Dec. 27.—The investigating committee of the trustees of the New York Life Insurance Co. had a meeting yesterday at which the report sent from Paris by Andrew C. Hamilton was read and referred to counsel. At the close of the meeting Mr. Fowler said nothing would be given out.

Mr. McCall said that the report was favorable to himself.

The report is said to be an artfully drawn document, which, if it is accepted by the trustees of the New York Life, will relieve President John A. McCall of the necessity of digging into his private store of riches to make good any of his extravagant payments to his boyhood friend, Hamilton. Whether the report will be accepted at its face value, however, is a question.

Though President McCall is determined to hold his position to the last possible moment, the opinion is growing that he will see the wisdom of retiring soon after Jan. 1. Should he persist in holding on the report of the Armstrong Committee, which will be presented to the Legislature about Feb. 1, will, it is said, contain references to his administration of the New York Life that will settle the question of his continuing as president of the company.

The Armstrong insurance committee will go out of existence next Saturday without having completed its investigation. The question of the Legislature re-appointing the committee or creating another with power to continue the investigation will probably come up for action at Albany in the opening meet of the season.

The Armstrong committee will resume work to-day and continue until Saturday night.

KING EDWARD AT MADRID.

British Naval Squadron of Sixty Ships to Visit Spain, Too.

Madrid, Dec. 27.—King Edward is expected to visit Madrid on the occasion of King Alfonso's wedding, and it is announced that at the same time many pleasure yachts will arrive in Spanish waters.

Officers of three British squadrons now manoeuvring off Vigo landed here yesterday were interviewed by newspaper correspondents. They say that there is no doubt that all the arrangements for the wedding of Princess Ena of Battenburg and King Alfonso have been completed, and that on the occasion of the marriage the squadron of sixty British warships of all sizes will visit Spanish waters in honor of the occasion.

The Pope received the Duke and Duchess of Norfolk in audience at the Vatican and presented them with two signed photographs of himself. He also presented to the duchess, for her daughter, a gold medallion, having a madonna on one side and a portrait of himself on the other.

FOOD—
NOT MEDICINE.

If all the treatments for consumption were put in book form it would make a pretty big library. But after all there has been little improvement over the old treatment of rest, fresh air, sunshine, plain, wholesome food and Scott's Emulsion. The latter supplies nourishment that cannot be secured in any other way, and after all, nourishment is what the consumptive needs first.

A gain in weight, however slight, is a long step toward improvement. If there is the least thing to build on Scott's Emulsion will enable the patient to make that gain. People have gained a pound in weight from a bottle of Scott's Emulsion—it's an exception when they don't.

We have seen Scott's Emulsion take hold of a patient and bring about a change for the better inside of a week. It always helps even the most stubborn cases.

Show Honour To Deceased Parliamentarian

Late Mr. Prefontaine May Have a State Funeral.

PREMIER ROUVIER CONDOLES

Naval Honors From France and a British Warship For Carriage of the Minister's Remains Subject of Cablegrams Between Ottawa, London and Paris—Names Already Mentioned for Portfolio.

Ottawa, Dec. 27.—France may extend naval honors to the remains of Mr. Prefontaine, and their carriage to Canada in a British warship may be granted by the Imperial Government. There is a precedent in the case of the death of Sir John Thompson at Windsor in 1894.

It is known that the French Government have made an offer to accord public recognition, and that wish probably will be acceded to.

The advisability of employing a warship to transport the body to Halifax now forms the subject of cablegrams between Earl Grey and the Home Government. A definite statement in the matter is expected to-day.

Sir John Thompson's body was given a state funeral, and the remains of Mr. Prefontaine may receive the same distinction.

At the Madelaine.

London, Dec. 27.—(C. A. P.)—The tragic death of Mr. Prefontaine aroused deep and wide-spread regret here, as well as in France. In both countries the deceased statesman has many friends. The funeral is expected to be most imposing. Service will be held at the Madelaine Cathedral in Paris, and will take place at 10 o'clock Saturday morning. The date of sailing is not definitely fixed yet, but will probably be from Liverpool on the Lake Champlain on Jan. 4. Hon. Mr. Lemieux is in charge of the arrangements.

Death Mercifully Sudden.

The flag at Lord Strathcona's office was at half-mast yesterday. The Canadian Associated Press understands from Paris that the deceased Minister, with Hon. Mr. Lemieux, was spending Christmas as a guest of Canadian Commissioner Fabre. He was stricken at 8.45 p. m., and lingered only about 15 minutes. He called his private secretary, who secured a priest in time to administer the last sacraments before the end came.

Premier Rouvier Condoles.

Ottawa, Dec. 27.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier received yesterday a telegram of condolence with relatives and friends of the late Mr. Prefontaine from Premier Rouvier of France.

Carries Heavy Insurance.

Montreal, Dec. 27.—The late Mr Prefontaine carried life insurance to the amount of $45,000. Of this amount $35,000 is in the Travelers' Insurance Co., which was placed only a year ago.

A Public Funeral.

It is likely that there will be a public funeral here.

At a meeting of the City Council yesterday afternoon, a resolution of regret was adopted, and the Council adjourned as a mark of respect.

Possible Successors.

Ottawa, Dec. 27.—(Evening Globe Special.)—Although it is less than 24 hours since the late Mr. Prefontaine's death, gossip is already busy with the name of his successor. One report is that a shuffle will take place, under which Mr. Brodeur will be transferred to the Marine Department, and Mr. Lemieux, Solicitor-General, promoted to be Minister of Inland Revenue, in Mr. Brodeur's place. Another rumor is that Mr. Victor Geoffrion will be called to the Cabinet. Such reports are, however, altogether premature.

Members of the French Government, as well as British and other embassies, joined yesterday in tributes of sympathy. It is said Mr. Prefontaine made the French Government an offer to open Canadian waters to French fishermen as compensation for the abandonment of the Newfoundland banks. He had already been through Dunkirk and Lilles, and was due to visit Lyons, Marseilles and Grenville. The Standard yesterday morning refers to his death as "a loss to the Empire."

It would be a heap quieter world if young ladies who sing were mind readers.

TIRED OUT.

There's many a wife sits in the growing silence of an evening, knowing what it is to feel tired out; as if there was not another ounce of effort left in her. But if healthy she knows how sound her slumber will be and how refreshed the morning will find her. But it's another thing for the sick woman to feel tired out. Rest only seems to increase her suffering. She feels acutely the aching back and throbbing nerves.

Sick women, hundreds of thousands of them, have been made well by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

"I am pleased to inform you of the benefit I received from using Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery,'" writes Mrs. Elizabeth A. Oswold, of 46 Brant Street, Windsor, Essex Co., Ontario, Canada. "Was quite discouraged when I wrote asking your advice, as the physicians here told me I could get no relief except by an operation. Suffered for four years from irregular and profuse menstruation, had sick and nervous headaches most of the time, and at times could hardly walk across the floor from weakness. I thank God there is such a remedy as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for suffering women. Before I had taken the first bottle the headaches had left me and it was not long before regularity was established and still continues so. Have just finished house-cleaning which I never expected to be able to do again, and can truly say I never felt better than at present. I gladly recommend 'Favorite Prescription' to all who suffer from female weakness. It has cured me and made me stronger in every way. Neither my husband nor myself can say enough in its praise."

The selfish seller who urges some substitute in thinking of the larger profit he'll make and not of your best good.

Russia's New Electoral Law Makes Few Concessions.

WORKMEN'S NEW WEAPON

They Must Take Chances In Electoral College—Can Elect Representatives In Combination Only With Landlords and Peasants In Combination—Two Degrees of Voters —Not Universal Suffrage.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 27.—The new electoral law was gazetted yesterday and was accompanied by a statement explaining that in view of the fact that even some of the western countries did not possess universal suffrage the Cabinet could not assume the responsibility of decreeing it. The ultimate decision must be made by the National Assembly itself. The election list will be published forthwith, the date of the elections will then be announced and as soon as the Government receives notification that half the members are elected the National Assembly will be convoked.

Indirect System Retained.

The extension of the suffrage proclaimed yesterday applies especially to the cities, where it is made almost universal. Besides the workmen in the factories and mills, who are especially provided for, the suffrage will include every owner of real estate, paying taxes, persons conducting enterprises, like shop keepers paying licenses; persons paying a lodging tax or occupying separate lodgings and persons in the Government service, including railroad men. All limit of rent paid by lodgings holders as a voting qualification is removed. The indirect system of two degrees of voters in both cities and country is retained.

Combine to Win.

A new feature of the law is that the workmen, instead of being allowed a specified number of class representatives have to take their chances in the electoral colleges with the other classes. Moreover, instead of the cities having representatives, the electoral colleges will be composed by the provinces. The workmen will choose an elector for every 10,000 men. The result is shown in the case of the Province of St. Petersburg, where the electoral college will contain 14 peasant electors, 18 landlords, 15 city landlords and 24 workmen.

By this method, while the workmen's electors are the largest class, they will only be able to elect representatives in combination. The new law is a great extension of the law of August. It contains elements which certainly will appeal to conservative opinion, but with the slogan of "universal suffrage" ringing in the popular ear it will prove a great disappointment and is certain to furnish the proletarian organizations with a new weapon for agitation.

Want a Republic.

They no longer want concessions. They are boldly proclaiming that nothing but complete overthrow of the autocracy and the establishment of a democratic republic will satisfy them.

Two Regiments Mutiny.

London, Dec. 27.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of The Times in a despatch dated Dec. 26 says:

"Governor-General Doubassoff, telegraphing yesterday, reported that 15,000 persons had been killed or wounded at Moscow.

"The latest news from Moscow says that the first regiment of the Don Cossacks, the Tver Dragoons and the Nesvish Regiment of Infantry mutinied and are confined to their barracks.

"I am informed from a good source that 2,000 persons were killed, and 10,000 wounded. The revolutionists are making no headway, but they show no signs of exhaustion."

The St. Petersburg correspondent of The Daily Telegraph says that letters addressed in the same handwriting to Count Witte, Gen. Trepoff and Interior Minister Durnovo exploded while being carefully opened in the general postoffice.

Moscow Revolt Fails.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 27.—Emperor Nicholas and Count Witte received last night a report from Gen Doubassoff, Governor-General of Moscow, saying that the revolt there had failed, that the military had the situation in hand, and that whatever defection may have existed among the troops had been overcome by attacks on them with bombs and revolvers, to which they had been subjected from the windows and roofs of houses, and which had so enraged them that they could hardly be restrained.

Has Them Cornered.

Shortly before 9 o'clock last night the correspondent of the Associated Press at Moscow telephoned that there seemed to be no longer doubt that the insurrection was collapsing. The insurgents still held the quadrangle in which the workmen's council was sitting as a revolutionary committee, but only because Governor-General Doubassoff was not yet ready to give the coup de grace.

Firing continued intermittently throughout the day. At 5 o'clock automatic guns were being used in Strastner square, but the insurgents were becoming exhausted after their four days' efforts, and the fighting was rapidly degenerating into guerrilla warfare.

Gen. Doubassoff has enforced the most rigid martial law, and no person is allowed on the streets after 9 o'clock at night.

Peasants Kill Strikers.

Among the lower classes which do not sympathize with the desire to overthrow the Emperor, the feeling is becoming intense, and in many cases strikers have been beaten to death.

The correspondent predicts that the crushing of the rebellion is likely to be followed by the most horrible atrocities if the "black hundreds" are let loose.

Hundreds Burn to Death.

A terrible holocaust occurred at the Sytin Works, where six thousand workmen were suddenly surrounded by cavalry and artillery. The latter fired at the building, which was soon in flames. Hundreds perished in the conflagration.

Two attempts on the life of the prefect of police by students, one of them a woman, were frustrated.

Strike in Coal Region.

Lodz, Russian Poland, Dec. 27.—The workmen here threaten to begin a strike to-day, and an armed rising in the coal mining district is also threatened. It is declared that 12,000 men are ready to fight the troops.

Warsaw Prepares For Fray.

Warsaw, Russian Poland, Dec. 27.—The street railroad employes struck last night, and the employes of the steam railroads are expected to follow suit.

The revolutionists are threatening an armed insurrection similar to that at Moscow.

The military authorities are making every preparation and have ordered the entire garrison to be ready for any emergency.

Stricken on Niagara Bridge.

Niagara Falls, Dec. 27.—Peter B. Secord, a widely-known contractor and builder, died very suddenly at his home on the American side. He was taken ill while on the bridge, crossing the river. Mr. Secord was a native of Niagara Township, and has relatives all over the Niagara peninsula. He leaves a widow and family.

Drove Over the Mountain.

Hamilton, Dec. 27.—Wm. Smith, a wholesale butcher, who lives near Burlington, drove over an embankment at Fisher's Corners Saturday, and was so badly hurt that slight hopes of his recoverey are entertained. His four-year-old grandson was tossed into a ditch filled with water, and was drowned.

A Christmas-Tide Family Re-union

A Delightful Holiday Season Family Gathering.

The residence of Mr. William Scott, of Smith Township, was the scene, on Friday night last, of a very pleasant family gathering, especially in view of the occasion which prompted it. The late Mrs. Walter Scott, who died a few months ago, spent her last days with her son, Mr. William Scott, Smith Township, and she was the object of the dutiful care of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. William Scott.

In order to recognize the loving care and devotion with which their mother's last days had been made of the most pleasant character possible, the members of the family united to purchase a beautiful Chinese dinner set to present to Mrs. Will Scott. On Friday night the contributors and their wives visited the residence of Mrs. Scott, and made the presentation as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Walter Scott, Mr. and Mrs. John Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Scott and Miss Viola Scott, of Toronto, and Mr. and Mrs. (a sister) Andrew Robinson. They chartered a bus, and, proceeding from town to Mrs. Scott's residence, made the presentation. Following the exchange of Christmas greetings, a banquet, served on the presentation china, was partaken of, and the entire company enjoyed the unique family re-union, and a most delightful occasion was enjoyed by all.

Mr. Mitchell's Greeting.

I take pleasure in extending my holiday greeting to all my customers, and to thank them especially for the unusually large patronage received during Christmas week. MR. DUMBLE'S ATTITUDE.

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Dear Sir,—I notice that at the nomination for school trustees on Friday last Mr. Dumble severely criticized the actions of the present Board, accusing them of showing very bad judgment, especially in the matter of the proposed new Collegiate Institute. Mr. Dumble says that the citizens of Peterborough have not been taken into the confidence of the Board. In this I feel that Mr. Dumble is mistaken unless he refers to the time that the tenders were received for suitable sites for the new Collegiate Institute, and, of course, he is in a position to judge in this matter, as he was one of the parties to submit tenders, the following being an exact copy of the same:

Peterborough, Feb. 10, 1903.

G. W. Morrow, Esq.
Secretary of School Board,
Town.

As a site for a Collegiate Institute, I offer the land lying north of Elm street, south of Cedar street, east of Monaghan Road and west of Cross street, Peterborough; about four and a half acres, for about $5,000. This land affords a beautiful site and a good playground.

2. If the Board want land more centrally situated I would suggest the street between the Thos. Bradburn homestead and my homestead. This, with my south acre and the south acre of the Bradburn property, would give the best site in Peterborough, and an acre on the west for a girls' playground, and an acre on the east for a boys' playground.

This land would, in vacation time, be a pleasant and useful park for the people. There would be something more than two and a half acres, and the price would be reasonable.

Yours truly,
(Signed) D. W. DUMBLE.

Alas, Mr. Dumble says that in securing the site the Board has decided upon they have made a very bad bargain, and that all they have to show for their money is one acre, or one-third of the property purchased from the Separate School authorities, while the facts are that the School Board only paid $10,000 (one-third of the total purchase money for this property), while they received one-half of the property, or three lots, and they also received from the city one lot of the Central Park, which gives them lots 3, 4, 5, and 6 west of George street and south of McDonel. I certainly think the citizens have been taken into the confidence of the Board in this matter, as report after report has been published in the press explaining their position. In the minutes of the last Board meeting we find the following letter from their solicitor to the chairman of the Property Committee, also a copy of the resolution showing the action taken by the Board in this matter.

The letter and resolution follow:

Peterborough, Dec. 4, 1905.

Mr. John Crane,
Ontario Bank,
City.

Dear Sir,—I find, after examination of the records in the Registry Office, that the city of Peterborough has given a conveyance to the Dominion Government of lots numbers 3, 4, 5 and 6 south of Murray street and west of George street for armoury purposes.

No rights whatever have been given the Government in connection with the lots 3, 4, 5 and 6 south of McDonel street. It might be as well to have instructions given that the conveyance of these lots be made to the Board of Education forthwith.

Yours truly,
(Signed.) R. M. DENNISTOUN.

Copy of resolution re lots 3, 4, 5, and 6 south of McDonel street:

Moved by Dr. Burnham, seconded by Mr. Crane, — "That the solicitor be instructed to have lots 3, 4, 5, and 6, south of McDonel street, deeded from the city to the Board of Education."—Carried.

Mr. Dumble states that he has decided to become a candidate for election for the year 1906, as he feels the citizens of Peterborough are anxious to have some "new blood" on the Board, but evidently Mr. Dumble's criticisms of the present Board, are not taken seriously by the majority of the ratepayers, as he is the only candidate in the field for election who is not a member of the Board at the present time, and evidently the citizens are well pleased with the actions of the Board, and intend re-electing nine of the present members to represent them in 1906.

Personally speaking, I feel that I am voicing the sentiments of the large majority of our most progressive members when I state that the Board deserves great credit for having secured the present site, which is certainly an ideal one, and not in any way to be compared with either property mentioned in Mr. Dumble's letter. If the ratepayers are not disposed to vote more money at the present time for the erection of a suitable building, in keeping with this site, it would be best to at once take up the matter of improving our public schools, and letting the Institute matter rest until such time as a sufficient appropriation could be received for the erection of an up-to-date Collegiate Institute.

In closing, I would ask Mr. Dumble the following questions:

1. Does he wish to be elected a member of the Board, that he may use his influence to have the present lots disposed of, and sell his own property for a Collegiate Institute site?

2. Where does he get his information when he answers Mr. F. J. Hartley of tendering on the new Collegiate Institute, as a member of the Board, and chairman of the Building Committee? I have no knowledge of Mr. Hartley submitting any tender.

3. Why does he state that there are only two lots at present available for school purposes, when the facts have so frequently been presented to the citizens, showing plainly that the Government have no rights whatever in lots 3, 4, 5, and 6, west of George and south of McDonel, and that these lots are for school purposes?

Thanking you for your valuable space, I am, your obedient servant,
H. P. KENNEDY.

LOCAL OPTION VS. JUSTICE.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—So much is being said about temperance, it might not be out of place to remind your readers that there is another virtue which in the race for local option seems to be entirely overlooked, i.e., justice.

Under existing circumstances, it seems to me that local option in Otonabee would be a flagrant breach of justice. In the first place, in Keene a hotel is necessary for the accommodation of the public; it is not on this account, however, that I would oppose local option, but it is the injustice of the measure in regard to the present proprietor of the Victoria House.

In the liquor business Mr. Kennally has always strictly complied with the requirements of the law, and his property which represents the savings of a life time, and which was not acquired from the profits of the liquor business alone, but rather the outcome of honest manual labour, and now the local option people ask the intelligent voters of Otonabee to come forward on the first of January and sweep away with their ballots the fruits of over a quarter of a century of untiring industry.

Theologians tell us, we are not justified in telling a lie for a good purpose. How then are we justified in taking away a man's property and means of support for a good purpose, and a very doubtful good at that?

It simply resolves itself into this: A certain wrong for a doubtful good, and even if it was a certain benefit we would not be justified in doing it.

With local option in force the loss to Mr. Kennally will be at least 50 per cent, and in my opinion the state of affairs in Keene will not be benefitted by the passing of the local option bylaw.

When less than three years ago Mr. Kennally became proprietor of the Victoria House, the change was hailed by all temperance people as a great blessing for the village. Subsequent events have proved they were not mistaken, for since that time drunkenness and disorder have become almost a minus quantity.

Yours in the interests of justice,
FAIR PLAY.

ALD. JOHNSTON TO THE FRONT.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I was pleased to read in your issue of the 20th ult., that we have one man at least willing to give us some of his platform. I have been a resident of Peterborough some ten years, and there are many of our coming aldermen of whom I have not a personal acquaintance. I must say that I endorse his policy, as a whole, and that he should have a very strong support from all classes. This is the only means by which we can make up our minds as to how we cast our vote. Now, as regarding by-laws, many of our citizens' lots become somewhat prejudiced against such, as a sort of a fad; but it is hoped that we, as citizens, will take the necessary precautions to protect our homes and industries from destruction by fire. I admit that we have had too many by-laws before the people.

And as to reduction of licenses for hotels in this city, I would think there would not be a single alderman but would endorse the same; only I do not think it a good policy to increase the license rate to a higher tax. The taking of a hotel is not Christian principle to begin with. I would rather bonus a person to keep a good temperance house. I also hope those persons who are aspiring for the trustee board will show their hand to the public and let us know where they stand regarding our new Collegiate Institute, and if it would not be much better to have the work of the first form in our Collegiate Institute done in our public schools. Do we not need more public school room?

Mischief Makers Break Window

Mr. David Henry, grocer, at the corner of Park and Parnell streets, has been having troubles of his own lately. The other night the glass in his cellar window was smashed, leaving exposed to the cold about sixty dollars worth of potatoes. He boarded the window up and the boards were kicked in last night. Fortunately the weather lately has not been particularly severe so no damage was done to the potatoes by frost.

Mr. Henry has reported the matter to the police.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

The "Serio-Comic Girl" which will play here to-morrow night in the Grand Opera House, will come from the Russell Theatre, Ottawa, where it played three nights to crowded houses. It is a comic opera, of the brightest class, and will doubtless play to a good house here.

Last night the Grand Opera House again held a good crowd of persons who gathered to see Prof. Crocker's educated horses perform. The programme was practically the same as that on the preceding day, as far as the horses were concerned, the morning pictures being changed.

Tonight the horses will again be seen, which will close the engagement.

An Officers' Class Will Be Established

Lieut.-Col. Miller Receives Permission From Ottawa to Open Classes of Instruction Here—57th Officers May Now Qualify at Home--Will Probably Open Shortly After the New Year—Convenience to Business Men.

LECTURES WILL BE GIVEN BY LIEUT.-COL

Lieut.-Colonel Miller has received from the Department of Militia, permission to conduct an officers' class here during the present winter and spring.

It is some years now since such a class has been held here, and those who wish to qualify as officers, and the officers who wish to take higher rank, will doubtless appreciate the convenience which the establishment of the class will afford.

The Sergt.-Major will have charge of the work of the officers in the shed, and the lectures will be given in the mess room by the Colonel.

The class will open about the second week in January, and will continue for probably two or three months, or until all those wishing to qualify have become proficient.

In other years those who were applying for commissions had to spend two months in Toronto at Stanley barracks, and to the business man this was in many cases an impossibility and always inconvenient.

The fact that the Department has decided to allow the Lieut.-Colonel to open a class here for the instruction of the local officers, is an evidence of the fact that the importance of this place as a military centre is recognized.

Choirmaster For St. John's

Mr. H. F. Ferguson, of Fort Erie, Will Assume Duties at the New Year.

Mrs. K. Eardley-Wilmot, who some time ago consented to take charge of the music at St. John's for a period of three months, has been obliged to withdraw from the position, which she has filled with so much credit to herself, and enjoyment to the congregation.

The duties of choirmaster, will be assumed on Jan. 1st by Mr. H. F. Ferguson, of Fort Erie, who has accepted the position for a term of one month. Mr. Ferguson, is a versatile musician, of high standing, and will no doubt perform the duties of the position in an efficient and satisfactory manner.

Mrs. Eardley-Wilmot's withdrawal is much regretted both by members of the choir and of the congregation, as the advances made during her regime have been most marked.

New Industry's Proposition Satisfactory

City Council Grants New Stove Company Free Site and Fixed Assessment—The Sugar Co.'s Premises Will Probably be the Site—Concern Will Employ About Three Hundred—Output of 100 Stoves Per Day—Factory Will be Large.

PROPERTY WILL BE PURCHASED

For some time past the members of the city council have been considering the granting of a free site and fixed assessment to a stove manufacturing industry, which has chosen Peterborough as a location to commence operations. The company is represented by Mr. Howard, of Montreal, one of its members, who is associated with several American capitalists in the enterprise.

A request for the privileges mentioned above, was made at a meeting of the Committee of the Whole Council, on December 12th. At a meeting of that body held last night it was decided to accede to the requests of Mr. Howard, who was present for the purpose of explaining more fully the details of the proposition. As a consequence of the action taken, it is probable that the premises of the defunct Peterborough Sugar Company will be purchased by the city, and that the foundation walls erected for the Sugar Company's plant will be utilized as a basis for the superstructure of the new radiator and stove works.

The following members of the council were in attendance: Mayor Best, Aldermen Johnston, Leary, Batten, Crowe, McIntyre, Scott, Hall, Mason, Hicks.

Mr. Howard was introduced by the Mayor, who explained briefly the details of the proposition. The promoters of the company, the Mayor said, had been much impressed with Peterborough as a good location for the establishment of their works, and, especially, with the splendid shipping facilities afforded here, from its central location and convenient railway communication.

Mr. Howard, asked by Mayor Best to explain his proposition, stated that since his last visit here, he had visited the site of the Sugar Beet Company. If the site was secured by his company they would be in a position to give an assurance of their location here. What they desired was the definite guarantee of the site, and a fixed assessment, equal to its value.

Mayor Best thought that if two weeks' notice were given, the property would be offered for sale.

Ald. Leary stated that he, together with four others, Mr. Hunter, Mr. Davidson, Mr. Joshua Smithson and T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P., had purchased the property, having advanced the money to retire the Howden mortgage. The property was now for sale.

Mr. Howard stated that between five and ten acres of land would be required. In order to be enabled to commence work in May next, the company would require to utilise the present foundations. The capacity of the plant would be one hundred stoves per day — the largest output in this line of manufacture of any concern in the Dominion. About three hundred hands would be employed.

In reply to a question by Mayor Best, Mr. Howard stated that if it were impossible to secure the Sugar Company location, an equivalent in value would do.

Mayor Best inquired if a portion of the property adjoining the site of the walls would be suitable, in case that could not be secured.

Ald. Hicks thought that if the walls could be utilized by the stove comapany in order to facilitate their operations, they should be given them, as they could not be utilized by many other industries.

Mayor Best thought that if the property could be purchased at a reasonable price the city should purchase the entire property.

Ald. Hall also strongly favoured this course, in order to secure further industries which might be induced to locate here.

The following resolution was moved by Ald. Johnston, seconded by Ald. Hicks:—

"That provided Mr. Howard and his associates will establish a factory for making stoves and heaters, as outlined by Mr. Howard, at this meeting, and at the meeting on Dec. 12th, 1905, this city will give them a free site on which to establish their factory, and a fixed assessment, at the value of the site, for a period of ten years, this to be subject to confirmation by the Legislature."

Opening for Hotelkeeper.

Fortye will be able to furnish all necessary information. 2d-1w

Highwaymen Took $350.00 From O. Smith

Special to The Examiner.

Napanee, Dec. 28.—About 8 o'clock last night four men held up Oliver Smith, of Moscow, and robbed him of $350. Two of the robbers held and unhitched Smith's team, while the other two seized him and went through his pockets. The men then jumped into the rig and drove away, getting a good start. The robbery took place at Salem, a suburb of Napanee, about one and a half miles from the town proper on the Newburgh road. Smith owns a threshing outfit and was out collecting accounts, which fact must have been known to the robbers.

A Purse Was Presented To Hon. G. W. Ross

Special to The Examiner.

Toronto, Dec. 28.—Hon. George W. Ross, ex-Premier of Ontario, was waited upon this afternoon by a large delegation representing political and personal friends, who presented him with a purse of $35,000. The presentation was made by Hon. George A. Cox.

Good Toronto's Tidy Drink Bill

(Toronto News.)

It is estimated that in each of the 150 hotels of Toronto the average bar receipts per day are $60, or a grand total of $9,000.

This gives for the year of 310 days a total bar expenditure of $2,790,000.

It is also estimated that each of the 50 shops takes in $50 per day, a total per day of $2,500, and for the year of 310 days of $775,000.

We thus get these astonishing figures:

Bar receipts	$2,790,000
Shop receipts	775,000
Grand Total—	$3,565,000

If we estimate the population of Toronto at 250,000, this means an expenditure for every man, woman and child of $14, and for every family of five of $70.

Advance Made Towards The Church Union

Rev. Dr. Crothers Spoke on the Question at the George Street Methodist Church Last Night —The Movement Has Now Taken Definite Form—Three Churches are in Line for Church Federation--Good Will Result.

MATTER NOW RESTS WITH THE PEOPLE

At the weekly prayer meeting of the George street Methodist church last night Rev. Dr. Crothers gave an interesting address on the progress of the movement towards the union of the Methodist, Presbyterian and Congregational churches in Canada. Dr. Crothers was a member of the committee on doctrine, composed of representatives from the three churches interested, which met in Toronto last week, when the church federation movement made such material progress. The reverend gentleman, therefore, has a comprehensive knowledge of the movement to unite the Methodist, Presbyterian and Congregational churches, and his remarks were listened to with much attention.

There was an unusually large attendance. The speaker commenced by saying that the church in Canada was to-day face to face with one of the greatest movements in its history. It rested with the members of the Methodist, Presbyterian and Congregational churches whether or not there would be an organic union of these bodies. Ministers and officials could not decide the matter; it rested with the people, and whether the people pronounce on it in the negative or in the affirmative, the churches interested, said Dr. Crothers, will have been benefited as a result of the movement towards federation. The labour spent will not have been lost. Dr. Crothers then gave a short sketch of the conditions that led up to the agitation for closer relations among the three churches mentioned above. The movement began to make itself manifest in 1898, when the need for more co-operation in home mission work began to make itself felt. There was an overlapping of the work of the three churches in regard to home missions, and it was felt that it would be more economical to have more co-operation among the three different denominations. None of the three churches had any money to throw away, in fact, the need of more funds for home mission work was urgently felt, and it was deemed that more good could be done at less expense by a more active spirit of co-operation among the three churches. Immigrants were pouring into New Ontario, the Northwest and British Columbia, and in order that the Protestant church might keep pace with the tide of immigration some urgent steps were necessary. The Presbyterian church was the first to take the matter up, and it found the Methodist and Congregational churches in hearty accord with the movement. Meetings were held and committees appointed by the three bodies, and while at first the object was to secure more co-operation in missionary work, as the movement progressed the outlook became wider, and organic church union began to be looked upon as feasible. In December, 1901, the first meeting of the joint committees was held in Toronto, when sub-committees were appointed to consider the following phases of the proposed union: doctrine, polity, ministry, administration and law. "It was wonderful," said Dr. Crothers, "the way in which many of the barriers which seemed to bar the progress of organic union were surmounted when the members of the different committees got together and began to give the matter consideration. There had to be compromise on all sides. The result of the work of these committees is that church unity is now nearer a reality than ever before."

Dr. Crothers then read the reports of the different committees, which were submitted at the meeting in Toronto last week, and the substance of which has appeared in the press despatches.

Dr. Crothers saw no reason why the union of the three churches should not be brought about. It rested with the people, however. Even should no objection arise it would take three years at least, in Dr. Crothers' opinion, for the federation of the three churches to become a reality.

Dr. Crothers said in conclusion, "Even should the people decide in the negative and church union not become an established fact, one great good will have resulted. We have shown the world that at least three of the Protestant churches in Canada are one in doctrine," said he. "Time and again we have had it flung in our faces that we did not know where we were; that one was one thing and one another. We will have shown that there are over 1,800,000 people in Canada outside of the Catholic church who are one in doctrine. As a result of the negotiations for church union, the Methodist, Presbyterian and Congregational churches are now in a better position than ever before to pursue their work and save souls for God."

Good Out of Evil.

—It seems that it is possible that good can come out of evil. Some persons broke the game laws by fishing out of season. Mr. Johnson, fish inspector, seized the fish and confiscated them and presented the sequestrated spoil to the Protestant Home, whose inmates will enjoy the benefit of somebody's wrong-doing.

Shareholders May Get 66%

According to the deductions of Mr. Masten, solicitor to the Government investigator, Mr. W. H. Cross, the total liabilities of the York Loan & Savings Company to the shareholders amount to $3,178,708. The assets as arrived at during Tuesday's examination are $2,040,634. The deficit, therefore, is $1,138,134, or nearly one-third of the total indebtedness. With other allowances included the deficit would probably be reduced to $1,000,000. It is therefore assumed that the company will be able to pay only 66 cents on the dollar.

The evidence taken yesterday showed that from 1896 to August 19 last the company had received on instalment shares, $6,225,187, whose face value, including $100,000 stock on hand, was estimated at $8,081,000. The payments to shareholders, including lapses, during that period was $5,577,067.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

The Lindsay Post says: A man named Downey, living in the East Ward, has good cause to be thankful that he is alive to-day. Few men have had a narrower escape than he had last Saturday night.

Having been up town on a purchasing trip, he undertook to save little time on the homeward journey by crossing the river opposite the egghouse. The ice had been solid there, but the mild weather of the past week or ten days caused it to become rotten, and Downey, unaware of this, jumped into a large open space. His attempts to extricate himself were rendered fruitless by the weight of his heavy overcoat when it became watersoaked, so he held on to the edge of the ice and shouted for help. His cries were heard by Mr. Thos. O'Neill while proceeding along King street, East Ward, and after some time he succeeded in locating Downey, but found it impossible to reach him. The two men then shouted in concert and their cries were heard by Mr. Adam McCabe, who launched a boat and effected a rescue in the nick of time, as Downey could not have held on a half minute longer.

The Trades and Labour Council

A Lengthy Meeting Was Held Last Night.

Last night a meeting of the Trades and Labour Council was held, with a large attendance, the different labour unions being well represented.

The three aldermen endorsed by this body in this year's council were present, and addressed the meeting at some length. A discussion on municipal matters followed, but no definite action was taken. It was decided to hold another meeting on Friday night at 7.30, when the question of the advisability of endorsing any of the candidates for aldermanic honours will be decided.

The president of the Trades Council when spoken to this morning, said that nothing further than the statement given above was ready for publication, the meeting having decided to withhold anything the Council had to say until after the meeting on Friday night.

"Daddy" Taylor Makes Record Travelling

Mr. William Taylor, who for nearly a quarter of a century, was engineer in charge of the C. P. R. pumping stations between this city and Manvers, and who retired from the service last year, has been doing some figuring in his hours of leisure, and he finds that in the 21 years in which he acted in that capacity, he travelled no less than 222,768 miles, and never met with an accident of any description in that time. This is a record which few men can equal. But "Daddy" Taylor was evidently born under a lucky star—at any rate, he always managed to land on top.

With New Blood In the Arteries

YOU WILL FEEL NEW VIGOR AND CONFIDENCE THROUHOUT THE WHOLE BODY.

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD

Do you know what it is to feel well — to feel young and hearty and vigorous—to feel full of energy and ambition—to enjoy work and to look forward hopeful and confident of the future.

This is the natural way to feel when your blood is pure and rich and your nerves are a-thrill with life and vitality.

This is the way you will feel if you revitalize your wasted and depleted nervous system by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Not in any miraculous way—not after the first dose or the first box, it may be, but when your system has been gradually built up — your blood enriched and new vim and vigour instilled into the nerves.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is a wonderful medicine, but its wonders are accomplished in nature's way, by thoroughly restoring the elements lacking in a run-down body.

No other treatment for the nerves acts in exactly this way. Some relieve by deadening the nerves — some by excessive stimulation.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food brings about lastingly beneficial results by forming new, rich, red blood, and creating new nerve force.

Mr. George W. Lawson, a farmer living near Comeeon and well and favourably known throughout Prince Edward County, Ont., writes:—

"About one year ago I was taken sick and felt myself failing every day. I consulted and doctored with several eminent physicians, but received no permanent benefit. In fact they told me they could do nothing for me except afford temporary relief, as it was a general breaking up of old age. My nerves were exhausted and my whole system completely broken up.

"I was just at death's door, and, thinking my time to die had come I gave up hope and resigned myself to fate. At this time my wife read in the papers about some of the wonderful cures being brought about by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and I began using it.

"This treatment helped me from the first, and I continued to keep it up for about six months, when I was fully restored to health. To-day I am a well man and made so by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food at a trifling cost. All this in spite of the fact that I spent a large sum of money with physicians only to be pronounced incurable. Though in my 75th year I feel as well as I did at twenty, and can walk as smartly as any of the boys."

There is lots of evidence of what this great food cure has done for others. Ask your neighbours about it. Fifty cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

School Closing Exercises Held at Ennismore.

Ennismore, Dec. 20.—On Thursday evening, December 21, the annual closing of the schools took place, and once more the large township hall proved all too small to accommodate the immense crowd that turned out to listen to the children's concert. The programme was long and varied, consisting of songs, recitations, drills, dialogues, speeches, debates and spelling matches. Besides the regular programme, over one hundred and fifty prizes were distributed among the deserving pupils of the six schools, three prizes being awarded to the highest in each class. In addition to the regular class work four special prizes were given to each school for regular attendance, spelling, reading and catechism. Below is a list of the first in each class in the different schools:

Standing in High School.

2nd, Clara Young and Mary Costello.

3rd, Clara Galvin.

4th, Beatrice Flynn and Michael Perdue.

5th, Dan O'Donoghue, Frank Moloney and John Gallice.

To each of the above for class work and to the following for having successfully passed the Entrance examination to High School last June, special prizes were awarded:

Presentations were also made to each of the teachers as follows: S. S. No. 1, Miss Katie Guiry; No. 2, Mr. Stephen McDonald; No. 3, Mr. J. A. O'Reilly; No. 4, Miss Celia Guiry; No. 7, Miss Lottie Galvin; High School, Mr. J. A. O'Donohue.

Messrs. Stephen McDonald and J. A. O'Reilly, both of whom have done good work as teachers, and who have resigned their schools, were made the recipients of very pretty presents by the children of the schools they taught.

The debate, "Resolved, that monarchy is a better form of Government than a republic," was won by Frank Moloney and John Gallice, both pupils of the High School, who argued for the affirmative.

A pleasing feature of the programme was the presentation of gifts to the three music teachers, whose services in the choir and in the parish concerts have been highly appreciated. Misses Ida Galvin, Gertrude Moloney and Agnes Scollard were the young ladies who were honoured.

The spelling contest, open to the fourth classes of the public schools, was won by Miss Vernie Galvin, of S. S. No. 2, closely pressed by Basil Flaherty, of S. S. No. 7.

At the close of the contest Mr. McDonald was retired to the ante-room to smile.

Father Fitzpatrick was also kindly remembered by the pupils, as the following addresses show. The gift of the High School to their pastor was a valuable set of silver knives and forks, while that of S. S. No. 4 was a magnificent gold-headed umbrella.

The pupils in the High School presented their beloved pastor with the address which follows:

Ennismore, Dec. 18, 1905.

Reverend and Beloved Father,—

We, the pupils of the Ennismore High School Class of 1901, wishing to make some return for your earnest labours on our behalf—not only have you, dear reverend Father, in your zeal for our welfare, provided us with means of education enjoyed by few outside the larger towns and cities, such as a beautiful schoolroom, commodious and cheery, and beyond this, instruction in all the higher branches of knowledge, but you have gone further, and taken personal charge of our classical education,—for these, and many other notable acts of kindness towards us, we beg you to accept this set of silver knives and forks, and this calendar, as a slight token of our love and gratitude.

We are proud of being members of your first High School class. We feel that we are enjoying a great privilege and hope to make ourselves worthy of it by diligence in study and propriety in conduct. We are resolved to do everything in our power to establish for our school a name for industry and honour.

We have already begun to experience the delights of wider knowledge and higher ideals, and to catch some of your own boundless enthusiasm for the Latin language. And our earnest wish shall always be to win your approbation.

In conclusion, dear reverend Father, our earnest prayer is that God in His mercy may long spare you to mould the minds and consciences, not only of this class, but of many succeeding classes, and that He may bless all your works.

Signed on behalf of the class:

Celia Twomey, Beatrice M. Flynn, Mary Costello, Helena Moloney, Clara Young, Maggie Perdue, Daniel O'Donoghue, John Gilliece, John A. O'Donohue.

To Rev. Father Fitzpatrick, Ennismore, Teacher.

The address from pupils of S. S. No. 4 was as follows:

To Rev. M. F. Fitzpatrick, P.P. Ennismore, Ont.

Dear Rev. Father,—

You have always been so kind to us and so thoughtful of our welfare that we cannot permit this occasion to pass without some expression of gratitude. We are very thankful for the great care you take of the little ones of our parish, for the zeal you show on our behalf, and the interest you take in our education. We know very well you wish us not only to be good, pious children, but also to be successful in our temporal affairs. To accomplish these ends you have not spared yourself, and if success be not ours the fault will certainly not be yours.

But, dear Father, you have given us such a good example of industry and energy, and have inspired us with such a love for learning that failure on our part ought to be rare indeed.

The High School which you have established is a great boon to us, and we earnestly long for the day to come when we may pursue our studies there.

We have many reasons, therefore, for thanking you, and we desire to assure you of our love, loyalty and gratitude, and to thank you for the loving care and solicitude you have shown for us.

As an earnest of our good wishes we ask you to accept this small gift, this umbrella.

May you this year, and for many, many years to come, enjoy a merry Christmas and a happy New Year.

Signed on behalf of the pupils and teacher of S. S. No. 4, 1905.

The concert was brought to a close by singing the National Anthem.

Whooping Cough.

"My three youngest boys had whooping cough this winter and we could get nothing to help them until I sent for Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. It arrested the coughs at once and they kept right on improving until they were cured at the cost of one dollar. That was not a large bill for so dangerous and distressing an ailment." — Mrs. Wm. Ball, Bracebridge, Ont.

Mr. Culverwell Has an Accident

The Port Hope Guide of yesterday said: We are pleased to see the familiar figure of Mr. J. A. Culverwell about our streets again. A week ago Saturday when Mr. Culverwell was about to get off the train at the G. T. R. station, he was detained writing down some information which he was obtaining from an acquaintance. When crossing the platform he tripped over the stool which was left between the cars, and fell against the corner of the iron railing of the next car, the fall being made heavier by his carrying a valise. The shock was not only great, but several ribs were so badly bruised that he has been confined to bed for a week. We are pleased to learn that he is progressing favourably, and trust he will soon be himself again.

A Problem Solved

Ozone is ozone and in buying it the problem is to get the purest form. "Solution of Ozone (the coupon kind)" is the purest form in which Ozone is put up In addition each bottle contains a coupon entitling you to a package of "Celery King" free, and it is well known that you should take "Celery King" along with Ozone.

We put "Celery King" coupons in our Ozone bottles because no other firm can give "Celery King" with Ozone. By buying "Solution of Ozone (the coupon kind)" you get the purest and most concentrated form of Ozone, and in addition, you save the expense of buying "Celery King" to use with it.

No other kind of Ozone offers this advantage. Ask your druggist for it, and if he hasn't it, write to the Public Drug Company, Bridgeburg, Ont. Sold by W. B. WARNE.

SAD COINCIDENCE.

There is a mournful similarity in the circumstances attending the sudden death far away from home, of Sir John Thompson and Hon. Raymond Prefontaine, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, who died suddenly in Paris a few days ago. Both were public servants, high in the esteem of the people of Canada which they served so well. Both were far distant in the interests of the affairs of the high offices they respectively held, when death came suddenly. Both were, or are to be signally honoured by the Imperial authorities. Sir John Thompson's body was brought to Canada on board a British battle ship and he was given a state funeral. Hon. Mr. Prefontaine's body will be brought home by a British battle ship, and he will also be accorded a state funeral. In his case there is a peculiar fitness in the particular ship selected, the "Dominion," the new cruiser named thus out of compliment to this country. In Hon. Mr. Prefontaine's case there is an added fitness in the selection. As Minister of Marine he was largely responsible, in initiative and administration for the promotion of the establishment of the nucleus of the Canadian branch of the Imperial navy, a work especially appreciated by the British people as coming from a Canadian of French extraction. A pleasing coincidence consists in the fact that both of Canada's large men who have died suddenly far from home were and are worthy of the high honours they have received and will receive. In the presence of the great leveller purely distinctions are swept away and we can all unite as Canadians in honouring our public servants, who, as a rule, no matter what their political proclivities may be, are at heart earnestly anxious for the promotion of the best interests of the country they serve.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

It may be news to some persons that the great subway system of New York is being constructed by English experts. And our neighbours, remarks the Hamilton Times, do a good deal of talking about Britain being slow, too.

We can get a pretty fair idea of the prosperity of the capital of the prosperous province of Ontario from the fact that the assessment of Toronto has increased twenty millions of dollars the past year. This is about nine million dollars more than the total mineral production of the province, which last year was $11,572,617.

Hamilton is in a bad way. They are trying to run the municipal campaign on party political lines. This is a folly that will bring its own punishment. The law prescribes certain qualifications for aldermen, and common sense prescribes other qualifications, but nothing prescribes a man's political faith as a test of his fitness for office. A man may be a hide-bound "Grit" or a moss-back Tory," but that fact does not qualify him to be an alderman.

The Conservatives, remarks the Manitoba Free Press, do not like the election law under which the Saskatchewan elections were held. They say that it unduly favours the Government of the day, which is an entirely just criticism. But the law is Mr. Haultain's own. If he put it on the statute book in order that it might handicap his opponents it is but poetic justice that he has felt the brunt of it himself. It will be the duty of the Scott Government to put on the statute book a proper election law.

The farmer is still king of producers. For the year ended June 30, 1904, our exports of agricultural produce amounted to ninety-three and one-half millions of dollars, thus totalling nearly as much as all other products—factory, forest, fisheries and minerals, which were in detail as follows:—Forest, thirty-three and one-quarter millions; minerals, thirty-two millions; manufactures, twenty-one millions, and fisheries, eleven millions. Great Britain took over half of our exports last year.

The 600 industries are flourishing and there is promise of tremendous expansion in the near future. If it had not been for the timely help of the Ross Government these great great enterprises would now be a bitter memory and the immense collection of now busy machinery would have been a scrap heap. The Conservative party which so vigorously and unreasoningly denounced the action of the Government, have now a chance to see how their partizan madness, if it had prevailed, would have led to disaster.

It is called "Toronto the Good." Why? Because of the virtue of its citizens? or for the quality and quantity of the strong drink consumed? The Toronto News prints an estimate of the value of the liquor consumed by Torontonians in a year. This appalling sum is $3,655,000, or $14 a year per head, or $70 per year for a family of five. It is proposed to remedy the evil by license reduction. Will that accomplish the end, or will it merely concentrate drinking and increase drinking by the opportunities concentrated drinking will afford from the application of the treating system? Everybody is agreed as to the necessity of curtailing the evils of intemperance, but there is no agreement as to the best remedy.

Charming Dance Is in Prospect

A pleasing social event is in prospect for Wednesday evening, January 3rd, when a dance will be given in the Foresters' Hall, Simcoe street, by the Toronto students who are spending the holidays in the city. Invitations are now out.

The Lift Lock Investigation

Was Re-opened This Morning at Trent Canal Office.

The lift lock investigation re-opened this morning at the office of the Trent Canal superintendent, before Mr. Henry Holgate, C.E., of Montreal.

Very little evidence was taken this morning, a number of exhibits, however, being fyled. Messrs. R. J. McLaughlan, of Lindsay, and D. O'Connell, of Peterborough, are conducting the examination. The Commission, it is believed, will complete its work this evening, or by to-morrow, at latest. The remaining evidence, it is understood, is largely of a technical character.

The Assembly Was a Success

The sixth annual assembly, under the auspices of Campbellford Branch, C.M.B.A., held in that town last night, was a gratifying success. There were about one hundred and fifty couple on the floor, and a thoroughly enjoyable time was spent. It was held in the Music Hall, which was very prettily decorated for the occasion. The music was supplied by the Campbellford orchestra, and Mr. Archie Moore of this city, acted as director of ceremonies.

The committee was composed of Messrs. J. A. Daly, D. J. Meagher, P. J. Sarginson and D. J. Lynch. Mr. Jas. Forestell is president of the society, which is being congratulated on all sides, on its successful function. A number were present from this city.

Kindergarten And Primary Entertainment

A Delightful Evening Was Spent at St. Andrew's Sunday School Yesterday—The Annual Christmas Concert Participated in by the Kindergarten and Primary Pupils—An Enjoyable Programme—Distribution of Gifts.

DIPLOMAS PRESENTED TO THE GRADUATES

Last night the annual Christmas gathering of the Kindergarten and Primary Classes of St. Andrew's church, took place in the Sunday school room, and was a most enjoyable event. About 60 scholars with their parents, and a number of friends, were present.

Tea was served by the teachers of the school from 5 to 6 o'clock, and from then until 7 o'clock an hour was given in which a free and easy time was spent, games being played and the little ones thoroughly enjoyed this hour.

The following programme was given, commencing at seven o'clock.

Chorus, Kindergarten.
Recitation, Adeline Grant.
Duet, Ria and Jean Potter.
Musical dialogue.
Recitation, Mary Henry.
Slumber song, Olive Kennedy.
Recitation, Frances McNeilly.
Chorus, Mrs. Laing's class.
Recitation, Myrtle Kennedy.
Recitation, Jennie Hubble.

After the programme, the presentation of the diplomas to the graduates from the Kindergarten to the Primary, and the Primary to the Junior Classes took place.

Those graduating from the Kindergarten class are:
Bessie Mather,
Jean Potter,
Louisa Robson,
Gladys Brown.
Myra Evans,
Marjorie Evans,
Agnes Houston.
Tom Webster,
Leonard Hall,
Jack Gibson,
Arnold McKnight,
Gordon Henry,
George Green,
Roy Byers,
Charles Gardner,
James Falconer,
Stewart Richardson,
Melville Saunders,

Those who are graduating from the Primary to the Junior Class are:—
Meta Richardson,
Adeline Grant,
May Henry,
Grace Stevens,
Elva Raper,
Gladys McKnight,
Mary Atkinson,
Myrtle Kennedy,
Jennie Hubble,
Kenneth McClelland,
Alex. Fortye,
Victor Thorndyke,
Max Patterson,
Vernon Meharry,
Willis Richardson.

Mrs. Laing is the superintendent of the Junior Department, and her assistant is Miss Ivy Jameson.

The next exercise was to the little folks, perhaps, the most enjoyable. It was the distribution of the gifts from the heavily laden Christmas tree. Master Grant Potter filled the duties of Santa Claus with satisfaction, and he was assisted in his bestowal of the gifts by the teachers and superintendent of the department.

Two prizes for regular attendance at Sunday school, and for repeating the greatest number of verses, were given to Grace Stevens and Jean Potter.

Miss Ethel Tully, the directress of the Kindergarten Department, with Miss Ethel Robertson, and Miss Bella King, assistants, had charge of the arrangements for the day, and they deserve great praise for the success of the event.

Mr. Mitchell's Greeting.

I take pleasure in extending my holiday greeting to all my customers, and to thank them especially for the unusually large patronage received during Christmas week. The feature of our trade on Christmas Saturday was the sending up of sales away past our highest water mark. We have still a complete assortment of first-class groceries, etc., for New Year's shoppers.

Yours truly,
F. J. B. MITCHELL.

Charged With Incendiarism

John Winters, of Harvey Township, Arrested Yesterday.

John Winters, a young man residing in Harvey Township, was arrested last night and brought to Peterborough by High Constable Cochrane, charged with arson.

The prisoner is alleged to have, on December 21, wilfully set fire to a dwelling in Harvey Township, the property of Mr. J. J. Lundy, of this city. The house was totally destroyed.

A strong chain of circumstantial evidence led to the prisoner's arrest, from which also arose a suspicion that a previous attempt at incendiarism of a similar nature had been made. The tenant, who had rented the property from Mr. Lundy, was Mr. Wm. Coons.

Winters was arraigned last night before Judge Edmison, and was remanded until January 4, at 11 o'clock.

Apsley Stage Still Running

The Examiner has received the following letter from Mr. M. Kennedy, the Apsley stage driver:

Lakefield, Dec. 28, 1905.

Editor Examiner.

Dear Sir,—Owing to the outbreak of smallpox in Chandos there has been a rumor to the effect that the Lakefield and Apsley stage had been stopped. This is untrue, as the stage has been running between those two points without interruption. If at any time it is necessary to discontinue this service I will notify you promptly. Kindly insert a notice to this effect in your paper and oblige.

Yours truly,

WEDDING BELLS

PRITCHARD–ROBINSON.

A pretty year-end wedding was solemnized last night at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Robinson, No. 73 Albert street, when their daughter, Miss Fanny, was united in marriage to Mr. John B. Pritchard, of Rochester, N.Y. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. J. Jolliffe, B.C.L., pastor of the Charlotte street church, at six o'clock, in the presence of a number of friends and relatives.

The contracting parties were unattended. The bride was charmingly gowned in canvas voile, trimmed with chiffon.

After a dainty wedding dejeuner had been served, Mr. and Mrs. Pritchard left upon the nine o'clock train for Rochester, followed by the best wishes and hearty congratulations of a host of friends here. They will take up residence in Rochester.

DUNLOP–HARPER.

A quiet wedding was solemnized last night by Rev. W. J. Jolliffe, B.C.L., at the Charlotte street Methodist parsonage when Miss Sadie Ethel Dunlop, eldest daughter of Mr. Howard Shurter, was united in marriage to Mr. Norman Eldon Harper. The ceremony took place at about 4.30 o'clock.

The bridesmaid was Miss Margaret L. Harper, the groom being assisted by Mr. George H. Young, of North Monaghan. Both bride and bridesmaid wore travelling suits of blue.

Mr. and Mrs. Harper left upon the 5.15 C.P.R. train for a trip to Western points and upon their return will take up residence in Peterborough.

BARRETT–BROWN.

Yesterday, Rev. C. W. Barrett, whom many will remember as having been ordained to the Methodist Ministry at the time of the Bay of Quinte Conference meeting here in June, 1904, was married at Oakwood. The wedding took place at the Methodist parsonage, the bride being Miss Florence Belle, the second daughter of Rev. Thos. Brown of the Oakwood circuit. About 40 guests, friends and relatives of the bride and groom were present.

The bride was given away by her father, and was unattended. As the bridal party entered the drawing room which was prettily decorated with carnations and smilax. Mendelssohn's wedding march was played by Miss Nellie Brown, sister of the bride.

The bride was gowned in cream eolienne, with satin and lace trimmings. After the ceremony the bridal party and guests partook of a dainty dejeuner, after which the bride and groom left on their honeymoon trip to Toronto, Hamilton and Buffalo, the bride's going away dress being a becoming brown broadcloth tailor made suit, with hat to match. The many presents were evidences of the popularity of the bride and groom, the gift of the latter to the bride being a silver tea service.

Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Barrett will take up their residence at the Methodist parsonage, Castleton, where the former is stationed.

IVEY–LOGAN.

A very pretty event took place on Wednesday, December 27, at 7 p.m., at the residence of Mr. John S. Logan, 475 Park street, when his oldest daughter, Miss Beatrice, was united in marriage to Mr. Robert Francis Ivey, eldest son of Mr. R. G. Ivey, of Peterborough. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. E. F. Torrance, of St. Paul's church, in the presence of the immediate friends of the bride and groom. The bride was attended by Miss Elva Ivey, sister of the groom, while the groom was supported by Mr. Jack Logan, brother of the bride.

Among the many valuable presents received were a beautiful fruit set and centre table from the employees of C. G. Gemmell, and a handsome clock from the employees of Parker's works, where the groom is employed. After the nuptial ceremony the party partook of a sumptuous wedding dejeuner, and an enjoyable evening was spent.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivey will take up their residence at 33 Aberdeen avenue.

Annual Masonic Function of the Peterborough Fraternity—Observance of the Anniversary of St. John the Evangelist—New Officers of Corinthian and Peterborough Lodges Were Installed Last Night—A Brilliant Gathering.

PETERBORO' MASONS ENJOY THEMSELVES

The Masonic Temple, corner of George and Simcoe streets, was the scene of unusual interest to the local Masonic fraternity last night. The calendar event marked the joint celebration by the members of Corinthian and Peterborough Lodges of the annual festival of St. John the Evangelist, the Apostle of our Saviour. It is his gospel that is so important to all Masons, as it contains all the fundamental doctrines of Freemasonry. It is, therefore, recognized as a duty incumbent upon all Masons to assemble together on this festival day, 27th of December, to commemorate his anniversary, to "renew the ties and strengthen the fraternal bonds that bind the present to the brotherhood of the olden times."

There was a very large assemblage of the craft, all clothed in their emblematic colour, symbolical of universal friendship and benevolence. The register bore the names of many zealous Past Masters and skilled craftsmen, conspicuous among the list of visitors being the distinguished brother from Belleville, Rt. W. Bro. J. O'Flynn, Past District Deputy, Grand Master of Prince Edward District.

Installation Ceremonies.

After the customary routine business of both lodges had been disposed of, the installing master, W. Bro. Duncan Walker, of Corinthian Lodge, proceeded to instal the newly-elected officers of the two lodges. He was ably assisted during the impressive ceremonies by Rt. Wor. Bro. W. H. Walkey, Wor. Bros. J. Crane, M. A. Morrison, Dr. Eastwood, D. H. Burritt and Dr. McCullough.

The respective representatives of the positions of honour in the two lodges were then severally invested with their official insignia as follows:

This concluded the official business of the evening, after which the members proceeded to their spacious refreshment rooms, where the Junior Wardens had provided refreshments appropriate for the occasion.

Toast List and Addresses.

Rt. Wor. Bro. Duncan Walker occupied the chair at the festive tables and Wor. Bro. John Crane, filled the position of Vice-Chairman.

After all had done justice to the excellent bill of fare provided, an hour of social intercourse was indulged in during which toasts, songs and speeches formed the programme.

The chairman gave the first toast, "The King and the Craft," which was greeted in a right loyal and fraternal manner, all joining in singing the National Anthem.

"The Grand Master and the Grand Lodge of Canada" was next proposed and was replied to by Rt. Wor. Bro. F. E. Flynn, of Belleville. He reviewed the work of Grand Lodge during the year and the growth and progress of Masonry in Canada. He pointed out the value which the meetings of Grand Lodge were to those who were privileged to attend them; and what they missed by their non-attendance. He closed a very interesting address by complimenting the Installing Master of the evening on his excellent work. He expressed himself as never having seen better work, and felt that when he went back home to Belleville he would have to urge his officers to brush up.

"The Day We Commemorate" was the next toast, Responded to by W. Wor. Bro. R. M. Dennistoun in an effective manner.

"The Newly Installed Officers" received proper recognition, at the hands of Wor. Bro. W. H. Bradburn, Master-elect of Corinthian Lodge, and Wor. Bro. G. J. Tovey, Master-elect of Peterborough Lodge.

The toast of "The Retiring Officers" was the occasion of one of the best intellectual treats of the evening, when Wor. Bro. H. R. H. Kenner was the speaker. His eloquent and scholarly address was the subject of many complimentary remarks. The toast was also responded to by Wor. Bro. R. F. Morrow, the retiring Master of Peterborough Lodge.

"The Visiting Brethren" was ably responded to by Bro. J. E. Hodgson, of the Collegiate Institute staff. His address was one of more than ordinary importance, and specially fitting for the social occasion.

"The Installing Master" was given and received amid stirring enthusiasm. The response was made by Chairman Walker's best form. It was an inspiring address in which the important thoughts touched on received Masterly treatment.

"The Junior Wardens" toast closed the list, after which the members sang the National Anthem and "Auld Lang Syne."

The evening's enjoyment was much enhanced by excellent singing by several of the members.

It was a McCallum spread, and the caterer won the general praise of the brethren for the satisfactory manner in which it was provided.

Peterborough Loses The First To Fast Queen's

The Locals Defeated in the Opening Game of the Season by a Score of 7-4—Inability to Shoot Largely Due to Defeat—Queen's Possesses Formidable Septette—Both Teams Visibly Showed Lack of Practice.

It was like an Elks crossing the zone in the nets on a neat side shot. Time 3 minutes. Peterborough 0, Queens 2.

Crowley who was playing a good aggressive game, undertook a nice rush and shot, but the puck went wide of the posts. Graham shot but McDonnell cleverly blocked. Queens worked in some effective combination play and Walsh pushed another through. The Peterborough backers looked very blue and appeared to have lost their lungs. Score, 3—0. Time 3 minutes.

The great fault with the homesters seemed to be their inability to shoot. Currier made a good rush and carried the puck near the Queens' goal, but shot wild. Cavanah bumped Richardson when the latter didn't have the puck and did two minutes on the fence. Graham broke his skate and retired for the remainder of the game. Cavanah was moved up to left wing and Stroud went on at point. It was some time before that player made his appearance, however, and Sargeat went off to even up in the meantime. Parnell shot one from the side that missed the goal by a big margin. He located the nets, however, a few seconds later and the first one for Peterborough was chalked down amid deafening cheers. Peterborough 1. Queens 3. Time 6 minutes.

Richardson and Walsh got in some of their lightning work and Walsh added another to Queens' credit on a pass from Richardson. Peterborough 2. Queens 4. Time 31-2 minutes.

No more scoring was done before half time.

The fast play began to tell perceptibly on the players of both teams and they gave evidence of rather poor condition. In this half the puck was in Queens' territory for the most of the time and the locals rained shot after shot on the Queens' flags, but Mills was always in his place, and a great number that looked like sure scores were stopped by him and numerous others went wild. Queens made a dash into Peterborough territory and a hot one struck the side of the local nets. The rubber travelled to the other end of the rink and the play was close with plenty of hard checking. Whitecroft broke away for a pretty run and in a minute and a half tallied for Peterborough. Peterborough 3. Queens 4.

Cavanah let himself out and ripped a hot one at the Queens' flags, but it went wide, striking the boards with a resounding bang. Stroud travelled down the ice and tried to score but the puck wouldn't go straight. Crowley body-checked Sargent and the latter went down and out. He was taken to the dressing room where Trainer Alfie Pearce soon brought him around again. Shortly after he came on he again found the nets. Peterborough 3. Queens 5. Time five minutes.

Queens braced up considerably and some lightning work on the part of their forwards was witnessed. Walsh and Richardson did marvellously fast combination work and the puck bumped and thumped around the local nets much after the manner the hearts of the spectators were strenuously fluttering in their breasts lest the rubber should find a resting place in the nets. Their fears were not groundless either, for Sargeant again rang the bell and another was notched for the students from the Limestone City. Peterborough 3. Queens 6.

The spectators were by this time resigned to their fate and silently accepted the inevitable. Whitecroft passed to Currier who shot wide. Parnell scraped some of the rust off the visitors' goal post, but otherwise there was nothing doing. Cavanah rushed but McDonnell stopped him. At this stage of the game Mills was stopping innumerable shots and others that were sadly misdirected banged and echoed as they struck the boards. Queens did some nice work and after nine minutes play Walsh did the necessary. Peterborough 3. Queens 7.

Cavanah secured Peterborough's last goal just as the gong announced the conclusion of the game.

Final score, Peterborough 4. Queens 7.

Notes.

Mills was always "on the job."

Queens seemed to be in better condition.

The play of the locals was decidedly disorganized.

Queens are a splendid bunch of sports. Win or lose they're always cheerful.

The locals need more system and practise.

Shooting is the weakest point of the home team. To their inaccuracy in this respect their defeat was largely due.

The score is hardly a fair indication of the play, although Queens deserved to win and their victory cannot be attributed to any fluke.

Queens play in Brockville on Friday, 27th.

Currier is a decided acquisition to the home seven.

Stroud used his body freely and effectively.

Fitzpatrick has played better games in goal.

Parnell did fine work at right wing.

Whitecroft, Richardson and Walsh were the speediest men on the ice.

HOCKEY

A meeting of the hockey club to elect a team committee and Captain will be held at the rink to-morrow (Friday) evening.

The Charlotte Street Guild hockey team will practice to-morrow evening from 7 to 8 o'clock at All Saints' rink. A full attendance is requested.

The Boston Post actually has the audacity to compare American football to Canadian hockey. It says that, "Football, as the impersonator of misery and brutality, likes company. It finds it when the players begin to chase the elusive puck."

This displays the utter ignorance that the Post sporting writer has of the Canadian national winter game, and is probably one of the wildest statements ever penned by an ignorant and prejudiced sporting editor. And the death roll of the American gridiron certainly corroborates that.

Three Hotels Charged With Breach of Act

Local Hotel Men Were Up on Charge of Selling Liquor to a Minor—The Case Dismissed—Jos. McMullen Was Alleged Purchaser—He Gave Evidence for Prosecution—The Forgery Case Up for Trial.

A LONG SESSION THIS MORNING

At this morning's session of the police court a number of cases were disposed of by His Worship Police Magistrate Dumble.

The first man to stand up was Thos. McDonnld, popularly known as "Mousey." McDonald was charged with being drunk and pleaded guilty to the charge.

"What do you want me to do with you?" asked His Worship. "Give me ten days," was his request. And he was given the 10 days.

The above case illustrates another example of a man who was willing to sacrifice the joys of liberty for the seclusion of the sombre gaol. It was only yesterday that two vags, Curtis and Cooney, by name, welcomed six months' insight into Central Prison existence. It used to be that gaols and prisons were dreaded by offenders, but now they seem to be actually magnetic.

Jos. McMullen, eighteen years of age, who was remanded last Thursday after he had pleaded guilty to a charge of forgery appeared this morning as witness against three local hotels, the proprietors of which were charged with selling liquor to him, thereby being accused of a breach of the liquor license act, as McMullen is under age. He was not as positive in his evidence as he might have been. About a week ago he told Crown Attorney Wood and the Chief that he had been served with drinks at three local hotels and gave the names of the places at which he had obtained the drinks. But at this morning's police court while he stated that he had obtained liquor at the bar of one hotel, he said that he could not remember whether or not the other places had given him any liquor.

In the first case a large array of witnesses, including the proprietor and two of the bartenders, swore that they had no recollection of the prisoner, other than that he had come into the bar-in company with a man named Coons, from Bridgenorth, and tried to pass a cheque which, to use the expression of one of the witnesses, was such a "mixed up affair that they determined it was not worth the paper it was written on." The cheque was in the form of a work order on Mr. W. B. Kelly, Bridgenorth, and was for the amount of $21.05. This was the cheque which the prisoner pleaded guilty to forging at his hearing last Thursday.

McMullen admitted that he had been drinking heavily at the time he alleges to have been given liquor at the hotel, but as the bartenders had no recollection whatever of supplying the man with intoxicants, the case was dismissed.

In the other two cases the prisoner as before stated, had no recollection of the hotels charged with selling him liquor, doing so.

McMullen was remanded for another week on the forgery charge. His father, who lives in Morganstown, did not appear to make good the money that the accused obtained through the cheque or work order.

A gentleman who was in court, stated that in conversation with McMullen, sr., the latter had told him that his son had never before been guilty of any crime.

VARICOCELE NERVOUS DEBILITY CURED.

If you have transgressed against the laws of nature, you must suffer. Self abuse, later excesses and private diseases have wrecked thousands of promising lives. Treat with scientific physicians and be cured. Avoid quacks. E. A. Sidney, of Toledo, says: "At the age of 14, I learned a bad habit and at 19 contracted a serious disease. I treated with a dozen doctors, who all promised to cure me. They got my money and I still had the disease. I had given up hope when a friend advised me to consult Drs. K. & K., who had cured him. Without any confidence I called on them, and Dr. Kennedy agreed to cure me or no pay. After taking the New Method Treatment for six weeks I felt like a new man. The drains ceased, wormy veins disappeared, nerves grew stronger, hair stopped falling out, urine became clear and my sexual organs vitalized. I was entirely cured by Dr. Kennedy and recommend him from the bottom of my heart."

A Horrible Story Was Being Told Of Atrocities

But Moscow Correspondent Was Cut Off Telephone.

SO TALE REMAINS UNTOLD

Climax May Have Been Reached Considered Ominous at St. Petersburg That Seminovsky Regiment of Guards Has Been Despatched to Moscow—Armed Rebellion in Poland, Preceded by Strike.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 28.—There was no further news from Moscow last night. The Associated Press correspondent there succeeded in getting the St. Petersburg bureau by telephone last night, but he had only uttered the words, "I am going to tell you a horrible story," when he was cut off. Since then nothing has been heard of the correspondent.

The Seminovsky Regiment of Guards was despatched to Moscow by train last night. This is considered rather ominous.

Polish Armed Rebellion.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 28.—According to information received by the revolutionary leaders here an armed rebellion on a large scale has been planned in Poland. The Socialist revolutionaries there are encouraged by the success of the insurgents in the Baltic provinces and the situation at Moscow and in Russia generally.

The tactics to be followed are the same as those adopted at Moscow, the rising to be preceded by a general strike which already has practically come into operation, bringing about half the railroads in Poland to a standstill.

A brief message from Moscow of yesterday says that troops with artillery are pouring into the city, but the situation has not generally changed. The revolutionists hold sections of the Moscow-Kazan road. The military patrols are engaged in guerilla warfare with the revolutionists who are seeking refuge on the roofs of houses and in the narrow thoroughfares.

Revolutionists Three "Armies."

The revolutionists are divided into three "armies," the first consisting of eight hundred men armed with rifles and spikes, is operating between Moscow and Perovo, on the railroad which it controls. Artillery and cavalry are being employed against this force. The second army, armed especially with bombs and revolvers, is composed of a thousand persons, in whose ranks are many women, who display not only bravery, but extreme ferocity. This force occupies in the region between the Sadovia District and the Jewish market, has many barricades to prevent the passage of troops, and is operating in small groups and attacking patrols. When pressed these revolutionists disappear into alleys and houses. Artillery, cavalry and infantry are used against this body. The third and largest "army" is operating in the region between the Brest railway station and the Triumphal Gate. It also has many barricades, and is engaged in guerilla tactics.

Over In Four Days.

An inspired statement in the Slovo yesterday says that the Government expects the revolt at Moscow to be completely crushed within four days. The duration of the rising is explained by the small number of troops available, many of whom necessarily were employed in guarding the Government buildings. The Slovo says: "The Grenadiers have wiped out the stain on their honor with blood, fighting in the front ranks at their own request."

Minor collisions between the troops and strikers, of whom there are almost 50,000 still out, are taking place constantly in St. Petersburg.

Cossacks patrols are charging and dispersing workmen whenever they collect. The most serious affairs occurred at the Narva gate, and on the Moika Canal, in which fifty persons were killed or wounded.

Extension Alarming.

The news from the provinces yesterday shows alarming extension of the strike. The situation is really far more serious in the Baltic provinces, Caucasia and other non-Russian provinces, where the entire populace is hostile.

At Kharkoff Tuesday the flag of armed revolt was raised, but, according to reports, the troops put down the outbreak mercilessly. The 22 members of the so-called provisional Government, which had been sitting there, were captured early in the day, and later, when the red flag was raised and barricades were erected around the Melfich engine works, cannon were brought up and they were literally battered down over the heads of the revolutionists, who held out until three-quarters of the number were killed or wounded, when the remnant, 137 men, surrendered.

The 1906 Budget.

The budget for 1906 estimates the ordinary revenue at $50,000,000 in excess of the ordinary expenditure, but shows that the Government will require $195,000,000 additional to liquidate the war expenses. The Emperor has signed a ukase empowering the Minister of Finance to issue $200,000,000 short-term gold bonds for sale abroad, not any of which are yet, however, known to be taken.

Warsaw, Dec. 28.—The shops in the Jewish district are closed and at two o'clock yesterday afternoon bands of revolutionists ordered the banks to be closed.

$1000 REWARD

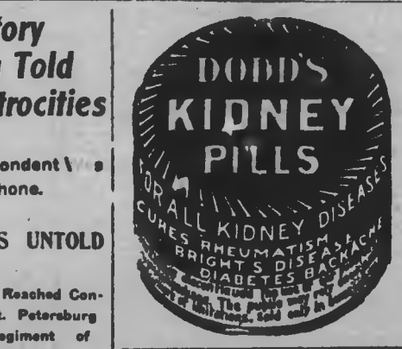
is offered as a guarantee that neither Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription NOR Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery contains alcohol, opium, or any harmful drug. Any one publishing false statements concerning their ingredients will be prosecuted. Doctor Pierce's Family Remedies are compounds of medicinal principles, scientifically extracted from native roots that cure the diseases for which they are recommended. They are medicines which have enjoyed the public confidence for over a third of a century. They are medicines not beverages, made to satisfy a craving for "booze."

"Golden Medical Discovery" regulates and invigorates stomach, liver and bowels, and cures dyspepsia, purifies the blood and tones up the system generally.

"Favorite Prescription" cures female weakness, irregularities, exhausting drains, painful periods and kindred ailments peculiar to women. Accept no substitute for these medicines, each of which has a record of marvelous cures. Substitution means selfishness on the part of the dealer who is looking for the greater profit on an inferior article.

"Our daughter who was attending college became very nervous, and we were advised to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription," writes Mrs. M. C. Fox, of 87 E. Leonard St., Grand Rapids, Mich. "We did so and then you advised us to get the 'Golden Medical Discovery' also. She took four bottles of the 'Prescription' and three of the 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and you never saw such a change in a person. She said she did not feel like the same person. She was about seventeen years old at the time. I will gladly recommend Dr. Pierce's medicines to every one. I advise parents who have young daughters who suffer from nervous troubles to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription at once. I am sure it will help them."

$50,000 GIVEN AWAY, in copies of Medical Adviser, a book that sold to the extent of 100,000 copies a few years ago, at $2.50 per copy. Last year we gave away 50,000 worth of these invaluable books. This year we shall give away 50,000 worth of them. Will you share in this benefit? If so, send only 21 one-cent stamps to cover cost of mailing only for book in stiff paper covers, or 50 stamps for cloth-bound. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.



Battleship Will Be Bier Of The Minister

"Dominion" Is to Convey Mr. Prefontaine's Remains Home.

DETAILS TO MR. LEMIEUX

Lord Tweedmouth, First Lord of the Admiralty, Cables Sir Wilfrid Making the Offer—Premier Accepts on Behalf of Canada—Text of the Condolatory Message From Premier Rouvier of France.

Ottawa, Dec. 28.—Lord Tweedmouth, First Lord of the Admiralty, cables to Sir Wilfrid Laurier as follows:

"We have heard with deep regret of the death of our colleague, Mr. Prefontaine, Canadian Minister of Marine and Fisheries, with whom the Admiralty have been recently in such cordial relationship, and I beg to offer His Majesty's ship Dominion to convey the remains to Halifax, N. S. If agreeable to your Government, the Dominion will be at Cherbourg on Jan. 12th for this purpose, and reach Halifax Jan. 22nd.

"(Signed) TWEEDMOUTH."

The Dominion is a recently launched and completed battleship, named in honor of Canada.

It is understood that the Premier is now in communication with Solicitor-General Lemieux and the relatives of the late Mr. Prefontaine in regard to the matter.

Sir Wilfrid Accepts.

The reply of Sir Wilfrid was:

"Accept my sincere thanks for your offer of the Dominion to convey the remains of my late colleague from Cherbourg to Halifax. Will be pleased to accept, but I would ask you to consult Solicitor-General Lemieux, now in Paris, and ascertain from him if date would be convenient."

Premier Rouvier's Message.

"I have just learned of the sudden death in Paris of the Hon. Raymond Prefontaine, Minister of Marine and Fisheries of Canada, with whom we were so happy the past few days in France. I wish to say that we share with you the sorrow you feel over the loss of so distinguished a man, and to convey to you the very sincere condolence of the Government of the Republic.

"(Signed) ROUVIER."

British Candidates to Be Heckled About Canadian Cattle Embargo.

London, Dec. 28.—(C.A.P.)—Parliamentary candidates are to be heckled on the question of the embargo on Canadian cattle. This was decided at a meeting of the Canadian Cattle Association at Dundee. In order to get a repeal of the obnoxious law they are determined to take the question into politics, and a committee was appointed to raise funds for the movement.

One speaker said that seven million pounds had been lost by reason of the embargo.

The association will join the Free Market Cattle Association of Great Britain to get concentrated action.

The question is a very live one in Scotland, and is debated in the press almost every day.

Fire Destroys Bibles.

Toronto, Dec. 28.—Early yesterday morning the book rooms of the Oxford University Press, 25 and 27 Richmond St. W., were completely gutted by fire. The damage done to the books and stock is estimated at $40,000 and the repairs to the building will cost in the neighborhood of $3,000. The blaze was confined to the two bottom flats.

Morales With the Insurgents.

Washington, Dec. 28.—Cable advices received at the American State Department from San Domingo yesterday are to the effect that the Cabinet has taken over the Government and named Vice-President Caceres as the successor of President Morales, who is with the revolutionists about ten miles from the capital.

"No Graft" Is In York County Loan Affair

But Deception Practiced On Government and Public.

IN YORK CO. LOAN AFFAIRS

Assets Fall Short of Liabilities by a Million Dollars—On Paper It Is Figured Out That a Dividend of 66 2-3 Per Cent. Will Be Available in Time For Shareholders—The Official Statement.

Toronto, Dec. 28.—The feature of yesterday morning's session at the York County Loan and Savings Co. enquiry by the Government investigator was the discovery that the liabilities of the company, as shown by the company's books, were a million dollars greater than the estimated assets. The figures are as follows:

Liabilities...	$3,192,268
Assets, about	2,040,634
Deficit...	$1,041,634

66 2-3 Cents on the $.

It is therefore assumed that the company will be able to pay only 66 2-3 cents on the dollar.

The earlier portion of the hearing was taken up with the examination of Miss Gertrude Hall, one of the bookkeepers of the York Loan by Mr. C. A. Masten, who is acting for W. H. Cross, the Government commissioner. She explained intricacies of the terminating installment stock. Stock valued at $8,681,000 had been issued and of this $2,206,000 was still unpaid. When the expense percentage was taken from this it was held that there should have been a loan fund of $1,875,000. The accounts, however, were in error to the extent of $900,000, showing only $931,108.

Necessary to Earn 17 Per Cent.

It was shown later that to meet the obligations of the York Loan Co. it would have been necessary to earn 17 per cent. on the collections received from agents which really were only 78 per cent. of the amount of the matured stock. At the same time while the dividends to be paid would have been nearly four hundred thousand dollars mortgages held by the company worth $500,000, were paying six per cent., while the rental from real estate was swallowed up by taxes and insurance.

"A Mere Blind to Deceive."

A statement issued by the examiners, through C. A. Masten, legal representative, says:

"It is impossible to ascertain just what the shareholders claims will aggregate, owing to the difficulties of elucidating the books of the company.

"The priorities among shareholders is a legal question of importance.

"But enough has appeared to show that there is a substantial value in assets distributable among the shareholders.

"A bad system of books is manifest and is preventing speedy elucidation of matters.

"It appears that partly for the purpose of making their assets appear in liquid form as mortgages, instead of as a fixed asset, locked up in lands, and thereby obviating objections of the Government and of private investors, the Toronto Realty Co. was organized in 1901. Lands were transferred to it to the value of $649,000 and mortgages given back to the York Loan for the full face value.

"As the Toronto Realty Co. was a form only, this was in bold language, a mere blind to deceive the Government and the public and so enable the company to get permission to continue business and to facilitate its getting new stock from the public."

"No Graft" In It.

The deception was practised, in the opinion of the investigator, according to the evidence, to make York County Loan affairs look better than they were. There was in his further opinion "no graft" in it and he hardly expects any further evidence to-day to show that there was. That methods of business were peculiarly arranged has been fairly brought out, but, Mr. Cross said last night, after the examination of a few witnesses to-day he will close the investigation. He wants a few words of explanation from Mr. Barrett of the Southern Light & Power Co., and he also wants to have the directors of the York Loan and various subsidiary companies pumped a little before he prepares a report which will not lead to any criminal proceedings, but will be of considerable benefit to the shareholders and the liquidators simply as information obtained under oath.

President Phillips promises that assets will be considerably increased and liabilities [illegible].

Stealing From Local Merchants Is Reported

A prominent local merchant to-day informed The Examiner, in speaking of the wholesale stealing reported from Toronto, that the same thing had been going on here in some stores, and advised, in the interest of the clerks who might be tempted to steal, that attention be called to the examples which had been made of the youths who were caught in Toronto.

The Toronto Mail and Empire to-day says: For several months past a system of wholesale theft of liquor has been successfully carried on in the warehouse of Michie & Co., King street, and the liquor stolen is valued at several hundred dollars. A stop was put to the theft yesterday by the arrest of nine men, two of whom were in the employ of the firm, and the remainder are drivers employed by the Rapid Delivery Co., who do all the firm's delivering.

Mr. E. G. Patterson Gives A Strong Endorsation

To the Proposal to Improve the Fire-Fighting Equipment of the City—Believes the $25,000 By-law Should be Carried—His Reasons for Reaching This Conclusion—Protect the People Against Themselves.

To The Examiner yesterday Mr. E. G. Patterson, superintendent of the Canadian General Electric Company, gave his views on the question of the hour, the $25,000 bylaw for the purpose of providing improved fire protection. In answer to a question as to his opinion, he replied that he considered that it was most essential and necessary. "Why," he said, 'I don't see how any man with a right judgment can get away from the fact."

"How do the men you employ view the question?" Mr. Patterson was asked.

"I believe that every man in our employ who owns a piece of property is very decided in the opinion that not only should $25,000 be expended on the city's fire department, but even a larger sum.

"I have been considering the question for some time, and it appears very plain to me. The assessment for the whole city is about $6,000,000. Now, I suppose there is at least one and a half times that amount inside the property or the contents of the building are one and a half times the amount of the whole assessment. That would be $9,000,000, or a total value of $15,000,000. I would suppose that on all this there would be at least $10,000,000 insurance carried. If the key rate will be reduced, as I understand it will be, when adequate fire protection is supplied, the reduction will be more than the interest on the capital invested in buying a proper equipment. So that, after adequate protection is provided, the reduction in insurance rates will pay the increased taxation.

"If this city and Province desire to grow, they must grow as an industrial centre rather than as a farming district. If we want industries here we have got to provide them with as modern and as good fire protection as any other town or city. A new industry will invariably go where it can get proper protection. "One case I refer to is that of the Canada Car Company. They went to various towns and sities. When the President was in Peterborough, he called on me and one of the first questions he asked me was: 'How about your water supply and fire protection?' No capitalist or large body of capitalists is going to invest large sums of money in a town where the Underwriters' Association says that proper fire-fighting apparatus is not furnished.

"An inspector from the Underwriters visits our plant at least every three months, and I know how anxious they are to see Peterborough's fire-fighting facilities improved."

Mr. Patterson then referred to the great risk that the merchants and manufacturers are running with the present apparatus in the fire hall. He said that the large merchants and manufacturers must have more protection.

It was pointed out to him that the majority of those who opposed the bylaw before were the small taxpayers, and some of them opposed it on the very grounds that the merchants were the ones most benefitted.

Mr. Patterson replied, "If the small taxpayers vote down the bylaw they are voting away the best interests of the city. The city's interests will suffer, because no more factories will come here until better protection is supplied. We are being well advertised now, as a town without fire protection."

Continuing, Mr. Patterson said "I would strongly recommend that the council buy the chemical engine and the steamer and take the funds out of the current revenue, if the bylaw is voted down. Or in other words, protect the people against themselves."

On the other hand Mr. Patterson is very much opposed to the fire team or any other part of the fire department being away from the hall except when at a fire. The whole equipment in the fire hall must be on duty all the time. "Suppose," said Mr. Patterson, "a fire broke out when one of the fire teams was out clearing snow or drawing wood for the Charity Board. Or suppose the engine is required when it is being used to pump out a sunken ship or clean out a well, or some such other work. The first five or ten minutes in case of fire, is worth more than hours after a the flames get a start. Nothing should be taken out of the hall except to a fire."

FOR THE BY-LAW.

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Dear Sir,—I am glad to see so little opposition to the bylaw to spend $25,000 for the betterment of our fire fighting system. It shows, I believe, a good sense on the part of our citizens. That they have at last come to the conclusion that Peterborough is sorely in need of some improvement along this line is a hopeful sign, and I, for one, sincerely hope that the bylaw on Monday will be carried by a large majority. The ratepayers should be most anxious to place the fire fighting equipment in as efficient a condition as possible, because if by reason of an inadequate system their property is destroyed they will have only themselves to blame.

It seems to me that the Council has done all in its power. The bylaw was submitted to the ratepayers last spring at an admittedly bad time of the year, and was defeated for reasons which, in the opinion of many, did not warrant the assumption that the ratepayers were opposed to it on principle, and still holding the opinion that the city was in absolute need of the protection which the bylaw was to provide, the Council decided to re-submit it at the municipal elections. Now, they have done their part, and it is up to the ratepayers to vote for the bylaw and the protection of their property on Monday.

CITIZEN.

LICENCES AND OTHER MATTERS.

To the Editor of the Examiner,—

Dear Sir, — If the agitation regarding the cutting off of objectionable saloons, has effected nothing else, I am sure that every citizen will be pleased to notice that at least the License Holders' Protective Association have been aroused to a sense of their real work. The Children's Shelter ought to be under the control of the Protective Association, for the occupants are, unfortunately, the products of the Association's handiwork, and no class of men know as well as the liquor sellers the great extent of their work along this line.

During a pastorate of nine years, one of my homes was completely shattered by the removal to the Shelter of four little ones, because the father and mother could persistently procure liquor from a house on Aylmer street, and another one on George street, and though these places were warned against this shameful work the saloon keepers continued to furnish the liquor.

Now, if the license holders will take over this work at the Shelter, that properly belongs to their traffic, the churches can club together and build sheds in a central part of the city, for the accommodation of the customers of our city merchants, and, if Mr. Dumble is elected to the School Board, the vacant lot in the Central Park property, might be procured for that purpose. The material for such sheds need not be costly, and instead of elaborate and expensive lavatories, a drinking trough would do.

Seriously, Mr. Editor, the Moral Reform League, in its desire for a reduction of licenses, is simply carrying out the strong demand of a very worthy Christian worker in the East Ward, who has since become shackled by the horrid monster.

But the names given by him of license holders conducting objectionable houses were submitted to the President, Mr. Brooks, and the Secretary, Mr. Jackson, of the License Holders' Association, and these men not merely felt that these houses may have been guilty, but gave me the names of other houses violating the law continuously.

The names given were submitted to the proprietors of the evening papers, so that there is no excuse whatever for arguing that proper accommodation will be wanting.

Wishing you a very Happy New Year, and hoping for a brighter new year for our prosperous city,

I remain, yours, very sincerely,

JAS. G. POTTER.

AGAINST THE BY-LAW.

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Dear Sir,—I am opposed to the fire-hall bylaw, and on the ground that we are starting at the wrong end of the business. My idea is that the city should inaugurate a system of municipal insurance, and the Council should pass a bylaw making it a crime for an insurance agent to solicit fire insurance. In my opinion it is, in nine cases out of ten, the insurance which causes the fires. If there were no insurance there would be fewer fires.

If municipal insurance were brought into effect there would have to be a rigid investigation before the county judges before any claim for loss by fire was paid by the city, and if it was found that the fire was the result of carelessness no insurance would be paid. This would teach people to be more careful. In my opinion, the $9,000 proposed for the fire hall is too much.

TO THE Duly Qualified Electors

OF THE

City of Peterborough.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,—

On account of the change in the constitution of the Board of Education effected by the late Provincial Government, each elector has the right to vote for nine candidates. This renders it impossible for me, with the limited time at my disposal, to personally interview any large proportion of you.

I, therefore, take this method of acquainting you with the fact that I am a candidate for a position on the Board about to be elected.

During the years that I have served you, I have given my best attention to the Educational interests of the Town, and, if elected, I shall be equally faithful in the interests of the City.

I am, Ladies and Gentlemen,

Yours faithfully,

MUSIC AND DRAMA

The Serio-Comic Girl was in Kingston the night before last, and several members of the Queen's hockey team who witnessed the production, said that it was a good attraction, well presented, and gave general satisfaction.

• • •

The committee, representing the two local Oddfellows' Lodges, under whose auspices the grand concert by Watkin Mills and his company, will be given in the new opera house on January 22nd, has received a copy of the programme which will be presented here, and it is of a most pleasing nature. It will, judging from the advance copy, be one of the greatest musical treats heard in Peterborough in years.

THE SERIO COMIC GIRL.

Nellie Beaumont and Richard Carroll were the top liners in the Serio Comic Girl, which provided a delightful Christmas attraction at the matinee and evening performance at the Russell theatre yesterday. The show was here some weeks ago but since then it has been completely revised. Parts that lagged a little have been enlivened and brightened up, the chorus has been strengthened while funny as Donnelly was in the part of Fossy his successor, Richard Carroll goes him one better. He introduces a lot of original humour and keeps the audience in roars. His paraphrase on a Picnic for Two, along with Miss Beaumont brought forth half a dozen encores. As Eileen O'Keefe in the dual role of governess and music hall artist, Miss Beaumont, pretty, shapely and vivacious, acts, sings, and dances in a manner that is both graceful and artistic. Fred Wayne and Henry Tighe do a rattling good dancing turn in the last act. Robert Whitter, the Afghan hero, Edward Wrum and Aimee Travis perform most acceptably supporting parts. The plot while not materially changed has been altered here and there, the humorous situations are more numerous, some new songs are introduced and on the whole the show is a hundred per cent. improved. It pleased full houses at both matinee and evening performances yesterday.

John McDonough Drowned
LAST NIGHT AT
Cereal Co. Power House

Aged and Highly Respected Peterborough Resident, Evidently Bewildered, Wandered in the Darkness of the Night to the Raceway—Body Found at Early Hour This Morning by Power House Employee—Deceased Was Last Seen at About 8:30 O'clock Last Night.

The body of John McDonough was found this morning in the water at the rack of the old power house on the American Cereal Company's raceway, a short distance above the works.

The deceased, who was last seen last night at about 8.30 o'clock, is believed to have been attacked by a fit of temporary abberation and to have wandered in the darkness of the night to the raceway. He was about to start for his home, 236 Rubidge street, when seen at the time mentioned, by Mr. Michael Neary, and to his advanced age may easily be attributed his evident mental bewilderment. The remains were discovered by Mr. John Williams, of the power house, when going to work this morning at 7 o'clock. The body was upright in the water, and was in a fixed position against the slats, by reason of the force of the current. The police were at once notified of the discovery, and Mr. D. Bellegham's ambulance was also summoned, and upon their arrival the body was extricated from its position. The clothing was thickly covered with burrs, which led to the belief that the drowned man had wandered to the eastern side of the raceway, where, for some distance along, there is a thick growth of weeds, while upon the opposite bank there are none. Careful examination fails to reveal any indication of the exact spot where he fell, or slipped, into the water. His cap was discovered floating above a boom, some 50 yards above the rack.

The late Mr. McDonough has been for many years in the employ of the corporation, and has, throughout his long period of service, performed his duties faithfully and efficiently. He was not addicted to drink.

Surviving members of the family are his wife, two daughters, Miss Annie McDonough, of Boston, Mass., and Mrs. John King, of Peterborough, and Mr. Thomas McDonough, of the Oriental Hotel. His first wife pre-deceased him by about 18 years.

Mrs. McDonough, alarmed at her husband's failure to return last night, made inquiry at an early hour this morning at the police station, just after the intelligence of the discovery of the body had been received.

Coroner Grey was notified, and he, after inquiry, deemed an inquest unnecessary. He handed out the following official statement:

The Coroner's Statement.

This is to certify that, having viewed the body of John McDonough, late of the city of Peterborough, and found drowned in the Cereal Company's mill race, on the 29th day of December, 1905, at about 7 o'clock, a.m., and having ascertained the facts of the case, I, as coroner for the city and County of Peterborough, am of the opinion that the deceased came to his death from pure accident, and have concluded that an inquest is not necessary.

JOHN. W. GREY,
Coroner for County of Peterborough.

The late Mr. McDonough was well known in Peterborough, and was highly esteemed by a host of friends, to whom the sad intelligence of his death came as a painful shock.

The funeral will take place on Sunday from the family residence, Rubidge street, to St. Peter's cemetery.

MAKE NO PAYMENTS.

A telephone message was received this morning by Mr. R. Home Smith, of the National Trust Co., who is in charge at the Roncesvalles avenue offices, that certain individuals were calling upon York Loan Co. shareholders for their weekly payments on shares. Mr. Smith, for the liquidator, desires everybody to understand that no person whatever is authorized to receive payments on York Loan Co. shares, and that all payments on these shares have stopped. All that shareholders have to do now is to turn in or mail their books to the liquidator, either at the office of the National Trust Co., Toronto, or at the office of the York Loan Co., Toronto.—Toronto News.

Disappearance Of Deaf Mute Causes Alarm

Alexander Carr Left His Boarding House and Has Not Been Seen Since—His Friends are Alarmed at His Absence—Chief of Police Has Been Asked to Help in Locating Him—Letter to Chief From His Friends.

PARTICULARS OF HIS DISAPPEARANCE

The Chief of Police has received a letter from W. O'Rourke, of 13 Bolivar street, informing him that a deaf mute, Alexander Carr, has disappeared, and asking his assistance to discover, if possible, his whereabouts. The letter to the chief from O'Rourke, who is himself a deaf mute, follows:

A young deaf man, by name, Alex. Carr, disappeared yesterday morning from 13 Bolivar street. The description of him is as follows:—Age 26 years; 5 ft. 6 in. in height; labourer; brown eyes; wearing a dark-blue suit of clothes; heavy working boots. Some one says they saw him walking down south as far as the Exhibition Grounds, and he never came back. I am alarming all day about his whereabouts. Please make inquiries with people in the south of the city.

W. O'Rourke,
13 Bolivar street.

Young Carr has been boarding with Mr. O'Rourke, who is naturally anxious about him.

He has been in the city only about three months, and is a graduate of the Belleville Deaf and Dumb Institute. He has no relatives in the city, and since his arrival here has worked as a labourer. He was in good health, and of steady habits, and no reason for his disappearance is known.

WHO WILL COMPRISE THE CITY COUNCIL OF 1906?

Five dollars in gold, is what the Examiner offers to the first person who, before Monday night, names correctly the candidates for Aldermen who will compose the City Council of 1906, with the order in which they will be elected.

That is, name the twelve men, giving the one who will head the poll, and so on down the list of the dozen men, whom the electors will on Monday, place in charge of the affairs of this city during the year which will open on that day.

This guessing contest is open to everyone, the only condition being that EACH GUESS SHALL BE ACCOMPANIED BY A COUPON TAKEN FROM THE EXAMINER OF TODAY OR TO-MORROW.

The number of guesses is not limited. One person may mark one or fifty, but each must be accompanied by a coupon.

When the City Clerk, who is also the returning officer in this election, makes the official declaration, the five dollars in gold will be paid to the first correct guess, or, in case there is no one correct, the nearest to the correct one will be awarded the prize.

The coupon, which appears below, will be published in to-morrow's paper as well, and either or both, may be used. Paste or pin the coupon to the paper on which you make your guess. The letter should be addressed: "Guessing Contest, The Examiner," and may be handed in to the office, or mailed.

A general invitation is extended to every reader of this paper to enter this contest, and send as many as you wish. Someone will get the $5 in gold, and everyone stands an equal chance.

An extra supply of papers will be published to-day and to-morrow, and may be procured at the regular news stands, and at this office.

The following coupon must be attached to each guess sent in:

EXAMINER GUESSING CONTEST

Dec. 29th, 1905.

M.....

In my opinion the City Council for 1906 will be composed of the following Aldermen, elected in the order given:

Last Council Meeting of 1905

To-night the last council meeting for the year 1905 will be held. This will be a special meeting and the principal business will be the reception of reports of committees. The Finance Committee will report, clearing up its business for the year, and the report of the Committee of the Whole will bring in a report in reference to the proposal to grant a free site of land to the Dominion Stove Company to locate their works here.

The resolution passed at the meeting of the Committee on Wednesday night will be embodied in a report and presented to the council for adoption.

As is usual on the last meeting for the year, the members of the council will in all probability hand out the customary bouquets for each other, and a general free and easy time enjoyed. This year at least six of the council will retire, a larger number than usual, and next year the board will be very materially changed.

Half Century Resident Dead

Late Mrs. John Kenneally Highly Respected.

The death occurred last night at the residence of her son, 225 Sherbrooke street, of Mrs. John Kenneally, at the age of 75 years. The deceased had been ill only about two weeks, suffering from pneumonia, which was the cause of death.

The late Mrs. Kenneally had been for fully half a century a resident of Otonabee, and of Peterborough, where she was very highly respected by all who knew her. She was born in Tipperary, Ireland, and at an early age came to Canada with her parents. She settled in this county, where she was married to her late husband, who pre-deceased her 19 years ago.

She is survived by two children, one son and one daughter, John, of this city, and Mrs. McDonald, of Rochester, N.Y.

The funeral will take place on Sunday afternoon at 2.30, from her son's residence, 225 Sherbrooke street, too St. Peter's Cathedral, and the Roman Catholic cemetery for interment.

Skating To Come Shortly

Prospects are That Cold Will Soon be Here.

The fact that there is no winter at this season of the year is a disappointment to many. There is hardly a Christmas which does not bring with it the ringing sound of the skates upon the ice and the merry jingling of the sleigh bells. The children who live in anticipation through the month of December of a whole week of skating during the holidays are experiencing a keen disappointment. They feel as if time was out of joint, for they hardly know how to entertain themselves. To the proprietors of the different rinks, the mild weather is almost aggravating. All their strenuous work in making ice appears to be labour without reward, and to be met with a continual round of disappointment.

To hockey players and pleasure skaters, the week is one of patient endurance and hope that the cold weather will soon set in. However, it may be only a matter of a day or so when a cold snap will come in earnest, but when it does it will find everyone prepared.

SMALLPOX IN HAVELOCK.

—A young boy named Woodcock, has contracted small-pox in Chase's lumber camp, about seven miles north-east of the village. The camp, and six families, who have been exposed to the disease, have been quarantined. A mild case has been developed in town. Mr. William Doxsee having contracted the disease from exposure to a visitor from the Chandos district. His residence has been quarantined, and Dr. Hourigan placed in charge, and it is expected that no further outbreak will occur. —Havelock Standard.

Activity In Local Labour Circles Told Of

Ald. Johnston Reports to the Labour Gazette on the Local Situation--Mild Weather Made Long Falls' Work on House Construction—Wages are Unchanged--Manufacturing Conditions Never Better—Companies Incorporated.

A FAVOURABLE REPORT PRESENTED

The Labour Gazette this month contains the following report from Ald. Johnston, the local correspondent on local labour conditions:—

General Condition of the Labour Market.

Owing to the mild weather all classes of labour were well employed during November, and a number of houses were still under construction. Four sewer contractors had large gangs of men engaged in laying sewer pipes, and some of the contracts under way will not be completed this fall. The water commissioners also had a force of men putting down a 12-inch auxiliary water main. This section of the Trent Canal and lift-lock has closed down for the winter. The lockmaster reported 5644 crafts having passed through the lift-lock during the season. The Machine Telephone Company was very busy putting in its new system of 'phones, which requires no central station girls. The Bell Telephone Company also was busy. This company has just placed in position a new central energy switchboard with a capacity of 1,200 telephones. The government dredge began operations, excavating a channel 10 feet deep in the bed of the river Otonabee. This will be a great benefit to transportation. Survey parties on the Trent Canal were making rapid progress, and it is expected that the work will be completed in December. The parties were engaged on traverse work. It is probable that a large paint industry will be located at Peterborough. Additions have been made to several departmental stores, and a book and stationery store and two warehouses have been opened. From the latter, five teams and rigs will deliver steel ranges.

Exceptional activity prevailed in all shops and among the building trades and unskilled labour.

Transportation by water and rail was very active, and lumber, wood and coal shipments were heavy. Banks reported a good month. Wholesale trade was very active, large importations of goods being made, but, owing to the very mild weather, retail trade was somewhat backward, especially during the latter part of the month.

Wages were unchanged. Some of the building trades started working 9 hours on account of short days, with the rate of wages reduced accordingly.

Owing to the high price of flour some time ago, the bakers were compelled to raise the price of bread to 6 cents per loaf; now that flour has been reduced in price, many are of the opinion that bread should also be reduced. The bakers claim, however, that their present prices being only a very small profit, and have not reduced the price. Milk dealers, to the number of 23, have raised the price of milk to 6 cents per quart. They claim that high prices for feeding and the scarcity of milk in winter is the cause, but, in the opinion of many, the starting of the new creamery has made such a demand for milk that the dealers would rather deliver to one place than to customers.

There was no unrest in the labour market.

Condition of Local Industries.

Agriculture.—Conditions have been somewhat quiet, the hauling of farm product to market being about the only source of employment.

Lumbering.—Lumbering was very active. A medical officer made a thorough examination of the lumbering camps and reported finding them in very sanitary conditions.

Manufacturing.—Conditions were never better. The American Cereal Company began operating a 600-barrel flour mill, occupying a space on six stories of 33,000 feet. About 1,000,000 bushels of wheat will be used yearly. The Cordage Company had its annual meeting and declared a dividend of 5 per cent. upon the capital stock to the shareholders. The output of the company will reach $1,500,000 this year. The directors are to issue $225,600 of new 6 per cent. preferred stock, the object being to enable the company to have a large working capital in order to purchase raw material cheaply at the period of the year when it is available. The new creamery began operations and is meeting with great success. The receiving vat contains 3,000 pounds, and the bowl of the machine used for manufacturing purposes has a speed of 6,000 revolutions per minute. Nearly 10,000 pounds of milk are passed through the separator every second day, and five wagons are engaged drawing milk. For the first five months, the butter will be for the local market; after, when running to full capacity, it will be exported.

Mining.—The Big Dipper Mining Company, of Peterborough, was incorporated with a capital of $2,500,000. Silver mines in the County of Hastings are to have their plant increased to $1,500,000. This will render available commercially large bodies of ore not now worked. The discovery of a salt mine was reported near Lindsay.

Railway construction and employment.—The usual repair work was being carried on in the district.

Other Industries.—The large cement works at Lakefield were very busy. The company has added considerable additional machinery to its plant.

Conditions of Particular Trades.

Building Trades.—All branches of the building trades were very busy.

Metal, Engineering and shipbuilding trades.—Active conditions prevailed.

Woodworking and Furnishing Trades.—Woodworkers, upholsterers, varnishers, polishers, carriage and wagon makers, car builders, pattern makers, and coopers, were very busy.

Printing and Allied Trades.—Printers and pressmen were busy, and bookbinders fairly so.

Clothing Trades.—Journeymen tailors and boot and shoe workers were very active, and garment workers had a fairly busy month.

Food and Tobacco Preparation.—Bakers, confectioners, butchers, meat cutters, and cigarmakers, were busy.

Leather Trades.—Leather workers were well employed.

Miscellaneous. — Barbers, broommakers, clerks, and stenographers, had a good month. Delivery employees were fairly well occupied but furriers, hotel, restaurant and theatre workers and laundry employees were very active.

Transport. — Railway employees, steamboat employees, street railway employees, cab drivers, hackmen, carters, teamsters and expressmen were fairly busy. Since the rush of the tourist traffic has ceased, business has been quieter.

Unskilled Labour.— Unskilled labour was exceptionally well employed.

District Notes.

The amount of money received from cheese sales for the year 1905 was $528,665.66, 95-8 cents and 12 9-16 cents being the lowest and highest prices paid. Twelve meetings of the Cheese Board were held. Stock-raising is also being made a great success in Peterborough district.

Repairs to the Bobcaygeon dam were in progress during November.

The Nassau power-house, about three miles above the city, from which the Canadian General Electric Company gets its power by electricity, is laying 6,000 square feet of concrete, 8 inches thick. The forebay, which is being covered, is 62 by 135 feet; 50 men were employed in the work, which was pushed on through day and night to completion. 150 yards of sand, 25 loads of stone and 700 bags of cement were used in the carrying out of the work.

A dam costing $60,000, will be built at Campbellford. A development of 3,000 horse-power will be available. The Finlay Hub Factory Company, of Norwood, is contemplating large additions to its present plan. The ratepayers of that village will be asked to vote on a by-law granting the company a fixed assessment for 15 years.

Peterborough In 'Woodman's' Eyes

The Canadian Woodman issued a special Christmas edition of twenty-four pages. A portion of this creditable publication was devoted to a description of a number of the leading towns and cities, in which the order of which it is the official organ is the most flourishing. Speaking of Peterborough, it says:

This city, with a population of 14,000, is built on the Otonabee River, which here falls 150 feet within a few miles, affording an immense water power, which is utilized by many large mills and manufactories. The construction of the Trent Canal, the great lift lock of which (the largest in the world) is located here, is destined to prove invaluable to Peterborough. The town is well built, and enjoys a large trade. The surrounding country has extraordinary attractions for sportsmen and pleasure-seekers. Beautiful lakes, rivers and waterfalls are to be found in all directions, and the fishing is especially good.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

Entertainment And 'Xmas Tree Much Enjoyed

Large Attendance at Charlotte Street Methodist Church Last Night—Pleasing Programme Was Presented—Distribution of Presents—Sunday School Room Packed to the Doors——The Programme of the Evening.

CHORUSES WERE BRIGHT AND CATCHY

The Sunday school room of the Charlotte street Methodist church was filled to the doors last night by the audience which attended the annual entertainment and Christmas tree of the Sunday school. A pleasing programme was presented, and the affair was a most enjoyable one in every respect. The Christmas tree was, of course, a leading feature of the evening, and furnished no little enjoyment for the juvenile portion of the assemblage. The chair was occupied by Rev. W. J. Jolliffe, B.C.L.

The programme rendered was as follows:

Chorus—"Ring, Ring Out the Merry Bells."
Chairman's Address.
Chorus—Primary Class.
Chorus—12 of Primary Class.
Recitation—Anna Christie.
Solo—Mr. R. Norman Jolliffe.
Chorus—Mission Band.
Tree.
Good Night Chorus.

The various numbers were excellently presented, the choruses being rendered with a sprightliness and variety of movement which was most infectious, and were most appropriate to the joyous yule-tide spirit. The recitation by Miss Ada Lane won a genuine and well-merited appreciation.

In their choruses, the members of the primary class acquitted themselves with utmost credit, both to themselves and to their instructors. The recitation by Miss Annie Christie was given with a very considerable power of expression and evidenced a fine elocutionary taste.

Mr. R. Norman Jolliffe contributed a vocal solo, in good voice and with musicianly interpretation, and won a hearty appreciation.

After the Closing Chorus by the Mission Band, the distribution of presents took place, the duties of Santa Claus being performed in a happy manner by Mr. W. Galbraith.

The programme was closed by a Good Night Chorus.

Puzzle Answers Close To-morrow

To-morrow will be the last day for receiving answers to the puzzle pictures in the Examiner's Christmas edition. Answers have been coming in almost daily since the issue of that paper, and in order to submit the solutions to the judges it will be necessary to limit the time for receiving the answers. If anyone is working on it now this will be a notice to them that to-morrow will be the last day they will have to send in their answers.

BE READY FOR CROUP

AND INSIST ON HAVING THE TIME-TESTED MEDICINES.

It is not a question of whether you will need a treatment for coughs, colds and croup in your homes, but the question is will you select the most effective medicine or simply be satisfied to take whatever your druggist happens to hand out to you?

Time and experience have proven that you can depend on Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine at all times.

It is only necessary to remember this when the critical time comes and to insist on getting what you ask for.

Should you have children that are subject to croup you had better keep a bottle of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine in the house for when the choking spasm comes on there is little time to send for doctor or medicine.

It seems scarcely necessary to dwell on the merits of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine as a cure for croup, bronchitis, whooping cough, etc. Most of us have known it from childhood up. It is almost as familiar as Dr. Chase's Receipt Book.

Mr. G. N. Morrison, 34 Fulton street, Toronto, Ont., writes:

"Gentlemen, — If it should be of satisfaction to you to know (as it certainly has been to me in the past) permit me to say that I have used Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine in my family for years, and have found it from experience to be the best cough medicine. I suppose that I have used eight bottles last winter; my children will have nothing else, and the best of results invariably ensue. I have also recommended it strongly. If this unsolicited testimonial be of any service to you the pleasure is mine in transmitting it."

Being pleasant to the taste, it is readily taken by the children. Because it brings quick relief to the suffering from asthma, bronchitis, whooping cough, and all the more serious disease of the throat and lungs, it is invaluable as a household medicine. 25 cents a bottle at all dealers. 5

Popular Young Man Banquetted By His Friends

Mr. T. G. Anderson the Guest at a Delightful Function Given by St. Andrew's Young Men's Guild Last Night—Will Leave Shortly for Hamilton to Reside—Members of Guild Honour Him on His Departure From the City.

WAS PROMINENT IN CHURCH ATHLETICS

Last evening at Hoag's Palm Parlours a farewell banquet was tendered to Mr T. G. Anderson by the young men of St. Andrew's church. Mr. Anderson has been connected with St. Andrew's church during his residence in Peterborough, and the expressions of regret made last night are evidences that he will be greatly missed in St. Andrew's circles. He was one of the charter members of St. Andrew's Guild and has always been enthusiastic in its work. He was also on the managing board of the church and his sound judgment was considered in all questions that had to be dealt with. While not taking an active interest in the athletic contests in which the Guild participated he was a firm believer in sporting organizations in connection with a church, and gave them his hearty support.

Those present to do Mr. Anderson honour were:—Messrs. W. S. Campbell, W. A. Richardson, F. E. Kerr, A. Macfarlane, W. Langford, D. Potter, W. G. Lendrum, J. Potter, W. Shirley, J. J. Cocks, G. Evans, D. Menzies, P. A. Kerr, H. H. Edmison, C. E. Anderson, R. M. Glover, Thos. Donaldson, F. McCullough, Willis Garrow, E. Reid, T. W. Black, Gilbert Scott, Geo. McDonald, Eveland Dormer, T. C. Elliott, L. Thornton and Rev. J. G. Potter.

After an excellent menu a short toast list was honoured, with Mr. W. S. Campbell as chairman, and Mr. H. H. Edmison vice-chairman.

The toast to the King was very heartily drunk, after which Mr. C. E. Anderson proposed the toast of "Canada," in which he pointed out the great advantages that Canada has for young men. He showed the great growth of the country during the past few years and predicted even a brighter future. In response Mr. R. R. Shirley stated that he felt gratified at the hearty manner in which the toast was honoured, and made it the occasion to draw attention to the great wealth of Canada in its mines, fields and forests, which with its good laws, British connection, and healthful climate makes it one of the best countries on earth.

The next toast, that of "Our Guest," was proposed by Rev. J. G. Potter, with remarks by Messrs. W. S. Campbell, A. Macfarlane and T. C. Elliott, who expressed regret on Mr. Anderson's leaving the city and the loss of this valuable services in St. Andrew's church. He had been known to the speakers for a number of years and had always been found to be one in whom confidence was never misplaced. They wished him success in his new enterprise.

In response Mr. Anderson wished to be excused from making any remarks at length as he had been entirely taken by surprise. He said he regretted his severance with St. Andrew's young men, with whom he had spent many pleasant hours. He thanked the speakers for their expressions and hoped that the Guild would continue to prosper as it had in the past.

The toast to St. Andrew's Athletics was proposed by Mr. Lou Thornton who pointed out the fact that athletics in churches had a very good effect on the young men, kept them organized and developed qualities in them that otherwise would receive but little attention. He thought that St. Andrew's Guild deserves some credit for the introducing of sports in the Guilds, as a result of which we now have a Guild Baseball League and a Guild Hockey League.

This brought to their feet in response Messrs. P. A. Kerr, W. A. Richardson, and F. E. Kerr, who went on to show that athletics in St. Andrew's church had been a success, not so much in a matter of winning championships but it had given the young men something to work for. They did not believe it was a good idea to win games at any cost and felt that a team deserved more support and commendation when it lost than when it won, as in the latter case it was unnecessary.

The next toast to "The Ladies" was proposed by Mr. H. H. Edmison, in a neat speech he referred to Mr. Anderson's good qualities and the loss he would be to the young ladies of St. Andrews. This toast was responded to by Messrs. D. Menzies, J. J. Cocks and R. M. Glover.

The singing of Auld Lang Syne brought to a close a very pleasant evening. Mr. Anderson said goodbye to friends present. He will leave the early part of next week for Hamilton where he will reside in future.

A PLEASANT VISIT.

—Mr. Fred Stewart of High Bluff, Manitoba, is among the Yuletide visitors at Norwood. Mr. Stewart's visit at this time is connected with an event which will have an important, and, we trust, very happy relation to his future life. He will be accompanied on his return by one of Asphodel's much respected young ladies—the daughter of Mr. James Andrews, County Councillor for this division. The happy event was solemnized last evening at the parental home.—Register.

Hastings Ores Are Valuable

Mr. T. H. Crowley, Prospector, in Toronto.

The Toronto News says:—

Mr. T. H. Crowley, mining prospector, Peterborough, is at the Rossin House, and has a fine collection of sample ores from North Hastings, where he has been prospecting since last August. He has a piece of corundum ore with exceptionally large crystals and containing about 60 per cent. of corundum. A sample of magnetic iron ore has about 70 per cent. pure metal.

There is also a piece of ore containing a very high percentage of iron oxides. This is used for the manufacture of red paint. There is a white mountain of it in Hastings, and an oil does out from the ore bed so heavily charged with the iron oxides that it is used by the farmers for fence paint.

Mr. Crowley also found copper ore, with 12 per cent. copper on the surface, and has also found both white and black mica, as well as locating the second bed of sodalite in America. The latter is used for ornamental stone work.

Mr. Crowley considers North Hastings an exceedingly rich mineral district.

DANDRUFF CAUSED BY A GERM

A New Discovery That Kills the Germ and Prevents Baldness.

Pretty nearly all the hair preparations for dandruff have some merit in allaying itching of the scalp, and in being a fairly good dressing for the hair, but there is only one that recognizes what causes dandruff, falling hair, and baldness, and that destroys the cause, a little germ—and that is Newbro's Herpicide. This germ eats its way into the scalp, it digs up the scalp into little white scales. Unless it is destroyed there is no permanent stopping of falling hair and cure of dandruff and baldness. Newbro's Herpicide kills the germ. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect." Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Ormond & Walsh, Special Agents.

Westwood Council By Acclammation

Christmas Tree Entertainment Was Highly Successful.

Special to The Examiner.

Westwood, December 27th. — Mr. and Mrs. William Sharp of Harvey are visiting their relatives in and around the village.

The nominations for the municipal elections were held in the town hall, on Friday, Dec. 22nd. There will be no election this year, as all the old officers have been returned, viz., P. McNulty, reeve; W. Comstock, J. Francis, F. Warner, D. McNaughton, councillors.

Mrs. F. McGuire and Miss Maggie of Hastings, are guests of Miss Maggie McGrath.

Mr. Albert Graham, who has been teaching school in Alberta for some time, has returned home.

Miss Phoebe Cardwell of Otonabee, is spending the holiday among relatives.

The Christmas tree and entertainment under the auspices of the Methodist church, was held in the Town Hall on Christmas night, and was a decided success in every way. The programme, which was a lengthy one was well carried out and much credit is due Misses A. Comstock, and E. Stonehouse, who had the training of the children. Special mention should be made of the Rainbow, Scarf, Hoop and Flag Drills by the little girls. The Christmas tree groaned beneath a heavy weight of presents. The hall was very handsomely decorated with cedar boughs, flags, bunting and Japanese lanterns. The choir was ably filled by the pastor, Rev. Mr. Johnston. The proceeds amounted to fifty-five dollars.

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 29, 1905.

THE FIRE BY-LAW.

"An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure." This is a time-honoured maxim—not only a maxim but an axion—a self-evident fact. No one who gives a moment of thought to the subject will deny that it is a much wiser thing to provide against the occurrence of large fires than to spend money to guard against the total loss which a great or small fire involves. All will acknowledge that it would be a much wiser thing to spend a little extra money in building a fireproof building if such a thing were possible, than to spend yearly on insurance a sum equal to the interest on a considerable capital. The next best thing to fire-proof buildings is a fire equipment which will be able to cope with a fire in its first stages. The great fires of London, Chicago, Baltimore, Ottawa, Toronto, could have been put out with a quart of water if they had been discovered in time.

What Peterborough needs and what it has not at the present time, is a good dependable, properly equipped fire department—a department which can be called upon in the quickest possible manner, that can respond to an alarm in the shortest possible time, and one that is equipped to do the promptest and most effective work when it is called upon. Such a department, careful inquiry and investigation and comparison with other cities shows can be supplied for $25,000 at the outside, and that is the amount the ratepayers are asked to provide on Monday next by voting for what is known as the fire by-law.

There is considerable talk and considerable danger of the Underwriters' Association advancing the rates for insurance if Peterborough does not provide efficient fire fighting equipment. If that were done, the cost to the citizens would be many times greater than the cost of a good fire equipment. Is it not wise to defy the fire insurance people in a double way—first defy them by providing a fire department which will prevent a raising of the rates and in the second place do our own insurance to a certain extent, by providing such a completely equipped fire department as will insure against the occurrence of a fire of any great magnitude. With a good chemical engine to nip fires in the bud, with a good steamer to co-operate with a splendid system of hydrants the danger of a large fire is reduced to the lowest point. This will cost only $25,000, and will only mean the addition to the tax rate of 25 or 30 cents per year on a $1,000 assessment.

Against this set two considerations only. What is this slight additional cost compared with the tremendous loss of a great fire? The great Toronto fire which swept away thirteen or fourteen acres of five and six story buildings represented millions of dollars loss. The great spread of this fire was due to ineffective fire equipment, and what the City of Toronto saved in the false economy of neglecting to provide proper and adequate fire equipment, was lost a thousand times over by the loss of taxes on the buildings formerly standing on the burnt district, and in many cases not yet replaced.

There is a possibility of a great fire occurring in Peterborough at any time. Suppose, with a great gale blowing, a fire should break out at the lower or upper end of George street. With our present fire-fighting appliances we might make a brave attempt at putting it out, but if a number of streams were put on, the water mains pressure would be reduced and to that extent rendered ineffective. We would have no auxiliary in the shape of a steamer. It is quite possible with certain weather conditions we should have to stand by and wring our hands in helplessness, watch our splendid shops go to destruction, and curse the city council for not providing a proper fire-fighting equipment. What would our merchants lose? How many would be put out of employment? and above all what would the loss on taxation; for taxes could not be imposed upon ruins, upon heaps of blackened stone and bricks. Would not the loss in taxes be ten times greater than the 25 or 30 cents additional required to meet the interest charges on the $25,000 a good and efficient fire equipment would cost?

The ratepayers are men of sense. Let them consider the matter. Let them take note of the danger we are in. We can't get new manufacturers without proper protection from fire and the advent of every new factory benefits every single resident of the city.

WORK OF THE "ARMY."

The Salvation Army, from all indications, has outgrown the experimental stage — the stage of persecution — and has become a recognized factor in moral, as well as affiliated economical and social movements. It is recognized by the state, and all the world bears testimony to the energetic, unselfish and self-sacrificing spirit that is the moving influence of the organization, as well as of the units composing it. We all know how the local organization has lived down derision and scorn, and, by sheer force of good work done, has conquered a recognized place in the community. Those who have not the slightest religious sympathy with Salvation Army methods or objects, and are, even on religious grounds, theoretically antagonistic, recognize the good work the Army is doing, not only by way of verbal acknowledgment, but by practical assistance. We find in La Presse, of Montreal, a leading French-Canadian newspaper, a (for it) highly eulogistic notice of the Christmas dinner served to about six hundred destitute persons in Montreal, by the Army.

The catholic character of the activities of the Army is one of its distinguishing features, ranging all the way from a prison gate mission to providing wives for settlers in western Canada, and this is helped by the wonderful organizing and executive strength developed by those "commanding." The same zeal, energy, singleness of aim and earnestness of purpose, which animate the officers, seem to be possessed by the humblest member of the rank and file. The Army is doing a splendid work — reaching a level of society—which the church cannot, or does not, reach. It is also doing many kinds of work which the state cannot, or does not, do. The peculiar methods of the Army, the peculiar influences which, by virtue of these methods, and the relations they engender, specially well fit them for certain kinds of colonization work. The success the Army has achieved in this direction, justifies the confidence reposed in it by the Dominion and Ontario Governments, as well as the practical help proposed. Commissioner Coombes has had an offer of 250,000 acres for colonization purposes in Manitoba, Alberta and Saskatchewan, and also offers from British Columbia and the Maritime Provinces, and it is understood that the Ontario Government will this year make a grant of $4,000 to assist the Army's immigration schemes, and possibly set apart colonization areas. The Army makes a gallant fight against sin, and the multiform evils that result from sin.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

This winter might be called a lady's winter. It is likely to be popular with the women, because it is not the old-fashioned kind.

A Lansdowne sow has just emerged from a seven-weeks' burial in a straw stack. Though sadly weakened, the patriotic animal came out, the Toronto Star remarks, as soon as it heard that the duty on American hogs had been raised.

Is leader Borden sincere or hypocritical? asks the Moncton Transcript. He denounces the alleged enforcement of the spoils system by the Dominion Liberals; but accords active support to that energetic wielder of the spoilsman's axe, Premier Whitney. Mr. Borden can evidently strain at a gnat and swallow a camel.

The world is full of compensations. Bob Fitzsimmons, the pugilist, lost the heavy weight championship. By way of compensation for this loss, his wife left him — which, considering the circumstances, seems to be a pretty large gain. The good wife is she who stands by her husband in his dark hours, as well as his prosperous days.

Penny Bank Will Help The Shareholders

The Globe of yesterday had the following:

In our advertising columns will be found an offer made by the Toronto Penny Bank to the shareholders of the York County Loan & Savings Company to collect without charge all moneys found in the course of the pending settlement to be due to them. This offer is extended to every shareholder who will send to the Penny Bank his pass book and certificate, accompanied by the coupon in the advertisement properly signed. It will be evident on a moment's consideration that by taking this course the shareholders will save themselves and the liquidators a great deal of trouble, without having to pay anything for the service rendered.

The only question that can arise is as to the trustworthiness of the Penny Bank, and fortunately it is easy to show that this is entirely beyond question. It is, in the first place, incorporated under the Dominion penny bank act of 1903, with Mr. Hamilton Cassels as President and Mr. H. D. Lockhart Gordon as Manager, and with a strong Board of Directors. Its own organization is, in the second place, fortified by the guarantee fund made obligatory by the above cited statute. This fund amounts to $25,000, and among the subscribers to it are a number of the most prominent financiers of Toronto. In the third place, the guarantee fund is itself strengthened by the undertaking of a guarantee company to the amount of $10,000 in order that the moneys entrusted to the bank may be made as secure as possible. Needless to say the whole of this security is available for the protection of those York County Loan shareholders who are willing to avail themselves of the bank's generous offer.

Municipality To Be Asked To Send Delegates

To Co-operate With Peterboro' in Urging the Early Completion of the Trent Canal—The Deputation Will go to Ottawa Probably Early in the Year—The Finance Committee Takes Action—Last Meeting of the Year.

TAXES OF T. A. S. WILL BE REMITTED

The last meeting for the year of the Finance Committee, was held last night in the City Clerk's office. Those present were Ald. Mason, chairman, Leary, Batten, Crowe and Adams.

The usual batch of accounts was passed, and will be recommended to the council to be paid.

The question of the proposed deputation to Ottawa to interview the members of the Government on the Trent Canal, and to urge for its immediate completion, was discussed, and the chairman was authorized to write the clerks of the different municipalities along the proposed route, as well as Boards of Trade, etc., explaining the objects of the deputation, and to ask that they appoint delegates to the deputation, to hold themselves in readiness to go to Ottawa when the date has been arranged.

The intention is that the deputation shall be the largest that has ever visited Ottawa on this question, and Ald. Mason, who is handling the matter for the city, hopes to impress the Government with the necessity of the early completion of the canal.

The reason why the circular will be sent out by the chairman of the committee this year, is that if it is left until the new council gets into harness, it will probably be too late to reach the county councils before their January session, and the deputation will want to go to the capital before the June session.

The committee decided to remit to the Ontario Government the fines claimed in the now celebrated Gagnon case.

An application was received on behalf of the T.A.S. for remission of taxes, and the committee decided to recommend that the taxes, with the exception of school taxes, be remitted.

The accounts passed will be submitted to the council to-night.

Gagnon was prosecuted and fined for breach of the law on the Central exhibition grounds. There was some dispute between the local and provincial authorities as to the credit for the prosecution.

Entertainment of Senior Pupils At St. Andrew's

A Delightful Christmas Re-Union of the Scholars of This Sunday School Was Held Last Night—An Interesting Programme Presented by the School—Drills and Musical Selections—The Pastor Extends Greetings.

THE ANNUAL SCHOOL GATHERING ENJOYED

Tea was served by the teachers from 6 to 7.30, and at 8 o'clock an interesting programme was given.

After devotional exercises, conducted by the pastor, Miss Lila Tully rendered a well-executed instrumental solo, entitled "The First Love," and also responded to an encore. A reading was then given by Miss Montgomery, in a very effective and pleasing manner. To well merited applause Miss Montgomery responded.

An amusing number was that given by eight of the girls in Miss Langford's class, entitled "A Musical Dialogue," This was followed by Mary Carter in a recitation entitled "Washing Dolly Like That," which was heartily appreciated by the children. The wand drill given under Miss Bella King's direction was perfect. Miss Tully accompanied on the piano. The execution of the drill showed the great care that had been taken in the training of the girls and reflected great credit upon Miss King, as well as upon the accuracy and attention of the girls. The following are the names of those taking part: Eva Curry, Mary Potter, Eva Stenton, Ruby Hart, Lila Tully, Agnes Pentland, Violet Copeland, Louise Mather, Annie Reid, Ida Grant Hazel Stanger and Ethel Rae.

Miss Grace Evans then delighted the company with a recitation entitled, "When Johnny was Naughty Like Me," and for an encore at the request of the scholars, she recited "Deacon Brown."

The pastor then presented the greetings of the Sunday school Association to the parents present, explained the prospects for the year 1906, and announced that Mr. Wm. Stevens, for some years a most faithful helper, had been unanimously elected superintendent of the school.

Miss May Menzies then favoured the gathering with a humourous selection, after which the happy gathering was brought to a close.

The medals, prizes and diplomas will be distributed early in January.

To Make Transfer Of School Lots

This is Proposed to be Made To-night.

There is a strong probability that at the special meeting of the City Council to-night a proposal will be made to pass a bylaw transferring the lots secured from the Separate School Board to the Board of Education. It will be remembered that up to the present time the Board of Education has not yet had transferred to them their lots, no decision having been reached as to which lots would be retained by the Government for the site for the Armouries.

The matter was referred by the council to a committee, and that committee has not yet reported to the council.

The Board of Education is now proposing that the council pass a bylaw to-night, but the Mayor is not favourable to the proposal, stating that he does not see the occasion for the rush at this, the last, meeting of the council.

Hear Ruthven McDonald, the Renowned Baritone at Charlotte Street Sunday School, Wednesday, Jan. 3rd. Tickets 25c. and 35c.

Will Open The Re-built Organ

A Recital Will be Held in George Street Church.

The repairs to the pipe organ in the George street church, will be completed in about ten days, and the official opening will take place on Tuesday, January 9th, when a recital will be held.

The organist will be Mr. Arthur Ingham, of Toronto, late of England. Mr. Ingham is said to be the finest pipe organist in Canada. He was at the St. Louis World's Fair, where he was the official organist in the great Temple of Music, officiating at the immense organ in that building.

Mr. Arthur Blight, also of Toronto, a baritone soloist of distinction, has also been secured to sing at the recital, which will be one of the most enjoyable musical events in Peterborough in years.

Scarizzi Was Heavily Fined This Morning

An Italian Sold Liquor Without a License—The Fine and Costs Amounted to Seventy-nine Dollars and Forty-five Cents—A Common and Most Serious Offence—The Money Was Forthcoming in Court Room—To Weed Out Liquor "Dives".

AN EXAMPLE MADE OF ITALIAN

An assault case, in which the complainant desired to have the charge withdrawn after the information was laid, was dismissed at this morning's police court before His Worship Police Magistrate Dumble, who decided that the complainant had to pay the costs.

Agustino Scarizzi, whose place of abode is in one of the Italian "residences" in the lane off Bethune street, near Hunter, appeared in court this morning charged with selling liquor from December 1 to 28, inclusive, on the premises referred to above, without having a license.

The accused pleaded guilty to the charge.

"I have suspected that liquor was sold there for the last two years," said the Chief, "but this is the first time that I have been able to take steps towards prosecution."

There were a few witnesses subpoenaed in this case, but as Scarizzi pleaded guilty their evidence was not taken.

"Italians who sell liquor without a license are becoming a great nuisance," said the Chief.

The court imposed a fine of $75 and $4.45 costs, to be paid forthwith, and, in default of payment, three months' imprisonment with hard labour.

"The next time I'll make it four months without the option of a fine," said the magistrate, in pronouncing sentence. The interpreter glibly explained to the accused what was in store for him if he was again guilty of a similar charge.

A number of Scarizzi's friends clubbed together and produced the amount of the fine and costs.

This case should prove a warning to Italians who violate the liquor law, and all offenders in this respect will be most severely dealt with.

Latest News Of Winter Sports

American Paper Contains Article Concerning O. H. A.

The Detroit Free Press says:—

The hockey outlook this year in the Dominion is the best in the history of the great game. Of the many hockey organizations in Canada, the O. H. A. is probably the strongest association as well as the most important. The majority of the players of the International League are picked from the ranks of the Ontario organization, which has a representative in almost every town in Canada's most populous province. Great work is being done this year to eliminate roughness from the game, and the progress made so far is a revelation to the followers of the sport. This is the most important feature in popularizing the sport, as serious injuries often result unless the referee keeps the players strictly under control.

The O. H. A., although one of the youngest of amateur organizations, is, nevertheless one of the best organized of sporting institutions. Its territory comprises the greater part of Ontario, nearly 100 towns and cities acknowledging its control in hockey matters. This year the senior competition has been largely augmented by the entrance of numerous teams which for some seasons past have been playing intermediate hockey on a par with that of the best seen in the senior circles. Four of these cities, Berlin, Galt, Stratford and Woodstock, have aggregations which would give any of the International sextets a strenuous time. Indeed, it is a well-known fact that the stars on some of these teams outclass many of the fastest puck chasers in the professional league. The hockey clubs on this side of the line each year send their agents through the Dominion, seeking recruits for their respective sevens.

The Soo teams are at present engaged on a still hunt for the Canadian stars, the most prominent of whom are W. Twaits, of Galt, the greatest cover-point in the game to-day; Pete Charlton, of Berlin, another wonderful defence man; and Forbes, of Stratford. The one thing, however, that saves the best of the players in their home towns is the brevity of the hockey season, and the fact that salaries paid during that season do not remunerate the players for the loss of good positions which they generally hold in their home towns. Another reason for the difficulty experienced in getting the Ontario hockeyists to sign a contract is that it would ever afterward bar them from taking part in O. H. A. games, even should they fail to make good on the professional outfits. That this is a handship is easily understood by anyone who has ever played the game. A particular case of this sort is that of Dietrich, of Galt, who some time ago went to Pittsburg, not for the money that was in it, but simply to play the game there for the love of it. He was the most brilliant forward that ever appeared on the ice at the Duquesne Gardens, and the fans were continually electrified with his marvellous work. He was there but a short time when business recalled him to Galt. As a result of Dietrich's little trip to the Smoky City he has been trying ever since to get back into the O. H. A., but as yet without success.

The games which will be played this coming winter between the professional teams and the best of the O. H. A. aggregations will be watched with much interest by the followers on both sides of the border. A match between the pennant winners in the International League would be productive of wonderful hockey, and a game the result of which would puzzle most of the dopesters to figure out.

HOCKEY

They Mobbed Doherty.

The Chippewas beat the Emeralds by a score of 4-4 at Matthew's rink yesterday afternoon in a strenuous game of juvenile hockey, in which Doherty, of the Emerald, was very rough and inclined to mix it up, but Nicholls, of the Chippewas, who played the best game on the ice, held him down to perfection. Doherty refused to go off when ordered to do so by the referee and will probably be barred from the juvenile league as a result. After the game was over Doherty was pretty badly mauled about and had to be taken home in a wheelbarrow.—Com.

"Sandy" Hall at Y.M.C.A. Gym.

Mr. "Sandy" Hall, of the Bank of Toronto, Montreal, but who was formerly a clerk in the local office of the Bank of Toronto, will give an exhibition on the high and parallel bars at the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium on New Years night, when the Brownies and Westmounts of Montreal will clash in a basketball match. A preliminary game between the Harriers and Arrows will also be played. This will be the final game of the season between these two aggregations and a close and exciting contest should result. A good programme, the arrangements for which have not yet been completed, will be announced to-morrow night.

Mr. Hall is an athlete and gymnast of great ability and is so well known in this city that to comment upon his skill would be superfluous. It is sufficient to mention that in a competition last year in which several of Montreal's best men in apparatus work participated, Mr. Hall carried off first honours, obtaining 93 per cent.

The game between Westmount and the Brownies as has before been announced in these columns, will doubtless be exceedingly fast and interesting, and should in fact prove one of the best basketball games that has ever been played in the local Y.M.C.A. Gym. Taken altogether the entertainment that will be provided New Year's night at the Y.M.C.A. should prove a drawing card that will fill the Gymnasium gallery to overflowing.

Dr. Johnston Writes To The "Horse World"

Under the heading of "A Complaint from Canada" the last number of the "Horse World" has the following:—

If you will give me space in your valuable paper, I will furnish its readers with some information regarding the way our races are conducted and dealt with when they come before the Board of Review. I asked for the identification of the mare Orillia Belle. The parties owning the mare filed papers to show she was six years old. I had two veterinary surgeons examine the mare's mouth and they called her 12 years old. These certificates were sent to Gochen of which he acknowledged receipt. The veterinary surgeon must be wrong, or the Board of Review, probably time will tell.

Another matter of interest to horsemen of this section, was regarding the Cataraqui races. The time was suppressed on Orillia Belle from 2.16 1-4 to 2.21 1-4. This suppressed time was sent in with an affidavit, but it was dismissed by the Board of Review. Every one that held a watch at this meeting knows this to be true, but when the case of White Blaze came up for winning a heat at Peterborough fair where the time was suppressed there is placed against her a fine of $100, notwithstanding her owner entered her under the National Trotting Association rules and protested against the suppression of time. The Board in their finding clear the owner of White Blaze, saying he was not concerned in the wrong, yet they fine his mare. Why don't they fine the responsible parties, the managers of races. The mare is disqualified and is ready for the races and the owner has placed his case in his lawyer's hands and will investigate the matter regardless of cost.

DR. THOS. JOHNSTON.

Peterborough, Ont., Dec. 18, 1905.

Mr. R. Fair Gives Opinion

With Reference to Vote on Fire Protection By-law.

Mr. Robert Fair, asked by The Examiner to express his opinion with regard to the fire protection question yesterday, stated that, as an associate member with Mr. LeBrun of the committee appointed to act in conjunction with the committee of the Council, he felt that action toward an improvement of the fire-fighting system was urgently necessary.

The question of fire protection, in Mr. Fair's opinion, presents, with the rapid growth of the city, an increasingly serious aspect, owing to the fact that the fire department has not been improved to any extent in any way corresponding with the city's expansion.

The increased protection proposed would, in Mr. Fair's opinion, be a great advantage to the small householders, affording, as it would, a quicker service, as well as increased and up-to-date facilities.

In the growth of the business and manufacturing interests, the necessity was equally imperative. In insurance alone large sums of money had been taken from the city, which would otherwise have been invested in local industrial enterprises, upon which depend so largely the prosperity of a large body of the employed. The destruction by fire of a business area entails not only the individual loss to the proprietor, but subjects the employees to the losses consequent upon being thrown out of employment. The insurance aspect of the question, essential as it is, is, however, of secondary consideration, when viewed in conjunction with protection, which is so imperatively necessary.

All Saint's Entertainment

Highly Successful Event Held Last Night.

All Saints' Sunday School held a most successful entertainment last night when the seating capacity of the lecture room was taxed to its utmost. The programme was greatly enjoyed especially by the children.

Prof. Clark, of Toronto, a ventriloquist of no mean ability provided the amusement and kept his audience in a hilarious state all the way through. The Punch and Judy show delighted the little people.

Rev. Wm. Major, who acted as chairman during the evening announced the result of the catechism competition. In doing so he expressed his pleasure at the fact that the candidate this year had done so well. 47 marks was the total set and the winner succeeded in getting the maximum. Three others were very close to 47. Miss Irene Spicer was the winner of the prize, a hymn book and a prayer book in a leather case.

Later Rev. Mr. Major announced that Mr. J. W. Green, had placed a sum of money in his hands for the purpose of securing prizes for Miss Stella Cuff, Fred. Dickson and Rosie Millier, the three next in merit.

Poland Is Now The Centre Of The Troubles

News Indicates General Strike is Extending There.

"BLACK HUNDRED" IS FEARED

End of the Revolt in Moscow May Be a Horrible Massacre of the "Reds" —Revolt is Practically Over in the City, Only a Few Fanatics Continuing the Struggle—The People Are the Chief Sufferers.

St. Petersburg, Dec. 29.—Yesterday's news from Russian Poland indicated that the general strike is extending. Wholesale arrests have been made in the cities. At Sosnovice, near the Emperor's hunting lodge, an attempt has been made to blow up the barracks with dynamite. The employes of the Riga-Orel Railroad have again struck, but the majority of the railways are still running.

The Novoe Vremya reports that a meeting of railroad men at Rostoff-on-Don was bombarded by artillery, and that 300 of those present were killed or wounded. The paper also says that all the Russian officials in Courland, except those at Mittau and Libau, have been driven out of that province.

A telephone message from Moscow to The Moiva says the Town Council has denounced the indiscriminate firing on the troops and the organization of the Black Hundred under the direction of the police.

According to advices received by the Government last night, the rebellion at Moscow is entering on its final stage.

Governor-General Doubassoff is acting with great energy and hundreds of members of the "Druzina" are already behind the bars. The strikers have lost heart and the Workmen's Council is considering the question of calling off the strike.

The principal danger now seems to be that the "Black Hundred" will complete the work begun by the troops, and end the revolt with a horrible massacre of the Reds. The lower classes are represented as enraged at the attempt of the revolutionaries to overthrow the Emperor, and, even with the best intentions, it may be impossible for the authorities to restrain the fury of these classes once the opportunity is offered them. The attacks made on striking railroad men at wayside stations sufficiently shows the temper of the peasant classes.

Four thousand strikers marched out of Moscow, and completely destroyed several miles of the railroad track between St. Petersburg and Moscow, thirty miles outside of Moscow, in order to prevent the arrival of troop trains bearing the Seminovsky battalian of the Horse Guards and the trains backed twenty miles to Clyne, whence it is understood the troops will proceed today on foot for their destination.

In the Baltic provinces the Lettish insurgents, in carrying out their plans for preventing the arrival of reinforcements, sawed through the timber bridge at Kausika, forty miles from Reval, and caused a frightful accident to a passenger train, which fell through into the water. The numbers of dead and injured have not yet been established. A troop train containing a squadron of the Horse Guards has also been wrecked and two other trains have been derailed near Narva.

Revolt Practically Over.

Moscow, Dec. 29.—The revolt is practically over and the strike will be called off Monday. Comparative quiet prevailed yesterday, only a few fanatics continuing the struggle.

The centre of the city for the first time to-day showed signs of life, the stores re-opening, and the inhabitants, who had been cooped up for five days, were venturing out for a breath of fresh air.

The troops began operation yesterday morning at the Triumphal Arch, bombarding and demolishing an immense barricade near the car stables of the Belgian company which had been built behind overturned tramcars. Thence slowly pivoting from the arch the columns swept eastward, clearing all the streets of the Tverstaia and north of the boulevard which separated the battlefield from the centre of the city.

Sometimes the artillery fired a shot. The work of destroying the entanglements and burning the material from which they were constructed was slow. Occasionally when the troops were fired upon from the roofs the houses were bombarded but the occupants had ample time to escape.

It is not possible to venture an estimate of the casualties which, however, are not heavy, either in the case of the troops or of the "Druzina." The populace have been awful sufferers. Crowds have been mowed down by rifle volleys, the fire of machine guns and the grape and shrapnel of the artillery. Innocent persons even fell dead before the bullets of the revolutionists while inspecting barricades, perhaps owing to the impression that they were spies.

Revolutionists Big Steal.

Warsaw, Russian Poland, Dec. 29.—The general strike is weakening. The shops are open and cabs are circulating in the centre of the city. The employes of the factories and street railroads are still on strike.

The revolutionists during the night of Dec. 27 dynamited the safe of the district treasury of Wysokie-Mazowneckie, Government of Lomsha, and carried off $250,000.

Odessa, Dec. 29.—Martial law has has been proclaimed here. Hundreds of arrests have been made.

LONG'S FALSE STATEMENT.

Judge Street Finds Directors Entitled to $34,500.

Toronto, Dec. 29.—The executors of the estate of the late John J. Long are to pay the Northern Navigation Co. $34,500. Such was the judgment given out yesterday by Justice Street. That amount is made up of $30,000 with interest since 1902. The question as to whether the defendants will appeal from this judgment was stated last night to be under consideration.

The present board of directors alleged that in consequence of the inaccurate financial statement, made by J. J. Long, when president, a half-yearly dividend at 5 per cent. had been declared, and subsequent dividends, which amounted to $88,519.92. For the damage sustained from the withdrawal of this capital the company claimed $150,000.

That so far from there being a profit of $88,519.92, as represented by Mr. Long, there was but $57,568.85, a disparity of about $31,000, as shown by an experimental examination after Long had left for Europe. To bring the company up to the profit that had been alleged by the late president, the judge directs the estate to pay over the difference between the amounts, with interest at 5 per cent., from the end of 1902, up to the present time. That made up the amount of the judgment, $34,500. The judge believes that the directors would not have declared a dividend had not Long misstated the profits. The defendants have to disburse all the costs of the action.

G. A. Vandary, protested against the dumping act as a nuisance for the dry goods trade on the general and asked for a higher tariff on American hats.

Lorenzo Robertaille of the Eureka Distillery, Beauport, Que., asked for a prohibitive duty on acetic acid and protested against the indiscreet sale and use of wood alcohol.

Falls With Lighted Lamp.

Galt, Dec. 28.—H. M. Griffin of Struthers & Griffin, Beaver Manufacturing Co., had occasion to rise at 5 a. m to light a lamp. He fell, and the oil took fire. His legs were badly burned, and the inmates of the house saved his life by smothing the blaze with a rug.

A DIFFERENCE IN LUNGS.

In the Edinburgh University three human lungs lie side by side. One is of an Eskimo and is snow white. In life, this would be ruddy with rich blood. Another is that of a coal-miner and is black. The other is of a town dweller and is a dirty slate gray, as are the lungs of most city residents. That's why consumption thrives in cities.

One reason why Scott's Emulsion does so much to keep down consumption is because it helps to keep the lungs clean and supplies them with rich, red blood. It makes the lungs germ-resisting. If the body is run down and health is at a low ebb Scott's Emulsion will build it up quickly and permanently.

Combine Of The Tack Makers Is Being Probed

Another Conspiracy Charge Before Col. Denison.

FORMED TO CONTROL PRICES

Members of This Association Were Liable to Heavy Penalties For Breach of Resolutions—Some Names Withdrawn—Case Enlarged to Tuesday Next—More Plumbers Sent For Trial.

Toronto, Dec. 29.—Crown Attorney Curry yesterday announced his assault on the "tack" combine, in the Police Court before Magistrate Denison. The interest taken in this case does not equal that shown by the public in the plumbers' cases, four men and a policeman composed the audience, outside of the few who were there on business.

Following are the defendants: Thos. Jenkins, James Hardy, accountants, Toronto; E. J. Fry, J. C. Robertson, W. Bruckhoff, of the Portland Rolling Mills Co., St. John, N. B.; H. M. Blaicklock, W. H. Woodhall, J. E. Kinghorn, A. H. Hough, W. McMaster, Montreal Rolling Mills Co.; F. W. Knowlton, United Shoe Machinery Co., Montreal; F. H. Whitton, Ontario Tack Co., Hamilton; T. E. Peck, W. T. Cumming, The Peck Penny Co., Montreal; George Boyd, Pillow, Hersey Co.; Montreal.

The charge is conspiring, combining, agreeing and arranging with certain corporations and other persons to unduly limit the production and manufacturing, supplying and dealing in tacks.

Some Names Withdrawn.

These names were also on the list of those to be tried, but charges were withdrawn: J. Mowat (in British Columbia), E. Perkins (in the United States), J. H. Peck (dead), G. A. MacAgy (dead), M. A. Irwin (employe), James Pender, J. C. Robinson, R. Hersey, and W. W. Weir.

The most of the day was taken up by Mr. Curry reading from the minute books of the Tack Association. A clerk from the office of Jenkins and Hardy, was in the witness box, for the purpose of identifying books and papers, which were put in as evidence.

W. N. Tilley represented the defendants, and on their behalf entered a plea of not guilty. Mr. Hardy was also present.

The most important facts brought out were, that the association was formed in Montreal in 1892, and was composed of the Pillow, Hersey Co., Montreal Rolling Mills Co., Peck Berry Co., and the Ontario Tack Co. Subsequently these were joined by the Jas. Pender Co., the Portland Rolling Mills Co., and W. D. Woodhall & Co. At the first meeting, W. McMaster was elected president, T. H. Whitton vice-president, and A. and T. Jenkins secretary and treasurer.

To Regulate Prices.

The association was formed for the purpose of regulating prices, and the sale of tacks. An agreement was made for one year. Members were only to sell to bona fide agents, and that no subterfuge was to be used to make sales. Monthly statements were to be rendered to the secretary, showing amount of sales, by each firm. The Jenkins firm were to have access to the books of the firms at any time. Each firm was also bound by a penalty of $300, to be forfeited in case the monthly returns were not made, and also for other breaches of the agreement. A sworn declaration was also made, as to the amount of monthly purchases.

The investigation adjourned until Tuesday next.

More Plumbers Committed.

The remainder of the morning sitting was occupied in finishing off the evidence against the defendants in the Isolation Hospital bonus case, in which the following defendants were alleged to have received $500 in bonuses (since paid back) from the City Council:—Henry Hogarth, W. J. McGuire, G. F. McGuire, R. W. Harrison, Charles Robertson, Joseph Wright, Watson Mashinter, Jas. H. Wilson, Francis R. Maxwell, Herbert Johnson, Geo. Wallis, Geo. Clapperton, Wm. Mamsell and W. J. Williamson. After the evidence given by Secretary W. H. Meredith, the defendants were then all committed for trial.

Crown Attorney Curry intimated that there were other cases in which he would lay informations when business of the court was slack.

MR. DUMBLE REPLIES.

To the Editor of the Examiner,—

Sir, — My attention has been called to a letter of Mr. H. P. Kennedy in Wednesday's Examiner, headed "Mr. Dumble's Attitude."

'Tis true, sir, that I strongly disapprove of the actions of the School Board in reference to the painting and heating contracts, which resulted in adding $3,000 to the debenture debt of the city, and the substitution of an ineffective heating apparatus for one which was more effective, and which, with a trifling expenditure, is now doing good service in the works of the Cordage Company. The fine boiler made by the William Hamilton Manufacturing Company, was repaired for $65, and is as good as ever, while the effective coils were displaced by fancy radiators, which do not heat, and two rooms formerly heated by the old system are now heated with stoves.

'Tis true, also, that I did not approve of the payment of $30,000 for three acres of the church property, with a school building charged to the town at not less than $9,500, for $30 per frontage foot was the outside value of the land; at that price the land, with its 684 feet of frontage, would come to $20,520, leaving $9,480 as the price charged for the building. I objected to the price paid, but, most of all, I objected to the reckless waste of $9480 by the conveyance to the Government of the south lots with the school building, when the Government would as readily have taken the north lots.

As an inducement to influence the people, it was stated by trustees, and published in the local papers, that the Separate school building could be utilized for Public school purposes — thus saving the $500 a year paid for the Mennies property; and it was stated that the gymnasium and the drill sergeant of the armoury could be utilised for the pupils, and the drill grounds of the armoury and the play grounds of the school could be used in common.

Well, sir, the people generously voted the $50,000 for the Institute, and at once the bargain was closed with the church, and on April 15th the six lots were conveyed to the town, and the $30,000 paid over.

Then there was a meeting of the committee of the Board with one from the Council, when the Board submitted their plan.

The south lots, with the one on which the drill shed stands, were to be conveyed to the Government for their $10,000, and the north four lots were to be conveyed to the Board, the buildings to be placed at the front, and the back lots to be a parade ground and play ground for the pupils. The Mayor and committee did not feel at liberty to demur to the programme of the trustees, so a deputation from the Board and Council waited on the Minister of Militia at Ottawa, and made the proposal to him. He accepted it, only insisting that the Government must have an absolute unconditional deed.

Mr. J. J. Hartley timidly asked if the land were conveyed would the Government allow the brick in the old school to be used by the contractor for the inner walls of the Institute building? The Minister refused to bind himself. So the deputation came home, and on the 27th day of May the Mayor, at the request of the Board, conveyed to the Government the Separate school building and the four south lots. Up to this time no lots have been conveyed to the Board.

I understand that the representative of the Government insists that the two westerly lots on McDonel street must be conveyed to the Government. It will be for the Board to protect the citizens against this demand.

I strictly condemn the sacrifice of the large and substantial separate school building.

I asked a number of the trustees why they did it. Not one of them claims that the Government insisted on it, but they say McDonel street is the better street, and Mr. Kennedy says it would never do to have that building in proximity to the $100,000 plate glass and quartered-oak building he had intended to erect had not the people so stupidly prevented him.

The Town Council, without dissent, appointed a committee to meet the School Board with a view to asking the Government to exchange lands and thus save the separate school for the town, but the School Board treated the matter with contempt and refused to meet the committee of the Council. The military element on the Board had determined that the school should come down, and they appear to have ruled the Board.

Now, sir, these were my charges, and Mr. Kennedy, instead of refuting them, thinks he answers them by resorting to his usual habit of personal abuse.

When the School Board advertised for lands I advised them of some I had which might suit them. That was not a crime, it was what they asked. I had no power to make them buy, but Mr. Kennedy, having breathed an atmosphere of graft for some time, asks publicly if I am seeking election to the Board in order to sell my property to the Board. Is that worthy of a pure-minded man, or does it suggest one who too readily conceives an opportunity for graft? Mr. Kennedy is young and impulsive, but he should learn by this time that personal abuse never answers an argument.

Then Mr. Kennedy asks where I got my information that Mr. Hartley while a member of the Board, and in a position to vote in support of his personal interests, tendered at $70,000 for a part of the work on the new building, and asserts that he knew nothing of it.

It is of no consequence where I got the information. I got it. The School Board knew it, and it is a fact which I can substantiate if needs be. 'Tis true, he did not tender in his own name, but he was jointly interested in the tender sent in.

Mr. Editor, in speaking so plainly of matters that are a source of regret, I do not wish to be personal. There were mistakes. Perhaps too much confidence was placed in some members of the Board,—there was gross error of judgment. These things in public men discharging a public trust are public property, open for criticism and discussion by the people. It will be an evil day when the people do not jealously watch the conduct of public servants, and fearlessly condemn either when, either through wrong-doing, negligence, or bad management, they sacrifice the people's interests or betray the people's trust.

To serve the people on the Board is not a gratification of any ambition. It is at best a thankless task, but the duties of citizenship impose some obligations, and to try and serve the people, I am willing to go on the Board, where I served so long. It is for the people on Monday next to express thier approval of my course. Their verdict I will accept with equal cheerfulness, whether I am elected or left at home.

I am, Sir,

Your Obedient Servant,

D. W. DUMBLE.

A COINED WORD.

To the Editor of the Examiner,—

Dear Sir, — Will the Examiner kindly inform its readers if the word "Canadonians," as applied to the series of excellent cartoons, now appearing on its first page, is a typographical error for Canadians, or a newly-coined word. I confess to have never seen the word previously.

CURIOSITY.

For "Curiosity's information, it may be said that the word "Canadonians" is coined. It is the product of the Canadian Cartoonists' Association, by whom it is copyrighted.

ANSWER TO REV. MR. POTTER.

Dear Sir,—I would claim a few inches of your valuable paper to shortly refer to a letter in last night's Examiner from Rev. Jas. G. Potter.

In my humble opinion this clergyman has every right to take up the subject of temperance and preach it to his congregation or the world at large, it is, in fact, his right as being, presumably, part of the work for which he draws his pay, and tends towards advancing his chance for a future call.

One thing in the reverend gentleman's letter, however, is deserving of serious comment. In speaking of the recent generous gift made this week by the Peterborough License Holders' Protective Association to the Children's Shelter, the reverend gentleman's only attitude is a sneering ingratitude towards them, who, let their faults be what they may, have given nearly $50 towards a charity above reproach, and is a direct slander absolutely impossible of complete corroboration.

The reverend writer charges that the children of this house are (inferentially without exception) "the products of the Peterborough License Holders' Protective Association." As a member of the association I might say, that the association could take legal action to compel proof or an apology. The last (or possibly second to last) child admitted to the shelter, was admitted after wandering about Manitoba to escape a cruel step-father. In such matters, however, the reverend gentleman, not only flings charges impossible of substantiation, but brings a slanderous assertion against an association, some of whom in private and family matters are as respectable as the writer, and who certainly are as quick to respond to calls for aid towards charity as any class of the community. In reference to names of objectionable license holders, the reverend writer says a certain license holder "gave me the names of other houses violating the law continuously." This statement of the reverend writer, is evidently a result of treacherous memory; was it not the reverend gentleman who gave the names to the license holder referred to? When making charges like this, would not the reverend gentleman be more discreet to think before he writes?

J. M. BROOKS.

A REPLY TO DR. GRAY.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I don't agree with Dr. Gray's diagnosis of the fire system question. In giving prominence to the fire insurance feature he is merely treating symptoms, a form of empiricism. We don't particularly care about the quality of our fire insurance. We want something more radical—we want something that will prevent our homes, our business places and our factories from being destroyed by fire, thus making them independent of, to a large extent, fire insurance. With a good fire fighting system, we should be comparatively free from fires, and that is the condition we should aim at. With a fire, no matter what the insurance there is generally a loss and that is what we want to avoid. Fire insurance may lessen the loss of the owner of a factory; but will it help the employees of a factory thus thrown out of employment? Let us insure against fire by providing an equipment which will prevent fires assuming any great proportions. That's the best kind of insurance to prevent fires; and the premiums are low—65 or 70 cents per 1,000, while the fire insurance rate is 80, 90 or 100 per $1,000 and will be greater soon unless the city provides a properly equipped fire department.

Yours, etc.

ALLOPATH.

Mr. Mitchell's Greeting.

I take pleasure in extending my holiday greeting to all my customers, and to thank them especially for the unusually large patronage received during Christmas week. The feature of our trade on Christmas Saturday was the sending up of nine extra cash boys to keep the water mark. We have still a complete assortment of first-class groceries, etc., for New Year's shoppers.

Yours truly,

F. J. R. MITCHELL.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

Israel Zangwill's "Serio-Comic Governess," presented last night at the Grand was one of the most attractive theatrical presentations given since the opening of the theatre. Clean, bright and catchy throughout, it was a general appreciation. The attendance was large, and Manager Bradburn of the Opera House, is to be heartily commended for his astute judgment in securing for his patrons a performance of such a high order of merit. That Peterborough should by no means be classed as a "ten, twenty, thirty," show town has been demonstrated on the occasions of the presentation of performances of the order of last night's, and the theatregoers have not been slow in manifesting their appreciation.

The plot of the "Serio-Comic Governess" has been altered in some particulars since it's original presentation, but this has been altogether in the direction of increased attractiveness. The choruses last night were rendered with vivacity of movement which made them irresistible. The bright mots and witty repartee which scintillate throughout, were far above those of the ordinary comedy in subtleness of humour, and in delicacy of conception.

Miss Nellie Beaumont, in the role of Eileen O'Keefe, was charmingly versatile, and won a general appreciation. Her acting, both in its comedy and its dramatic aspects was equally graceful and pleasing.

The character of Jack Doherty of the Irish Guards, was cleverly presented by Mr. R. Whittier, while Richard F. Carroll as Montmorency Josephs made a decided hit. His presentation of the tribulations of the character from an executive standpoint were irresistibly funny.

The songs were melodious and tuneful, the hit of the evening being made, however, in "A Pic-nic For Two." The soft cadences of the old Irish favourites with the incidental dances were excellently rendered. The dance in the third act was an audience winner as were also those of the chorus.

"The Way of the Transgressor," which is announced to appear at the Grand Opera House to-morrow December 30, matinee and night, is a stirring story of life in America, in which the curtain falls on every act with an intensely dramatic climax. All of the dialogue in the play is terse, the comedy is pure and wholesome, and all of the situations are stirring and effective. It is safe to say that no play has a finer or more expensive scenic equipment. Each one of the four acts is provided with a massive and beautiful setting. The play is produced by a capable cast of clever people, and in addition to the acting company there is a corps of specialists who will introduce many novel and exclusive features never seen with any other show. The four Landseer dogs, which were educated and developed by William T. Stephens, are also with this company, and they will play parts with a dash and brilliancy that will astound everyone who sees them.

I would respectfully ask the ratepayers of Peterborough for a share of their votes in the coming municipal elections for aldermen.

If honoured by election I shall do my share in assisting to give Peterborough an honest and economical civic administration.

I consider that our city should endeavour to materially increase the number of our local factories. At the same time I believe all factories seeking assistance in any form, from Peterborough, should give a tangible guarantee that they will keep their end of any arrangement made with this city.

Premier Gives Sugar-Coated Pill To Joseph

Sir Henry Bannerman Attacks the Chamberlain Proposals.

FISCAL POLICY APOLOGETIC

The Preference Must Inevitably Fetter Freedom—Would Lead to a Return of Disraeli's Complaint That the Colonies Were Tied Like Millstones About the Mother Country's Neck—Disruptive Policy.

London, Dec. 30.—The Premier Thursday night in a speech at Dunfermline, Scotland, dealt at length for the first time with the fiscal question, and made the important declaration that the chief issue before the people was the fiscal one—was one of free trade or protection.

In opening he criticized Mr. Balfour, who, he alleged, was trying to shirk the issue by facing both ways on the fiscal question, pretending to disguise protection under the mantle of retaliation. Yet retaliation had some of the worst disadvantages of protection and lacked the advantages of a consistent policy.

"But, after all," he continued, "it is not to Balfour that we look; it is to Chamberlain. It is from him that the party of tariff reform receives its marching orders, and our duty as free traders is to concentrate our forces against this great antagonist who offers to us in exchange for our present system an empire based on food taxes and an industrial system cockered up with tariffs, a system of public finance in which revenues are diverted to interests and individuals.

Apologetic Propaganda.

"There is an aspect of his propaganda which has struck me, and that is its apologetic character. If it is so meet a thing that is to be offered to us, why wrap it in sugar? I should have thought that a plan which is to secure payment of all taxes by foreigners stood in no need of this extraneous commendation. I can imagine no idea more popular with every class of society and more likely to win votes at a general election than that foreigners should pay all our taxes for us, but I am not sure that Mr. Chamberlain has not misunderstood the nature of the British Empire.

"What does he mean when he talks of the empire and its self-governing colonies with a population of some twelve million? He is not thinking of India, with three hundred millions of people and a policy of free trade, nor of other possessions beyond the seas, which have also a free trade policy, but simply and solely he is thinking of the relations subsisting between the mother country and the self-governing colonies.

An Advantageous Principle.

"On what principle have self-governing colonies developed since the happy day when we put an end to the old colonial system maintained on the duel basis of colonial preference and Downing street intervention? On the principle of self-government and liberty, including complete fiscal liberty — a principle adopted to the incalculable advantage both of Great Britain and Greater Britain, a principle which alone could have admitted of the development of a great confederation of free States, which we rejoice to see.

Think Twice and Thrice.

"You had better think twice and thrice before you replace a bond which does not fret or gall by one which, though to the eye may appear to present a greater evidence of unity must inevitably fetter that freedom upon which our successful colonial policy rests. Above all, beware of a tie which may prove so irksome and burdensome to the people of our motherland as would lead them to complain, as Disraeli complained in the old days before the reform of the colonial system, that the colonies were tied like millstones about our neck.

Wish Colonies Well.

"That, as I believe, is the disaster to which the adoption of Chamberlain's policy must lead, and I see no reason for embarking on such a policy. It is a disruptive policy, for what greater strain could you impose on us than the identification of the Empire with dear food of all sorts. In saying this we are actuated by sentiments towards the colonies no less cordial than those of our opponents. We wish the colonies well; we wish to see them brought closer and closer to one another, and to the mother country, and rejoice to know that at the present moment there is no cloud on the colonial horizon.

"Nothing can persuade us to indulge in the vain dream that an empire is isolated, self-maintained, self-subsisting from the ramparts of which we and those who come after us are to look down on the rest of the world as from the great wall of China.

Fight Exclusiveness.

"Against this doctrine of exclusiveness, jealousy and suspicion we Liberals and free traders are pledged to fight to the utmost, and we claim to be fighting for what are the only conditions upon which a free people can keep itself in communication with its kith and kin beyond the seas, and at the same time maintain itself in friendly relations with its neighbors.

"Now, these are the issues which will be put before you at the general election—these and no others."

Mr. Balfour's Address.

This was the strong declaration made by A. J. Balfour before the Queen's Hall audience last night in refuting the charge that he wanted to keep the free trade question in the background. "When returned to power," he went on, "there it is that the Conservative party will find its greatest field of exercise. It is not easy, but that does not prove it isn't worth doing. I am quite confident it can be done if you, the electors, interest yourselves in a policy the object of which is the promotion of the commercial prosperity and the consolidation of the Colonial Empire.

Touches Every Imagination.

"The fiscal question has behind it something that touches the imagination of every citizen of the Empire. The other side has never attempted to answer the broad arguments; they grasped at party catchwords."

In opening, Mr. Balfour argued at length that the present Government was pledged to home rule for Ireland. "Will you," he asked, "have home rule or fiscal reform?"—(Loud cries, "Fiscal reform.")—"Put in its simplest form," he concluded, "that is the issue before the country." Mr. Balfour made no mention of Mr. Chamberlain, but the name of "Chamberlain" was included in the mottoes on the wall. At the opening Sidney Jarvis, a Canadian, sang a campaign song entitled "Unite."

No Home Rule.

Sir Edward Grey, the Foreign Secretary, speaking to his constituents at Belford, Northumberland, yesterday, said that the carrying out of Mr. Chamberlain's policy would mean the ruin of the national prosperity.

He assured his audience the Liberals had no intention of granting home rule, but that they hoped to do much for Ireland. With regard to Chinese labor, he said the stoppage of the importation of Chinese would be followed by the establishment of a responsible Government in the Transvaal, which would put the colony on an equal footing with other South African colonies.

Congratulate Chamberlain.

London, Dec. 30.—(C. A. P.)—The West Birmingham Unionists, have again nominated Mr. Chamberlain and in a resolution congratulated him on the "courage and energy with which he has addressed himself to amending the fiscal system, which is no longer adapted to the present needs of the national industries."

Mr. Chamberlain, in a letter to the East Bedford candidate, says two shillings a quarter on foreign corn would not be a heavy price to pay for preference on Bradford manufacturers, which it is in the power of the great colonies to give us and which would secure for the woolen trade command of their ever growing markets. A tax on foreign corn alone while home and colonial products are entirely free will have no effect on the price of bread.

DEATH OF C. T. YERKES.

Noted Railroad Financier Passes After Six Weeks Illness.

New York, Dec. 30.—Chas. T. Yerkes the noted railway financier of Chicago and London, died yesterday in his apartments at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, where he had been ill for more than six weeks. Mr. Yerkes suffered from a complication of diseases.

Speyer & Co., the New York banking firm which had much to do with the local financing of Mr. Yerkes' affairs yesterday made the following statement: "The death of Mr. Yerkes is particularly sad, coming at a time when his great work in London Underground was rapidly approaching completion and important portions of it were being put in operation.

"Mr. Yerkes' failing health had warned him, and the bankers associated with the enterprise that arrangements should be made for relieving him of a portion of his work, or for completing and carrying it on in case of his death. These arrangements have been perfected and will be announced at the proper time."

27 Families Homeless.

Minneapolis, Minn., Dec. 30.—One person is dead, three were seriously burned and fifteen injured by smoke in a fire in the Higgins' tenements Twenty-seven families fled shivering and half smothered into the streets, with the temperature 10 degrees below zero. They lost everything they possessed and were made homeless. The fire resulted from an explosion of an oil stove in the apartments of Mrs. Buckliff, who was burned to death.

To Fight Extradition.

Winnipeg, Man., Dec. 30.—Wm. Latimer, the fugitive manager of the Philadelphia Provident Investment Bureau, was in the Calgary police court Thursday and was remanded on bail to await the arrival of the Montreal police officers and Pinkerton men who are en route. He has employed two firms of lawyers and will not only resist being taken back to Philadelphia, but also any effort to get him to Montreal.

Buckingham Hotel Burned.

Buckingham, Que., Dec 30.—The Crystal Hotel was completely destroyed by fire at 3 o'clock yesterday morning. Other sufferers were Abram Assad, merchant; F. Philbert, plumber, and Rod Leger, photographer. The residence of Miss Ackert was on fire several times from flying embers. The fire worked its way into the Palace Hotel stables, but was extinguished after a stubborn fight.

King's Assailant Free.

Ghent, Belgium, Dec. 30.—Jean Baptiste Sipido, who in 1900 fired at the Prince of Wales (now King Edward) as his train was pulling out of the northern station at Brussels, on the way to Copenhagen, has been released from the reformatory to which he was sentenced and enrolled in the army ambulance corps.

Presbyterians Unite.

St. Louis, Mo., Dec. 30.—After a division of ninety-five years, steps were consummated yesterday at a joint session of general committees which, if formally ratified by the general assemblies, will unite the Presbyterian Church, U.S.A., and the Cumberland Presbyterian Church.

Saved From Asphyxiation.

Montreal, Dec. 30.—In order to save themselves from a terrible death by asphyxiation a number of firemen last night smashed two elaborate stained glass windows in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, of which Rev. Dr. Barclay is pastor. The fire did not amount to much, but the smoke was very dense. The windows smashed were known as the "Samuel" and the "Donald Ross."

A CHARGE OF FRAUD.

Ex-Manager of Canadian Finance Co. in Custody.

Montreal, Dec. 30.—Max Roth, the ex-manager of the Montreal office of the Canadian Finance Co., was arrested yesterday afternoon by Detective Sears, on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses, the charge being laid by Sylva Naud. Mr. Roth was accompanied by a friend when taken in charge and merely requested that he be acquainted with the charge against him. The Provincial Department of Justice has taken charge of the offices of the company.

High Constable Clee Mate seized everything there was in the offices on a warrant, sworn out by a victim named Naud, who charges the Canadian Finance Co. with obtaining money under false pretences, and who also requested that a search warrant be issued for further proof of fraud.

The warrants were signed by Judge Chouquet, at the request of the Joint Crown Attorneys, Messrs. Guerin and Lafontaine.

Noted Inventor Arrested.

Bridgeport, Conn., Dec. 30.—George W. Cornwell, until recently treasurer of the Wheeler and Wilcox Manufacturing Co., and an inventor of note, was arrested yesterday on the charge of theft of United States bonds, and jewelry to the total value of $11,000. Walton Sent For Trial.

Toronto, Dec. 30.—In the Police Court yesterday, A. R. Walton was sent for trial for obtaining goods by fraud, by using a letter of introduction given him by Senator Cox, who explained that Walton was brought to his house by Dr. Goldsmith of Belleville. There was nothing in the letter to warrant anyone giving credit on the strength of it.

Thrown Into Ditch.

Utica, N. Y., Dec. 30.—By the spreading of rails on the New York & Ottawa Railroad, between Bay Pond and Derrick, the engine tender and two passenger coaches of a train were thrown bottom up in the ditch. Her New Year's Eve Surprise

SHE sat with the letter in her hand. It was addressed in her grandfather's handwriting. What could it contain except an affectionate message proposing a reconciliation? She had known the letter would come, though Tom had laughed at her for having such notions.

"Why not look at it in a common sense way?" Tom used to say. "You know that he always detested me, and I don't know that I blame him. I married you against his express orders, and he cast you off."

Nevertheless she had been convinced that he would relent—some day. On New Year's eve her expected and Tom's unexpected had happened.

She went on sitting with the letter in her hand. It was two years—two years and a month—since he had renounced her, and, though she had written to him often, she had never received a line until now. What could have induced him to change? She could not remember that she had said anything peculiarly calculated to turn his heart in her last letter and wished she had kept a copy of it that she might consult it now. Could he, her grandfather, have seen Katty in the streets and been struck by her young loveliness and childish innocence? She pictured Katty, lying in her perambulator and being wheeled by nurse along Kensington High street, suddenly confronted by the tall, old man with the big eyebrows and the hard face. Perhaps a tear had sprung to his eye unbidden (as tears do in novels) and he had asked nurse whose child that was that moved him so strangely. Why had not nurse told her?

"OH, TOM," SHE SAID, "IT'S A LETTER—FROM HIM!"

She half rose to ring for nurse, but sat down again, as it occurred to her after all perhaps it was not Katty who had moved him. Certainly he had always detested babies. Then—how about one of Tom's articles? Suppose he had read one of them and been struck by the rich style and profound insight into literature and life that it betrayed. "Good heavens!" he might have said. "I have been mistaken in this young man after all. This is not, as I supposed and said, rubbishy stuff, but art—genius!" Unfortunately—as she reflected almost immediately—nothing would ever have induced the old man to look into any of the magazines for which Tom wrote. He seldom read anything but the financial column in his daily paper and (occasionally) the law reports.

The only possible explanation left was that he had come to desire a reconciliation by natural processes. He had felt his years increasing and looked forward to a lonely old age, contentedly enough in the first transports of his anger, but as the months went by the prospect of living forever solitary became more painful—became at last intolerable. He had felt that he must look once more upon his nearest and dearest, as she was undoubtedly entitled to consider herself and Katty, if not Tom—and it was to mention this fact that he had written. Probably he would not have confessed it as straightforwardly as that. He would be sure to approach the subject in a roundabout way, not giving in to all appearance, writing in a matter of fact or even cool way, but yielding all the same. The letter would contain a suggestion that she and perhaps Katty (not Tom at first) should call on him. It might even be that he thought of looking in soon—maybe tomorrow. Why, of course, tomorrow. Tomorrow was New Year's day.

She still sat with the letter in her hand, building castles. He would learn to love Katty as soon as Katty had cut her teeth anyhow. He would in course of time even learn to love Tom. Would he ask them all to live with him in Russell square? Would Tom accept if he did? It would be safer on the whole not to. It would be decidedly nicer to be allowed five or six hundred a year and a separate residence. Tom and he were not made to appreciate one another. With five hundred a year in addition to what Tom earned (and she almost wished for the moment that Tom was a beggar—it would be so much more romantic) they would have a week end cottage in Surrey and a parlor maid and perhaps"—

"What are you thinking about?" said Tom, who entered at that moment.

She quivered with excitement.

"Oh, Tom," she said, "it's a letter—from him!"

"Have you opened it?" asked Tom.

"No."

"Well, I should if I were you. And, my dear," added Tom, who for a literary man was singularly devoid of illusions, "for goodness' sake, don't expect anything from that old curmudgeon."

"But I'm sure that"— She did not finish her sentence for indignation. Inside the envelope were all her letters—her fond letters of the past two years—unopened. Scribbled across the top of the uppermost letter were the words: "Useless to waste stamps like this. You never could write well enough to be read in any case." Not another word. She could have killed him. And Tom would only laugh.—R. E. Vernede in Black and White.

NEW YEAR'S DAY.

Why It Falls on the 1st of January Instead of March 1 or April 1.

Why is New Year's day Jan. 1? On the face of it the Chinese method of beginning in April, when nature wakes up from the winter, appears more appropriate. The Romans in the earlier days of the republic were of the same opinion and commenced their year on March 1. September, October, November and December were then in actual fact the seventh, eighth, ninth and tenth months, as their names would still have them. Nevertheless the present reckoning of the year is of respectable age. The change was first made in the year 153 B. C. simply because the consuls assumed office on Jan. 1, and it was the custom to call each year after the consuls then in power.

The January convention fell into disuse in the time of the Merovingians, who returned to the 1st of March. Under Charlemagne, as had been formerly the case with the Gauls, the year began at Christmas. In England March 25 became New Year's day soon after the Norman conquest and remained so until the Gregorian calendar was adopted in 1752. Indeed the chancellor of the exchequer and those who depend on him still observe the old Chinese year.—Pearson's Weekly.

New Year's Day In Gay Paree

IT is in Paris that New Year's day—le jour de l'an—receives its most complete observance. Christmas has for centuries been the great feast day of the Anglo-Saxon, Christmas with its roast beef and turkey and plum pudding and all the rest of it that everybody knows so well. Paris, too has Christmas, but a Christmas that plays only second fiddle to the more widely celebrated jour de l'an.

As for the day itself—that is, the day outside, the weather—New Year's day in Paris generally is bleak, muddy foggy, drizzling. Thousands stand shivering in patent leather shoes and dress suits waiting for the empty cabs that never seem to come. But in the house where one calls there are light, warmth and cordiality.

Calling is the great distinctive feature of the day. Everybody mutually makes calls and receives calls. They run out to leave their cards on somebody and dash back to receive the visit of somebody else.

The president of the French republic and the military governor of Paris receive in great and gorgeous state. Their receptions are formal, ceremonious, impressive and make a sight to see. Outside the Elysee and the Invalides the patient Parisians crowd by the thousands to await the advent of the generals in their uniforms, the diplomats in their regalias, the decorated ones who sport the collars and the ribbons of their orders; the extraordinary municipal council of Paris in their funereal dress suits, the deputies and senators and all the functionaries of the military and civil branches.

While this takes place all the official world beneath is even more laboriously occupied. You cannot look out the window in Paris without seeing a government functionary or his wife. The civil service is systematized so minutely that five clerks do the work of one. One voter in every ten is a government clerk, and every clerk stands ranged in his own rank, with his superiors, inferiors and equals well marked out, his tenure sure, his duties fixed.

On New Year's day every immediate inferior must call upon his immediate superior. That is, after hurrying to call upon your chief, you must hurry back to receive the call of your assistant. In business houses managers, head bookkeepers, confidential clerks, and so on, leave their first cards on the members of the firm. Then they scatter cards upon each other like a snowfall.

Where everybody calls on everybody everybody cannot call on the same day. Visits of simple politeness, therefore, begin on the 2d of January and last through the month. Now, as every one detests the drudgery of it, the leaving of one's card in person first came to be looked upon as an acceptable substitute for a real visit. In the hurry it will not be noticed if you send your clerk or valet out distributing. For such cards as may be sent by mail the procedure has become a system.

At the postoffice a special service for the handling of these cards is organized made up of women hired from the middle of December. In the sixth story, underneath the roof of the central Paris postoffice building, a great hall runs its length. Here 300 women sit at counters, classifying the little envelopes all day long. The cards begin to come as early as Dec. 10, and they continue passing through the post as late as Jan. 10.

By that date 9,000,000 cards will have been handled for the capital alone. Some people hire clerks to post their acquaintances' books during the month that the cards are flying. Others have their poor relations come and do the work for them.—Montreal Star.

Each Day a White Page.

The new year is not present with us, only a new day. So it will be continually; we shall see but one day at a time. If each day is lived aright, the whole year will be right; if each day is wrong, the year will be wrong. Each day is a white page, to be written. Write it beautifully, and the book of the year will be beautiful.—J. H. Bliss.

China's New Year.

China's new year is governed by the changes of the moon and falls in the early days of February. It is called "rounding the year" and is a great feature of both commercial and religious affairs. All debts are religiously paid. It is an important article of his creed that no right minded Chinaman can enjoy the sacred festival if he have debts that any effort can wipe out. Therefore a man will starve his family for weeks to meet his obligations, and, that not sufficing, he will become a thief and a highwayman to accomplish the end. As the old year closes the Chinamen have their great family feasts, with solemn sacrifices to the spirits of their dead ancestors, whom they account their guests. The loyal son in a foreign land will make every effort to reach the paternal roof in time to join in the ancestral worship. This new year feast is to the Chinaman what the Passover is to the orthodox Jew.

Elizabeth's New Year's Gifts.

It was during the reign of Queen Elizabeth that the custom of making New Year's gifts was at its zenith—in fact, the virgin queen depended upon her New Year's presents for the "replenishing of her royal wardrobe and jewelry." It is on record that after receiving a pair of silk stockings from a serving woman on New Year's day, 1561, she "never wore cloth hose any more." "Though Elizabeth made returns to the New Year's gifts in plate and other articles," says Brand, "yet she took sufficient care that the balance of profit should be in her own favor." He closes a list of jewels, costly articles of apparel, provisions, etc., with the information that even "Smyth, the royal dustman, testified his loyalty by two bolts of cambric."—St. James' Gazette.

Announcing the New Year.

It is estimated that a series of time signals sent out last New Year eve by the naval observatory in Washington was transmitted, within a very few seconds over 300,000 miles of wire, so that the transmitting clock was practically heard from Sitka to Buenos Ayres and from England to the Philippines, Australia and New Zealand. Indeed, had it not been for pressure of traffic on account of the disturbed condition of affairs in the far east, it might have been heard around the world, and with the improvement of extension of the use of wireless telegraphy the time may come when such a signal can be heard in every continent and over every ocean almost instantaneously.

What is claimed to be the highest structure of the kind in the world is the bridge over the Zambesi at the Victoria falls, in northern Rhodesia, Africa. It traverses the river in one span of 600 feet, is 30 feet wide and 420 feet above the water. It was built in 1904 by an English company for the Rhodesian railway trust.

A New Year Toast "Here's Hopin'!"

YEAR ain't been the very best—
Purty hard by trouble pressed;
But the rough way leads to rest—
Here's hopin'!

Maybe crops was short; the rills
Couldn't turn the silent mills;
But the light's behind the hills—
Here's hopin'!

Where we plant the roses sweet
Thorns come up and prick the feet;
But the old world's hard to beat—
Here's hopin'!

HERE'S HOPIN'!

P'raps the buildin' that we planned
'Gainst the cyclone couldn't stand;
But, thank God, we've got the land—
Here's hopin'!

Maybe flowers we hoped to save
Have been scattered on a grave;
But the heart's still beatin' brave—
Here's hopin'

That we'll see the mornin' light;
That the very darkest night
Can't hide heaven from our sight—
Here's hopin'!

The American New Year's Abroad.

While New Year's day means a great deal to Americans in their own country, it can hardly carry with it the patriotic glow of feeling that the American sojourner in all civilized countries abroad experiences on the 1st day of January, when he holds it his bounden duty to make a formal call at the house of America's official representative in the city where he resides. The occasion in London and Paris is more brilliant than in other foreign cities, for the reason that there are more of our countrymen in these two capitals. In the American colonies abroad you find all the Americans who have married foreigners calling at the ambassador's or consul's to pay their respects—even those who have forgotten how to talk United States or have lost their keen appreciation of the American humor which their more recently arrived compatriots are disseminating through the drawing rooms.—Washington Post.

The Pursuit of Happiness.

The man who begins on Jan. 1 to seek his own happiness is in fair way to miss it altogether. Happiness is an elusive sprite. The more she is pursued the swifter she flies. There is doubtless for those who make pleasure their business a sort of gratification in their diversions, though it can scarcely be called happiness. Happiness is not the chief object of our existence. As Beecher once put it, "Man was not made to be everlastingly fiddled on by the fingers of joy." Character is the end of life. Happiness is incidental. Let a man look well to the ordering of life in its relation to other lives, seeking to make them happy, and he will find himself wearing the garland.—Rev. Frank G. Tyrrell.

The Deacon's New Year's Discourse.

"This is the time o' year," said Deacon Blimber, "that lots o' folks wait fer, so they kin turn over a new leaf. Maybe they need to, bad enough, but what's the use? Them folks that's always turnin' over a new leaf at this time o' year mowt jest as well not do it, 'cause, so fer as I ever knowed, ther ain't none o' 'em but what starts in right away on the new leaf same's they did on the old un. Them that wants to turn over a new leaf an' keep it clean don't wait fer New Year's to come afore they do it."

A Familiar Superstition.

The familiar superstition that whatever you do on New Year's day you will do throughout the year is of ancient origin. The Roman workmen never failed to work a little on New Year's day, so that patronage would not be wanting throughout the year.

When He Swore Off.

He swore that he would smoke his last
Cigar on New Year's day.
No circumstance should tempt him from
His stern resolve to stray.

His fellows, straightway they began
That earnest man to josh.
They knew from long experience
That swearing off is bosh.

He kept his word. Those knowing men
They simply lost their bets.
Since New Year's day he has not smoked
A thing but cigarettes.

The New Bovril Premium "Little Lady Bountiful"

A beautiful gravure reproduction of Mr. Fred Morgan's charming Oil Painting, size 28½ inches by 19¾ inches, printed on fine plate paper 40 x 30 inches, with no advertising matter, is given Free to users of BOVRIL who save the coupons, one of which will be found over the neck of every bottle of BOVRIL.

This Bonus Picture must not be confused with cheap premium pictures. It is a work of art worthy a place in the most cultured home. The subject is extremely interesting.

On the grass in a charming woodland spot by a lake a mother and her three beautiful children have spread their picnic table cloth. Everything indicates wealth and health and happiness, the cake and fruit are served on choice china with snowy linen, and both mother and children are daintily attired. Standing apart and gazing with wondering, wistful eyes at the luncheon so temptingly spread, are a tiny girl and her tinier brother, barefoot and evidently less fortunate in worldly possessions. Prompted by her mother, the wee tot of the picnic party, with some of the best of the luncheon on a plate carried before her, is advancing toward the little ragged intruders, tendering with shy and gentle grace her offering. The little barefoot boy seems embarrassed yet delighted by this immediate prospect of good things and is shyly putting out a little brown hand to receive.

Fruit is good for you. Ripe figs are a splendid laxative to regulate the bowels. Prunes are good for stomach and liver. Orange juice is splendid for the nerves and sleeplessness. Apples heal the kidneys and increase the flow of urine. If apple juice be evaporated to a gray powder, 1-50 of a grain of this powder has the same action on the kidneys as half a pint of fresh apple juice. Two "Fruit-a-tives" tablets contain more than 1-50 of the medicinal part of apple juice, besides the healing, curative virtues of oranges, figs and prunes. More than that, "Fruit-a-tives" are concentrated and combined with tonics and antiseptics by a secret process which increases their powers over disease many times.

New Year's Mass For the Animals

"THE most poetical ceremony that I have ever witnessed," writes a correspondent of the New York Herald, "is the so called messe des animaux, or 'animals' mass,' which takes place every year on New Year's eve in the French department of the Cevennes or the 'Black Espinouze.' The scenery of these superb mountains, which in itself is extremely romantic, lends a peculiar charm to this simple and truly pastoral festival, given in honor of the herds of cattle which constitute the greatest riches of the inhabitants.

"I shall never forget the impression created on my mind by the scene which presented itself to my enraptured eyes on the New Year's eve when, accompanied by some friends who possess a hunting lodge in the Espinouze, I stood under the portico of a tiny graystone church and watched the flocks being led up the steep incline toward the plateau whereon the modest edifice is built. The church was a poor little tumbledown place, with lichen grown walls and a square, ungraceful steeple, the cracked bell of which was tolling frantically.

The edifice was crowded with stalwart mountaineers clad in their festive attire, each of them holding a lighted candle of coarse yellow wax, glimmering like tiny stars, and every man and woman singing the old Cevennese hymn beginning with the words, 'Night more beautiful than day.'

"In the meantime column after column of cattle advanced toward the church and, marshaled by their drivers, took their places in long files on the frozen turf in front of the wide open portico. They approached slowly, ponderously and solemnly, with a quasi bewildered expression at being turned out of their warm stables to face the bitter coldness of the bleak December night. The oxen came first, followed by the cows, sheep and goats in a continuous stream, and the rays of the full moon, which glittered high above us over the dark slopes of the mountains, shone on the long, polished horns and tawny hides of this strange congregation. Mass was celebrated with the customary pomp by the cure, a white haired and very venerable man, who appeared almost majestic in his heavy brocaded vestments, which must have been several hundred years old.

"When he at last had spoken the usual 'Ita missa est,' indicating that the sacred ceremony is over, instead of retiring to the vestry he once more lifted the host from the altar and, followed by the entire congregation, marched toward the portals, chanting the 'Magnificat' as he went. Upon reaching the steps of the church the old priest halted and, holding the sacred host high above his head, pronounced some words of benediction in a low but emphatic voice. The drivers and shepherds all fell upon their knees and with bowed heads murmured the responses, while an acolyte, armed with a holy water sprinkler, walked through the ranks of the now bellowing cattle, sprinkling them with the holy fluid. Whether the animals realized the solemnity of the occasion or not, all those which had hitherto been lying down arose to their feet, as if to listen to the short but impressive allocution addressed to the drivers by the venerable cure.

"'My children,' he said, 'God, in his great goodness and mercy, sends his unworthy servant here to bless your flocks, so that, according to an ancient custom of our mountains, the animals which help you to live should be associated in the religious rejoicings heralding the advent of a new year. Let us therefore sing together a loud hosanna in praise of the Lord, who is ever so merciful and lenient to us poor sinners.'

"Like a peal of thunder the grand melody echoed from hill to hill in the clear night air, sung by hundreds of throats, and rolled majestically to the very confines of the horizon. The startled animals bellowed louder and united their powerful voices to the concert. It was grand and weird beyond description. As the last note died away the cortege began to move, the priest re-entering the church while the animals slowly wended their way toward the valley in the same order as they had come."

Letting the New Year In.

The custom of "letting the new year in" to a house is still prevalent in the northern counties of England, a ceremony which should be performed, says popular superstition of the district, by a dark man if the household wish to enjoy good luck during the year to come. In the writer's Lancashire home the practice is still observed. Before the new year is ten minutes old a tradesman, raven black of hair and beard and engaged for the purpose, pulls the front door bell, declares his identity and steps into the hall with the greeting, "I wish everybody in this house a happy New Year!" The superstition further demands that he should walk through the house—i. e., leave by the back door—and give and receive a present, generally a packet of sweets on the one side and something rather more satisfactory and acceptable on the other.

New Year's Gifts of Old Rome.

Honey, figs, dates and a small piece of money were ordinarily given by the Romans at the New Year's festival, symbolizing the sweetness with which the year was to begin. On the emperor costly gifts were lavished by the patricians. The custom of giving presents to the emperor was kept up for days after New Year proper and became such a drain on the purses of the nobles that Tiberius made a law forbidding the giving of New Year's gifts except on the calends of January.

Mr. Pepys' Wassail Bowl.

That rare old gossip, Mr. Pepys, tells us in his diary how on New Year's day, 1661, he was offered the wassail bowl by a damsel who sang for him "very sweetly," it being often customary for the wassail lassies to sing appropriate songs while the wassail was being quaffed. The wassail bowls which the girls carried were often prettily adorned with ribbons and garlands.

The Greek Christmas.

New Year's day takes the place of Christmas in the Greek church so far as the giving of presents is concerned. The father of a family usually gives money to his wife and children on this holiday.

A New Year Thought.

Ah, friends, it were better for pleasure to fret not!
If our lives are but noble, our souls but sincere,
What matters the rest, though we get or we get not
"A Happy New Year?"

—I. Zangwill.

A Queer Russian Custom.

At every country house in Russia are a feast and a procession to celebrate New Year's day. Horses, sheep, cows and hogs are dressed with garlands and led to the landlord's house. The idea is that the animals shall be taken into the dining room, but when the landlord has a handsomely furnished apartment and does not care to have it ruined he sets aside some other room and allows the mob to take possession of it.

The Carrier's Address FOR 1906

By EARLE HOOKER EATON

Copyright, 1905, by Earle Hooker Eaton

THREE hundred days plus sixty-four
Of every year we get
The editor corrals the lot
And keeps it, too, you bet!
But once a year he yields to me
To tell some things I know.
And now I've warned you all, you see,
I think I'll let her go:

One day a carrier, Slim McDade,
Got funny from the heat.
Said he: "The paper carrying trade
Has wore out both my feet.
If I just had a honk machine
To rest my feet awhile,
I'd tank up well with gasoline
And spread the news in style."

The corner turned, there came to view
A sight that did Slim good.
For near the curb, and vacant, too,
A puffing auto stood.
"It's mine! I saw it first!" he cried.
A smile chased off his frown.
And then he nimbly hopped inside
And threw his papers down.

He cried: "What chump blew out the gas?
This smell is far from funny;
It's like some one in Gladden's class
Was burnin' tainted money."
With clumsy hands he fumbled round.
Said he, "What makes her tick?"
The auto gave a sudden bound
That nearly snapped his neck.

Then like a rubber far from land
And new to Neptune's gear
He seized the wheel with unskilled hand
And did his best to steer.
Along the road he honking flew,
His course quite like a Z,
He came within an inch or two
Of climbing up a tree.

A Thomas cat that dodged about
In vain was yeowling hurled
End over end and flattened out
Against a hard old world.
A poodle dog as black as tar
And yearning to be fed
Came rushing out to bite the car,
But bit the dust instead.

A pensive cow that tempted fate
And turned to watch the pup
Was quickly made to demonstrate
That beef was going up.
A Chinese laundry cart flew high
And busted as it rose,
And every tree that stood near by
Put on some underclothes!

The Chinaman a flipflap turned,
Forgot the Golden Rule
And jabbered things he never learned
In 'Mel'can Sunday school.
Said Slim: "She goes a bit too swift
And don't steer none too straight,
But you can bet, with such a lift,
The papers won't be late.

"No town on earth can sport her mate.
Just hear her puff and buzz!
I didn't know before how great
These choochoo wagons wuz.
No wonder rich folks wears a smile
As they plows through the streets.
There's somethin' doin' all the while,
And how it rests the feet!"

A circus band came round the curve,
And Slim felt quite dismayed.
Said he, "If I don't keep my nerve,
I'll 'pi' the hull parade!"
He bumped against a sacred calf
And then upset a clown;
He barked the shins of one giraffe
And knocked another down.

Though followed by the wild west Sioux,
Eight bulldogs and a "cop,"
Slim shook them off and onward flew—
He simply couldn't stop!
And that was why he saw with pain
That others might do tossing,
For he was racing with a train
Straight toward a railroad crossing.

"It's quite the rage to try to butt
An engine off the rails,"
He said, "and yet I'd rather cut
That out—it sometimes fails."
He threw his papers off and jumped,
To limbs above held fast.
The auto rushed ahead and bumped,
And that bump was its last!

Slim dropped, with perspiration wet
And quite as white as chalk.
"It rests the feet," he said, "and yet
I think I'd rather walk!"

* * * * * *

Now, wasn't Slim McDade a peach?
That's all I've got to say.
Except just this—I hope you'll each
Remember ME today!

APPLIED AS A COLD CREAM ACTS AS A MEDICINE.

Wherever applied, its healing and nourishment is instantly absorbed by the pores. It strengthens and builds up the tissues underlying the skin and Firm, Healthy Flesh is the result.

DR. CHARLES FLESH FOOD is no new experiment. It has been in use for more than fifty years and during that time thousands of women and men have used it with entire satisfaction.

That it is not to be classed with "Cold Creams" and other things of like superficial potency is proved by the fact that it is prescribed by leading physicians and used in hospitals for the nutrition of invalids whose stomachs are too weak to digest food.

DR. CHARLES FLESH FOOD should be used by every woman who has the least desire to be attractive. It is the only preparation that will round out hollowed, thin cheeks or scrawny neck with Firm, Healthy Flesh and Remove Wrinkles from the face and hands, no matter how deep the furrow.

FOR DEVELOPING THE IMMATURE BUST or to make the breast firm, large and beautiful nothing can equal it. To prevent the breasts from shrinking, after weaning baby, mothers should always use DR. CHARLES FLESH FOOD. It will also restore a bosom to its natural contour and beauty lost through nursing and sickness.

NEW YEAR'S IN ARCTIC.

A Merry Day With the Icebound New England Whalers.

They are making New Year's calls in the arctic, says the Boston Globe. "They" are the American women, wives of whaling captains, who spend three years out of every four in that region, where the perpetual blizzard is in motion, and where they rise superior to months and days and weeks.

You can imagine how welcome people are who are so scarce as in the friendly little fleet near Point Barrow. When you only have three or four women neighbors you are not going to be snippy and new fashioned and refuse to make the time honored greeting that used to prevail in this enlightened land. Instead you are going to don your best (fur) dress suit and sealskin hood and go and pay your respects to those ladies. And the respects will not be chilly, if the surroundings are, for the spirit of hospitality can overlook a great deal in the matter of climate and canned peach sherbet.

When the 1st of January dawns, with the first peep of the north pole day the men jump into their gunnysackslike garments and begin work. The ships are frozen into the ice floes, and the snow must be swept away from ship to ship to form a path. The men have a feverish anxiety to see the day pass without a jar or jerk in the festivities, and they labor with great enthusiasm to convert this lonely land into something akin to a holiday "in town."

The women meanwhile have been making their preparations for the occasion. The plum pudding has to be steamed and the crackers and nuts put into dishes that will tempt the bashful whalers, and there is a general air of mysterious concoction that delights and confounds the hungry men who admiringly survey the scene. They fetch and carry with eagerness dishes and compliments and what not, and before you could say Jack Robinson there is a table set and an array of toastmasters alongside of it, and "The ladies, God bless 'em!" become sort of brown clad angels with sealskin halos and a corner on popularity.

At about 11 a. m. the real day begins, and then there are such a talking and such a feasting and such a belaying there as never were. When a sailor goes calling in the cold, cold land of six months of winter he is not looking for a frost and consequently doesn't get it.

And the dinner—gorgeous array that it is—one vast table in the inner cabin and one vast amount of temptations in the way of food and drink! They all sit down to the china pot, and the sandwiches, and the bits of cranberry, and the loads of walrus rump, and the beef stew, and the bean soup, and there is a lively time.

Dried fruits and spiced pickles and many jokes fly about, and there is as much jollity as you would expect from a blackberry juice toddy innocent of Kentucky rye. And then, after the dinner is over, there is a session of reminiscence and ease and handmade cigars, and the ladies do fancy work on the patterns of three years ago and chat with the men about anything but "shop." Whales may come and whales may go in the meantime, but the chatter goes on forever, or so the men wish it would as they lounge in the lighted cabin and tell stories of home and think of the women who await them there.

AMERICA'S FIRST NEW YEAR'S DAY

By J. A. EDGERTON

Copyright, 1905, by J. A. Edgerton

NEW ENGLAND may have seen the first Thanksgiving celebration, and Philadelphia may have inaugurated the Fourth of July racket, but the initial New Year's day observed by white men on American soil was celebrated on the island of Haiti Jan. 1, 1493. Just what there was to that celebration will never be known. Columbus, for he was master of ceremonies, was so busy with other matters that he failed to leave a record. But it is impossible that Europeans should have let their first New Year's in a new world pass by without some observance.

It was on the 1st day of January, 1492, by the way, that Columbus met the sovereigns of Spain, Ferdinand and Isabella, and concluded with them the contract for his voyage of exploration and discovery. That might be called the initial New Year's, though it was not spent in America. It was a sort of prophecy, as it were, of the day that was to be spent in the then undiscovered country one year later.

It was not until August that the three ships got under way. Then they sailed into new seas in search of a continent that had been hidden from the knowledge of man all through the ancient and middle ages. But Columbus did not know that he was to find such a continent. He was seeking a western route to India and died in the belief that the land he found was a part of Asia. He accomplished more than he knew. The "divinity that shapes our ends" was kinder to him than his own prevision.

Across the unknown ocean he sailed until, almost becalmed in the tropic seas, each of his vessels was "like a painted ship upon a painted ocean." It was then that the crews well nigh mutinied. Only the indomitable will and courage of Columbus kept them upon their way. At last floating seaweed and flying birds told of approaching land. By following the flight of the birds the new shore was sighted. America was discovered, and a new era was opened in the history of humanity.

It was in October that the landing was made. The thing was accomplished, or Columbus thought it accomplished, of which he had dreamed from youth. Through poverty, neglect, ridicule and rebuffs he had sought all through the intervening years for people of means who would take interest in his dream. So great was the stress of his soul that he had gone white headed at thirty, and now he was far past forty. But he had been faithful to his vision, and his reward had come.

From island to island the voyagers passed until Cuba was reached and then Haiti, where the discoverer's flagship was wrecked. The natives, who were delighted with the visit of the white men, helped him save his wreckage and cared for him and his crews until he was ready for the return voyage. It was Christmas morning when Columbus landed at Guarico, and it was Jan. 4, 1493, when he sailed away for Spain. So the New Year's day was spent among the hospitable Haitian natives.

The birth of 1906 marks the four hundred and thirteenth anniversary of the day since then, a very brief time in the life of the world, but a very long time in the annals of progress. The Spain from which Christopher Columbus sailed has passed into eclipse, while the lands he discovered support nations that are in the morning splendors of a better age.

Whatever the formal ceremonies attending the first New Year's day in the western hemisphere, its notability is not lessened. That Columbus and his men took some note of its passage goes without saying. Even in a time so crowded with other emotions the fact that he was greeting another year on the shore that he had seen so long in vision must have filled the heart of the daring discoverer with quickened joy and thanksgiving. His mind would naturally travel back a twelvemonth to the day that he had completed with his sovereigns the negotiations for the voyage that had culminated in success.

Just as naturally he would look forward to another year, picturing the enthusiasm at his home coming, the fitting out of other expeditions and the colonizing of the new land. Happily then he knew naught of the chains and indignities that awaited him. The future was all roseate. He had discovered the western way to the Indies; he would return and find gold, and henceforth fame and fortune should be his.

The feast which the Spaniards had that New Year's day in Guarico was something novel for European palates. First there was bread made of Indian maize, or corn, over which Columbus grew so enthusiastic that he carried a quantity of the grain back to Spain. Another form of Indian bread was made from a tuber called manioc. The white men were also introduced to the West Indian "pepper pot," which is still highly esteemed. Then they were asked to try a condiment called "aje," which proved too strong even for the seasoned stomach of a Spaniard. There were meats as well made from a sort of rabbit, a "dumb dog," a lizard, or iguana, to say nothing of boiled parrots. There were also fruits and vegetables in such quantities that Columbus wrote in his journal it was the most protracted feast he had ever enjoyed.

It is also narrated that after the feast the Indians smoked the delicious

FROM ISLAND TO ISLAND THE VOYAGERS PASSED.

West Indian tobacco and invited the whites to do likewise, but this was too heathenish a custom for the dons. So tobacco was a luxury unknown in Europe till Raleigh started it on its way to make incense around the world.

Columbus left part of his crew, but they treated the trusting natives in so Spaniardly a fashion, if the term may be used, that the red men turned about and murdered the entire outfit. It was here in the West Indies, by the way, that the great discoverer was afterward placed in chains by some titled nobody who was sent over to represent the Spanish king. It is not alone republics that are ungrateful.

But the memory of the initial New Year's, which was also the first day of a new epoch in the history of mankind, will be cherished along with the fame of him who drew the veil from two continents and made it possible for the weary world to look into a later golden age in another Atlantis.

Owing to the rapid increase in the number of newspapers in China, the government contemplates suppressing the publication of anti-dynastic and revolutionary papers.

WHITE and CLEAN IS THE NEW YEAR

By J. A. EDGERTON

Copyright, 1905, by J. A. Edgerton

WHITE and clean is the new year
When it is ushered in.
What shall it be in a twelvemonth—
Darkened and soiled by sin?
If we could keep it always white,
How would the world be filled with light!

BRIGHT and sweet is the new day
When on the hills 'tis born.
Cleansed in the fires of sunrise,
Washed by the dews of morn.
If it were sweet till the coming eve,
What a glory on earth 'twould leave!

FAIR and pure is a new life
Seen at the gates of birth.
What will it be at the ending—
Soiled with the dross of earth?
If from taint it were ever free,
What a joy to the world 'twould be!

THE COMING OF THE NEW YEAR.

ALL God's years are stainless;
All His days are white;
All His numberless sons
Spotless as is the light.
Fair are His worlds as they wheel and ru
Bathed in the light of their central sun.

ONLY man in delusion,
Hatred and wrong and pain
See with an evil vision,
Being divided in twain.
Looks on a life misunderstood,
Makes it evil that ever was good.

CENTER the thought on the noble,
Whiteness of mind and soul;
See the world as God made it,
Virgin and clean and whole;
Look on Him with a single eye,
So let evil and error die.

THEN shall the year be beauteous
As when it came to earth;
Then shall the eve be stainless
As was the day at birth;
Then shall life on its brighter side
Unto the end seem glorified.

COLUMBIA'S COURT.

The President's New Year Reception at the White House.

Washington is never more spectacularly interesting than on the one day in the year that Columbia holds her court.

Every New Year's morning, bright and early, men and women belonging to the class that Lincoln used to call "the dear common people" swarm in hundreds before the White House gates. They are there to catch a glimpse of the envoys of the world's nations on their way to pay their respects to the president of the United States, or, as the crowd itself would put it, to see the diplomats go by. It is invariably a good natured crowd, all elbows, nudges and exclamation points.

When the various military escorts come to a halt on the street before the gates, it applauds. If a band strikes up, it cheers. The mounted police come in for a fire of audible comment, and the always present wit who breaks out into something clever is rewarded with a spontaneous gush of infectious laughter that only a jolly crowd can achieve.

Finally a carriage whirls up and causes a rustle of expectancy. The diplomats have begun to arrive. It takes only an instant for each equipage to flash through the gateway, but the crowd will have caught a burst of bright colors, gold embroideries and gay plumes, and after this fleeting show of miscellaneous gorgeousness is over will resolve itself into "the public" and join the square long procession of citizens in the often disappointed hope of shaking hands with the president later in the day.

Before 2 o'clock thousands of men in every station in life will have had a handshake with the president. The tramp, tramp of soldiery will have died in the distance, the White House grounds will be deserted, and Columbia's court will be ended.—New York Tribune.

In Old Saxon Times.

In the old times the Saxons used to dance around an apple tree on New Year's eve, singing a song. This was supposed to insure a good crop. Bells were rung to notify the people of the going out of the old and the coming in of the new year. Another ancient custom in some parts of England was the opening of the house doors that faced the west to let out the old year, while the doors on the opposite side were opened to usher in the new year. In the sixteenth century pins, which had been newly invented, were extremely popular as New Year's gifts.

ALL IT NEEDED

There is more real oxygen in a liquified form in the "solution of Ozone (the coupon kind)" than in any other preparation of a similar nature. As a prompt cure in the killing of all inside germs of thirst, lungs, stomach or bowels, it has no equal when coupled with "Celery King" the famous laxative. That the stringent Ozone needed a tonic of this nature to procure the best results was so apparent that the Public Drug Co., of Bridgeburg, Ont., offer through your druggist a free package of "Celery King" with every fifty cent or one dollar bottle of "solution of Ozone (the coupon kind." The Old Ship and the New

Oh, the old ship has sailed, love,
That brought us pain and pleasure.
Oh, the old ship has sailed, love,
That brought us tears and treasure.
She sailed away last night, love,
Some other port to win.
Oh, the old ship has sailed, love,
But a new ship's in.

Oh, the old ship has sailed, love,
With wintry winds to waft her.
She has sailed away forever
With freight of grief and laughter.
Oh, closer, love, and fonder.
Don't mind what might have been.
Oh, the old ship has sailed, love,
But a new ship's in.

THE OLD SHIP HAS SAILED, LOVE, BUT A NEW SHIP'S IN.

Oh, the old ship has sailed, love,
I saw her making ready,
And heard the midnight shanty song
In solemn tones and steady.
Through tears I saw her leaving
With many friends and kin.
Oh, the old ship has sailed, love,
But a new ship's in.

Oh, the old ship has sailed, love,
And left us still together
To wait along the water front
With hearts of sunny weather—
To wait along the water front,
A calm amid the din.
Oh, the old ship has sailed, love,
But a new ship's in.

New Year's Toilets in Japan.

In Japan on New Year's day the ladies are up early and making a most elaborate toilet. The toilet of a Japanese woman is always a refined one, and the sweetest of cosmetics and the most delicate of scents are employed for her beautification. But the New Year's toilet is something specially fine. On New Year's day the Japanese belle, like the Chinese one, wears no old clothes. Everything from her flowing silk outer garments to her delicately woven underwear is all new. Her favorite color is pink, and her robes are gorgeous in colors of plaid and red.

New Year's Rites in Finland.

Many of the New Year's eve rites and ceremonies are similar to those practiced on Halloween. In Finland, for instance, the girls and boys go out backward to the wood pile and from the size and shape of the piece of wood they pick up determine the stature of their sweethearts.

To The Ratepayers

Of the City of Peterboro'

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

At the urgent solicitation of a number of the Ratepayers of Peterborough, I have accepted nomination as Alderman for the year 1906.

As it will be impossible for me to make a personal canvas, I take this method of soliciting your votes and influence. If elected my voice and vote will always be found advocating measures calculated to advance the interests of our city, with the prosperity of which we are all so interested.

I have been a resident of Peterborough all my life, and have, during that time, done all I could to advance the interests of the city, which I will be glad to serve still better if honoured with election on January 1st.

Wishing you the compliments of the season,

I am, yours truly

GEO. H. DUNCAN.

The Elections In Douro Tp.

Five Candidates are Out for the Council.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Douro, Dec. 27.—Mr. Frank Mober, who, a year ago, was elected reeve of the township, has proven himself to be the right man in the right place. At the nomination on Friday last he was re-elected by acclamation for the coming year. He has the proud distinction of being the youngest of the many that have served the people in the reeveship.

Mr. Michael Walsh is in the field for councillor for the coming term, and should carry the day by a large majority. He is one of Douro's most progressive councillors, and this, in no small degree, should go to show he will make good as a councillor. It is such young men who are awake to the wants of the people that should be accorded a generous support, and that this will be forthcoming on election day is a generally accepted fact.

Mr. Frank Techy is in the field again, and his good work during the past year in the council will not only hold the votes of the electors that placed him in for the last term, but will win for him many others.

Mr. Thos. J. Jory is also a candidate for municipal honours. His many friends are working hard to see him elected by a good majority.

Mr. Wm. Quinlan, one of last year's councillors, will come in for his share of the electors' support. Mr. Quinlan has given a very efficient service in the capacity of councillor in previous years.

Another veteran in the municipal field is Mr. Bart. Leahy, who is renewing his candidature. Mr. Leahy has in the past given excellent service to his constituents, and will undoubtedly receive good support.—Com.

CAPT. GRAHAM'S GRATITUDE

Suffered from Sores on Face and Back—Doctors Took His Money But Did No Good—Skin Now Looks Clear as a Baby's.

ANOTHER CURE BY CUTICURA REMEDIES

Captain W. S. Graham, 1321 Hoff St., Wheeling, W. Va., says: "I am so grateful I thank God that a friend recommended Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I suffered for a long time with sores on my face and back. Some doctors said I had blood poison, and others that I had barber's itch. None of them did me any good, but they all took my money. My friends tell me my skin now looks as clear as a baby's, and I tell them all that Cuticura Soap and Ointment did it."

STILL ANOTHER CURE

Neck Covered With Sores, Hair Fell Out, Was Itching

"Mr. H. J. Spalding of 104 W. 104th St., New York City, says: "For two years my neck was covered with sores, the disease spreading to my hair, which fell out, leaving an unsightly bald spot, and the soreness, inflammation, and merciless itching made me wild. After a few applications of Cuticura the torment subsided, the sores disappeared, and my hair grew thick and healthy as ever."

AND STILL ANOTHER

"For over thirty years I suffered from painful ulcers and disfiguration from my knees to my feet, and could find neither doctors nor medicines to help me, until I took Cuticura which cured me in six months. (signed), M. C. Moss, Gainesville, Tex."

On account of the change in the constitution of the Board of Education effected by the late Provincial Government, each elector has the right to vote for nine candidates. This renders it impossible for me, with the limited time at my disposal, to personally interview any large proportion of you,

A HAPPY AND PROSPEROUS NEW YEAR TO ALL

City To Adopt New And PROGRESSIVE METHODS Of Advertising Advantages

The Aldermen are in Favour of Advertising the Natural Advantages Possessed by the City With a View of Securing New Industries Mayor Best Claims He Has Important Information to Give the Public in the Near Future.

A new policy of advancement for the city of Peterborough, was enunciated last night at the final meeting of the City Council. After the regular meeting the Aldermen indulged in some sermonizing, and they all advocated some advancementt along industrial lines.

Alderman Adams was the first to speak on this line, and stated that in his opinion, in the past the city had been too economical in spending money. This was the case, not only with this year's council, but with that of 1904. His opinion was that if Peterborough were to secure new industries it would have to advertise its advantages in the United States, and to do this, it would take money. He advocated a more progressive policy, as far as this question is concerned. He cited the case of Hamilton, and referred to the paper read by the Assessment Commissioner, in which he described the methods they employed to secure the great Deering works, and the other industries they had landed during the last four years. It was not enough to simply write a letter. It required a regular follow up system, and while it might take years to land the industries, they would be sure to come.

Alderman Hicks believed that while in the main, the remarks of Alderman Adams were apropos, the day for Peterborough had not yet come. It was in the future, possibly the near future, but still in the future. The transportation problem, combined with power, was what would influence the coal consuming industries to locate here, with the Trent Canal completed, and a supply of power, it would be easy to secure more industries.

The Manufacturers' Committee this year had done the best they could with the limited amount of money at their disposal. You could not, by advertising, convince a man that coal at $1.20 a ton freight was as cheap as at 65c.

He was in favour of a progressive step in this direction, and would assist it in every possible way.

Ald. Tovey followed along similar lines. He had always supported everything which tended towards the industrial advancement of the city, and had welcomed the proposal from Mr. Howard to establish the stove works here. He firmly believed that with its natural advantages Peterborough was destined to become an important industrial centre in the near future.

The Mayor evidently has a trump card up his sleeve, and will spring a surprise on the people shortly, he says. He stated that yesterday he had received some most important information which meant a great deal to the city from an industrial standpoint. He was not at liberty to divulge it at present, but in a short time would take the people into his confidence, and they would be agreeably surprised at what he would tell them.

From the remarks which were made it is evident that Peterborough is on the verge of an industrial expansion.

Requires Forty-Four Ballot Boxes Monday

To Conduct the Municipal Election—Not so Long ago When Only Four Were Needed—Four Questions to be Voted On—First Time Board of Education Will be Elected by General Vote—A Money By-law.

WHERE TO VOTE ON NEW YEAR'S DAY

On Monday the electors of the City of Peterborough will choose their Council and Board of Education. In the method of electing the former there is no change from that of last year, but as far as the election for Board of Education is concerned this will be the first time that the members of that body have been elected by general vote.

In addition to the vote for Aldermen and School Trustees, a money by-law to provide $25,000 to improve the fire-fighting appliances of the city will be voted on. Only the freeholders of the city are eligible to vote on this bylaw. The electors will also be asked to vote on the proposal to reduce the number of liquor licenses in the city. All who are entitled to vote for Aldermen may vote on this question. To show the growth of this city during recent years, and the multiplication of civil machinery, it is only necessary to state that it is within the recollection of the present City Clerk, when four ballot boxes were sufficient for the municipal election. This was the case two or three times since he assumed office, but this year no less than forty-four boxes were required; one for each of the four ballot papers in each of the eleven polling sub-divisions. Each elector may vote for twelve of the fifteen aldermanic candidates on the ballot paper, and each may vote for nine of the candidates for School Trustees. If more than nine are voted for the ballot is spoiled.

The question on which the reduction of licenses will be decided is put on the ballot papers as follows:—"Are you in favour of a reduction in the number of liquor licenses issued for the city of Peterborough?"

During this year there has been a redistribution of the city's polling sub-divisions, and in order that the voters may know where they should go to the polls, the complete division of the city is given below with the deputy returning officers:—

Ward No. 1.

Polling Subdivision No. 1—All that part of Ward 1 lying south of Perry street, Albert street, and the southern limit of lot No. 30 on registered plan No. 30, M. H. Halpin's store, 39 George street; Joseph Robinson.

Polling Subdivision No. 2—All that part of Ward 1 lying north of polling subdivision No. 1, and south of Sherbrooke street. L. Spry's shop, 210 Stewart street; Joseph Lundy.

Ward No. 2.

Polling Subdivision No. 4—All that part of Ward 2 lying east of Bethune street. The City Council Chambers; R. W. Errett.

Polling Subdivision No. 5—All that part of Ward 2 lying west of Bethune street. Mrs. Greene's store, 352 Charlotte street; J. M. Greene.

Ward No. 3.

Polling Subdivision No. 6—All that part of Ward 3 lying east of Bethune street. J. and W. Metheral's shop, 464 Aylmer street; Jos. R. Metheral.

Polling Subdivision No. 7—All that part of Ward 3 lying west of Bethune street. John James' store, 332 McDonel street; John Irwin.

Ward No. 4.

Polling Subdivision No. 8—All that part of Ward 4 lying south of Smith street, and east of George street, and all that part of said ward lying north of Smith street, east of Benson Avenue, and east of the boundary line between the city of Peterborough and the Township of Smith. William Lee's shop, Smith street; William Lee.

Polling Subdivision No. 9—All that part of Ward 4 not included in polling subdivision No. 8. John Mann's store, George and Edinburgh streets; Geo. H. Howson.

Ward No. 5.

Polling Subdivision No. 10—All that part of Ward 5 lying south of Hunter street, and south of the line between lots Nos. 29 and 30 in the 12th con. of Otonabee. Former village hall; John Malane.

Polling Subdivision No. 11—All that part of Ward 5 lying north of Hunter street, and north of the line between lots Nos. 29 and 30 in the 12th con. of Otonabee. Mrs. Swanston's shop, Hunter street east; James McDonald.

A PROMINENT CITIZEN

The above picture is one which was taken 39 years ago, and the gentleman, of whom it is the original, was at that time, and had been for four years previously, as well as ever since, a resident of Peterborough. He has been in business here in various capacities for more than a generation, and has occupied positions of trust and responsibility, and has enjoyed the universal respect of the citizens. He is prominent in his advocating of all measures calculated to advance the moral condition of the citizens.

He is a great believer in the efficacy of the open air, and spends a considerable part of his summers at one of the nearby summer resorts.

Knox Church Sunday School

An Enjoyable Christmas Tree Entertainment.

Last night at Knox Church the Sunday school scholars enjoyed their annual Christmas entertainment. Tea was served from 6 to 7.30, and the children gave evidence of their enjoyment of this feature. After the tea a programme was given, the chair being occupied by the superintendent, Sheriff Hall, who, in his opening address, referred to the progress the school had made during the past year, and the deepening interest which was evidenced in the work of the school.

A splendid programme of drills and choruses was given by the members of the school, and it was greatly enjoyed by those present. Special mention should be made of a recitation which was given by Miss Mabel Pringle. This was a most enjoyable number, and Miss Pringle was obliged to respond to an encore.

At the conclusion of the programme, Santa Claus made his appearance, and, to the great delight of the children, remembered them with gifts. There were about 100 scholars present, and a large number of their parents and friends, and a thoroughly enjoyable evening was spent.

W. G. Hall Was Severely Burned

An Accident in the C. G. E. Test Department.

This morning shortly after 7 o'clock, W. G. Hall, who boards at 224 Sherbrooke street, and who is employed in the test department of the Canadian General Electric Company, received an electric shock which resulted in severe burns to his face and hands, the former suffering the greatest.

Dr. Young, the company physician, was soon on the spot, and the injured man was taken to his home, where his burns were dressed.

He will be laid up for some time, but it is not anticipated that any serious results will follow. Mr. Hall is an unmarried man.

Bouquets Are Thrown BY THE 1905 ALDERMEN; A Mutual Admiration

After the Routine Business Last Night the Usual Bouquets Were Thrown at Each Other—This Year's Council the Best Ever—That's the Opinion Aldermen Hold—General Regret That Close of Year is Reached—Mayor Has a Surprise.

At the conclusion of the routine business of the council, the members, as is usual in the closing meeting of the year formed themselves, as Ald. Adams expressed it into "A mutual Admiration Society," and each member expressed regret at either his own retirement or that of one of his fellow Aldermen. Ald. Leary started the ball rolling by expressing his personal regrets at the circumstances which made his retirement from the council necessary, and stated that in his opinion the ideal way to conduct the business of the city would be to elect six good men and pay them for their services. It was unreasonable, he thought, to expect that the aldermen could afford to spend three or four nights of the week at the city hall attending to the business of the city, and receive in return, in the great majority of cases, nothing but abuse.

Ald. Hall, is another of the retiring aldermen expressed his regret. He was really sorry to leave the council. He had spent many very pleasant hours with the members of the council this year. They had had their little fun, and had thrown the hatchets some too, but they had poured the oil on the waters. He was sorry that his business interests prevented him from accepting a seat on the council board again for 1906, but he hoped that the Mayor would be surrounded with a strong council.

It spoke little for the citizens that they took so little interest in the civic affairs that they did not even turn out at the nomination meetings to select the candidates for election. There were barely fifteen citizens at that meeting outside of the members of the council. He remarked jocularly that if Ald. Leary's proposal to pay the aldermen were carried out the Opera house would have to be secured for the nomination, because there would be 5,000 men anxious to run for the council.

Peterborough never required better men in the council than at the present time, but it seemed as if the ratepayers did not care for anything so long as they got three meals a day. He wished the members of the council a Happy New Year, and that those offering themselves for re-election would be successful.

Ald. Tovey was the next speaker, and he expressed himself along the same lines. He thought it was not right for those remaining in the Council to allow the retiring members to go without expressing regret. He recognized that during the past year they had rendered good service to the city, and their work should be appreciated.

Another of those who were retiring, Ald. Sutton, was the next to address the council, and he remarked that he had never spent five years as pleasantly as the five years he had been a member of the council. His business interests would not permit him to remain in the council for the coming year, but he left it with best feelings for each member, and he believed that he also left it with as good a name as when he entered it.

Ald. Leary again spoke on the subject under discussion. He hoped that all the old members offering themselves for re-election would be returned. Peterborough needs a good strong council at this time in her history. Live, progressive men are required, and he hoped they would be elected. He was personally very loth to leave the council.

After two years in the council, Ald. Scott said that he was sorry to leave it, but his business demanded more attention. The last two years

WHO WILL COMPRISE THE CITY COUNCIL OF 1906?

Five dollars in gold, is what the Examiner offers to the person who before Monday noon names correctly the candidates for Aldermen who will compose the City Council of 1906, with the order in which they will be elected.

That is, name the twelve men giving the one who will head the poll, and so on down the list of the dozen men whom the electors will on Monday place in charge of the affairs of this city during the year which will open on that day.

This guessing contest is open to everyone, the condition being that EACH GUESS SHALL BE ACCOMPANIED BY A COUPON TAKEN FROM THE EXAMINER OF TO-DAY OR YESTERDAY.

The number of guesses is not limited. One person may mark one or fifty, but each must be accompanied by a coupon.

When the City Clerk, who is also the returning officer in this election, makes the official declaration, the five dollars in gold will be paid to the first correct guess, or, in case there is no one correct, the nearest to the correct one will be awarded the prize.

The coupon which appears below was published yesterday as well, and either or both may be used. Paste or pin the coupon to the paper on which you make your guess. The letter should be addressed: "Guessing Contest, The Examiner," and may be handed in to the office, or mailed.

A general invitation is extended to every reader of this paper to enter this contest, and send as many as you wish. Someone will get the $5.00 in gold, and everyone stands an equal chance.

An extra supply of papers is being published to-day, and may be procured at the regular news stands, and at this office.

The following coupon must be attached to each guess sent in:

EXAMINER GUESSING CONTEST

Dec. 30th, 1905.

M.....

In my opinion the City Council for 1906 will be composed of the following Aldermen, elected in the order given:

Are the Seasons Twisted.

—The chef of the Oriental reports that a robin flew into the kitchen of that hotel the other day, and that two others were seen in the yard. Mr. A. J. McClellan says that he saw a robin the other day, and it is stated that robins have been seen in the vicinity of Jackson Park. It looks as if the seasons are slightly "twisted," and are appear to be getting spring instead of winter, so much in evidence is Mr. Redbreast. But time will tell.

Shareholders Claims Will Be Looked After

Bank of Ottawa to Handle York County Loan Shareholders' Business in This City—Dividends Will be Accepted and Paid to Those Entitled to Them—Local Manager Makes a Statement.

The local shareholders in the York County Loan and Savings Company will be pleased at the announcement made by the local manager of the Bank of Ottawa to the effect that they will look after their interests in the liquidating proceedings, which are now being conducted.

This policy has been pursued in other cities where the bank has branches. All that the shareholders have to do to have their claims handled by the bank is to hand in their pass-books to the bank, and give power of attorney.

The bank will then, without charge to the shareholders, attend to their interests, and will collect from the liquidator whatever dividends are paid, and credit each shareholder with his or her proper proportion at the branch here, which it can at once be drawn out, or, if left on deposit, the usual rate of interest will be allowed for it.

The shareholders will, no doubt, avail themselves of this offer, which will relieve them individually of looking after their claims, which work the bank will be able to do to much better advantage than the shareholders acting singly.

The local manager will receive the pass-books, issue receipts for them, and accept the power of attorney, and thus relieve the shareholders of all worry and trouble in the matter.

Conclusion Of Investigation

A HAPPY NEW YEAR.

The clock of time has ticked out another twelvemonth and we are on the eve of a new year after a last year of unexampled prosperity to the Dominion, the Province, the city and the city's interests generally. Thus encouraged we enter upon 1906 with hopeful hearts and a bright outlook. The Examiner is grateful for its share of prosperity and popular favour and grateful to our patrons, who have so kindly and generously contributed to the advances made. We shall strive to make ourselves still more worthy of popular support and shall continue to work energetically and unremittingly for the advancement of the good City and County of Peterborough, and of all the interests of all classes, and to co-operate with them in making the year to come what we wish it may be to all, a

HAPPY AND PROSPEROUS NEW YEAR.

AN IMPORTANT PRONOUNCEMENT.

Archbishop Bruchesi of Montreal has begun a crusade against intemperance. A pastoral letter and mandement read in all the Roman Catholic churches on Sunday is described by the Montreal Witness as a "most important event in the annals of Canadian temperance reform."

He especially calls on the clergy and the heads of families, to show the way by both precept and example. It is ordered that in all parishes work be commenced at once to establish temperance leagues or societies among children, young men and heads of families, the members of which must pledge themselves to abstain from the use of spirituous liquors, except in case of need, or sickness, or real necessity.

It is most significant that the pastoral has been received with a chorus of approval from the press generally. The evils of intemperance were perhaps never so generally recognized as they are at the present time. People differ widely in their views as to the best methods of bringing about a reform—some would depend on law entirely, and others on any combination that would promise good results — but as to the evil itself there is practical unanimity.

Because of the peculiar position occupied by the clergy there is little doubt that if the Roman Catholic church devoted its energies to the work of temperance reform notable results would follow. A few mandements like that of Archbishop Bruchesi, earnestly conceived and enforced with vigour would probably be fruitful of good results.

The blow directed against the treating system is especially worthy of notice. It is the opinion of many observing people that if treating could be abolished the worst feature of the drink habit would disappear. The man who considers drink a necessity would probably continue to drink; but with a change in the social habits associated with drinking there would unquestionably be a marked falling off in the number of recruits. Most people who drink because they think they need a stimulant began to drink from the desire for sociability.

SUBSTITUTE FOR WHITE LEAD.

The war on white lead in France has assumed strong proportions. A meeting at Paris lately, composed of nearly 2,000 scientists, contractors, masters and workmen, put into definite form the dangers of lead poisoning among painters. The arraignment having been completed and driven home by statistics and scientific testimony from which there could be no reasonable appeal, the meeting took up the question of a practical remedy. This was declared to be simply the abolition by law of the manufacture and use of white lead as a painting material and its replacement by zinc white, a substitute which is superior in whiteness, equally durable, harmless to human health, and only 1 per cent more expensive to produce.

To accomplish this reform there is now before the French Senate an act submitted to the Chamber of Deputies by Mr. J. L. Breton, and adopted with substantial unanimity. This proposition recognizes the vested rights of white lead manufacturers, and will allow them four years from the date of enactment of the proposed law in which to close up their business or convert their factories to the production of colours having a zinc base. After that white lead may no longer be manufactured in France.

THE FUR HARVEST.

The fur hunters of the northern wilds have prosperous times this year. Mink, marten and other furs command higher prices than for the past thirty years, while there has been a slump in foxes. An otter skin is worth $22 as it comes from the trapper's hands. Even weasels, worth nothing a few years ago, now bring $1 each. According to the Duluth Herald, last winter $4.50 was considered a good price for a mink pelt, and it wasn't more than a season or two back that $2.50 was the highest paid for a single pelt of this kind. Now a choice raw mink fur will bring $11, and a marten pelt from $18 to $20, where $6 or $7 was paid last winter.

SIR FREDRICK BORDEN ON IMPERIALISM.

Sir Frederick Borden, in a recent address delivered by him before the Reform Club of Montreal, said some very sensible things on imperialism.

Some people with little concern for Canada's welfare were always talking of the "Empire" and "Imperialism." "I'm an Imperialist and loyal as any in the British Isles. My notion of the way to truly and best serve the Empire is by building up a great nation on this continent, flying the British flag and a part of the great British Empire. I further believe that Canadian interests would also be best served in this way."

Referring to the Department of Militia, Sir Frederick said: "We don't want militarism in Canada, and we never will have it. We will depend on a citizen soldiery and that is necessary for two purposes: 1. To uphold the civil power; 2. to maintain the integrity of the soil of Canada." A militia is necessary, but instead of spending a million and a half dollars in keeping an annual force in camp, the policy of the government was to make militia effective and efficient. Ten years ago not a department in the volunteers was organized. To-day we have an efficient force with up-to-date equipment, and all the departments are well organized and compare favourably with any others.

In 1902, at the Colonial Conference, Mr. Brodrick, the Secretary of State for War, proposed that the various colonies should each agree to support a certain number of men specially trained and equipped for foreign service. The Lords of the Admiralty had asked the colonies to give a sum to support the navy. Ministers from Canada said distinctly, firmly and respectfully "No" to both these propositions, believing that taxation and representation always should go together. They didn't want the British taxpayer to keep a force in Canada for its protection, so it was agreed and has now been carried out that the Canadian government should take over the fortifications as Halifax and Esquimalt. "That we should do it is only common decency and fair play."

At Confederation the revenue was $13,000,000, of which the Militia Department received one-thirteenth. To-day the revenue is $78,000,000, and the militia should get at least $6,000,000. This ratio should be respected until the revenue reached $100,000,000. Then the expenditure on defence should stop.

Sir Frederick Borden has unquestionably made the most efficient Minister of Militia Canada has ever had, and his views on the relations which this country should maintain toward the Mother Country, as regards questions of defence, are undoubtedly those of the great majority of Canadians. One suggestion which he put forward is the introduction of a form of physical training in the public schools, and he offers to send trained men to instruct students of the high schools and colleges in the use of the rifle. This is a matter which comes more properly under the control of the provincial governments, and it is understood their co-operation has already been promised.—Brantford Expositor.

Now is a good time to get boys' tickets for 1906. You could give him no better start for a new year.

THE NEW BOOKSHOP'S

"HAPPY NEW YEAR"

TO ALL ITS PATRONS

The fact that the New Bookshop was not completely fitted up and stocked until after the Christmas Trade was well begun, might have been a good reason for a poor start and a slim business. But the reverse has proved to be the case. Notwithstanding all our disadvantages, we were greeted with a volume of business entirely beyond our expectations.

For the want of enough salespeople many customers had to go away unserved—a circumstance which we especially regret. But our first Holiday Greeting can truly be one of gratitude to the public of Peterborough for the hearty opening welcome the New Bookshop has received.

RETURN GIFTS AND NEW YEAR'S GIFTS are here for your selecting. The trail of the Christmas trade has left hundreds of articles which you can buy at very special prices. Come and see.

Whitcroft Is Acting Captain

At a players' meeting of the Peterborough Hockey Club held last night in the Oriental Hotel, it was decided to secure the services of a trainer for the coming season. Mr. Fred. Whitcroft was elected acting captain. He to hold the position until a little later in the season, when the players will elect a permanent captain.

A team committee was formed consisting of Dr. Wightman, J. T. McCabe and the Captain.

The first game of the season will be played with Cobourg next Friday night. The Lake Ontario town is said to have a good septette this season. It is to be hoped that the weather man displays a little more leniency to the puck pursuers and dishes out colder weather. This weather is playing hob with skaters, curlers, hockey players and ice rink promoters, and it might be mentioned incidentally, that the latter is unanimously kicking against the balmy December weather conditions.

T. A. S. to Enter City League

The T.A.S. will go into hockey again this season. This announcement is made by one who is in a position to know. This society will enter a team in the city league which will make four teams.

The record of the T.A.S. in sport in the past has been a brilliant one, and when it was stated that they would not be in hockey this season there was general regret expressed. Consequently it will be pleasing news to learn that a team will be entered in the city league.

Mr. Jos. Maher, who was elected to the Vice-Presidency of the league, is authority for the statement that the T.A.S. will place a fast team in the league.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

The merry comedian, Geo. H. Summers, who made such a hit last season, has organized an entirely new company for this season, and will appear here next week, Monday Jan. 1st, at the Grand Opera House. The repertoire will all be new, and will include such plays as Master and Man, Forgiven, The Charity Ball, For Her Children's Sake, Leah, the Forsaken, The Little Minister, Sherlock Holmes and others. The Company will be headed by Miss Belle Stevenson, who is considered one of the most capable actresses in the profession. The feature of the vaudeville portion of the entertainment will be the moving pictures which are the very latest creations in that line.

City Council of 1905 Held The Last Meeting

Concluding Session for the Year Was Held Last Night—Three Committees Presented Reports—J. B. Douglas Claims $50 Damages From the City—Finance Committee's Recommendations—The Business of Routine Nature.

FULL COUNCIL BOARD WAS IN ATTENDANCE

The council of the city of Peterborough for 1905 held its final meeting last night. The only business transacted practically was the reception and adoption of reports of committees, three committees reporting.

The most important of these reports was that of the Committee of the Whole, in which the recommendation was made to complete arrangements with Mr. J. F. Howard for the location here of the stove works, to which reference has already been made. The Finance Committee and the Board of Works also presented their reports.

Those present were: Mayor Best, Ald. Hicks, Mason, Leary, Hall, Tovey, McIntyre, Batten, Scott, Adams, Begley, Crowe and Johnston.

The minutes of the last meeting were taken as read and approved.

Mr. J. B. Douglas wrote to the council stating that owing to the faulty construction of the block in which his store is located, the police had fenced off his store from the public, as, they said, for safety from the falling snow, and his trade had suffered thereby for two days in Christmas week. His loss was fully $100, but he would be willing to compromise for $50 to settle the matter which he thought would only be dealing fairly with him.

The matter was referred to the Trust Commissioners.

George Spencer, superintendent of the C. P. R. wrote to the council as follows:

"At the west end of our yard, Peterborough, there are two road crossings, the roads converging immediately north of our tracks. The line of travel appears to be pretty much across our track and back again, in order to get around the corner. Would you please let me know if you could not join the two roads on the south side, which would allow one of the crossings to be closed." The letter was received.

Reports.

The reports of committees were then presented.

Ald. Adams presented the report of the Board of Works as follows:

Your Board of Works beg leave to report and recommend as follows:

1. That W. Chipman be paid $150 in full of all services in connection with the sewer and sedimentation tank in Ward No. 5.

2. That the City Engineer be instructed to construct a sewer on Boswell avenue from King street to Charlotte street, with the connections required, and that as much of the work, as the weather will permit, be done this season.

3. That the amended order submitted in regard to sewer and drain crossing under the Grand Trunk Railway be accepted, and that the city solicitor be authorized to approve of it for the city.

4. That the part of the resolution in regard to the lowering of the grade of the Lakefield railway line, requiring the Grand Trunk Railway, to provide for drainage at street intersections, be struck out.

5. That the street commissioner be instructed to examine the drain on Bethune street crossing Murray street, and do such work on it as he finds is required.

6. That the matter of disposing of 55 barrels of cement left over after the season's work was completed, be left with the chairman of this Board to deal with as he deems best.

7. That the request of the Peterborough Light and Power Company for permission to erect a pole line from Nicholls oval to the Curtis brick yard, be granted, so far as this council is authorized to grant it, the poles to be erected under the supervision of the City Engineer.

8. That the request of the Bell Telephone Company for permission to open the south side of Dublin street between Rubidge street and Downie streets, to erect five poles thereon, be granted, subject to the terms of bylaw 1111, the poles to be erected under the supervision of the City Engineer.

9. That the city engineer be instructed to procure a supply of 9 inch and 6 inch pipe for the sewer ordered to be constructed by day labour.

10. That the City Solicitor be instructed to give notice of an application for legislation to authorize the Commissioners of the water works to take means to prevent the pollution of the source of supply of the water works; and to provide that the provisions of sub-sections 4 and 7, of section 34, of the municipal Water Works Act may be made to apply to the River Otonabee above the water works, and to Katchewanooka, Clear and Stony Lakes, and the streams entering into the same.

A New Industry.

Ald. Hicks presented the following report of the Committee of the Whole:—

Your Committee of the Whole Council beg leave to report as follows:

1. Your committee received a proposition from Mr. J. F. Howard, of Montreal, who with his associates, proposed to establish a stove and heater works in Peterborough. Mr. Howard said the full capacity of the factory would be 100 stoves a day, and when running at full capacity they would employ 200 hands. The first year they would employ from 50 to 100 hands. It would take them from three to four years to get the factory going to its full capacity. The Peterborough Sugar Company's factory would suit them well for a site, and if they could get that site and the city would deal with them on the same terms as they had with other industries, he thought they would locate here. They would want five or six acres of land. At the second meeting Mr. Howard said if the council passed a resolution, and gave him a letter that the council would give them a site, with sufficient ground, and the walls of the sugar factory building, they would organize their company, and would give the city satisfactory assurance that they would locate here before they would ask the land to be bought. They would erect a building 80 x 60 or its equivalent at once.

We recommend that provided Mr. Howard, and his associates will establish a factory here for making stoves and heaters, as outlined by Mr. Howard, at the meetings of this committee held on Dec. 18th, and Dec. 27th, this committee will give them a free site on which to establish a factory, and a fixed assessment at the value of the site for a period of ten years; this to be subject to confirmation by the Legislature.

2. Your committee instructed the City Solicitor to include in the notice for Legislation a notice of an application, for authority at the city to acquire the Peterborough Sugar Company's land, and to convey it for manufacturing purposes at a nominal consideration to manufacturing industries not already established in the province and not similar to any in the city, and to give such industries a fixed assessment for a period of ten years; also for authority to acquire or lease water power and develop it, convey it to the city and dispose of it.

The report was adopted.

CAUSE OF FALLING HAIR

Dandruff, Which is a Germ Disease—Kill the Germ.

Falling hair is caused by dandruff, which is a germ disease. The germ in burrowing into the root of the hair, where it destroys the vitality of the hair, causing the hair to fall out, digs up the outside in little scales, called dandruff, or scurf. You can't stop the falling hair without curing the dandruff, and you can't cure the dandruff without killing the dandruff germ. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect." Newbro's Herpicide is the only hair preparation that kills the dandruff germ. Herpicide is also a delightful hair dressing. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Ormond & Walsh, Special Agents.

CANDIDATES FOR ALDERMANIC HONOURS FOR 1906

The Aspirants for Places at the Council Board for 1906—Of the Fifteen Candidates Six are Members af the Council of 1905, and Four Others Have Already Served Terms in the Town or Village Councils.

Of the Balance, Five are New Men to City Politics—The Candidates and Their Claims for the Confidence of the Electors—For Board of Education Eleven of Twelve Candidates Were on 1905 Board.

Next Monday the electors will be called upon to decide questions which has a very important bearing upon the interests of the city for the year to come. Apart from the special questions, which will be submitted to the popular vote the question of selecting representatives on the Council and School Board for the coming year will engage the attention of the electors. Whatever may have been the previous standing of a candidate he becomes an object of special public interest when his name is placed upon a ballot paper for the approval or rejection of the people.

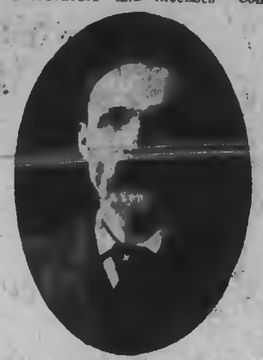
THOS. J. WILSON
A Candidate for Alderman

Therefore a reference, somewhat in detail, as to the standing, civic experience and relation to the best interests of the city of the respective candidates will not be out of place.

Of the fifteen candidates definitely in the field, six are members of the 1905 council; four have had previous municipal experience, and five are entirely new men, breaking into municipal politics for the first time at this election, and have their spurs yet to win.

To begin with the first class:

ROBERT HICKS, coal dealer, has been a member of the council of Peterborough for the last two years, and this year was chairman of the Manufacturers' and Licenses' Committees. He is looked upon as one of the strong men of the council, and has developed an excellent grasp of municipal matters. He is a man of ideas and convictions, and has the courage of his convictions. For business reasons intimated the desire of dropping out of municipal matters this year, and so announced himself, but upon being strongly urged by citizens who had the interests of the city at heart, to remain in the field, he consented. His chances for re-election are considered excellent.

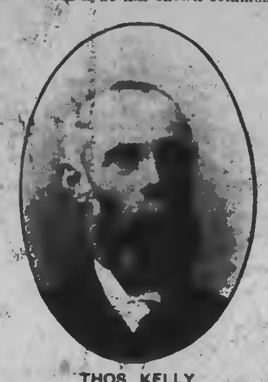


JAS. G. GRAHAM
A Candidate for Alderman

GEO. H. DUNCAN
A Candidate for Alderman

GEORGE J. TOVEY, occupying a responsible position with the Canadian General Electric Company, is just closing his first year in the council, having been placed there by a heavy vote leading the poll, tying with Ald. Hatten. Mr. Tovey has been most faithful in his attendance upon the meetings of the council. In his participation in the work of the council he has shown excellent judgment, and an active and intelligent interest in matters that have engaged the attention of that body.

WILLIAM J. JOHNSTON, contractor and builder, has, like Ald. Hicks, served two years in the council. From the fact of him having occupied the responsible position of chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee this year he has been especially prominent in the eyes of the public, and consequently the object of more criticism. In his position as chairman of this committee and as an alderman he has shown commendable interest and activity in promoting, from his point of view, the general and special interests which his position demanded.



THOS. KELLY
A Candidate for Aldermanic

E. F. MASON, merchant, is also a two-year man, and in his last year in the council he has occupied the responsible position of chairman of the Finance Committee. He seems to have the approval of his colleagues in that capacity. An evidence of his interest in the city's welfare is the fact that he has taken a prominent part in bringing the attention of the Government to the necessity for the early completion of the Trent Canal.

FRANK ADAMS, chairman of the Board of Works, has had perhaps more municipal experience than any alderman on this year's council. For many years he was Reeve of Ashburnham and enjoys the unique distinction of having been a member of the last village council, the first council of the united municipality and of the first council of the City of Peterborough. He appreciates the responsibilities of his position as a servant of the people, and is steady and conservative in his methods.

GEO. E. ELLIOTT
A Candidate for Alderman

A. A. M'INTYRE, builder and contractor, is completing his first year as an alderman of the city, and while his voice is not heard as frequently in the discussions around the Council board as some of the others, his course affords evidence that he gives careful consideration to the interests of the city, and his record this year warrants him in again appealing to the people for support.

Of the four candidates who have had previous municipal experience:

JOHN H. SMITH, whose experience consists in membership in the Ashburnham village council, with one year, at least, in the reeve's chair.

J. H. SMITH
A Candidate for Alderman

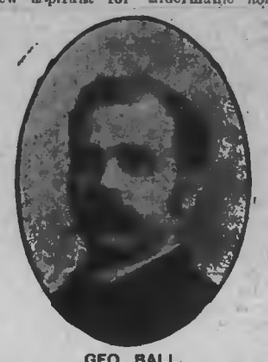
He is young and energetic, and if he fulfils the promises upon which he bases his claims for election, will no doubt make an efficient alderman.

THOMAS KELLY is easily the veteran of the group. He is a native of Peterborough, and has for years been very prominently associated with its progress, to which he contributed in no small degree during his fifteen years of faithful service in the town council, in which he had an excellent and creditable record, and in case of his election, of which there is little doubt, he will be able to again give the city good service.

R. F. M'WILLIAMS, barrister, was until last year and for two years previously a member of the Council, during the last year being chairman of the Legal Committee. He is a frequent and fluent speaker, and enters very actively into the discussions of the civic affairs which engage the attention of the Council. In his address to the electors, Mr. McWilliams advocates the adoption of a two year term for alderman. He also enjoys the distinction of having headed the polls in his election.

The other five are new candidates.

CHARLES H. CLEMENTI, also a new aspirant for aldermanic honours, possesses at least one commendable qualification—he is a member of the fourth estate—a qualification that eloquently speaks for itself.



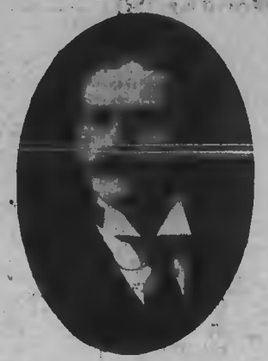
GEO. BALL
A Candidate for Alderman

GEO. H. DUNCAN, painter and decorator, is one of the younger business men of the city, and has made a success of it, and his business ability and energy constitute strong claims to the confidence of the electors.

GEORGE BALL is an old citizen of Peterborough, is not entirely new in a representative capacity, having been a member of the Separate School Board for a number of years, and is an advanced social reformer, being an earnest advocate of the single tax system.

JAMES G. GRAHAM, builder and contractor, is a long-time resident of Peterborough, and is making the first claim on the electors in a representative capacity.

THOS. J. WILSON, builder and contractor, is another new man to enter the field. He is well known and well respected in both his personal and business relations, and if elected should make an efficient alderman.



C. H. CLEMENTI
A Candidate for Alderman

GEO. E. ELLIOTT is a prominent citizen, not only in the city, but throughout the Township of Smith, where for several years he enjoyed the confidence of the people, and filled the responsible position of deputy reeve and reeve, respectively, an experience which, with his natural ability and business aptitude, well qualify him for making a most efficient alderman. It will be no surprise to see Mr. Elliott occupying a seat at the Council board of 1906.

THE BOARD OF EDUCATION.

There are twelve candidates for election of a Board of nine members. Of these twelve, all are members of last year's Board except one, Mr. Dumble, who is a new member only in the sense of not having been a member of last year's Board, having had previous experience as school trustee. It is very likely that the new Board will be composed almost exclusively of last year's members. It is very probable, as it is desirable, that two former chairmen of the Board will be again returned—Mr. Hartley and Dr. Burnham. The latter has, with perhaps one exception the longest term on the Board to his credit, and also to his credit excellent, faithful and well-balanced service. Mr. Hartley has also had a large experience and also given faithful service.

had been very pleasant for him.

The circumstances which made it necessary for Ald. Bagley to leave the council were regretted by him. While he had been elected, endorsed by the Trades and Labour Council, and while he had advocated the planks which they stood for, still on all other questions he had acted independently, he thought. He paid a high compliment to the City Clerk, who he said, was one of the best officials in Canada. He hoped the new year would be pleasant and prosperous to his former aldermanic associates.

R. FAIR
A Candidate for Board of Education

Ald. Crowe, in his address stated that he had no inclination for civic honours, they were forced upon him, and he had decided that he would retire after his first year in the council. During this year he had taken a deep interest in municipal matters, and had enjoyed the year very much. He felt, though, that there were others who could do the work better than he could. He was disappointed, however, that there were not a greater number of business men among the candidates for aldermen.

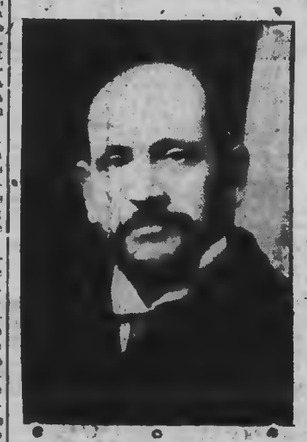
Ald. Adams was of the opinion that the fact of the ratepayers not taking enough interest in the election to attend the nomination was an evidence that they were satisfied with the work of the present council.

Ald. Hicks said he regretted that ing this year. He had found them very agreeable, and the Council this year was harmonious in its workings. He had only the best feelings for both those who were retiring voluntarily, and those who were asking for re-election.

Ald. Johnston testified to a conversion during the two years that he had sat as a member of the Council. He had not been in favour of assisting industries to locate here by giving them free sites, etc., but, while he still believed that the principle was not right, he found that it was a matter of competition, and Peterborough would have to do it if she secured her share of the new industries. With the small inducements which it was necessary to offer to secure the industries to locate here, it was worth while to offer them, and he was firmly convinced that their location here proved of general interest to all classes of the citizens.

Ald. McIntyre endorsed all that had been said in reference to the good qualities of the retiring aldermen. The time which he had spent in the Council had not only been pleasant to him, but it had also been a splendid education. He felt that with that year's experience he would be in a better position to give the city good service. He was sorry to see the six members retiring from the Council, and he felt that the city was losing the services of a number of valuable men.

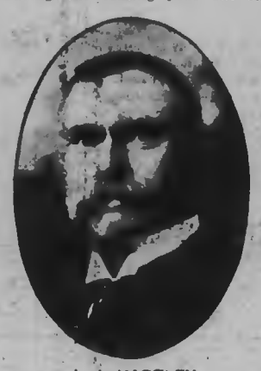
The Mayor took the occasion of thanking the speakers for the many kind remarks which had been made in reference to himself. He was of the same opinion as Ald. Adams, that the presence of so few citizens at the nominations indicated satisfaction with the present Council. If the representation is not agreeable to them, they have the remedy in their power. He paid a high tribute to the good intentions of the various men who had served in the Council in this and preceding years. He believed that without exception they had tried to do their best for the town according to their views.



W. G. FERGUSON
A Candidate for Board of Education

He referred to the policy which he had announced for the coming year, and said that he had that day received some information which would help very materially in his policy of advancement. He was not at liberty to divulge the nature of the information, but he was very agreeably surprised to hear it, as he felt sure every citizen would be when he told them the story.

During the coming year the city would have the opportunity of showing what it is made of. There will be, during the year to come, opportunities for advancement along industrial lines and the Council must be prepared to take advantage of them. There are, he said, only three or four places in Ontario which can become industrial centres, and Peterborough is one of them. The question of power was, in his opinion, the key to the whole question. He believed that in ten years, power, instead of being procurable for $10 per horse power per year, would be worth $30 to $35.



J. J. HARTLEY
A Candidate for Board of Education

After Ald. Mason had addressed the Council briefly, adding his personal regret at the retirement of half the aldermen, and eulogizing them in the usual manner, the following resolution, moved by Ald. Adams, seconded by Ald. Tovey, was passed unanimously, the six aldermen remaining in the field, voting by standing: That this Council regrets the retirement from the Council of Ald. Scott, Batten, Hall, Lowry, Crowe and Bagley, and desires to place on record its appreciation of the valuable services they have rendered to the city as members of the Council.

Mr. George Ball Was Endorsed

Candidature Will be Supported by Trades and Labour Council

The Trades and Labour Council at their meeting last night decided to endorse the candidature of Mr. Geo. Ball for the position of alderman in the municipal elections.

The meeting was attended by a large number of members, and considerable discussion upon local labour topics took place. The chair was occupied by President Chas. Murty.

The only definite action taken was the resolution referred to above. The manifest interest taken by Mr. Ball in the past in labour matters was the subject of considerable comment among those present, and the Council decided as a body to support his claims for aldermanic honours. No action was taken with regard to other candidates.

There appeared to be a division of opinion with regard to the matter of fire protection, the views expressed, however, being, to a large extent, adverse to the firehall proposal.

Last night the annual New Year's entertainment in connection with St. John's church, Blackstock, was held. Rev. John Creighton, D.D., is rector of this church. The tea was held in the town hall, which was packed to the doors, about 350 persons taking tea. After this exercise an adjournment was made to the church, where a delightful entertainment was given. Addresses were given by Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, of Peterborough; Rev. Geo. Scott, of Port Perry, and Rev. Mr. Delve, of Blackstock. An enjoyable musical programme was given.

There will be skating on Monday afternoon and evening at Brock Street Rink if the weather turns cold, which it is expected to do.

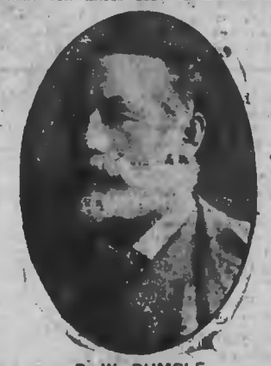
An Exciting Capture Made

Two Horse Thieves Operating in Coboconk District.

Lindsay, Dec. 28th — An exciting story of the capture of a horse-thief come from the Coboconk district. About two weeks ago, two young men names Wiles, stole a team of horses belonging to a liverymen at Coldwater. The team was left at a farm, and the horse thieves took to the woods about ten miles south of Orillia. They landed at Coboconk on the 13th. At that place they hired another team belonging to Mr. T. N. Carr, leaving word they would return about that night, but they failed to do so. Mr. Carr telephoned Constable Brock of Fenelon Falls on the 19th, and the latter got trace of the brothers and followed them as far as No. 3 Camp in Longford. There he obtained a full description of them, but as they had three days start he returned to Fenelon Falls. Information reached him that the thieves passed through Bracebridge on Sunday, the 17th inst. He sent out telegrams, with the result that one of them was captured and the team recovered last Friday about ten miles east of Huntsville.



D. W. DUMBLE
A Candidate for Board of Education

The other man escaped to the woods near Barrie, and was chased by a constable at whom he fired, but fortunately without the shot taking effect. The constable responded with several shots, but the man made his escape and is still at large.

Early Morning Conflagration

House Occupied by Mrs. Hartley Was Destroyed.

The house occupied by Mrs. Hartley, corner of Park and Chamberlen streets, was almost completely destroyed by a fire which occurred at about 3.30 o'clock this morning.

The origin of the conflagration is unknown, but it had obtained considerable headway inside the building before it was discovered. The house is a clap-board structure, and owing to its inflammable nature the flames spread rapidly. The fire-brigade made a fast run to the scene but by the time of its arrival the roof had fallen in. The contents will be practically a total loss. The building was almost completely demolished. It was owned by the Chamberlen estate.

Annual At-Home Of Peterborough Club

The annual "At Home" of the Peterborough Club held last night at the Club Rooms, Bank of Commerce Building, corner Water and Hunter streets, was one of the most delightful social events of the holiday season. In addition to their large and commodious quarters on the third flat, the Club, through the kindness of the respective occupants, was provided with the use of Dr. Morrison's office, Mr. R. E. Wood's office, Dr. Wightman's office and the Trent Canal office, which were temporarily arranged in a manner appropriate to the occasion.

The decorations were of a most elaborate character, the work being artistically done by Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons. Coloured electrical fixtures were much in evidence, and the effect altogether was most attractive.

The guests, who were about two hundred in number, were received by His Honour Judge Weller, President of the Club; Dr. R. P. Boucher, Vice-President, and Mr. Hazen Ritchie, Chairman of the At Home Committee.

The large billiard hall was utilized for dancing. The music provided by the Misses Hurley was exquisite. The whist room was, during the evening, a popular rendezvous for the older people, while the various sitting-out rooms were never lacking in occupants.

Supper was served on the second floor, in the Trent Canal, and Mr. R. E. Wood's offices, the two combined making a large dining hall, capable of seating over 100 guests.

The menu was dainty and recherche, the caterer being Mr. H. Long, who excelled himself. The committee who managed the affair are deserving of the heartiest congratulations upon the result of their efforts. It's personnel was as follows:—Mr. Hazen Ritchie, Chairman; Mr. E. S. Clarry, Hon. Secretary; Major Young, Major L. M. Hayes, Mr. T. D. Mulholland, Mr. W. S. Davidson, Mr. W. H. Cluxton, Mr. G. M. Hamilton, Mr. John Crane and Mr. R. Gliddon.

The Quadrille d'honneur was composed as follows:—

Hon. J. R. Stratton and Mrs. (Major) Young; Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P., and Mrs. (Hon.) J. R. Stratton; Dr. Boucher and Miss Lundy; Mr. Hazen Ritchie and Mrs. J. A. The Peterboro' Choral Society

The rehearsals will be resumed on Tuesday evening next at 8 o'clock, at the Central School. It is expected that every member, without exception, will be present. Excellent progress is being made with the music in hand, but much of course yet remains to be done, and to attain perfection in the rendering of the parious part songs, and choruses, regular attendance is absolutely necessary.

The members are requested to furnish the secretary with the approximate number of tickets for the coming concert likely to be disposed of by them.

Those not having yet paid their membership fees are asked to kindly do so next Tuesday evening.

Merchants Give Their Opinions

A number of the prominent merchants of the city were seen yesterday by The Examiner with reference to the fire-hall bylaw. The merchants, representing, as they do, private business enterprises of considerable magnitude, are naturally vitally interested in the matter of adequate fire protection, and their views for this reason should naturally carry much weight.

MESSRS. LANG & MAHER expressed themselves as thoroughly convinced that a better fire-fighting equipment was an immediate necessity. Considerable stress was laid upon the necessity for a better alarm system.

MR. A. G. DICKSON was favourable to an improvement to the fire-hall. A better equipment was necessary.

MR. W. E. CONROY, of Grafton & Co., gave a most decided affirmative reply to The Examiner's query. "The bylaw should pass," he remarked. The sum asked for is not too large.

MR. HARRY ADAMS expressed a firm belief in the necessity of the proposed improvement. If it is not made at present, it will be in a year or two, and the protection required might as well be enjoyed by the people in the interim.

MR. FRED. A. CLARKE thought the necessity of improvement was urgently necessary, and should by all means be made at once.

MR. J. D. TULLY believed a better equipment was necessary. The present brigade was, in his opinion, doing excellent service.

MR. F. S. Schneider, while he had not considered the question fully in all its details, considered improved fire protection a necessity.

Fire By-Law Suggestions For City Ratepayers

ON MONDAY

The vote of the qualified ratepayers will be cast upon the bylaw to authorize the expenditure of $25,000 to put the fire-fighting equipment of Peterborough upon a city basis.

BY CITY BASIS

Is meant a fire equipment worthy of a progressive city instead of an antiquated out-of-date, disorganized and inefficient collection of comparatively useless equipment—not to be depended upon in case of emergency. Our fire engine is not fit to put out anything except the temper of the people. It can't be depended upon to do any work better than wasting coal.

WE NEED

A chemical engine to be used at the beginning of a blaze. It is light-running, portable and can be got quickly to the scene of a fire and can be used to put out a fire without the destruction by water which in certain cases is worse or as bad as fire.

WE NEED

Longer ladders, [illegible] the upper stories of our shops [illegible] can be reached for the purpose of supporting hose for more effective work or for saving life.

WE NEED

An, first-class fire [illegible] an engine that will be able to get to a fire in any part of the city in a short time. Two or three minutes may easily mean all the difference between $10 loss or $1,000 or $10,000 loss.

WE NEED

A properly constructed and sufficiently commodious fire hall so that there will be room for storing, handling suitable fire appliances—steamer, chemical engine, hose waggon, ladder trucks; that will accommodate horses and men; that will permit us to have and maintain a complete equipment, easily got out and ready for use at any moment day or night.

WE NEED

All these things so that we may have adequate fire protection. If, as some claim, our fire brigade should be re-organized, we pave the way for this by providing suitable quarters and decent appliances.

IT IS NOT

In human nature for men to be be enthusiastic with ramshackle appliances. What would be the state of soldiers sent into battle these days armed with scrap-iron flint-lock muskets? Wouldn't that take the life out of them and turn them into cowards? What esprit de corps can we expect from a fire brigade which is asked to fight fire with a wheezy old engine, which, if it is coaxed or bribed by a $1,000 worth of repairs into spasmodic activity, can't be depended upon five minutes at a stretch? If we wish to have a first-class fire department we must have the tools as well as the men. Give the fire brigade good appliances and then if they don't do good work get men that will do it.

IN ANY EVENT

We must put our fire department up to the mark. We must maintain our good name, our reputation for progressiveness. How will it sound to have it published broad-cast the fact that because "wide-awake" Peterborough refuses to provide proper fire equipment the insurance rate has been advanced? Will that make industries or factories seeking a home rush to Peterborough when it is proclaimed aloud there is no adequate protection of their property against fire? Outsiders for a moment what disenfranchised mean. Will existing manufacturers be encouraged to enlarge their buildings or employ more hands when there is no protection, such as can be had, from fire?

WE HAVE

A splendid system of water works, but they can't do it all. In case of a big fire, many lines of hose lower the pressure, so that tall buildings cannot be reached. Much as we admire the old fire engine, it did good work in giving the Citizal Works from complete destruction. It did its work in the dark of time when the result that the buildings were scorched, instead of being swept away. In that one act the old fire engine saved ten times more property than in its long career of repairs it has cost, including its original price. We must, to be secure and safe, have a new steamer or chemical engine.

WHY DO THE CITIZENS

Of Peterborough spend hundreds of thousands of dollars every year in insurance against fire? Their homes and their shops have stood for years untouched by fire, and they may stand years longer, and the fire may come to-morrow or to-night. People insure to provide against total loss.

WE MAY NOT

Require the use of a new engine for years; it is to be hoped that we shall not. We may need it to-morrow, or to-night, and, in case of a big fire, the loss may be ten times greater than the cost of ten fire-halls, or ten fire engines. A year ago last April, Toronto lost through defective fire equipment, more than the whole assessed value of Peterborough twice told.

IT IS WISE

To be prepared. Since Gibraltar became British — 200 years ago — a thousand black-throated guns have been mounted, with shot and shell ready to hand, and in all that time not a shot has been needed. But the guns were ready. Since 1881 Great Britain has spent thousands of millions on battleships. And in all that half century not a hostile shot has been fired. But the battleships were ready, the empire has been safe, the fleets of the empire have waged commercial war, and won trade victories, and the nation has dwelt in safety. The cost has been worth while.

WE MAY SPEND

$25,000 on a reasonable and efficient fire-fighting equipment, and it may not be needed for years, and it may not be needed to-morrow. Is it not the part of common prudence and common wisdom, to provide for the dreadful emergency of fire?

WE MAY NOT

Need the services of an improved fire equipment, but if we have it we shall feel safe. Humanly speaking, we shall be ready for fire, if it comes.

WE SHALL HAVE

Many advantages, which will far more than offset the cost.

THE OWNERS

Of our great factories, will feel that, in case of fire, they have a chance of being protected; they can feel that if anchor ice throttles the wheels of our water works, that an efficient engine can be counted upon. Their thousands of employees can feel that there is less danger of being put out of their jobs by fire. Our merchants can feel the same security.

THE OWNER

Of a cottage, not covered by the hydrants, can feel that, in case of fire, there is hope of a quick alarm, a quick run and a chance of saving his home. He can know that if the place is worth $900, he will have to pay only 12 1-2 cents a year for this protection; if it is worth $1000, he will only have to pay 25 cents per year.

WITH A PROPER

Fire equipment, we can defy the insurance companies to raise their rates, and thus fine us to the tune of thousands of dollars a year for not providing proper fire-fighting appliances.

WE CAN THEN

All this by voting for, and carrying, on Monday, the bylaw to authorize the expenditure of $25,000, to give us a first class fire equipment.

"THE DAYLIGHT STORE."

The Story of the old year has been told, and we say FAREWELL to 1905. 1906 ushers in an era of peace, happiness and prosperity. It brings good times for one and all.

Correspondence On Current Topics

LETTER FROM "FAIR PLAY."

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Dear Sir,—Much comment is made on the most uncharitable letter written by one, James G. Potter, in Thursday night's Examiner. Surely this is not the Reverend Mr. Potter, a minister of the gospel, teaching the things "that are of Christ," a member of the Ministerial Association, an association that has earned for itself an unenviable notoriety of late in this city, the only explanation being to their respective congregations that she more the people learn of its vindictiveness, the sooner it will sink where it belongs, into oblivion, odds enfre. If the members of that association feel bound by the expressions contained in the letter referred to, "then doing good, disinterested good, is not their trade."

Compare that letter written at Christmas time, "Good will towards all men," with one written by Mr. J. Brooks, the president of the Protestant Association, in this morning's Times. One shows a gentlemanly and charitable consideration for one who has virtually slandered him, the other a dignified affrontery that is damnable. "Persecution is a bad and indirect way of treating religion." Written at a time to unjustly and unrighteously affect the vote on the reduction of licenses to be taken next week to aid the Radical part of the population to free themselves on record as willing to ruin the business and chances of livelihood of some of our best citizens, is evidently the aim and object of the letter. As for the family Mr. J. G. Potter refers to as having been by him spiritually advised and exhorted for a period of nine years with such dire results,—there really was no absolute necessity for them to endure the ordeal. There are other churches for them to frequent, as endless there are other homes just as good as the two mentioned, and with that wishing to be personal in the slightest, is it not enough, more than enough, to sit and listen to the average man who occupies the pulpits for so long a period of time, might that not in itself drive some people whose minds are weak and cannot stand the strain, to excesses whether of drink or otherwise? "No sound should be heard in the church but the lulling voice of Christian charity." How many times, oh, how many, have the holiday properties and their families walked attending places of, professedly, Divine worship, been cowardly insulted, the brush of abuse and contempt of every nature. But these of contrite hearts, the only results. How pleasant for the head of the family to invite his grown up daughters, one time at the Sunday dinner on return from church under such circumstances. The average hotel family are just as good and as pure as the average family of any and all callings in life.

Try and be charitable, gentlemen of the Ministerial Association, and you will not do much harm. Remember you are but men. Your teachings is one very liable to make you narrow-minded and egotistical.

Many of the churches of this city would not have a corporate guard were it not for music and other attractions, largely nothing else to do. And they will lose what little influence they have left, if they do not attend strictly to their own business, for it is a business. They may talk of duty, duty will not prevent their accepting another call if the emolument are greater, nor hasten their departure to another of other fields of labour, though they know their position here might be suffered by other more acceptable to their respective flocks.

FAIR PLAY.

LICENSE REDUCTION.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir, — The municipal electors of this city are to vote next Monday wether they are, or are not, in favour of a reduction in the number of liquor licenses. I submit that if Brantford, with 20,000 population, can get along with only nineteen licensed places, bar-rooms, and shops, and if St. Thomas, with 14,000 people, can get along with only nineteen licensed places, bar-rooms or shops, then Peterborough, with 14,500 people, can get along with fewer than twenty-seven-twenty-one bar-rooms, five shops and one wholesale.

All who love clean boyhood, and clean manhood, with [illegible] they love dollars more than they love boys, vote for the environment which was Gladstone's ideal, a city, "Where it is easy to do good and hard to do wrong." On this score Peterborough certainly can stand improvement.

ARTHUR W. BEALL,
249 Park street, Peterborough.

MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—Peterborough is to be congratulated on the men whose public spirit leads them to offer themselves as candidates for next year's council which can be made a much stronger one than that of this year, if proper discrimination be shown by the electors.

Among the candidates five or more stand out pre-eminently for their ability: I refer to Messrs. Flicks, McWilliams, Mason, Adams and Kelly, and one or two more may be added. It is hoped that the vote given to men so evidently qualified for public office will encourage other good men to offer their services in the future.

CITIZEN.

MR. KENNEDY'S REPLY.

To the Editor of the Examiner,—

Sir, — Mr. Dumble states that in his opinion $50,000 was too much for the city to pay for the Separate school property, and that $9,450 was the money the city had paid for the old buildings on said lot.

The facts are: $50,000 is the money expended jointly by the city and Board of Education, and in the negotiations for said property the Board placed no value on the old buildings, as it was the intention of all parties concerned to have the same removed.

Mr. Dumble stated the Board claimed that by utilizing the old Separate school buildings a saving of $500 per year could be made, and that the Board used this as an argument in having the bylaw for $50,000 passed. The facts are that at the time the citizens of Peterborough passed the law for $50,000 re negotiations had been entered into for securing the Separate school property. On the 9th of May, 1904, the report was made to the Board regarding the passing of the $50,000 bylaw, and on the 25th of May, 1904, negotiations were opened with the Separate school authorities regarding the purchase of their property. I understand it is a fact that Mr. Dumble was very much in favour of a new Collegiate Institute before the bylaw for $50,000 was carried, and that he had a tender in for site for same. Why has Mr. Dumble been so opposed to the scheme since his tender was rejected?

Mr. Dumble states if he is elected on Monday he would advocate disposing of the present site and building on some other lot.

Mr. Dumble states the present lot with an armoury erected thereon would not be a suitable place on account of the noise of artillery, etc., but says nothing of the continuous noise there would be of the trip-hammer working at the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Company's foundry, or the noise of the trains, which would have to be endured by the pupils if the Institute were built on this lot.

In conclusion I would state I have every respect for Mr. Dumble's judgment, but it is a known fact that no judge can give impartial judgment on a case when he is a party that may be affected by the said decision.

As a member of the Board I strongly advocated the purchase of the present property, and still believe it is in the most central and most suitable lot in the city on which to erect a Collegiate Institute, and am still in favour, as a citizen, of supporting an expenditure of $50,000 to $70,000 for a building in keeping with the ideal site secured and the general progress of the city.

Thanking you,

H. P. KENNEDY.

LICENSE REDUCTION.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I have no doubt that those promoting the License Reduction Bylaw are in earnest and honest in their efforts, but this may be easily a kind of misdirected energy. I read in the Montreal Witness that Archbishop Bruchesi has sent out a strong pastoral letter on temperance, to be read from every altar, deploring its evils and urging the strongest fight against all its features, especially the treating habit and urging the formation of adult and juvenile temperance societies in every parish. Now this is a good move. And it strikes me that if the Ministerial Association would imitate St. Peter's Cathedral and organize in every congregation — a temperance society as strong as the St. Peter's Total Abstinence Society, they would be doing ten times more good than by reducing the licenses by a dozen. Besides that would be in a line with their regular vocation and not a sort of meddling and marring in municipal politics.

Yours truly,
TRUE TEMPERANCE.

MR. DUMBLE ANSWERED.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I have read with interest the letter of Mr. D. W. Dumble in reply to Mr. Kennedy's letter of a recent date, and while I have neither the time nor desire to enter into any newspaper controversy with Mr. Dumble, for whom I have the highest regard, yet as a member of last year's Property Committee, I should like to refer to the clause in his letter referring to the heating of the Central School. Much ado has been made about this matter and publicity has been given to only one side of the question.

The fact is the old heating system of this school has not been satisfactory for years, if the persistent complaints of the school authorities can be counted for anything. Finally the old boiler gave out entirely and the committee consulted the best authority here, who pronounced it unfit and unsafe. Now, Mr. Editor, it may, and is the right of any citizen to criticize any expenditure of public money, but, to my mind, there is no justification for a public body to dabble over an expenditure for a heating system, where a condemned boiler might blow up at any time and sacrifice the lives of hundreds of children. My own children attend that school, and I consider that any laxity in dealing with the condition of affairs then existing would have been condemned by the people.

That the old boiler was repaired and does duty in a secondary capacity in the Cordage Co., does not mean that it would be right and proper to leave the old wreck under a public school. The public look to the Board to protect their children, and action was taken along this line with that end in view. I grant there is a slight defect in the heating of the basement rooms—not so serious as Mr. Dumble states—but these rooms never should be used for little children to spend their hours in and whatever defect there is, has not been remedied, because we had hoped soon to give Miss Warner and her kindergarten class more respectable quarters.

Yours truly,
JOHN CRANE.

LICENSE REDUCTION.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—On Monday we vote on two by-laws. Those who vote for the reduction of licenses, vote for an increase of $1 which equivalent to the license fees of the hotels cut off. Suppose these hotel licenses are cut off that means a reduction of revenue of $710. The license fee for a hotel is $200. Of this the government gets about half. So that the cutting off of three licenses means a loss of revenue of $350 a year. This seems to me to be playing pretty largely for a doubtful benefit. I doubt very much that a decrease of hotels will lessen drinking. It appears to me that it will tend to concentrated drinking and increase the profits of the remaining hotels.

The more frequenters a hotel has the greater the drinking, because it permits the increased play of the treating system, one of the greatest curses in connection with the drink habit. If the town wants to make a real reform, let it apply for legislation permitting the passing of a by-law to suppress treating. It has power now to decrease the number of licenses. If it had power to pass and enforce an anti-treating bylaw, more good would be done. Treating is the foundation stone of drunkenness. A man is pretty far gone when he goes into a hotel to take a drink for the sake of a drink. But thousands of young men are decoyed into the maelstrom of drunkenness by the treating system—the serpent that tempts to the full. Let us be reasonable in our actions.

Yours etc.,
CITIZEN.

Was Edwards Towns' Death

RESULT OF OVERDOSE

Of Opiate, Self-Administered?

Is the Subject of Investigation Before Coroner's Jury—Relatives Believe That Suspicious Circumstances Surround the Death of Young Man—Supposed to Have Suicided at Hogan's Hotel, East City, on Saturday—Jury Was Empanelled Last Night—Autopsy Held To-day.

Insomnia was the cause assigned for the death by laudanum poisoning on Saturday afternoon in East City of Edward Towns. But the question of whether the deadly opiate was self-administered or, indeed, whether the deplorable circumstance of his death was due to this cause or to one more sinister, remains to be determined by a coroner's jury.

Towns was a steady young man, of industrious habits, and was an employee of P. Hogan's hotel, in East City. On Saturday afternoon he, it appears, while discharging his usual duties, had a slight altercation with an acquaintance who was at the hotel. No particular significance was attached to the occurrence by witnesses, at the time.

Following this, the young man retired to his room. This passed, unnoticed, for a time, until his continued absence gave grounds for a visit to his room, where he was discovered in a comatose condition. Naturally alarmed at the discovery, the proprietor of the house, to whom it was reported, at once summoned Dr. McNulty, who, upon his arrival, ordered the removal of the patient to St. Joseph's Hospital, where after several hours he expired, despite the utmost efforts of his attendants.

The deceased is stated to have been a victim of insomnia, and it was generally thought that, in order to secure a much needed repose, he had resorted to the use to laudanum, and had taken an overdose of the deadly opiate. The young man was discovered at about one o'clock, and his death occurred at about six. The patient recovered consciousness sufficiently to explain somewhat intelligently that he had taken a quantity of the drug. The most careful attention was given the sufferer during the afternoon, and he appeared to be progressing satisfactorily till just previous to the end, when he collapsed suddenly into a condition from which he never rallied.

Te deceased was a brother of Mr. P. G. Towns, postmaster at Douro, and leaves two brothers, Paul and Joseph, and two sisters, Minnie and Teresa, all of whom reside in Douro.

Coroner Grey was notified on Saturday evening of the circumstances of the case, and upon making investigation an inquest was demanded by the relatives of the deceased, the bruises on the [illegible] untoward circumstances surrounding the death giving rise to a belief that a full investigation of the facts was imperative. It was decided to hold the inquest last night at 7 o'clock at the police court. Dr. Grey presided. Crown Attorney H. E. Wood and High Constable George Cochrane were in attendance. A coroner's jury was empanelled as follows:

Chas. Westlake, foreman.
Wm. Henry.
Thos. Edw. Fitzgerald.
John McGrath.
Alex. Richardson.
Elgin Chand.
Martin McNamara.
Erasmus Green.
David Wallace.
John Taylor.
Robt. Shear.
Wm. Stockdale.
Pennington Alexander.
Andrew Hall.

The facts of the case as they had come to his knowledge were briefly presented by Dr. Grey. He had first been informed of the circumstances upon Saturday evening, and upon consultation with Dr. McNulty, the latter had given his opinion that death had resulted from the swallowing of about one ounce of laudanum. Half of that amount would, in the coroner's opinion, be sufficient to cause death. At the request of the brother of the deceased, Mr. P. G. Towns, of Douro, and Rev. Father Keilty, the holding of an inquest was determined upon. The first step in connection with the inquest was, in his opinion, a post-mortem examination to determine as to whether the wounds upon the head were sufficient to cause, death, and also that an analysis might be made of the contents of the stomach. The inquest was adjourned till this morning at 11 o'clock, when the jury met at Lane & Eano's undertaking rooms, Hunter street, where the body was viewed.

Immediately after this the autopsy was performed by Dr. Malcolm McCulloch, assisted by Dr. Carmichael. An analysis of the contents of the stomach will be made.

Local Option By-Laws Carried In County

Results of the Elections in the County Yesterday—In Three Municipalitis Local Option Was Voted On—A Strong Support for Temperance Sentiment—The Municipal Elections.

In three municipalities yesterday in the County of Peterborough the question of local option was voted on, and in all three it was carried by substantial majorities. The interest in this question overshadowed that of the municipal elections, in which in the majority of cases, there was little interest taken.

Results of the elections in the different municipalities are given below:

LOCAL OPTION IN OTONABEE.

Complete returns for the voting on local option in Otonabee township yesterday are not available yet but the probabilities are that there will be a majority of about 200 in favour of the bylaw.

The figures received up to the present are:

	For.	Agst.	Maj.
Keene	101	39	62
Mather's	64	22	42
Villiers			26
Grady's	63	43	19

Figures for Garvin's and Stewart's have not yet reached the office, but they will increase the majority.

At Keene, Villiers and Mather's vote was much larger than was expected; the result also was a much larger majority than the most hopeful local option people expected.

There was no election for councillors, and it was thought that not many would come out to vote on local option. At Keene a number of women ratepayers voted. It was thought that on account of the quiet and orderly hotel that Mr. Kennealey keeps that many people who would have, under other circumstances, voted for local option, would support him.

LOCAL OPTION CARRIED.

Special to The Examiner.

Lakefield, January 2. — No election in recent years has created the interest in Lakefield which that of yesterday did. There was considerable excitement, by reason of the intense interest aroused in the election on account of the local option feature.

An exceptionally large number of votes were polled, the different factions working hard to get at the vote.

The local option bylaw was carried, the vote standing 182 for, and 141 against, a majority of 41.

Mr. J. S. Moore, the opponent of local option was elected Reeve over A. J. Kidd, who supported the bylaw, the vote being 176 to 142, a majority of 32 for Moore. Of the four councillors elected, three are in favour of local option and one opposed, the vote being:

John Cornish 196
Robert Duff 177
B. J. Burgess 176
Robert Carter 153

The two who were not elected were:

Robert Lennox 139
George Beptie 111

Councillors—D. W. Squires, M. E. Knox, A. B. Greenbank and W. J. Webster.

The fifth candidate, C. Elliott, was not elected. There was no contest for School Trustee, the whole Board being elected by acclamation.

Meetings At Stewart's Hall

Rev. E. A. Langfeldt began last Sunday a Church of England service at Stewart's Hall, Otonabee, which he intends to hold regularly every first Sunday of the month, the next one to be on Sunday, Feb. 4th, at 2.30. A large congregation was present and took reverent part in the service. Mr. Langfeldt preached an earnest sermon from the text, St. John xvii, 4, "I have glorified thee on earth; I have finished the work Thou gavest, Me to do." Prayer books and hymn books are provided at these services.

Thumb Severed At Sawing Bee

Accident Occurred and S. Thompson is Victim.

Special to the Examiner

Benstort, Jan. 1.—Mrs. Pacey, of Shelbourne, and Miss Laura Wood, of Lakefield, are visiting friends here.

Miss Jessie Emberson who has been attending Port Hope High School, is spending her vacation at her home here.

Mrs. Gibbs, of Peterborough, is visiting her sister, Mrs. F. Thompson.

Mr. Joseph Kerr, of Manitoba, is spending a few weeks with his parents.

A most successful and high class entertainment was held in the Sunday School hall on Tuesday night, Dec. 25th, when a splendid programme consisting of solos, choruses, dialogues and recitations was given. The choruses by the children are deserving of special mention, and Miss Kerr who had charge of the training of the children, deserves great credit for the excellent rendering of their several numbers.

While working at a sawing, Stewart Thompson had the misfortune to lose a thumb. He was employed in rolling away blocks and in some way his hand caught and the thumb completely severed. He is doing as well as can be expected.

At the close of the term Miss Kerr, the popular teacher of the Benefort school, was presented with a handsome jewel case by her pupils, as a slight token of the high esteem in which she is held by them.

New Year's Nuptials

FITZSIMMONS—LYNCH.

Yesterday morning a pleasing wedding ceremony took place at St. Peter's cathedral. At six o'clock Miss Loretto Lynch, daughter of Mrs. Jas. Lynch, 556 Aylmer street, was married to Mr. Edmund Michael Fitzsimmons, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Dr. O'Brein.

Miss Maud Fitzsimmons, sister of the groom, acted as bridesmaid, while Mr. Jas. Fitzsimmons, brother of the groom, acted as groomsman.

After the wedding the bridal party drove to the residence of the bride's mother, where a dainty wedding breakfast was served, and the happy couple left on the 8 o'clock train for Toronto on their honeymoon trip, and on their return they will reside at 556 Aylmer street.

Never Learn's Annual Hop

Most Delightful Social Success Last Night.

The annual "At Home" of the Never Learn Club, given last night in the Foresters' Hall, Simcoe street, was a charming social success. The hall was tastefully decorated in holiday style and Maiorani's harp orchestra furnished delightful music for the dance. There were about 100 guests present including many from Toronto, Port Hope, Lindsay and surrounding places. Mr. T. Hooper catered for the occasion in a most acceptable manner. The pleasure enjoyed by the many delighted guests was much enhanced by the excellent services of the Committee of Management with Mr. Willis Garrow as honourary secretary. The guests will cherish very pleasant recollections of the hospitality of the Never Learn Club.

Knocked Down by Runaway Team

Mrs. Hardill, Cedar Street, Painfully Injured.

On Saturday evening about 5:30 Mrs. W. Hardell, Cedar street, was the victim of a most unfortunate accident. Mrs. Hardell was returning home and was waiting for a shunting freight train that was at the crossing at the corner of Hunter and Bethune streets, to pass, when a runaway team dashed up the street and struck her, knocking her violently to the pavement and inflicting some severe gashes on her face. She was carried to Dr. Scott's surgery where her injuries were attended to, after which she was conveyed to her residence.

Mrs. Hardell is confined to her bed at present and has sustained a severe shock as the result of the accident. It is particularly fortunate for Mrs. Hardell that none of her bones were broken.

From Japanese sources it has been learned that the Chinese Eastern Railway has been destroyed or crippled in so many ways by the Russians that a year and a half will be required to put the line in good working order.

HERE'S WHAT MAY BEFALL IN 1906

Here are Spangler's prophecies for 1906:

The dissolution of Russia.
The overthrow of Turkey.
The assassination of the Czar of Russia.
The assassination of the Sultan of Turkey.
The prevention of three wars by President Roosevelt.
A protracted race-war in the South.
Destructive spring floods in the United States.
A destructive eruption of Mount Vesuvius.
The activity of Mont Pelee and Popocatapetl.
Volcanic eruptions in all parts of the world.
The eruption of many volcanoes now supposed to be extinct.
Great loss of life at sea by storms.
Destruction of two western cities by cyclones.
Earthquakes in all parts of the world.
Destructive earthquakes in California and the Philippines.
Rebellion in Spain.
Great disturbances all over Europe.

Spangler says further that the summer of 1906 will be hot and sultry throughout the temperate zone, with extensive death rate.

That Christ will make his spirit felt among the peoples of the United States and England, in which countries there are to be fervent religious and potent political movements which are to overcome in a great degree the present spirit of graft and commercialism.

That the United States will continue as a world power and the leader of other nations.

That Pennsylvania is to have an administration of the people and that discoveries of corruption will be made which will drive some of the guilty to suicide.

That God will wreak terrible vengeance upon the Russians for the massacre of the Jews.

A Big Casting.

The Toronto World, of Saturday, December 30th, has the following:

What is said to be the largest cross-casting ever made in Canada has been made by Reid & Brown of the Esplanade Foundry. It is nine feet square and four feet in diameter. The casting, which is in the form of a cross, was a notable feature on the streets yesterday on its way to the Consumers' Gas Company, who are to use it for a main pipe. This casting is a credit to the firm who made it, as it was not thought possible to make it this side of Pittsburg, Pa.

Mr. Norman Reid of the firm of McGregor & Reid, Peterborough is a son of the senior member of the above firm, and is at present visiting ing the home of his parents in Rosedale.

THE NEW BOOKSHOP'S

"HAPPY NEW YEAR" TO ALL ITS PATRONS

The fact that the New Bookshop was not completely fitted up and stocked until after the Christmas Trade was well begun, might have been a good reason for a poor start and a slim business. But the reverse has proved to be the case. Notwithstanding all our disadvantages, we were greeted with a volume of business entirely beyond our expectations.

For the want of enough salespeople many customers had to go away unserved—a circumstance which we especially regrst. But our first Holiday Greeting can truly be one of gratitude to the public of Peterborough for the hearty opening welcome the New Bookshop has received

Dairying The Great Industry Of The Nation

Mr. R. G. Murphy, Secretary Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association, Addresses Open Letter to Peterboro' District Dairymen on the Coming Convention—Will be the Most Successful in Association's History—The Importance of the Dairying Interests is Referred To—Convention on January 10th, 11th and 12th, 1906.

Mr. G. A. Gillespie, of the firm of White & Gillespie, returned last Friday night from Brockville, where he has been on business in connection with the coming convention of the Eastern Ontario Dairymens' Association for the last few days. Mr. Gillespie while on his trip saw the president, Mr. D. Derbyshire, and the secretary, Mr. R. G. Murphy, of the Association, and they are enthusiastic over the prospects for the success of the convention. They believe that it will be in every respect the greatest in the history of the Association.

The growing importance of the dairy industry is known to everyone, and there are few persons who are not interested, directly or indirectly in it.

Mr. Murphy has addressed the following open letter to the Dairymen and other residents of the Peterborough District. It explains itself:—

Gentlemen,—We hope, the readers of The Examiner have not overlooked the notice of the convention of the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association, which is to be held there on the 10th, 11th, and 12th of January, 1906, and which is to be found in another column of this paper. The importance of this convention to the dairymen of Eastern Ontario, and particularly in this locality, cannot be overestimated. The dairy industry has grown from very small proportions, until now, it is the great national industry of this Dominion. Its growth has really been phenomenal and has marked a degree of prosperity amongst the farmers that no other business has done. It has not only brought us great returns in money, but indirect benefits in increasing the fertility of our farms and improving the type of our stock. The year just closed has been a very profitable one, for the dairymen of this province, good prices prevailed during the whole season and it will be of the utmost importance to the farmer to prepare for seasons not so favourable, as bad seasons are sure to come, sooner or later, and therefore the farmers should be thinking and making preparations that would tide them over bad seasons, by getting all the information possible bearing upon their particular business.

Some years ago it was generally believed that we had about reached the limit of our cheese production without incurring the risk of glutting the English market and bringing in about an era of low prices, but the experiences of this season, just passed, inspires us with confidence in the future of the English market. In spite of a big make and high prices the Englishmen demands our Canadian cheese and it is not too much to say that its superior quality has much to do with this demand. The English consumer likes a good article and we have been able to satisfy his fastidious taste and secure his trade and we must not lag behind in making further improvements and this convention that is about to be held is one of the best educators that has been or will be held in our community for some time. Be sure and come to the convention and be in attendance at all its sessions and there learn more of your own business and thus be enabled to put more skill into it and get more profit out of it.

While it is impossible to predict prices for our dairy products for the coming season, yet, the statistical position of the market points to another profitable season, next year, but it will require the co-operation of our Dairymen's Association, our Dairy Schools, the Departments of Agriculture at Ottawa and Toronto, of the Inspectors, Factorymen, farmers and shippers to keep our dairy products to the front in the markets of the world.

The measure of success we attain will be the measure of progress and prosperity of the farming community of this beloved Province of Ontario.

Come to the convention and find out our successes and failures and I am sure that you will go home with a better knowledge of your business and will be repaid for the trouble of attending.

Wishing every dairyman the compliments of the season, I am,

Yours very truly,
R. G. MURPHY,
Secretary E. O. D. Association.

BRAIN AND NERVE

DEPENDENT ON CERTAIN ELEMENTS OF NATURE, WHICH ARE FOUND IN

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

The Christian Scientists are right enough when they claim that the mind influences the body.

Worry, excessive mental toil and strong emotions consume nervous energy at an enormous rate.

Rest of mind and body is essential for the restoration of the exhausted nervous system.

But the mind is dependent on the brain, and the brain in turn is a bundle of nerve cells, which are nourished and sustained by pure, rich blood. Hence the absolute necessity of supplying the elements from which blood is made.

These elements of nature which go to form new rich blood and revitalize wasted and depleted nerve cells are found in splendid proportions in Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

By using this great food cure you supply the material substances from which are found brain and nerve force.

By all means have a cheerful, hopeful mind, but do not depend on this to make you strong and well or you will be terribly disappointed when it is forever too late.

It may take weeks or even months to thoroughly restore your health with Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, but you can be absolutely certain that every dose of the great food cure is at least of some benefit to you.

Mrs. J. B. Huffman, 268 Reid street, Peterborough, Ont., and whose husband is employed at the Canadian General Electric Co., states:

"For over a year I suffered with nervous headache and feelings of weakness and dizziness would come over me. My nervous system seemed weak and exhausted, and hearing of the success of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I began using it. I am now pleased to state that the headaches do not bother me any more and my system is entirely built up and restored."

The healthful complexions, the well-rounded forms, the energy and elasticity of movements characteristic of persons who have used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food are the strongest evidence of its wonderful restorative influence. 50 cents a box, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Presentation to A Popular Lady

Miss M. Tracy Honoured by Hastings Citizens.

Special to The Examiner.

Havelock, Jan. 1.—On Friday afternoon, December 22, a number of friends and ex-pupils of Miss M. Tracy assembled at the Separate School to bid her farewell. Miss Tracy has been the principal of the Hastings Separate School for five years, and at no time during its history has this school stood such a high standard as it has while under her charge. The following address was read, after which a beautiful gold watch and chain were presented by the pupils and ex-pupils to their departing teacher:

Dear Miss Tracy,—

It is with profound regret that we, the pupils of the Hastings Separate School, find ourselves assembled for the last time to answer your roll-call to duty—a duet which may mean a severance of our present associations, but never of those fond ties which have bound us so securely in love and reverence, as teacher and pupils during the past five years.

In this statement are also included those who have passed out from your influence, on up the educational ladder to higher spheres in their search after knowledge, in which we know they will at all times be materially assisted by the influence of your early training.

Our parents, whose maturer minds can better grasp your true worth as a teacher, ask us to acknowledge their great debt of gratitude, and to accept their warmest thanks for your untiring labour in their behalf, which has been the means of relieving them all those years of much care and anxiety, thus making home life easier and happier as a result of your very able training.

No greater tribute than this can we give—the united praise of parents and pupils—and, while we regret very deeply the necessity of your departure, we hope that the newer fields of usefulness to which you are called may be brighter and greener to your mind than those which you are leaving, but, of one thing rest assured—for all time to come the love and respect of the children of the Hastings Separate School will be yours.

We ask you, as a slight memento of our affection, to accept this watch.

Your Devoted Pupils of Hastings Separate School.

Miss Tracy, though taken completely by surprise, very feelingly replied in a few appropriate words.

North Dummer Dairy Company Annual Meeting

Business for the Season Was Quite Satisfactory—Reports Presented and Officers Elected—Mr. Carveth Presided—Mr. and Mrs. Carveth Presented With Gift From Children.

ENTERTAINMENT AT ZION CHURCH

Special to The Examiner.

Halls Glen, Dec. 27.—Mr. and Mrs. Mrs. W. H. McCracken, of Brussels, are spending their Christmas vacation among their many friends here.

A large number from this neighbourhood attended the Sunday school entertainment at Warsaw on Christmas night.

The annual meeting of the N. D. D. Company was held in the factory on Tuesday of last week at which the year's accounts were presented and the steady progress of the company well shown up. Considerable business was also transacted and the officers elected for the ensuring year are as follows:—

President—Wm. Carveth.
Secretary—G. Crowe.
Treasurer—H. A. Moore.
Board of Management—Messrs. W. Carveth, H. A. Moore, R. Hunter, E. Beckel and F. Jory.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Wm. Carveth was the scene of Christmas festivity at which the family were all present except one, Melvin, who has not returned from the west. One of the chief features of the day was a presentation to the host and hostess. The address was as follows:

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Carveth:

Dear Parents,—We, thy children, have often thought that we would like in some way to show our esteem and appreciation of your kindness, labour, toil and care, over us during our childhood, when we were unable to care for ourselves; your hands have never been slow in providing for us a home in, which, when we have grown up and separated from your care, yet when we return, we have always been made welcome as ever before. Therefore we would ask you to accept this hanging lamp as a small token of our gratitude and thankfulness, and may it give you light in your old age, to peruse that sacred Word from which you have so framed and built, moulded and fashioned our lives and characters that you have set before us each an example as have been the means of improving both our moral and spiritual welfare.

Wishing you both a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Signed on behalf of your children.

A Proposal to Extend the Line

Mount Pleasant Residents Want Radial Railway.

Special to The Examiner

Mount Pleasant, Jan. 1st. — The great question before the electors of the township of Cavan in this municipal election for councillors for 1906 is the opening of the two roads through the Cavan swamp that have been closed since creation, and which will shorten the distance in going to and from Peterborough about eight miles. Those living west of the swamp have sent in numerous petitions asking the council to open these roads for the public to travel on, but they still remain closed. It's true the drainage scheme has been in agitation for several years past, and it may remain on the shelf for years to come—suitable for election campaigns, so that the public living west of the Cavan swamp must continue to travel the round-about road to reach their market, the city of Peterborough, unless the proposed branch of the C.P.R. running from Peterborough to Georgian Bay is located through the swamp, and we are given a station near the village of Mount Pleasant. This would be a great boon for the village and locality. Or the Radial Railway Company of Peterborough might run a line through here to Omemee and Lindsay. This would be a great benefit to the farming community, as well as the villages en route and the town of Lindsay. If we could copy the energetic way of doing business, as seen in the city of Peterborough, our roads would have been opened long ago, and our township would be No. 1 in the list of progressive communities.

HAIR SOFT AS SILK

New Scientific Treatment Kills Dandruff Germs, and Makes Hair Soft.

It is an accepted fact, a proven fact, that dandruff is a germ disease; and it is also a demonstrated fact that Newbro's Herpicide kills the dandruff germ. Without dandruff falling hair would stop, and thin hair would thicken. Herpicide not only kills the dandruff germ, but it also makes hair as soft as silk. It is the most delightful hair dressing made. It cleanses the scalp from dandruff and keeps it clean and healthy. Itching and irritation are instantly relieved and permanently cured. There's nothing "just as good." Take no substitute. Ask for "Herpicide." Sold by leading druggists. Send ten cents in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Company, Detroit, Mich. EDITORIAL NOTES.

Mrs. Bolton aged 105 is still living in Hamilton, and the other day attended the funeral of her son, aged 75 years. This proves how greatly a quiet life in quiet and unexciting environment is conducive to long life.

Mr. Thomas Crawford, M.P.P., West Toronto, seems to be a very small man in a very large frame. Admitting that Crawford, Coatsworth and Spence are all temperance men, admitting that it is necessary for the provincial temperance organization to have a secretary and a competent one; admitting that Mr. Spence has performed his work satisfactorily to his organization—as must be admitted by his being re-elected from year to year; knowing that Mr. Spence is an honest temperance man from principle, then, is it not pretty small business to have Crawford, a temperance man, referring in the recent Mayoralty contest to "Spence making a business of temperance," while "Coatsworth was a temperance man from principle." Tom, Whitney must have sized you up correctly. Don't do that kind of talking any more.

ENGLISH UNEMPLOYED.

Bystander.

The number of the unemployed in England, to which notice the other day was tragically called, is probably due to more causes than one. One cause is no doubt emigration, carrying off the strong and leaving the weak, including unsupported women. Another cause may be the influx from the country into the cities producing congestion in the city labour market. But a third cause probably is the action of trade unions in fixing a rate of wages and forbidding the labourer to take less. This practically shuts out of employment those whose labour is not worth the regulation wage. Trade unions have unquestionably raised the condition of the labourer. They have done much good, and are capable by extension on right lines, of doing more. But their best friends will tell them that they, like other people, may be tempted to abuse newly-won power, and to do that which would presently bring on a collision between them and the rights of the community at large, with results that may easily be foreseen.

Special Meetings at the "City Mission" 364½ Water Street commencing Sunday January 1st and continuing every night, except Saturday Nights until further notice. Rev. Salvation Army Immigration Enterprise

Peterboro' the Headquarters of the Ontario Agency—Adjt. Jennings in Charge—Steamer Chartered for Several Voyages—Ten Thousand to be Brought Out This Year---Putting Farmers in Touch With Hands.

LAST YEAR'S SUCCESS TO BE TRIPLED

The importance of Peterborough as a district, as well as a provincial centre is recognized by the appointment of Adjutant Jennigs, the chief officer of the Salvation Army, in Peterborough, as immigration agent for Ontario in the interests of the Salvation Army immigration scheme, with headquarters in Peterborough.

This scheme generally stated, is to select suitable subjects for immigration in the Old Country, to forward them to Canada, to take charge of them on arrival and to see them to their destination generally arranged for beforehand.

The British Salvation Army Agency makes a careful selection of immigrants based on character, habits of industry and steadiness. The Army agency there has chartered a steamer for three voyages and will have control of those embarking on it and and the immigrants coming upon this ship will be under the direct and full control of the army officers. Intoxicating drink will be entirely forbidden, and there will be daily addresses made to the assembled immigrants by officers familiar with the subject upon the conditions which may be expected to be found in Canada, the conditions necessary to success and similar information that will help those willing to be helped.

Meanwhile the Canadian agency covering all sections of the country from east to west, will be occupied in ascertaining what farmers require employees, those farmers applying being supplied with blanks to be filled in setting forth the kind of farm hands they require. On the arrival of the immigrants they are taken in charge by the officials of the Canadian agency at the port of arrival and distributed to the points to which they are assigned. Here the local officials take them in hand and direct them to the individual employers. In cases where the employer is not within easy reach of the distributing centre, such as Peterborough will be for Ontario, the immigrant is furnished with a card of identification and introduction to his future employer. Farmers wishing to apply for farm hands will be supplied with blank forms of application on applying to Adjutant Jennings, 718 George street. A supply will also be found at The Examiner office.

This year the Army expects to handle about 10,000 immigrants, as compared with 4,000 handled last year.

The success which attended the enterprise of the Army last year is warrant for expecting still greater success the coming season. Last year the immigrants sent out by the Army were well satisfied with their employment in the vast majority of cases. The farmers were also well satisfied—in some cases very greatly pleased. The Army officials received many letters of acknowledgment, thanking them for their services in supplying them with farm hands, and, in not a few cases, the thanks tendered were accompanied by the gift of a five-dollar bill. The local distribution last year, through Adjutant Jennings, who was in charge of the city Salvation Army Corps, was generally of a very satisfactory character. At the present time there are about fifty emigrants per week arriving; but, with the opening of spring the rush will come.

In undertaking this work the Salvation Army is doing a triple good—transplanting the inhabitues of the congested districts of the Old Land, where there is no hope of any permanent or substantial betterment of conditions, to a country where every honest, industrious and thrifty man may become a freeholder and owner of an estate—or what answers for an estate—a farm. The Army is also conferring a favour upon the farming community, who are placed at serious disadvantage from lack of farm help. It is also adding to the population of the country, and helping to develop its practically infinite resources, and encouraging the the production of bread to put into mouths of the teeming population of the Motherland. In a word, the Salvation Army, which has won and holds the confidence of all classes, both here and at Home, is doing a splendid work in building upon this continent, an empire within the empire, and incidentally bringing hope, happiness, comfort and competence to tens of thousands to whom these conditions have long been as dreams with but distant hope of realization.

Rev. Fr. Curtin Preached Sermon

Rev. Father Wm. Curtin, of the Washington, D.C., University, has been spending a few days in the city, the guest of his cousin, Mr. Jos. Maher. At the 10 o'clock Mass at St. Peter's Cathedral yesterday, he preached the sermon. Rev. Father Curtin left at noon to-day for Washington.

Correspondence On Current Topics

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Dear Sir,—I am glad to see that among other matters of interest the question of the city water supply is at the present time receiving some attention, but probably not as much as its importance demands. With your permission I shall make a few remarks on the subject that I hope may be of interest to your numerous readers.

In the minds of a great many people very erroneous ideas exist as to the purity of water. There is in nature no such thing as pure water. Rain water collected in the open after a prolonged period of rainfall is the nearest approach to it, and even that contains numerous impurities. When absolutely pure water is required it is obtained by the process of distillation, but the cost of preparing distilled water puts its use for general purposes out of the question. Besides, it is not agreeable for drinking, being insipid and unpalatable. Certain impurities, therefore, are rather desirable than otherwise in drinking water.

Impurities in water may be divided into two classes. First, chemical, consisting of dissolved salts of various kinds. Some of these are always present in hard water, and to their presence it owes its hardness. These are chiefly salts of lime, and are not considered injurious unless present in very large quantities. Various other salts may be present, according to the character of the soil, over or through which the water has passed. In most cases, however, they are harmless, or even beneficial, except when they come from sewage contamination, and even then it is doubtful if the salts in themselves are harmful, but they indicate the presence of other things that are dangerous. This brings us to the second class of impurities the biological, which consists of suspended particles of vegetable matter, spores of microscopic plants, but chiefly, and most important, bacteria of many kinds. It is a mistake to suppose that all kinds of bacteria are dangerous, as many of them are harmless, or even necessary, to the human organism. There are, however, a number of kinds, spoken of as pathogenic species, or disease-producing germs, that are dangerous, and if any drinking water contains very large numbers of bacteria, especially if there is any suspicion of sewage contamination, it is considered undesirable, even when tests fail to detect the presence of dangerous species, because the conditions are evidently favourable for the growth of bacteria, and though there may be no disease-producing forms present to-day, they may be present to-morrow.

Purification.

Within recent years, since bacteriology became a recognized branch of science, processes have been devised for the purification of water for drinking purposes. The only method that is of practical importance is filtration through sand, accompanied, in some cases, with the precipitation of the chemical impurities. There are two filtration processes that are worthy of some attention, known respectively as Natural Filtration and Mechanical Filtration. Besides these there is what is known as slow filtration, but, so far as I know, it is not used in this country except in a few places in connection with what is known as the septic tank method for the treatment of sewage. The natural filtration method is in operation at Hamilton, Port Hope and other places. At Brantford they have a modification of it. At the two first-mentioned places reservoirs have been excavated in the sand near the lake shore, into which water percolates from the lake, and from which it is pumped into the mains. At Brantford there exists what is known as a "collecting gallery." Throughout a considerable area of sandy or gravelly soil, enclosed by a bend of the Grand River, is laid a network of perforated tile pipe on a substratum of clay considerably below the level of the river. Water percolates through the soil, enters these pipes, and drains off into a suitably situated pump well. As this system, however, would not be suited to the conditions existing here, it need not be further discussed.

Mechanical Filtration.

The American expert who recently "went over the ground" here was either incorrectly reported or else he was seriously mistaken when he asserted that there were no mechanical filtering systems in Ontario. There has been in successful operation at the City of St. Thomas for sixteen years, and more recently the system has been put into operation at Chatham, Smith's Falls, Renfrew and other places. It consists in forcing the water, under pressure from the pumps through artificial filters before it enters the mains. These filters are large steel cylinders, the ones at St. Thomas being eight feet in diameter, and twenty feet long, and nearly filled with clean sands. The water enters from the top, and after passing through the sand goes out at the bottom. The filters are cleaned once a day by reversing the flow of water for a time, allowing it to overflow into a waste pipe.

The St. Thomas System.

As Chatham and St. Thomas are both cities in which the requirements are similar to our own, it may not be out of place to give a brief description of the plant at the latter place. The water is taken from the Kettle Creek, a small stream, fed chiefly from the drainage of an agricultural district, and therefore very much inferior to the same available here, both in quantity and quality. A dam across the creek produces a storage reservoir, from which the water is let in by a sluice gate to an artificial precipitation reservoir, constructed in the flats adjoining the creek. From this the water is allowed to flow as required to a pump well. At present there are six filters as described above, each with a capacity of half a million gallons per day. There are three pumping engines, with a total capacity of nine or ten million gallons per day. The system as stated above has been in operation for sixteen years, and almost from the first has more than paid its way. During the past six or eight years it has paid interest on debentures, provided a sinking funds for the redemption of the debentures, paid for the extension of mains, and has handed over to the city annually a surplus of from five to ten thousand dollars. When it is remembered that the pumping station is situated on the flats of the creek, very much below the level of the city, that fuel to supply power has to be carted from one to two miles, and that the people have the advantage of an exceedingly low water rate, this is considered a very creditable showing. As to the purity of the water, frequent and careful tests have shown it to be at all times of an exceedingly high quality. In addition to the mechanical purification, a chemical process is also used. One pound of alum is introduced into every 25,000 or 30,000 gallons of water. This acts on the mineral impurities present, forming a gelatinous precipitate, consisting of compounds of lime and albumen. This not only removes part of the chemical impurities, but carries down with it the bacterial impurities also, and assists in their removal. At first there was a strong prejudice against the water; people considering its source being unable to convince themselves that water from the Kettle Creek could ever be made fit for drinking. However, as people began to see that those who used the city water had better health, and were more secure against such diseases as typhoid, they gradually came round, till now its use is almost universal in the city.

The successful initiation and conduct of the St. Thomas system are largely due to the wisdom and originality of City Engineer Jas. A. Bell, who planned the system and superintended its construction. If the authorities here, instead of sending to New York for an expert, who does not seem to know as much as he would have us believe, would call into consultation a man like Engineer Bell of St. Thomas, who has installed and operated a system similar to that required here, they would be much more likely to reach a useful conclusion, and at less cost.

Thanking you for your indulgence and asking to be excused for trespassing at so great a length on your valuable space, I am,

Respectfully yours,
RICHARD LEES,

Presentation By The German Club

The members of the German Conversation Club remembered Rev. E. A. and Mrs. Langfeldt very pleasantly at Christmas, presenting them with a handsome cut glass fruit bowl. This presentation was made in recognition of the kindness of Mr. and Mrs. Langfeldt manifested in connection with the regular meetings of the Club, which are held at the Rectory.

Whooping Cough.

"My three youngest boys had whooping cough this winter and we could get nothing to help them until I sent for Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. It arrested the coughs at once and they kept right on improving until they were cured at the cost of one dollar. That was not a large bill for so dangerous and distressing an ailment." — Mrs. Wm. The municipal elections yesterday passed off quietly. There was not what could be considered any very great interest manifested in the general result. As there were only three out of the fifteen candidates who could not be elected, the public felt that even if the worst came to the worst there would be sufficient good men elected to watch the three, whoever they might be, should they be returned. The greatest interest manifested in the contest was aroused very largely by the plebiscite vote on license reduction. It is seldom, perhaps, in the history of temperance reform that the Moral Reform League and the Licensed Victuallers' Association can be found uniting upon the same candidates, and working heartily for their election. Both the Citizens' "Moral Reform League" and Licensed Victuallers' Association, in reality, but called the "Citizens' Committee," had five identical candidates on the respective tickets printed for the guidance of the voters. No doubt, each believed that these five names were friendly to the respective and opposing causes they advocated. For instance, we find upon the Citizens' Moral Reform League list the names--to be voted for in the interests of temperance — of

Mr. Frank Adams.
Mr. Robert Hicks.
Mr. Thos. Kelly.
Mr. Geo. Ball,
Mr. R. F. McWilliams.
Mr. Thos. J. Wilson.

On the Citizens' Committee, or Licensed Victuallers' Association Committee's list we find the names--to be voted for in the interests of the liquor traffic—of

Mr. Frank Adams.
Mr. Robert Hicks.
Mr. Thos. Kelly.
Mr. Geo. Ball,
Mr. R. F. McWilliams.
Mr. Thos. J. Wilson.

It may reasonably be assumed that either these five candidates themselves, or some one for them, must have given assurances that warranted the placing of their names on the list of two parties representing diametrically opposite interests. It will now remain to be seen, as the year advances, to which interest these four men, who were elected, will be faithful, in the face of the recognized difficulty of one man being able to serve two masters. Outside the license question and the vote to be given by each of the councillors on this important question, there was but little interest otherwise manifested in the personnel of the Council. Some new men—six—have been elected to the Board, some with experience in municipal matters, and some without such experience. The Examiner does not now propose to discuss the question of their fitness or unfitness for their duties. The electors will judge them by the course they pursue, and will watch with interest the gymnastic efforts of some of them to ride the two horses upon which they rode into office—each running in different directions. Those who lean to one side or the other will have an easy course to pursue, but, to be again remarked, it is seldom that both the Licensed Victuallers' Association and the Moral Reform League can exchange congratulations upon the success of the candidates on the respective tickets.

Board of Education.

For the first time in the history of the town the Board of Education was reduced to nine members, elected by the general vote of the whole people. The vote resulted in some new blood being introduced into the Board, the defeat of some of the old members, and the election of eight of the former Board. Mr. James Stevenson, who has been a member of the Board for 56 years continuously, and Mr. J. J. Hartley, both former chairmen, were left out. Both have been useful members of the Board, and perhaps their defeat may be attributed to lack of interest on their own part in the contest. The only subject that caused a ripple of excitement was the Collegiate Institute question, which will hardly be much affected by the result of the election, as the new Board, with a single exception, is formed of members of the old Board who had dealt with the question of site, etc. It is to be hoped that the present Board will see that Peterborough has a Collegiate Institute worthy of the city and of the important educational interests it represents, leaving to the public school the buildings which properly belong to them, for school purposes.

The Fire Hall By-Law.

The ratepayers have finally, and rather decisively, approved of the proposal to erect a new fire hall and provide an adequate equipment. It is felt by many that the submission of the fire hall bylaw and of the license reduction bylaw at the same time had an effect upon the vote in the case of the former. One involved increase of expenditure, and the other reduction of revenue, a circumstance which would appeal to many as a reason for voting against a bylaw, which would result in an increase of expenditure and an increase of taxation to meet a reduced revenue.

To A. J. Johnston, probably the result was particularly pleasing, and

The Brownies Were Defeated By Westmounts

Westmount.		Brownies.

The above basket ball teams lined up at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium last night and gave the spectators an exhibition that was probably the fastest ever witnessed in Peterborough. From beginning to end it was nip and tuck, and during the second half it was practically anybody's game. In the commencement the eastern aggregation set a clip that seemed altogether too fast for the Brownies, but the local quintette steadied down towards the conclusion of the first half, and for the rest of the game made the Westmounts work their hardest for everything they got. The visitors appeared to be in the best of condition and in this respect had a decided advantage over the locals, who were by no means in first class shape, although they played a stubborn game right up to the conclusion of the contest.

In the second half the spectators were very much enthused and time and time again they cheered the Brownies with the hope that they might land the victory, and their chances looked good at times. With only one minute and fifty-eight seconds to play in the second half the score stood, Westmount 41, Brownies 40, and as the Brownies had pulled up marvellously fast it seemed as though they would win; but the visitors tallied seven points before time was called, making the final score 47—40 in their favour.

Mr. G. H. Williamson faced the ball for the game.

For the winners all played well and it would be difficult to particularize, although in the matter of shooting L. Brophy was easily the best man on the floor. The Brownies played well together and every man on the line up showed up to good advantage.

Mr. W. Campbell made a good referee and as umpire Mr. Ross Dobbin officiated to the satisfaction of everybody.

At different intervals during the evening Mr. "Sandy" Hall and Westmount and local athletes contributed in the way of gymnastic feats that were very cleverly executed and appealed much to the audience. Mr. Hall, when he was here, was conceded to be a marvellously supple and skilful gymnast. But last night he gave an exhibition that probably surpassed anything ever seen in the local Y. M. C. A. gymnasium. His work upon both the parallel and high bars was superb and elicited much applause from the spectators. A couple of local athletes assisted him and also did the members of the Westmount team, who have some very clever gymnasts, who performed splendid work upon the rings, bars and tumbling mat. Altogether a very fine evening of athletic entertainment was provided.

GOOD SKATING —AT— ALL SAINTS' RINK TO-NIGHT

HOCKEY

The Peterborough Intermediates had a good work out yesterday morning and will be in good shape for the game with Cobourg, which will be played here next Friday.

• • • •

The Suicides and Tame Bantams had splendid practice at the rink last night, which at times was rather strenuous, seven sticks being broken. Judging by the way the Suicides dig in they fully intend to do justice to their name.

Funeral Was Largely Attended

Obsequies of Late J. McDonough on Sunday.

The funeral of the late John McDonough took place on Sunday afternoon, from his late residence, Rubidge street, and was attended by a large number of friends and sympathisers with the family.

Service was conducted at St. Peter's Cathedral, by Rev. Father McColl, after which the cortege moved to St. Peter's cemetery, where the last sad rites of the graveside were performed by Rev. Father Galvin.

The pall-bearers were Messrs. John King, John Cronin, John Murray, Martin Carroll, Michael Callaghan, and James McDonough.

Miss Annie McDonough, of Boston, Mass., daughter of the late Mr. McDonough, was present at the funeral, to which a more than usual sadness attached on account of the general feeling of respect and esteem in which the deceased was held by a wide circle of friends.

Elderly Man's Serious Accident

On Sunday night Mr. Ryan, father-in-law of Mr. A. J. Sharpe, met with a painful, if not serious, accident. Mr. Ryan, who lives with Mr. Sharpe, slipped and fell on the ice in the yard at 396 King street, breaking his hip bone. Dr. Coughlan was called and attended to the injured man. He will be laid up for some time, it is feared.

Mr. W. H. Hill's Long Service

On Saturday The Examiner referred to the length of service on the Board of Education of Mr. J. J. Hartley and Dr. Burnham, but inadvertently omited reference to Mr. W. H. Hill, who, for 18 years, has been a member of the Board.

For 12 years he held the position of chairman of the Committee on Appointments, and it is his proud boast that the staffs of the Collegiate and High School are among the best to be found in the Province.

Mr. Hill was also chairman of the Supervision Committee, and has at various times acted as chairman of select committees.

The Donations Were Liberal

Holiday Season Brightened at Children's Aid Shelter.

The yule-tide and New Year's season at the Children's Aid Shelter was brightened in no little degree by the numerous donations received from charitably disposed citizens. Among the contributors to the good cheer of the season were:

C. N. Brown, apples, turkey.
Memorial Baptist church, quilt.
Mrs. Thos. Dale, quilt.
American Cereal Co., through Mr. T. H. G. Deane, case of Quaker Oats.
H. P. Kennedy, turkey.
St. Paul's church, a valuable donation.
S. A. Oke, turkey.
Y.M.C.A., valuable donation.

Those donating candies, toys and fruit were: Mrs. E. B. Clegg, Mrs. Sandy, Mrs. Grieves, Mrs. Wm. Davidson, Central Kindergarten School, Mrs. Meredith, S. A. Oke, Mrs. Corcoran, Miss Ruby Burnham, Miss Menzies, Mrs. Stevenson (Con., George street), Mrs. D. J. Lundy, Miss Jennie B. McAllister, Mrs. A. J. Turner, Mrs. C. McGill (Brock street), Mrs. J. R. Stratton, Mrs. E. Morphet.

The following letter speaks for itself:

Peterborough, Dec. 6, 1905.

Mr. Henry,
Children's Shelter,
City.

Dear Sir,—Am sending by bearer, one case of Canada Flakes and a bag of Mikado Flour, which I beg you to accept as a slight offering towards the maintenance of the children under your charge at the Shelter.

Yours truly,
Peterborough Cereal Co., Limited.

The generosity and kindly sympathy manifested in the liberal donations is naturally greatly appreciated by the officers of the Shelter. The gifts are particularly timely in view of the unattended financial circumstances of the Shelter for some time past.

Y.M.C.A. Reception Was Enjoyed

Members of That Association Entertained Yesterday.

The annual New Year's reception at the Y.M.C.A. yesterday, was very largely attended. In the morning the building was thronged with boys from 12 to 16 years of age, including a large number who were not members and who visited the building for the first time.

An exciting programme of group games was run off in the gymnasium under the direction of Mr. George H. Roper, physical director. This was followed by a half hour in the shower and plunge baths. Every boy who was there was given a good hot cup of Bovril which was served in the reading room. Mr. Robert Harding had charge of this department, and was assisted by Messrs. Coleman and Walker. This room also had a large number of callers in the afternoon.

The afternoon was devoted to the interests of the men, many spent the time in games, reading or social chit chat.

On the first day of the New Year a very good start was made in a year of work for Peterborough's young men.

A million Americans, more or less, have bought the old "flag house" in Philadelphia, where Betsy Ross, a Scotchwoman, designed the Stars and Stripes.

Election Results in The City Yesterday

he expressed to the Examiner his satisfaction that the electors had endorsed by their votes the policy of which he was the advocate. He wished to ascribe to the work of the Retail Merchants' Association, and to the members of the Joint Committee, special credit for the work which they had accomplished, and he recognized that it was largely due to this work that the bylaw carried.

He was particularly pleased with the large vote in favour of the bylaw polled in the residential portions of the city. It evidenced the fact that the small householder had appreciated the benefits that would accrue to them from the improvement of the fire protection of the city.

License Reduction.

It might reasonably be said that the only question that introduced any particular activity or interest into the contest of yesterday, was the license reduction bylaw. It was generally admitted that it would require extraordinary effort to prevent the carrying of the bylaw. It was in reality a mere matter of sentiment, the vote having no binding force — only an expression of the will of the people to stiffen the backbone of the Commissioners and the Council.

Those who are advocating the reduction of the number of licenses, should have insisted upon the subject having been submitted to the people in some definite and practical way. As it is now, the people have pronounced in favour of license reduction, while the opponents to license reduction claim that they have reason to feel that they have a council in sympathy with their views. The question will, no doubt, be faced by the Council, and the Citizens' Moral Reform League say that the Council and the Licence Commissioners will carry out their ideas of license reduction. Some of the councillors will be able to say that they were not approached by the Licensed Victuallers' Association, or by those representing their interests. On the other hand the Licensed Victuallers say that some close friends of the members-elect did the pledging for some of the candidates for aldermen whose names were on both lists.

NOT JUST AS GOOD
Did you ever inquire at a store for certain articles and get for a reply "We have something just as good"? Did it ever occur to you that "Something just as good" is something the dealer has been able to buy much cheaper than the articles you inquire for? This is true in drugs, fabrics, groceries, hardware, and in fact every line, including silver plated ware. If you inquire for 1847 Rogers Bros.' Wave Of Local Option Sweeps The Province

City of Owen Sound Leads the Way With Big Majority.

THE RESULTS ELSEWHERE

Out of 40 Municipalities Heard From 30 Have Given Good Majorities for the Bylaw—New Mayors in Ontario Cities and Towns — Emmerson Coatsworth Elected Mayor of Toronto Over F. S. Spence.

Owen Sound, Jan. 2.—The local option bylaw carried in Owen Sound yesterday by a majority of 468. The "cold water" mayoralty candidate, Joseph T. Joyce, was elected by 195, defeating one of the most prominent business men in town, Samuel Lloyd. All the local option candidates, seven in number, were elected with good majorities, and one of the anti-local option candidates, W. H. McClarty, was elected at the end of the list.

At Oshawa—A plebiscite for raising hotel license fee to $400 carried by a majority of 239; and for the reduction of the number of hotels.

At Parry Sound—A bylaw to raise the hotel and shop license to $750 a year was carried by a large majority.

At London—A reduction bylaw carried by 552.

Results of the Vote.

Toronto, Jan. 2.— Local option was voted upon in 62 municipalities in Ontario yesterday. Out of 40 places heard from, 30 have given good majorities in favor of the bylaws, including the City of Owen Sound, the first city in Ontario to accept local option. But it was not won without a big fight. Against local option are Petrolea, Barton Township, each with six licenses, and Acton and Drayton, with three. License reduction carried in London, Oshawa and Peterboro, and votes to raise hotel licenses carried in Oshawa and Parry Sound.

The following is the result of the local option votes:

COATSWORTH IN TORONTO.

License Reduction Bylaws Fail to Get a Majority.

Toronto, Jan. 2.—In a total vote cast of 28,751, according to returns as compiled last night, Emmerson Coatsworth is elected mayor over F. S. Spence by a majority of 4,106. Every one of the six wards contributes to this result. The vote is the largest ever polled in Toronto, excepting only that of last year, when it ran as high as 29,382, while the winner's margin is almost a record breaker, being second only to that of 4,500 given the late Warring Kennedy, when he first offered himself for election.

The controllers elected were: Messrs W. P. Hubbard, S. Alfred Jones, J. J. Ward, and John Shaw.

Thirteen Conservatives are elected to council, and ten Liberals.

Majority against license reduction of taverns 1,580; against reduction of shops 2,154.

Miss Clara Brett Martin was at the head of the poll for the Board of Education, with 11,998 votes.

The Hamilton Results.

Hamilton, Jan. 2.—Politics cut considerable figure in municipal elections in this city. Only six Liberals were elected to the Council, yet this was two more than last year. Four Liberals, Ald. Eastwood, Wright and Dickson, are re-elected, and the new Liberals in the Council are Findlay and Lewis. Ald. Bowerman, E. Craig and Sullivan, Conservatives, were defeated, and the third new alderman is Birrel. Ald Main again headed the poll, and, as was the case last year, Ald. Eastwood was second. Ex-Ald. Findlay was third.

THAT HAMILTON MURDER.

Half-Brother of Victim Gives Himself Up At Flint, Mich.—His Remarkable Story.

Flint, Mich., Jan. 2.—John Horton gave himself up last night confessing that he had a hand in the murder of Mrs. Marie Hart at Hamilton, Ont., last October.

Horton says she was his half sister. She was killed because she had threatened to tell the police about himself and two Mexicans, his partners, who were passing counterfeit money.

He does not say that he did the killing, but admits having a hand in it.

Gave Himself Up.

Horton struck town Saturday night. Last night he went to the county jail and told the officers that he wanted to give himself up.

Then he took from his pocket a circular gotten out by the police at Hamilton telling of the finding of the body of an unknown girl near that city on Oct. 9, and offering a reward for any information that would lead to the arrest of the murderers. The paper gave the description of the girl, but not her name as she had not been identified.

Threatened to Tell.

After the officers had read the paper, Horton, without further questioning, told his remarkable story.

He and two other men, he said whose names were Manuel Lacresna and Juan Senson, both Mexicans, were operating last October in Hamilton and the vicinity, passing counterfeit money.

In some manner the girl learned of the guilt of her half brother and his companions, and threatened to tell on them.

Haunted By Fear.

Horton carefully refrains from admitting that he had any part in the actual murder, but admits that it will mean a long term in prison to him, if not hanging.

He says, however, that he is tired of being haunted by the fear of capture, preferring to give himself up and have the matter off his mind.

He will be held here until the officials at Hamilton can be communicated with.

"Joe" Chamberlain Expounds His New Policy

Chamberlain Explains Fiscal Ideas in Election Manifesto.

A BLAST FROM DEVONSHIRE

Attacks the New Government, Which He Dubs a "Home Rule, Little Englander Government" — Discusses Constructive and Retaliative Aspects of Colonial Preference—Proposes Moderate Tariff.

London, Jan. 2.—Joseph Chamberlain issued his election manifesto yesterday.

After vigorously attacking the new Government, which he describes as being essentially a "Home Rule, Little Englander Government" depending for its existence on Irish votes, he devotes himself entirely to an exposition of his fiscal policy, especially to the subject of Colonial preference, which he speaks of as the first item in the constructive program of the Unionist party; the second item, closely connected with the first being the policy of retaliation.

He declares that the Colonies will not wait indefinitely, but will be forced to enter into arrangements with strangers. He points out that the scheme of Colonial preference will include a provision for the small tax on foreign wheat but says that as both home-grown and Colonial wheat will be free, and the supply from the Colonies unlimited, the price of bread will not be increased in the slightest degree.

Unionist Party Agreed.

Mr. Chamberlain declares that he believes the Unionist party to be absolutely agreed regarding these aims, though he admits there may be some differences of opinion when the time comes to discuss the methods by which these aims are to be accomplished. He says, however, that these differences of opinion probably are exaggerated, and that they are matters more of verbal distinction than of practical importance. Continuing, Mr. Chamberlain says:

"I believe our objects can be attained by a moderate general tariff, scientifically adapted to the existing conditions of our trade, and so arranged as to secure the largest amount of employment at fair wages for our people. It would necessarily provide for the free admission of raw materials and of articles which we do not make ourselves, while it would place a toll on the manufacturers of those countries which do not treat us fairly.

Summed Up.

"Our policy is constructive and practical, while the policy of our opponents is destructive and theoretical."

IDAHO VICTIM OF BOMB.

Ex-Governor Steuenberg Killed for Unknown Reasons.

Boise, Idaho, Jan 2.—Frank Steuenberg, formerly Governor of Idaho, was killed Saturday night by a bomb at his home in Caldwell. A dynamite bomb had been placed at his front gate with a contrivance that exploded the bomb as he entered. Both legs were blown off and Steuenberg lived but twenty minutes.

There is no known reason for the outrage, but it is charged to some members of the famous Inner Circle of the Couer De Alene dynamiters, whom he prosecuted relentlessly in 1899 while he was Governor.

Ocean Liners Collide.

Dover, Jan. 2.—The arrival here of the Red Star liner Vaderland from Antwerp for New York was delayed owing to a collision with the Bucknal line steamer Barotse from Hamburg for the Far East. The Barotse was damaged above the water line, and the Vaderland's bulwarks were smashed. The latter took timber on board here for temporary repairs.

Canada's Prosperity.

London, Jan. 2.—Tributes to Canada's progress and prosperity are the feature of the new year reviews of 1905 appearing in the press.

One writer says: "This year Canada keeps booming ahead. Canada keeps wide open doors for the courageous and stalwart, and has not only attracted the best of our surplus population, but is receiving a constantly increasing number of immigrants from the United States. This bounding of the Dominion has touched Australia with a little envy. Australia is not developing as she should, and much blame is thrown on the labor organizations.

CARD OF THANKS

Ladies and Gentlemen,—Although a defeated but not beaten candidate, I sincerely thank all those independent electors who voted for me yesterday. I made no personal canvas whatever, was not identified with any clique or party, did not authorize, know or wished my name placed on any ticket by people who are ashamed or afraid to place the name on the bottom of their ticket, to let the free thinking people know what they are responsible for respectable men, and who also had to wait until late Saturday night (or perhaps Sunday), to get them printed so that any of the candidates who were thus placed at a great disadvantage could possibly have time to refute them through the press. The yellow ticket particularly stated that only those mentioned thereon were in favour of good, clean, honest government, which, I think, was a direct insult to those left off. Again thanking all those fair minded citizens who voted for me and wishing you all a happy New Year,

I remain,

J. H. SMITH.

Holiday Dance For Deep Sea Mission

One of the most charming of the many social events which have characterized the gay holiday season in Peterborough was the dance last night at the Oriental Hotel in aid of the Labrador Deep Sea Mission.

The event has been regarded for a considerable time past with feelings of eager anticipation, in local society circles, and the delightful result attained last night, more than justified the expectations.

The arrangements for the affair, which were admirable, were carried to a successful termination in every particular. The financial aspect of the result, which was excellent, cannot be regarded as the least gratifying of the results attained.

The patronesses of the dance were Mrs. D. Hughes Charles, (Hon. Secretary,) Mrs. K. Eardley-Wilmot, Mrs. Aylmer and Mrs. R. M. Denistoun, who received the guests in a charming manner.

The spacious dining room of the hotel was utilised for dancing, while the bright reception rooms on the second floor was transformed into a card room. The music was supplied by the Misses Hurley, and was most excellent.

About 150 guests attended the affair, many out-of-town faces being greeted in the assembly. A large number of students, who are spending the holidays in the city were also present. The quadrille d'honneur was composed as follows:—

Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P., and Mrs. (Hon.) J. R. Stratton, Hon. J. R. Stratton and Miss Olive Broughton, Mr. K. Eardley-Wilmot and Mrs. R. M. Denistoun, Mr. R. M. Denistoun and Mrs. K. Eardley-Wilmot, Mr. A. Aylmer, Mr. D. Hughes Charles and Mrs. McAllister.

Recherche refreshments were served from a buffet on the second floor, and in daintiness and general excellence, reflected the utmost credit upon the cuisine arrangements of the Oriental, which, by the way, has a reputation to sustain in this respect.

To Mrs. D. Hughes Charles and the patronesses associated with her in making the arrangements for the jolly New Year event, is due the utmost credit. The deserving nature of the cause which it was designed to assist, infused the social enjoyment of the evening with an additional element of satisfaction.

USE OF PULPIT.

To the Editor of the Examiner,—

Dear Sir, — What are we coming to? The Rev. Mr. Potter in his Sunday sermon told his people right out from the pulpit to vote for Messrs. McIntyre, Tovey and Johnston. Supposing His Lordship Bishop O'Connor had asked his congregation to vote for Messrs. Ball and Kelly what a howl there would have been in the community; yet one had just as good a right to use his pulpit for such purposes as the other, and both would be condemned if they did so. Does Mr. Potter think that the people of his congregation will stand for anything? If he does, he is mistaken.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

The Port Arthur Chronicle contains the following favourable criticism of "Rip Van Winkle," as presented by the Summers Stock Company, which troupe will hold the boards at the Grand all this week:

"George H. Summers is a pretty good actor in whatever role he chooses to assume but he surely excels in Rip Van Winkle. The house was packed to the doors last night, when he and his excellent company presented their ever welcome play. With good support Mr. Summers, in his favourite character of Rip simply surpassed himself. The awakening scene was one of the most realistic pieces of work ever seen on this stage, and his sustension of the character through the varying emotions held the audience in suspense, or sent it into little outbursts of hysterical laughter as the old man's short speeches alternating pathos and humour fell upon keen ears. It was perfect acting, such acting as brings fame to a man."

The Summers Stock Company opened a week's engagement at the Grand Opera House yesterday, presenting at a well attended matinee performance, "Rip Van Winkle," and in the evening "The Black Flag." The company in this, its initial bow to a Peterborough audience, scored a distinct success, and at the popular prices which rule during the week, a succession of crowded houses may be expected.

The company opened in "The Black Flag" last night, there being standing room only, and it made the best impression of any stock company that ever visited Peterborough.

The vaudeville features alone are worth the price of admission. The company is a talented one and present a very fine line of plays this week. Mr. George H. Summers and Miss Bella Stevenson head the company and were received with great favour by the two large audiences of yesterday.

To-night the play will be Hall Caine's "The Christian." To-morrow afternoon—Wednesday— a special matinee performance will be given, the play on that occasion being Bob Sutly's great success, "The Parish Priest."

On Wednesday evening Bret Harte's "The Fugative," will be presented. The company will undoubtedly receive a liberal patronage during the week.

1904 DOMINION ELECTION SLANDERS ARE COMPLETELY DISCREDITED AND DISPROVED

Mr. R. R. Hall's Course in the Much Exploited King vs. Miller Case is Vindicated—Mr. J. H. King, Son of Mrs. Peter King, Writes an Open Letter, in Which He Fully Explains His Position—Says He Was Shamefully Misled by Self-Seeking and Rabid Partizan Politicians--An Election Roorback Completely Exploded.

It will be remembered that in the height of the Dominion elections of 1904 a dastardly personal charge was made against the Liberal candidate, Mr. R. R. Hall. It was charged that he had prostituted his professional position to make excessive profits out of a suit for damages in which Mrs. Peter King was plaintiff. It was charged, in fact, that he was the oppressor of the widow, and therefore deserved no consideration at the hands of the electors. The attack was a most bitter one, and Mr. Hall was not only assailed in the Conservative press, but on the platform, and even the pulpit condescended to make him the object of personal attack, to blacken his personal character and ruin his political prospects. But time brings its revenges, and in this case it has brought a decided and complete vindication to Mr. Hall in connection with the slander, and has not only shown that he was innocent of the charge of being the oppressor of the widow, but that she was her benefactor and best friend, and that she comes out of the matter in the final analysis with infinitely more credit than his slanderers and traducers.

Mr. J. H. King, son of Mrs. King, the lady concerned in the celebrated suit of King v. Miller, was employed as clerk in the offices of Messrs. Stratton and Hall for five years, and about 1895 left Peterborough for Chicago. Since going to that city Mr. King has, by dint of hard work, ability and trustworthy qualities, advanced in the confidence of his employers and has risen to the responsible position of chief of one of the most important departments of Earl Bros., one of the largest produce firms in Chicago. The following letter, addressed by Mr. King to Mr. Hall, pretty fully explains itself:

157 S. Water Street, Chicago,
Jan. 1, 1906.

R. R. Hall, Esq., M.P.
Peterborough.
Re King v. Miller.

Dear Mr. Hall:

I have always felt that you were meanly wronged on account of the slanders that were uttered against you during the last Dominion election on account of your connection with this suit, but on account of my absence in Chicago, I had not the opportunity of learning the true facts in connection with the case until my recent visit to Peterborough.

I have gone through all the books, papers, vouchers, receipts, bills of costs and other papers connected with the suit, and am now in a position to shortly state the facts.

In the first place, I consulted your late partner, Mr. Stratton, K.C., as to the advisability of bringing an action on my mother's behalf against Mr. Miller, of the Poison Iron Works, and Mr. Colville, a carter, for negligence in allowing an engine to fall from a truck on my late father, causing his death.

I told Mr. Stratton that my mother did not have any money to bring an action against them, and he very kindly volunteered that, on account of the fact that I had been a clerk in your office for a number of years, he would advance the necessary money to bring the action to trial.

Shortly after the suits were commenced, Mr. Stratton went to British Columbia, and, on account of you being engaged with your company work, he handed the cases against Miller and Colville over to Mr. E. B. Stone to look after for your firm.

Mr. Stone took the cases at the trial in Toronto. Your firm advanced all the money necessary to bring the actions to trial, including the payment of Mr. Stone's fees and all witness fees. My mother won the case against Miller and lost the case against Colville, whose costs she was ordered to pay, and in addition to that she became liable to have her own solicitor's costs deducted from the Miller judgment.

Miller appealed to the Court of Appeal, and had you not kindly come forward, and advanced on your own account, the money to enable my mother to fight the appeal she would have lost even then the judgment which she had against Miller, but, thanks to you, she won that appeal.

Miller again appealed to the Supreme Court of Canada. Mr. A. B. Aylesworth, K. C., advised that my mother's chances of success were doubtful, but, notwithstanding, his advice you again came forward and took the risk of advancing, without one cent of security, the sum of 600.00 to enable my mother to fight successfully this last appeal. Had this last appeal gone against my mother, you would have been out of pocket over $1,200.00 in cash which you had expended for our benefit, and no part of which my mother could ever have repaid you. Any money, therefore, which my mother had gotten out of this case is due entirely to your kindness and generosity.

I further find to my surprise that neither you nor your firm ever made one cent out of this case, but that, on the other hand, you are out of pocket a considerable sum of money. It is a matter of very deep regret to me that you were so meanly and basely slandered during the last Dominion election, on account of the interest you took in the case. I could have protested against these slanders at the time of your election, had I known the facts, and had I not myself been shamefully deceived as to my mother's rights, by self-seeking politicians, who sought by falsehood and treachery to blacken your reputation in the eyes of the electors in their desperate efforts to defeat you.

I am writing this as an open letter for the reason that I desire to clear myself, and my family, from the serious charge of rewarding your kindness and generosity with base ingratitude and slander.

Yours, very truly,
(Signed) J. H. KING.

It will be noticed that this letter completely exonerates Mr. Hall of the charges of having been an oppressor of the widow, but it convicts him of unprofessional conduct in this way. It is a self-evident fact that lawyers as a profession go into law for the purpose of making money, but the foregoing letter shows that in the case in question, Mr. Hall not only got no profit out of his professional or personal connection with the King-Miller suit and King-Colville suits, but that on the other hand he took the risk of large financial loss to help the family of a former employee, not to speak of not having received any remuneration for professional services given, and time spent, in connection with the matter.

It is much to Mr. King's credit that he should take an opportunity when he learned the facts, to do justice to Mr. Hall, and, so far as his efforts could do so, exculpate him in connection with the vicious slanders with which he had been assailed, and at the same time place himself in the proper light of explaining the circumstances under which, by following deceptive and interested legal and other advice, he had been made a party to the injustice done.

This case is a flagrant example of the length to which party bitterness can carry those possessed of it. Deliberate action was taken to poison young Mr. King's mind with false statements, placing Mr. Hall in an odious light. This and other influences were brought to bear upon him, and through the circumstances falsely represented to him as fact he became the dupe of designing politicians, and an instrument in the hands of the potter, and an instrument to wound the hand that had helped him and his family in their time of need, of real, and not false, friends. Mr. King has discovered who was his true friend in the matter.

It is deplorably unfortunate that our political conditions are in such a state that a man who aspires to a public position by the service of his country must, it seems, be assailed with all sorts of unfounded charges, designed to injure him as a citizen, in his business or profession, and as a public man. These charges are especially odious in that they are made in the heat of an election contest, when the high tide of political rancour and stress of contest, afford little opportunity for disproof. But in Mr. Hall's case time and the manly conduct of Mr. King have brought vindication to him; and his detractors have the humiliation of knowing that their plot or plan failed, and that, in spite of their slanders, Mr. Hall won a place in the confidence of the people which his excellent and energetic representation, solicitude for the advantage of West Peterborough is strengthening every day. Mr. Hall is not the only good representative friend of the city and county of Peterborough who has been assailed and abused for party reasons. A blow below the belt may easily become a boomerang.

Sensational Story From St. Petersburg

Admiral Rojestensky Says British Fleet Was Ready to Destroy Russian Fleet Had Togo Failed to Do So—A Remarkable Allegation From the Russian Capital.

Special to The Examiner

St. Petersburg, Jan. 3.—The remarkable allegation that the British fleet was held in readiness to destroy the Russian fleet if the battle of the Sea of Japan had gone in the Russian's favour is made by Admiral Rojestvensky in a letter published in the Novoe Vremyra to-day with the permission of the Minister of Marine. Referring to the absolute secrecy of Admiral Togo in regard to the disposition of his forces, Rojestvensky declared, this was unknown even to the Admiral of the British fleet allied with the Japanese who concentrated his forces at Wei Hai Wei in expectation of receiving an order to annihilate the Russian fleet if this, the final object of Great Britain was beyond the power of the Japanese.

County Rates All Received

The Debenture Debt Reduced to $45,000.

The county rates are all in, on January 3rd, except $4782.03, an unprecedently small amount to be owing to the county from the municipalities and the county is in the proud position of saying that all money collected by it on land tax account for the municipalities, has been paid over to the municipalities, leaving nothing due on land tax account.

The debenture debt of the county has been reduced to $45,000, at the same time the county having assets to the extent of $93,000, leaving a surplus of $48,000 of assets over liabilities.

ANOTHER GERM DESTROYER

Herpicide is Death to Dandruff Germs.

The germ burrows into the scalp, throwing up the cuticle in thin scales called dandruff or scurf, and digging at the root of the hair, were it saps the hair's vitality. First comes brittle hair, then lustreless and dead like hair, and finally, baldness. Nine-tenths of the hair trouble are caused by dandruff. Without dandruff hair will grow luxuriantly as nature intended. "Herpicide" kills the dandruff germ, leaving the hair to grow unhampered as it does with the American red man. Sold by leading druggist. Send ten cents in stamps for a sample to The Herpicide Company, Detroit, Mich. Ormond and Walsh, special agents.

The Annual Fruit Social

An Enjoyable Event at Gilmour Memorial Church.

On Thursday, December 28th, the Gilmour Memorial Baptist church held the annual Sunday school fruit social. The school was well filled with happy children and their parents and friends.

After a most pleasing programme had been given by the school Deacon Graham gave an address of appreciation to Rev. and Mrs. McKinnon and Jack Young presented to the pastor a pair of fur gauntlets, and little Ruthie Mann gave to Mrs. McKinnon a sable muff.

Rev. Mr. McKinnon expressed his pleasure and appreciation of the address and beautiful gifts, which so appropriately expressed the good will of their congregation.

Entertainment Was Enjoyed

The annual entertainment given by the pupils and teacher of S. S. No. 8, Douro, was held in the schoolroom on Friday, Dec. 22nd. A large number of the parents and others were present. The programme, consisting of readings, recitations, dialogues and music was ably carried out by the pupils and their able and efficient teacher, Miss Moher. At the close of the entertainment the teacher was presented with a handsome toilet set as a slight token of the esteem in which she is held. THE NEW BOOKSHOP'S

"HAPPY NEW YEAR" TO ALL ITS PATRONS

The fact that the New Bookshop was not completely fitted up and stocked until after the Christmas Trade was well begun, might have been a good reason for a poor start and a slim business. But the reverse has proved to be the case. Notwithstanding all our disadvantages, we were greeted with a volume of business entirely beyond our expectations.

For the want of enough salespeople many customers had to go away unserved—a circumstance which we especially regrst. But our first Holiday Greeting can truly be one of gratitude to the public of Peterborough for the hearty opening welcome the New Bookshop has received

Prevailing Conditions In India

Rev. Mr. Smith Talks Interestingly to The Examiner With Regard to National Progress of the Country—Visiting In Peterborough With Mr. John Nugent—Plague Is Spreading Rapidly and Will Sweep the Country.

THE COMMERCIAL PROGRESS SHOWN

"The reports regarding the extent to which the plague is spreading in India are not exaggerated. In the Bombay Residency over ten per cent. of the people have been carried off by the scourge, while in other places the death rate has exceeded 25 per cent. One million a year have succumbed and it is spreading gradually in a north-westerly direction from Bombay and seems destined to sweep the entire country and die out as has been the case with other epidemics."

Such was the statement made by Rev. James Smith, when seen by the Examiner. Mr. Smith is the representative in India of the Boston Board of Missions of the Congregational church, whose work is practically of an undenominational character. He is Superintendent of the Ahmednagar School of Art and Industry, and during the past 7 or 8 years his efforts have been confined exclusively to educational work. The school at present has an average attendance of about 700 boys and 600 girls, who are instructed in the industrial arts, and afterwards kept constantly engaged in manufacturing various staple lines of fine art work. Carpets form a leading feature in the output, which includes as well, fine lace work, and metal designing.

Rev. Mr. Smith is at present upon a six months' visit to the land of his birth. He is a brother-in-law of Mr. John Nugent, with whom he is at present visiting for a short time. The condition of his health necessitated a six months' withdrawal from active duties in the Orient, and he hopes to secure, amid the bracing air of the Land of the Maple, a restoration of his wonted vigour and strength. Mrs. Smith, a sister of Mr. Nugent, was unable to accompany her husband upon the trip, being engaged in his absence in assisting in the manifold executive duties of the school Mr. Smith's former home was in Toronto, having graduated from Knox College. After a period of residence in England, he removed to India, where he has resided during the past twenty-six years. He will return in March.

Asked as to the commercial growth in India, Mr. Smith replied that owing to the paucity of capital this was not as satisfactory as might be desired. One of the purposes of his visit to America, he states, is to arrange for the organization of a company to handle the output of the factory managed by him, and is consulting with friends in Canada and the United States with this purpose in view. Capitalization of about $30,000 would be necessary. The factory would employ about 500 or 600 hands, and its products, consisting of carpets, laces, and metal work could in this way be handled with facility. Some samples of the carpet manufactured were shown The Examiner. It ranges in retail price from $5 to $15 per square yard. One variety which cost in manufacture $2.60, could be retailed in Canada at $5.

Carpet making is India's leading industry. The boys and girls of the country are apt and skilful pupils, and have a wonderful facility in imitative work, but are strangely deficient in the ability to produce original designs. In the school conducted by Rev. Mr. Smith, three and a half hour's daily are devoted to ordinary school work, and a similar time in the workshop.

Missionary work generally, Rev. Mr. Smith thinks, is progressing satisfactorily in India. In his district which is situated about 200 miles from Bombay, the number of converts have increased from 6,000 to 22,000 in the last decade, though the population has decreased by one and a half per cent. The advance from an educative standpoint has been much greater.

"If we could have kept Lord Curzon for twenty years, it would have been a big thing for India," replied Mr. Smith enthusiastically to a question. "He was the greatest of the Viceroys, except one." His investigation and reorganization of the entire administration of the national affairs was most thorough, notwithstanding the tremendous combative influences of the vested interests. The first step taken towards reconstruction by the late Viceroy was in the re-organization of the universities. The Public schools were next put on a better basis for the necessities of the masses. Technical and industrial schools were created. Police, opium and liquor commissions were organized. The liquor question in India fortunately does not present a serious aspect, the people being singularly temperate. The reforms in the army were also most marked under the regime of Kitchener. The cause of the differences which occurred between Lord Curzon and the latter were caused by the viceroy's insistence upon having supreme command in military matters. The general feeling throughout the country appeared to be that Lord Minto will support and carry to completion the reforms inaugurated by Lord Curzon, but, it is generally believed, will not undertake new measures of reform to any great extent.

State Hospital in Adirondacks Shows Encouraging Figures—105 Patients Discharged.

The trustees of the New York State Hospital for Incipient Pulmonary Tuberculosis in the Adirondacks have issued their completed statistics for the first year, which is as follows: There were admitted 207 patients, more than half of whom were incipients. There were no deaths. Of the 105 patients discharged, fifty-two were apparently recovered. Twenty-six arrested cases are reported. Sixteen improved, while eleven left without any improvement. The treatment consists mainly of outdoor air, wholesome food and rest. Patients have three full meals and two or three luncheons a day, and 90 of the 105 gained an average of 10.57 pounds each. This is certainly most encouraging and shows that incipient consumptives at least can be cured. There is another treatment perhaps almost as good. Stay home, use cold baths in the morning, get as much outdoor exercise as possible, a generous diet and the continuous use of Scott's Emulsion will doubtless check the progress of the disease and may permanently cure. At any rate it is easy to try it.

He Wanted Accommodation

And Paid Two Dollars for Police Station Quarters.

Arthur Fowler, an Englishman who has been in this country fifteen months, walked into the prisoners' box at the police court this morning carrying a pair of hockey boots and skates. Yesterday evening at the Jackson Park rink Fowler was skating around with great display, "only touching the high spots." He later imbibed in a very enthusiastic manner and at 10.30 o'clock was clamouring for admission at a door of a prominent citizen. At 12 o'clock he sought refuge in the convent and finally found a place of security in the police station.

"Two dollars without costs, to be paid forthwith," said His Worship Police Magistrate Dumble.

"Is that all?" asked Fowler.

The prisoner had the money and paid the fine.

"An Englishman can't go home without being interfered with," he said.

Dr. Prinzing of Berlin, denies that the number of bachelors and old maids is increasing in Europe. As a matter of fact, he states that the number of marriages is decreasing only in Sweden, France and Ireland. In Germany the number of bachelors steadily decreases and only in certain limited areas can any increase of old maids be found.

The Elections In Onemee

Many Visitors in the Village for the Holidays.

Special to The Examiner.

Onemee, Jan. 2.—The New Year has ushered in and the year gone out without any sickness, or deaths occurring; not truly the case in former years.

The services were largely attended on Sunday last. Rev. J. M. Whitelaw preached a very thoughtful and impressive sermon at the Presbyterian church.

Mrs. David and Mrs. G. B. and David Thornton were visitors here on New Years. There were also large numbers from Toronto, Peterborough, including Jas. Kincaid and J. J. Lundy, both on business and pleasure combined.

The result of the election was as follows:—

Reeve, J. T. Beatty; defeating R. J. Mulligan, the cold water man.

Councillors—Evans, Carey, Rogers, Griffin. Bennett and Williams, two more cold water men got left.

There was a hot contest.

Mrs. J. C. and J. Eaton were the guests of J. McCrea over New Years.

POST CARD CORRESPONDENCE.

Editor of Post Card Column:

The election of Mr. W. J. Johnson as Alderman of the City of Peterborough is a most gratifying result of Monday's election. Though thrown down by the Federation of Labour he obtained more votes than the candidate endorsed by the union, a matter of great satisfaction to independent men. Mr. Johnson's policy in the past deserves high commendation, and most gladly does the fair-minded and unshackled public give it to him.

Are Your Nerves In Health?

STUDY HERE THE INDICATION OF A FAILING NERVOUS SYSTEM

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

It is surprising what hosts of people are suffering as the result of an exhausted nervous system and do not know the nature of their ailment.

They cannot sleep at nights — are restless and fidgety in the daytime—their tempers are easily irritated—little things worry them—they cannot concentrate their minds, and find their memories failing — there are spells of nervous headache—the digestion is impaired—pains and aches of a neuralgic nature afflict them—feelings of discouragement and despondency come over them at times, and they get in the way of looking at the dark side of things.

If this describes your experience you will be interested in Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, for this great food cure gets at the very foundation of nervous troubles and cures in the only natural way, by enriching the blood, revitalizing the wasted nerve cells, and building up the system generally.

Diseases of the nerves take different forms in different people, but they slowly and surely lead to nervous prostration, locomotor ataxia or paralysis — to weakness and helplessness of mind and body.

Mrs. F. Turner, 636 Aylmer street, Peterborough, Ont., and whose husband is employed at the Hamilton Foundry, writes:—

"For some months past I found myself growing nervous, and gradually becoming a victim of sleeplessness and subject to frequent attacks of nervous headaches. About six weeks ago I began the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and cannot speak too highly of this medicine. I can sleep well now, the headaches have entirely disappeared, and I believe that my system, generally, has been improved greatly by the use of this treatment."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food acts strictly in accordance with the laws of nature in creating nerve force in the body, and you can use it with positive assurance that every dose is at least of some benefit to you. Prove this by noting your increase in weight. 50 cts. a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

BLOOD IMPURITIES

Three Take, Some Three.—One Thing Cures Them.

OTTAWA, ONTARIO
Union St., Sept. 28th, 1905.

It gives me a pleasure to certify that "Fruit-a-tives" have entirely cured me of a disagreeable skin disease.

I had a dreadful rash on my face, arms and hands, the rash was red and itchy and my face and hands were painfully swollen. I had a pain in my back, and I was very ill. I was advised to take "Fruit-a-tives" to purify the blood and I am very thankful that I took this medicine. After I had taken one box of the tablets, I was much better; and using 3 full sized boxes, the rash was entirely gone, the pain in the back left me, and I was quite well again. And my complexion is clear as it never was before. I want to thank "Fruit-a-tives" for this great cure—as before I used this preparation I had many kinds of medicine but found none of it relieved me. Then "Fruit-a-tives" came out and I found relief at once—and though entirely well, I keep "Fruit-a-tives" always handy.

(Sgd.) Mrs. P. Matthiot.

This case of Mrs. Matthiot proves one great truth—that you can't CURE pimples, blackheads, blotches, red rash and other skin diseases with salves and ointments.

Simply because the disease is not with the skin but WITH THE BLOOD. The skin trouble is the RESULT of blood trouble.

"Fruit-a-tives" proves this because when salves and ointments are left off—and "Fruit-a-tives" taken to purify and enrich the blood, the skin diseases are cured to stay cured.

Pimples, red rash, eczema etc., come from disease of one of three organs—liver, kidneys or stomach. It may be all three—but certainly one. And this one affects the other two.

And there will be skin disease
—as long as the bowels are constipated
—as long as the kidneys retain urea or tissue waste
—as long as the stomach does not digest food properly and the body is improperly nourished

Ointments won't cure—salves won't cure—soaps won't cure. Because the trouble is the BLOOD—not the skin. But "Fruit-a-tives" will cure—"Fruit-a-tives" do cure—because "Fruit-a-tives" PURIFY THE BLOOD.

"Fruit-a-tives" act on the liver—stimulate it to excrete more bile—and thus make the bowels move regularly every day. This rids the system of one source of blood poisoning. These famous liver tablets act on the kidneys—prevent the formation of excessive uric acid—and insure the kidneys being strong and healthy. They act on the skin—strengthen the glands and stimulate them to throw off the impurities which the blood brings to them.

With bowels, liver, kidneys, stomach and skin working properly—the blood is pure and rich—and there can be no pimples or blemishes to mar the complexion.

At all druggists or sent postpaid on receipt of price—50c a box or 6 boxes for $2.50.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 3, 1906.

PROSPEROUS PETERBOROUGH

We find in our advertising columns cards of thanks from our chief advertising merchants, thanking the public for their generous patronage the past year and acknowledging with gratitude a great increase in the volume of their trade. While we have no reason to doubt their statements in regard to increase of business, we have every reason to believe that their statements are fully justified. We can cite in proof if proof were needed, the great increase in customs collections, represent-goods imported by our merchants. In the month of December, 1904 the total of collections was $12,119.68; the December just closed gave a total of customs collections of $43,500.02—a remarkable increase of $31,300.32, nearly a three-fold increase, on the collection of December, 1904. The increase has been general during the year that ended Dec. 31. These facts afford pleasing indications of the prosperity of our merchants, of our citizens and of the people of the rural districts. The farmers have had one of the most properous years in the history of that industry, and the people of the city have also had a year of great prosperity. Business has been brisk, labour has had abundant employment, money has been plentiful, our merchants have reaped a harvest, and the customs returns show that there is as yet no indication of the ebb of the tide. We have disposed of the municipal elections and are ready to drop parish politics for another year and to enter seriously upon the work of making the coming year even yet more prosperous than that just closed. We have a new council and a new school board and their duties in the year to come will not be light, if they are faithfully done. The electors have imposed a double trust on the aldermen. The people trusted them to manage our general affairs, and trusted them with what they have denied on two previous occasions —$25,000 to improve our fire-fighting equipment. It is to be hoped the new council will justify the confidence of the electors and make the wisest possible use of the money placed at their disposal, and provide the City of Peterborough with a fire hall and apparatus which will represent the best possible value for the money expended. The Board of Education will not find their position a sinecure by any means. The question of a new Collegiate Institute building will doubtless be to the fore and the manner in which the new Board may deal with the matter, will decide whether the people has made or not made a mistake in their selection.

THE COUNTY COUNCIL SYSTEM

(Farmers' Sun.)

The Markdale Standard says that during the last eight years of the old county council system the running expenses of Grey County averaged $3,204.31 per year. During the eight years under the new system, the average has been $1,533.63. Here is an apparent saving in this one county of over $13,000 in running expenses in eight years. It may be that this saving was not all due to the change of system, but some of it is properly attributable thereto. It will be remembered, also, that Mr. McKay, of the Municipal World, was able to show at a municipal convention at Guelph that a very considerable reduction in the total expenditure of all the counties of the Province has taken place since the change of system. During the seven years ending with 1896 the average total expenditure of all counties was $3,000,000, while during the seven years subsequent to '96 the total was only $2,365,000.

So far the argument appears to be in favour of the new system, and Mr. Whitney would do well to give further consideration to the matter before finally committing himself to the old order.

The figures given above show only the recorded reduction of expenditure under the present system of constituting county councils. But this by no means represents the saving effected through reduction of the number of county councillors. Our representative system is by no means perfect. It is the conviction of those who have had extensive, or even limited, experience in recording or noting the deliberations of representative bodies that the larger such a body is, the greater the expenditure. As a general rule, every representative has some little scheme of expenditure which it is to his interest to have carried out, and his chances for success are increased by the fact that other members having similar desires will be inclined to co-operate for the sake of the mutual assistance which is the natural outcome of the conditions. It is not to be said that these proposed expenditures are wrong or vicious, but they may easily be expenditures which might be postponed or thrown upon the local sections, which get the benefit. This condition of increased expenditure is intensified if the council is composed of members, representing small municipalities, which will naturally insist upon each having a share of the general expenditure. When the county council is composed of fewer members, representing larger districts, sectional pressure for local advantages costing money is lessened, and a large increase of expense is avoided.

The present system of constituting county councils works well, and Hon. Mr. Whitney will do well to take the advice of the Farmers' Sun and hasten very gently in disturbing it. Of course, Mr. Whitney, when in Opposition, opposed the new system—as a matter of party policy. But now that he is in power he can well afford to revise his attitude and deal with the county council matter on its merits, as he has done in practice in regard to other matters, to which, when in Opposition, he and his party were hostile.

NO MORE SLAUGHTERING OF HOGS IN BOND.

(Farmers Sun.)

At present, under authority conferred by an act passed some fifteen years ago, Canadian bacon factories are allowed to import American hogs free of duty provided that 65 per cent. of the products made from these hogs are exported. Taking advantage of this concession, Canadian bacon factories have during the present calendar year imported some 50,000 American hogs for the purpose of manufacturing the same into bacon for export to Great Britain.

The Dominion Government has now decided that the privilege enjoyed by packers shall cease with January 1st. The reasons given for the decision are that the importation of these hogs carries with it the danger of the introduction of cholera and that the reputation of Canada bacon in England is endangered by the shipping there, through Canadian factories, of bacon made from the thick fat hogs of the United States.

The matter having been decided it is scarcely necessary to discuss now the reason given for the decision taken. It is necessary to point out, however, that packers have themselves to blame for the position in which they are placed to-day, owing to the scarcity of Ontario hogs When supplies of hogs have gone a little above the normal in times past packers have cut prices to a figure that left farmers without profit on production. Farmers have, indeed, as a rule received fair prices only when supplies were on the short side. The natural result has been to lead hog producers to endeavour to keep supplies always a little below packers requirements.

This is not a satisfactory condition of things. The farmer is losing by failing to produce an largely as he might produce with advantage, and the packer is losing by inability to keep his factory going at full capacity and by being compelled at times to pay more for hogs than they are really worth. What is called for is, as The Sun pointed out last week, an arrangement for periodic conferences between representatives of farmers and the packers for the purpose of adjusting prices on a mutually satisfactory basis. If something of this kind can be accomplished the result will be a greater uniformity both in supplies and prices and a better profit all round.

Roman Catholics flocked to Westminster Abbey recently to visit the shrine of Edward the Confessor, who was canonized on October 13, 1163. All day long pilgrims were kneeling at the rail which surrounds the tomb, and offering up prayers.

Pleased With New Country

Mr. W. A. Buchanan Writes to Friends Here.

Mr. W. A. Buchanan, formerly of this city, and more recently of the St. Thomas Journal, who has purchased a half interest in the Lethbridge Herald, the new Liberal paper in that town, (writing his friends here, states that since he left Ontario he has travelled over a considerable part of the new provinces of Saskatchewan and Alberta, as well as British Columbia, and he is most favourably impressed with the new country. After looking the ground over Mr. Buchanan decided to locate at Lethbridge.

While in Edmonton, Mr. Buchanan met Mr. Sam Adams, brother of Alderman and T. H. Adams, of this city, and a young man who is well known here. He is engaged on the Grand Trunk Pacific survey, and stated that he liked the country well.

Mrs. Buchanan will join her husband in a few weeks.

GUESSING CONTEST.

In the guessing contest conducted by The Examiner, 254 answers were received, and considerable time has been required after the officials figures were announced by the Returning Officer to go over the answers and decide on the winner.

The work is practically completed now, and the name of the winner of the $5 in gold will be announced in to-morrow's paper.

The work of deciding who was the best guesser was exceedingly difficult, for so many were within a very few of naming the Council for this year, but the order was what caused the trouble. Get to-morrow's paper and see the name of the lucky guesser who will get the gold. If you sent in a guess it may be you.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

"The Christian," presented last night at the Grand Opera House, by the Summers Stock Company, attracted a large audience.

The company is probably the best stock company that has ever visited Peterborough, and their repertoire is an excellent one, embracing a range of plays of a high class character.

"The Christian" is an excellent dramatization of Hall Caine's famous novel, and the spirit of the book is admirably maintained in the arrangement.

Miss Belle Stevenson as "Elory Quale," scored a decided hit. Her portrayal in the dramatic climaxes in the two concluding acts being exceptionally clever.

Mr. George H. Summers in the character of Horatio Drake, brought to bear in the portrayal of the poet a strong and comprehensive conception of its spirit, which resulted in forceful and vigorous presentation of this interesting part.

The Hon. John Storm as portrayed by Mr. Orrin T. Burke, was also decidedly interesting throughout, and the actor won a genuine appreciation for his excellent work. Lord Robert Ure and Lord Storm were taken by Mr. F. J. Dorrity and Mr. O. Roberts, respectively, and by their excellent work fully maintained the demands of the character, as an essential part of an interesting plot.

The vaudeville features form an attraction of high merit in themselves. The Coultons may be classed among the best of the entertainers who have visited the city this season, and their turn was greeted by a more than ordinary proportion of applause. Pichard and Whippler, character change dancers, did a dance that was an audience winner.

Una Pelham was a dainty bit of feminity with a magnetic charm of a most captivating nature. Her work was well received.

Mr. Oswald Roberts is the possessor of a voice with a wide and pleasing range, and his songs were by no means the least delightful of the many excellent features of the evening.

Bret Harte's "The Fugatives," will be presented this evening.

Anniversary Of St. Peter's T.A.S.

Will be Celebrated on Monday by Concert.

On Monday next the 6th anniversary of the establishment of St. Peter's T. A. S. will be celebrated by an entertainment in the T.A.S. Hall. An address will be given by Rev. Father McColl, Rector of the Cathedral, and it is expected that Rev. Father Frank Sullivan, of Lindsay, the founder of the Society will be present and give an address.

In addition to the addresses a literary and musical programme will be rendered.

The Society is steadily progressing and at the present time the membership numbers about 1,800, and the Society is in a most flourishing condition.

Annual Dinner Of Department Heads Enjoyed

A Delightful Evening Was Spent at the National Hotel Last Night at Annual Gathering of Heads of Canadian General Electric Co. — Many Bright Speeches Made—A Pleasant Re-union of Company Officials —Prominent Citizens Present.

BRIGHT SONGS AND HAPPY SPEECHES

A delightful evening was spent last night at the National Hotel, when the heads of the departments of the Canadian General Electric Company's works enjoyed their annual dinner. There was a large attendance, and a thoroughly enjoyable evening was spent.

This annual gathering of the men who direct the operations in the Works is becoming one of increasing interest to the participants who gather around the festive board and discuss matters of special interest to themselves.

The menu last night was a delightful one prepared in the manner for which this house has, under the present proprietorship, become famous.

After dinner the usual toast list was disposed of, and the speeches, as may well be imagined, were repete with wit and humour.

Mr. E. G. Patterson ably performed the duties of toastmaster, and proposed the first toast, that to The King, which was honoured in the usual patriotic manner.

"The Learned Profession" was proposed by Mr. H. D. Burnet, and the chorus, "For They Are All Jolly, Good Fellows," was heartily sung. Responses to this toast were made by Rev. E. A. Langfeldt and Mr. R. M. Dennistoun. Mr. W. H. Cluxton next favoured the company with a vocal solo excellently rendered.

"The City of Peterborough" was proposed by Mr. R. E. Harding, who referred to the bright prospects for this, the youngest of the Canadian cities. After "Home Sweet Home" had been sung in chorus, responses to the toast were made by Ald. Tovey, E. H. D. Hall, City Solicitor and D. Hughes Charles, President Board of Trade. All of whom expressed the greatest confidence in the bright future in store for Peterborough.

Mr. Roberts, of the Geo. H. Summers Stock Company, was present, and sang "If I Were King," and again encore rendered, "Stein Song." Mr. R. H. Shepherd was next heard in the bass solo, "Asleep in the Deep."

Ald. Tovey then proposed the toast to the "Canadian General Electric Company," and Mr. E. G. Patterson, General superintendent, and Mr. H. Ritchie responded. Mr. Roberts was again heard in two delightful vocal solos.

In responding to the toast to "The Ladies" proposed by Mr. W. A. Brundrette, bright speeches were made by Messrs. J. G. M. Wilson, W. Dobie, W. H. Cluxton, P. L. Allison, E. A. Poe and W. Crowley.

The company dispersed at an early hour this morning, the parting song being "Should Old Acquaintence be Forgot."

The accompanists for the evening were Messrs. T. H. Jardine and E. Menien.

Death Occurred This Morning

Demise of Mrs. Catherine Welsh, in East City.

The death occurred this morning at St. Joseph's Hospital of Catharine Blackburn, relict of the late John Welsh, of Douro township. Her demise followed an illness of some weeks, of asthma, during which time she has been for about two weeks at the hospital.

The late Mrs. Welsh was born in Ireland 71 years ago and removed to Canada at an early age, and was married later to the late Mr. Welsh, who pre-deceased her by about 30 years.

She resided almost continuously in Douro, since her removal there, until about ten years ago, when she came to Peterborough, and has since lived with her son-in-law, Mr. Michael Burke, East City. Surviving members of the family are three daughters and one son, as follows: Mrs. Wm. Davidson and Mrs. Thos. Fox, of British Columbia; Mrs. Michael Burke, East City, and Mr. Edward Welsh, of Douro township.

The funeral will take place on Friday at nine o'clock from the residence of Mr. Michael Burke, East City, to St. Peter's Cemetery for interment.

An Impressive Ceremony At Mount St. Joseph

Nine Postulants This Morning Received the Holy Habit and Enter Into the Community of St. Joseph—The Names of the Young Ladies Who Took the Habit--His Lordship Bishop O'Connor Performed the Ceremony.

APPROPRIATE SERMON BY REV. DR. O'BRIEN

A most interesting ceremony took place at Mount St. Joseph this morning at 9 o'clock, when nine postulants took the Holy Habit. This was one of the largest numbers to take the Habit at one time in the history of the community of St. Joseph. The chapel in which the ceremony took place was crowded to the doors with the friends of the young ladies who to-day entered the community as novitiates. It was beautifully decorated with roses, lilies and carnations, and presented a most pleasing appearance.

The young ladies who to-day took the Habit, with their names in religion are:

Miss Susan McDonald, Belleville, Sister Mary Louise.

Miss Frances Whittaker, Montreal, Sister Mary Anselm.

Miss Nellie Greenan, Lindsay, Sister Helen of the Cross.

Miss Marion Carveth, Peterborough, Sister Mary Gabriel.

Miss Loretta Guiry, Ennismore, Sister Mary Elfrida.

Miss Catherine Costello, Ennismore, Sister Mary St. Roch.

Miss Florence Dillon, Montreal, Sister Mary Bertelle.

At 9 o'clock the young ladies entered the chapel to the strains of the wedding march from Mozart's 12th Mass, and took their places at the altar, where His Lordship Bishop O'Connor, who performed the ceremony, asked them the questions required of them prior to their admission to the community. In the ceremony His Lordship was assisted by Ven. Archdeacon Casey, of Lindsay, and Rev. Father McCpll, while Rev. Dr. O'Brien acted as master of ceremonies.

The postulants, who were dressed in their bridal robes while answering the questions, retired after this exercise to receive the Holy Habit.

The sermon was preached by Rev. Dr. O'Brien, whose subject was the beauties of the religious life, and the duties of those wo were to-day entering the Sisterhood. Rev. Dr. O'Brien's sermon was eminently practical and was most appropriate to the occasion.

The priests present, in addition to His Lordship, and those already mentioned were: Rev. P. J. McGuire, Downeyville; Rev. Father Bretherton, Hastings; Rev. Father Fitzpatrick, Ennismore, Rev. Father Phelan, Young's Point; Rev. Father Crowley, Sturgeon Falls, Rev. Father Kelly and Rev. Father Galvin, of St. Peter's Cathedral.

The music incidental to the occasion, and which was of a beautiful character, was rendered by the Sisters' choir, all of whom were members of the Community.

The next ceremony of this nature will take place about the middle of August.

A Blaze At Machine Shop

Fire at Premises Occupied by Mr. E. R. Wilson.

The machine shop owned by Houdry and Sons, and occupied by Mr. E. R. Wilson, took fire early this morning, the fire brigade being called for at about 5 a. m. The blaze, the origin of which is a mystery, started at the rear of the shop near the door and in this part of the building considerable of the floor was burned, and the wall and also some damage to a portion of the roof at the rear of the building. The belting was burned and one of the motors damaged. Other machinery was also damaged to a certain extent by fire and water. The shop was closed at the time the conflagration started and had it been open the fire fiend would undoubtedly have held away and the result would have been very much more serious.

Mr. Wilson expects to be running in full swing in a couple of days. The loss, which it is impossible to estimate, until everything is checked over, is fully covered by insurance.

Official Report Of Trotting Association

On the Ella H. Case--Reasons for Expelling H. A. Cook From the Association--The American Trotting Organization Hands Out Its Report.

Local turfmen will be interested in the following article from the Toronto Globe:—

The official report of the American Trotting Association Chicago, Ill., v. H. A. Cook, Peterborough, Ont., and ... D. McBride, Collingwood, Ont., on a charge of illegal performance and citation to appear, is at hand.

At the meeting of the Board of Appeals, May, 1905, A. D., McBride, of Collingwood, Ont., H. A. Cook, of Peterborough, Ont., and the bay mare, Velma, alias Ella H., were suspended until the mare was properly identified and her winnings over tracks of members during 1901 returned for redistribution.

During the summer of 1905 the Secretary of the American Trotting Association was informed by Wm. Robinson of Toronto, Ont., that he had purchased the bay mare Velma and wished to pay the unlawful winnings and recording fee for change of name and have said mare reinstated, he having purchased without knowledge of her illegal performances. The amount was paid and the mare reinstated.

Subsequently investigation showed that evidence could be secured fully identifying said mare as Ella H., and the Secretary of the American Trotting Association visited Toronto, saw the mare and secured affidavit of Simon Proctor of Newmarket, Ont., that he was well acquainted with the mare under her true name of Velma; that in August, 1904, at Winnipeg and Brandon, Manitoba, he saw the bay mare called Ella H., driven by H. A. Cook, of Peterborough, Ont., taking part in races; at Toronto, Ont., under the name of Velma, and that the mare which competed under the name of Ella H., at Winnipeg and Brandon is the same mare he saw taking part in races at Toronto under the name of Velma.

Immediately after securing this evidence defendants, H. A. Cook and A. D. McBride, were cited to appear at the present meeting of the board and show cause why they should not be penalized for illegal performance, and later Abe Holden, of Gibraltar, Ont., was cited to appear and show cause why he should not be penalized for having made false statements in the attempted identification of the mare Ella H., he having sworn that he raised the mare Ella H. and had her in his possession from the time of foaling until the 18th of March, 1904, when he sold her to A. D. McBride, of Collingwood, Ont., under the name of Ella H.; that the mare is seven years old, a green mare, sired by Prince Eric, first dam by St. Lawrence, etc.

In response defendant McBride, now residing at Ottawa, Ont., swears that he purchased the mare Ella H. from Abe Holden, of Gibraltar about the 18th day of March, under the name of Ella Ella H.; that he did not know any former name or performance for the mare; that he sold her in the month of August, 1904, at Brandon, to H. A. Cook, and therefore, makes application for favourable consideration of the case so far as he is concerned and places on deposit in the trust fund of the American Trotting Association the illegal winnings of the mare at the place above mentioned.

No direct response has been received from defendant Cook, but in his behalf application is made for favourable consideration, with a statement that he also is willing to pay a fine and return the illegal winnings.

The evidence clearly shows that defendant Cook performed with the bay mare Velma under the name of Ella H. at Winnipeg and Brandon, Man.; also performed with said mare at Toronto under the name of Velma, and that he was fully aware of the true name and record of the mare at each place.

The evidence does not show that McBride was aware of the true name and record of the mare at the time of the purchase by him from Abe Holden, he having made positive affidavit to the contrary, which is not denied, but is sustained by the affidavit of the seller, Abe Holden. He has shown his good faith by return of the illegal winnings of the mare while in his ownership and possession.

The evidence clearly shows that Abe Holden, of Gibraltar, made false affidavit in the attempted identification, as set forth in Case No. 3,075, and further shows that the mare Ella H. is now in the hands of an innocent purchaser, who has returned all illegal winnings and paid a recording fee for change of name, and it is ordered that H. A. Cook, of Peterborough, Ont., and Abe Holden, of Gibraltar, Ont., be and hereby are expelled; that A. D. McBride, of Ottawa, Ont., and the mare Ella H., formerly Velma, be reinstated.

Mr. Cook has his version of the matter and while he is not kicking on account of his treatment, he thinks that others implicated and equally as culpable as he, should also be penalized.

Cook owned the racing qualities of Velma to A. D. McBride, Collingwood, Ont.; who is now at Ottawa. McBride got her registered at Toronto in the Canadian horse registry. She was later taken to Manitoba and raced at Winnipeg, where Cook didn't drive her, contrary to the above report. He drove her at Brandon and won. McBride got all proceeds. Robertson who bought her outright from Cook, bought her as Velma. Cook never raced her under any other name. It's true that Abe Holden, Gibraltar, never owned the mare. Cook says that both McBride and Robertson knew all about the crooked business and that they should be expelled as well as he. Their claim of innocence in this matter is false, he says.

RUGBY.

When the intercollegiate football rules committee takes up the question of needed reforms at the meeting to be held in Philadelphia to-day, a bundle of suggestions from experts all over the country will be inspected. Some of the suggestions are too absurd to mention, but others appear to be worth more than passing notice. As an illustration of the various ideas set forth for the consideration of the rule makers, the following gives a list of proposed changes which have been made by experts at different times since the recent season closed:—

Ten-yard gain in three downs.
Eight-yard gains in three downs.
Ten-yard gain in four downs.
Increased penalties for roughness.
Disqualification for intentional fouling.
Penalty of twenty-five yards for roughness.
No substitute for disqualified player until ten minutes has elapsed.
Distinction between "roughness" and "brutality".
Players guilty of brutality to remain out of the game for the rest of the season.
Distance penalty for time taken out for injuries.
Man downed when feet leave the ground.
No substitute for disqualified player.
No tackling below the knees.
Prohibition of handling.
More specific definition of holding.
Standing stuff of officials for all games.
Two umpires and a referee.
Seven men in line of scrimmage by attacking team.
Five men in line of scrimmage by team on defence, others to be at least five yards back.
Not more than six players on the line of scrimmage; of others, three to be five yards back.
Two sets of rules, one for colleges the other for preparatory schools.
Every member of attacking team to be on side when the ball is kicked.
No interference.
Forward passes back of line.
Limitation of total time taken out for injuries.
Shortening of the playing time to thirty-minute halves.

It is estimated that 70,000 people take their own lives every year in Europe, 11,000 of which fall to Germany. During the last ten years the number of self murders in Germany has been 113,545. This is almost three times as many as there were soldiers killed outright in the Franco-Prussian war in 1870-1.

Lost In Six Townships and Four Towns or Villages—143,341 People Are Concerned In the New Local Option Centres—List of the Municipalities In Which Local Option Was Adopted Last Monday.

Toronto, Jan. 3.—Latest returns of the vote on local option in this province on Monday shows the significant fact that 49 municipalities have adopted the principle which, if carried out, will cancel 131 licenses. The proportion of the rural population voting on Monday was about 8 per cent. in favor of no license, and the population of these new local option centres is 143,341. The following table shows the population of the municipalities to hand, the results of Monday's vote and the number of licenses at present in each one:

A DEADLY DOSE.

London Man Pays With Life For His Wife's Mistake.

London, Jan. 3.—Benson Winegarden of 728 Waterloo street, died Monday morning as a result of drinking carbolic acid, administered to him by his wife, a mistake for olive oil.

Winegarden has suffered from kidney trouble for upwards of eight years, and has been practically an invalid during that time, although able to be up and around occasionally. New Year's eve he was very ill, and his condition did not improve as the night advanced, and about 6 o'clock his wife arose to give him a dose of olive oil.

After swallowing a mouthful of the dose, he asked his wife what it was, and noticing her mistake she summoned medical aid, which arrived too late, Mr. Winegarden living only 10 minutes after taking the dose.

Besides his widow, he leaves a family of eight children. He was 56 years of age.

Make Desperate Effort To Put Down The Reds

Ruthless War Against Them By the Russian Government.

TO PREVENT RAILWAY STRIKE

Transformation of Moscow Magical Since the Revolt Was Quelled — On Holiday Goods Intent — Damage Wrought by Rebellion Amounts to Five Million Dollars—Counting the Cost Now Begun.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 3.—The Government's strongly worded announcement that it proposes to pursue to the bitter end the policy of putting down the "Reds," following on the heels of the crushing of the revolt at Moscow, demonstrates the confidence of Premier Witte's Government that it has the ability to complete the task it has undertaken. The main cause of this confidence is the fidelity displayed by the troops.

Ruthless War Against "Reds."

Despite the rigorous, ruthless fashion in which the war against the "Reds" is conducted the Government is taking every opportunity by word and act to try to prove to the public that the repression of the revolutionists does not involve the abandonment of the reform program, but that on the contrary their suppression is necessary in order that the new regime may be realized.

Premier Witte himself says: "All the energies of the Government are now consecrated to the work of making possible the convocation of the representatives of the nation at the earliest possible moment."

The Bourse has evidently adopted the Government view that the war against the revolutionists would be successful, all issues rising strongly to-day. Imperial fours touched 82.

To Prevent Railway Strike.

An imperial decree designed to prevent interference with the working of railroads was issued yesterday. It provides for the appointment of a special committee to control the services when occasion requires it. The committee is empowered to issue regulations, and to inflict penalties in case of their non-observance, to prohibit the holding of meetings, to close commercial and industrial establishments, to forbid the sale of newspapers, to dismiss officials and to take other steps of a similar nature. In places where martial law is proclaimed persons guilty of rebellion, high treason, the organization of strikes, incendiarism or the destruction of telegraph or telephone wires or railroad lines shall, the decree declares, be tried by court-martial.

Strike at Warsaw.

Warsaw, Jan. 3.—The employes of all the factories here are on strike.

The traffic on the Vistula railroad is partly interrupted. The socialists have destroyed two bridges, and are firing on the engineers.

A bridge has also been destroyed on the Vienna railroad. In the Government of Kielce the revolutionists have destroyed several Government buildings.

At Lodz some of the factories attempted to resume work, but the workmen were threatened by the strikers with revolvers.

At Sosnovice and Dombrova all the coal and iron miners are on strike.

MOSCOW TRANSFORMED.

Magical Change In 24 Hours Since the Collapse of the Revolt.

Moscow, Monday, Jan. 1 via St. Petersburg, Jan. 2.—Except for the numerous military patrols in the streets and the pillars of smoke lazily floating above the ruins of factories and houses in the Presna district, there is little to recall the nightmare of the past ten days. As if by magic, in 24 hours the appearance of the city has changed. The stores everywhere have been reopened and the streets are crowded with holiday shoppers, making belated purchases for the Russian Christmas, which, according to the Julian calendar, falls on Sunday.

The Presna district, however, presented another picture. There people by the hundreds who had been burned out were excitedly searching the ruins or bemoaning the loss of dear ones, while the police and troops continued their unceasing hunt for hidden revolutionists. A batch of Drujinists surrounded in a sugar factory in the suburbs during the night, and surrendered this morning when they found that further resistance was useless.

Still Some Fighting.

The only other warlike incident was a rear attack made by a body of Drujinists upon a detachment of troops stationed at a bridge with instructions to cover the work of the firemen. The soldiers when attacked turned right about face and fired a volley, killing three students and wounding several others.

This was the coldest day of the winter, the thermometer registering 18 degrees below zero.

The most important captures were made to-day—Volkoff and Malinoff, the chiefs of the fighting organization and members of the national revolutionary committee. The authorities are promising amnesty for information regarding the leaders, and the hiding places of arms, but only a few are betraying their comrades. It is understood that the prisoners will be tried by court martial.

At the Bourse to-day a prominent manufacturer estimated the damage done in the burned district at $5,000,000.

Counting the Cost.

It is impossible to ascertain the total losses resulting from the ten days' revolt, as many of the dead and wounded have not been reported, at the hospitals, and some of the bodies were incinerated, but a personal tour of the hospitals shows there were 548 killed and 1,065 wounded. One hundred and seventy four of the injured taken to hospitals have since died. The troops lost nine killed, of whom two were officers and fifty-one wounded. Of the police force, ten were killed and fifteen wounded. Among the killed or wounded were many children, the returns generally showing that innocent persons suffered the heaviest.

There has been no fighting at the Prokharoff mills since Saturday. An eye-witness of the surrender of the last batch on Sunday says that two of the ring-leaders were shot without trial.

Another Bank Teller Skips With Money

Traced to Calgary Where Police Think He Is Hiding.

TOOK A PACKAGE OF $1,000

Saturday Afternoon J. Fletcher Hutchinson Took His Departure From the Union Bank at Didsbury, Alberta —Was Exemplary In His Character but Hard Pressed to Pay His Gambling Debts.

Edmonton, Sask., Jan. 3.—J. Fletcher Hutchinson of Didsbury, Alta., teller of the Union Bank, fled Saturday, carrying with him a package containing one thousand dollars.

He was traced to Calgary, where the police think he is hiding. The theft was discovered within three hours after the fugitive left the bank, when the manager checked up the cash.

It was believed that he was preparing to take a larger sum and secure the advantage of the three days' holiday in getting out of the country.

Hutchinson was until three weeks ago occupying a similar position in the Edmonton branch. Enquiry at the local branch from J. J. Anderson, local manager, elicited the information that the defaulter, while in this city, bore an exemplary character. The manager had received a communication from Didsbury branch notifying him of the disappearance of the clerk with $800.

Hutchinson was well-known and very popular in the city in social and hockey circles.

The street accounts of the defalcation places the sum at $1,200 from the Didsbury branch, and $1,100 from the Edmonton bank.

Those who knew him well believe that the young clerk took to gambling, and finding himself hard pressed awaited his opportunity to abscond with sufficient funds to meet his debts and take him to a place of safety.

The N. W. M. P. have been notified, and an active search is being prosecuted for the delinquent, whose home is Carberry, Manitoba.

Murder Or Injury?

SUSPICIOUS CIRCUMSTANCES Surround Recent Death

Rumours Rife With Regard to Death of Harvey Township Man--Supposedly Caused by Fall From Bicycle--Crown Authorities Making Investigations and Have in Their Possession Startling Information.

To Crown authorities are, it is understood by the Examiner, at present engaged in investigating the circumstances in connection with the death of a young man named Esson, which occurred some months ago in Harvey township.

The death was at that time attributed to a fall from a bicycle received accidentally upon a road near Lakehurst. Since the time of the death rumours of a decidedly ugly nature have been current, and, while the authorities are extremely reticent with regard to the matter, it is expected that developments of a startling character will be made public within a few days if their precipions are confirmed.

Esson, at the time of his death, was discovered by a man named Winters, who is now incarcerated in the County Jail, awaiting trial tomorrow upon a charge of arson in connection with the burning of a house in Harvey Township, owned by Mr. J. J. Lundy, of Peterborough. Winters informed a number of men at the Lakehurst postoffice of the event, and upon their arrival at the scene of the supposed accident, found Esson lying dead upon the road. The men who came to his assistance were informed by Winters that the victim had fallen from his wheel.

Following the funeral a few days later, rumours pointing toward the possibility of foul play were rife in the community, and the statement was made that owing to an alleged discolouration of the neck the young man's death was the result of strangulation. Of the several prominent local Crown officials seen today by the Examiner, confirmed the assertion that an investigation is being made which will probably result in startling developments. While absolutely refusing to divulge any particulars to-day, one of the gentlemen spoken to stated that the circumstances of the affair gave rise to suspicions of the strongest possible nature. "In fact," he added, "in my experience, I have never known a case in which the information received aroused my suspicions to a greater extent than that in the present case."

Great Increase In The Customs Receipts

A Gratifying Evidence of the Growing Importance of Peterborough as an Industrial and Business Centre--Receipts for December, 1905, Were Three Times Those of Corresponding Month in 1904--Record of Receipts Since 1893-4.

In the growth of the customs receipts for the City of Peterborough during the past year, an excellent object lesson of the increasing prosperity of the city is furnished. For the month of December, 1905, the receipts were $43,600.02, as compared with $12,119.08 for the same month in 1904.

The December 1905 receipts were within about $2,000 of being equal to the receipts for the whole year in 1894-5, when they reached $45,174.52. The receipts for the last twelve months gives evidence of the almost phenomenal growth of Peterborough's trade. They are as follows:

January	$15,883 18
February	27,581 47
March	54,942 83
April	46,258 51
May	15,396 51
June	49,197 06
July	22,532 78
August	34,235 30
September	25,869 04
October	36,961 16
November	22,388 89
December	43,600 02

The record for the twelve months preceding—1904—are:—

January	$14,764 72
February	15,388 79
March	26,564 52
April	22,926 92
May	16,856 18
June	17,115 83
July	17,400 44
August	26,247 19
September	22,549 33
October	31,464 36
November	16,516 26
December	12,119 08

The figures giving the receipts for the years since 1893-4 are as follows:—

1893-4	$ 57,483 08
1894-5	45,174 52
1895-6	51,849 55
1896-7	52,355 42
1897-8	74,016 33
1898-9	87,082 06
1899-0	122,496 07
1900-1	130,050 07
1901-2	147,393 49
1902-3	213,926 24
1903-4	222,751 15
1904-5	386,837 29

It will be seen that the increase in Peterborough's trade, as indicated by the above figures has not only been steady, but it has been rapid, and the pleasing feature is that this increase shows no sign of a cessation, each month showing a substantial increase over the corresponding month in 1904.

LICENSE REDUCTION.

To the Editor of The Examiner,—

Dear Sir, — In the Evening Examiner of December 30th, "Citizen" says "I doubt very much that a decrease in hotels will lessen drinking." I agree with him to this extent, that it will not lessen it to any great extent. The experience in large cities in England would prove the opposite. At the same time I believe in the closing of every place possible, and would vote for the reduction, had I a vote in this city.

The argument has been advanced that under our present license system, we have created a monopoly of the liquor traffic. Granted. The argument is then taken further, and it is assumed that a reduction of licenses would strengthen the monopoly.

Here I beg to differ. It is true that this would be the result were you to reduce, say, the number of hardware stores. But the parallel does not hold good with the liquor traffic. It does not stand in the same relation to the body politic as the hardware store does. The latter is a necessity; the former is a nuisance.

The state has always regarded the liquor traffic as opposed to the best interests of the people. It has always asserted its right of control, and, therefore, the liquor traffic only exists on tolerance.

A reduction of licenses would weaken the monopoly because:

1. It would lessen its political and social influence.

2. It would conduce to a more effectual supervision on the part of the authorities.

"Citizen" also refers to the license fee. Personally, I would not receive one dollar from the liquor traffic, either by license fee or excise fee. It seems to me that while we consent to receive a certain portion of our revenue from the liquor traffic, so long will real drastic temperance legislation be delayed.

It is the price they pay for the privilege of debauching our manhood and degrading our womanhood, and while we accept the money we cannot refuse them the privilege they pay for.

"Citizen" also refers to the "treating" and states that "a man is pretty far gone when he goes into a hotel to take a drink for the sake of a drink."

I do not agree with him. The main attraction in the drink is the exhilaration that follows, as the result of taking alcoholic liquors; that is the greatest attraction. If it were not for this there would be no drunkenness at all. Treating has often been the cause of a man's start, but it is not long before the average man drinks for the drink's sake alone.

"Citizen" suggests a bylaw to suppress treating. This is impossible; it would make the city the laughing-stock of the whole country. It would be worse than the "Black List Bill" passed in England in 1902. Under this act any person who had been convicted of drunkenness more than once in six months, (I write from memory) could, if the magistrate so decided, be placed on a "Black List," and any person supplying him with alcoholic liquors, was liable to a heavy fine. The act was enforced for a few months, and several persons were placed on the "Black List." At last, however, the whole thing was quashed by a decision in a higher court, "That no person could be placed on the 'Black List' without his or her consent." Thus ended this piece of ridiculous legislation. It stands on the statute books to-day as a warning to those who would legislate on lines other than those of fixed principles.

No, sir; we must face this fact "that it is not right nor politic to afford legal protection or sanction to any traffic or system that tends to increase crime, to waste the natural resources, to destroy the lives and health of the people; and further that no consideration of public revenue can justify the up-holding of such a system.

The only legislation, consistent with known facts and sane reasoning is an act that prohibits the production, importation and sale of alcoholic liquors. What is then to be our attitude in this our day and generation. We must agitate, educate and legislate—always remembering that our final goal is national prohibition by non-production.

Yours sincerely,

W. SHINER.

BABY GIRL'S AWFUL HUMOUR

Would Scab Over, Break Open and Be Raw—Intense Suffering for Two Years—Doctors and Medicines Failed to Help Her.

CURED BY CUTICURA WHEN ALL ELSE FAILED

Writing under date of August 15, 1904, Mrs. L. C. Walker, of 5 Tremont Street, Woodfords, Me., says: "My sister had a terrible humour on her shoulder when she was eighteen months old, causing intense suffering for two years. We had several doctors, and tried everything, but in spite of all we did it kept spreading. One day it would scab over and then crack open and a watery matter ooze from it and the scabs would all fall off. It would be raw for a time, then scab over again. Some one recommended Cuticura, and we immediately procured a box of Cuticura Ointment, and a cake of Cuticura Soap. She was much better after the first bath with warm water and soap, and an application of the Ointment. Before it was half gone we saw a marked change for the better, and she was entirely cured, without a scar being left, by the one box of Ointment and one cake of Soap. Her skin is now entirely clear, and she has not had a sign of trouble since."

That Cuticura Soap is the best baby soap in the world for cleansing and purifying the skin, and that Cuticura Ointment is of priceless value for soothing and healing torturing, disfiguring eruptions, itchings, and chafings. A single application of Cuticura Ointment, preceded by a warm bath with Cuticura Soap, gives instant relief, and refreshing sleep for skin-tortured babies, and rest for tired, fretted mothers.

Non.-Coms. Held Annual Meeting Last Night

Pleasing Event at the Mess Room Last Night—Retiring Officers Were Presented With Pipes by Their Comrades—Officers for Ensuing Year Elected—Other Matters of Business.

PLEASING DANCE IS IN PROSPECT

Colour Sergeant Sturgeon was "Santa Claus" last night at the Non-Coms'. annual meeting at their rooms on Simcoe street, and notwithstanding the somewhat belated appearance in this role, distributed favours with a generous hand upon behalf of his associates of the mess. An agreeable change from the unbending formalities of a business meeting was introduced by the presentation to a number of the retiring officers of the mess of a handsome pipe each, by their brother Non.-Coms., as a slight token of appreciation of their services, and also of the general esteem in which they are held.

Ex-President Sharp occupied the chair. The first presentation made was that to Staff Sergeant Sharp, the retiring president, to whom an accompanying verbal address, conveying in appreciative terms a reference to the efficiency which had characterized his work in an official capacity during the year, was made by Sergeant-Major Brittain. A similar address was made to the retiring secretary, Staff Sergeant Coughlan, by Staff Sergeant Edwards, and to the president of the Property Committee, Sergeant Batten, by Colour-Sergeant Roberts. The pipes were presented in each case by Colour-Sergeant Sturgeon, appropriate replies being made by the recipients.

The officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows:

Hon. President, Sergeant-Major Brittain.

President, Sergeant W. Batten.

Vice-President, Colour-Sergeant Roberts.

Management Committee, the colour-sergeants of each company.

The attendance at the meeting was large, and a number of matters of business were discussed. Among matters considered was that of the dance to be given in the Foresters' Hall, Simcoe street, on January 10. Every arrangement is being made for the event, and that it will be one of the most pleasing affairs of the season of this kind is a foregone conclusion.

Accidental Shooting Ends In Fatality

Mrs. J. Audley Pierce, Wounded by 22-Calibre Bullet at Stony Lake Last Summer. Succumbed Last Night After Long Illness, Patiently Borne—Has Been Confined at Nicholls Hospital Since the Accident—Blood Poisoning Complications Ensued.

MUCH SYMPATHY IS EXPRESSED

After about six months of patient suffering resulting from a bullet wound received at Stony Lake on July 15th, last, by the accidental discharge of a 22 calibre rifle, Mrs. J. Audley Pierce, of McKeesport, Pa., passed away last night at the Nicholls Hospital, at about 10.30 o'clok.

The distressing occurrence which was responsible for the fatal termination will be recalled by many summer sojourners at Stony Lake. The accidentr occurred near Burleigh Falls, where a party from Viamede, which included Mr. and Mrs. Pierce and Miss Dale, were fishing from a row cident occurred near Burleigh Falls, boys who were standing upon the shore discharged a 22 calibre rifle at a crow, the bullet going wide of the mark and glancing upon the surface of the water entered Mrs. Pierce's shoulder.

The injured lady was removed at once to the Burleigh Htel, where an examination of the wound was made by Dr. J. R. Fraser, of Lakefield, who was present at the time. It was considered best to place the patient under hospital attention as quickly as possible and she was conveyed to Lakefield upon the steamer Majestic and conveyed thence to Peterborough and has ever since been confined at the Nicholls Hospital.

During her long illness she received the most skilful attention obtainable, specialists being brought from Toronto on several occasions. Marked improvement was noticable in the patient's condition, and the brightest hopes for her convalescence were entertained. It was not until the last few days that the symptoms became critical, when blood-poisoning complications ensued.

During his wife's long illness, her husband remained steadfastly by her bedside and ministered to her material comfort in every possible way. Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Crombie, of Oakmont, Pa., father and mother of the deceased lady, arrived in Peterborough, some days ago, and were present when the end came. Mr. Pearce is a barrister by profession, and to him will be extended the heartfelt sympathy of a large circle of friends, made during his stay in Peterborough.

The remains were taken to-day upon the 11.30 train to McKeesport, Pa., where the funeral will take place.

Last Night's Concert Was Enjoyable

Excellent Programme Presented at Concert Under Auspices of the Choir at Charlotte Street Church—Mr. H. Ruthven McDonald Won a Genuine Appreciation—Programme Was Largely Musical, Though Numbers Were Charmingly Varied.

FEATURES OF THE PROGRAMME

The concert given last night in the Sunday school room of the Charlotte street Methodist church under the auspices of the choir was one of the most pleasing musical events of the season, and was listened to with delight by those who attended, despite the inclement weather. The programme presented was of a charmingly varied character, though principally musical.

The opening number was a piano duet by Misses Clarry and Campbell, which was rendered with much technical brilliancy, combined with a sympathetic interpretation. In expression and shading the performers exhibited a musicianly taste.

Mr. H. Ruthven McDonald's initial number was Allitsen's "The Lord Is My Light." Mr. McDonald, with few peers and no superiors in the Dominion in the realm of vocalmusic in which he is engaged, was never heard to better advantage than last night. Always a favourite with Peterborough audiences, his reception last night was no exception to the rule, and his singing gave thorough delight. He was most generous in his responses to the encores with which his numbers were invariably greeted, contributing, by special request at the close, an additional number, "Alone in the Desert." He gave as an encore to his first number, "Sweet Story of Old." In his rendering of "The Mighty Deep," by Pinsuti, the vocalist won a general appreciation. As a recall number he gave, in a lighter vein, "Philosophy."

In Griswold's "What the Chimney Sang," the full resonant tone quality of Mr. McDonald's voice was brought out in a most exquisite manner. The presentation of the selection was vivid. The splendid compass of the singer's voice, the clear enunciation and sympathetic expression all united to make the number one of the most charming of the evening. A double encore was forced from the vocalist, who gave "Four Jolly Sailormen" and "My Ain Fireside." "Good-bye Sweet Day," was exquisite in its rendering. In contrast, came the recall number, Albert Chevalier's well-known coster song, "My Old Dutch," which lost nothing of its delicious humour and delicate pathos in the rendering.

Miss Clara Belleghem sang Van de Water's "The Penitent" with exquisite expression. The shading was delicate and musicianly, while the sweetness and flexibility of the singer's voice were under perfect control. Miss Belleghem sang as an encore number, "O Fair! O Sweet! and Holy!"

Miss Julia Choate contributed a violin selection, 'Handel's "Largo," with considerable technical proficiency, and in a manner revealing an excellence of tuition, and bowed her acknowledgments to a hearty recall.

Mr. H. Dunslow scored a decided success as a monologue entertainer. "How Rubenstein Played" was first number, and it was presented with much dramatic force and elocutionary ability. "Ben Bolten," dramatic recitation, was also received with a demand for a further favour.

The delightful nature of the programme throughout reflects much credit upon Miss Mabel Clarry, who arranged the event at no little personal effort, and to her and her associates those present were indebted for an evening of thorough enjoyment.

Farmers' Institute Opens

WINTER SERIES OF

Meetings In Smith Township

Two Meetings Were Held in 4th Line Hall Yesterday--Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P., and Mr. J. H. Burnham Attended the Evening Meeting, at Which Attendance Was Large--Excellent Addresses Upon Agricultural Topics by the Delegates.

The regular winter series of Farmers' Institute meetings for the district of Peterborough opened yesterday, when two sessions were held in the Orange Hall in the fourth line of Smith. Owing to the disagreeable weather the attendance was not as large as would be expected, but those present took keen interest in the addresses of the several speaker, as was evidenced by the numerous questions asked. The Institute delegates were Messes. W. C. Shearer, Bright, Ont., and W. S. Fraser, of Bradford, Ont. At the evening session, Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P., and Mr. J. H. Burnham, of Peterborough, were present, and gave highly interesting addresses. The president of the local Farmers' Institute, Mr. T. M. Hunter, presided at both sessions. Valuable assistance was also lent by the energetic Mr. William Collins, who had made most complete arrangements. There was about a score of farmers present at the afternoon meeting, and a much larger number at night.

President's Address.

The president of the Institute opened the afternoon meeting with a short address. He regretted that there was not a larger attendance, but it was gratifying to know that the best farmers in the vicinity were present. He urged upon his auditors the importance of questioning the delegates upon any question which would be of interest. He then called upon Mr. Fraser for an address.

Mr. Fraser's Address.

Mr. Fraser gave an interesting address on "Sheep Management." He prefaced his address with the remark that he would be as brief as possible as the time of those present was valuable. In many districts, he said, farmers had discarded sheep and were paying more attention to the dairy cow and bacon hog. This was to be regretted as sheep-raising was a profitable branch of the farming industry. Keeping sheep was one of the best means of ridding a farm of weeds, as they ate many species of weeds which other domestic stock would not touch.

Continuing, Mr. Fraser said that it was not advisable to keep too many sheep. He would not have more than forty in a flock. Sheep did not require expensive buildings to house them; they would do well in a cool, well ventilated place. A warm, ill-ventilated place was detrimental to the health of sheep, and also had an injurious effect on the wool. One of the sources of profit from the sheep was the wool. Each fleece should bring about $1. The speaker referred to the rapid increase in the price of lambs. A few years ago lambs only brought about $2 each, while during the present summer they had brought as high as $5 each. Four dollars per head was about the average price. A flock of twenty sheep, said Mr. Fraser, should produce at least thirty lambs in a season, or an average of 1 1-2 lamb for each ewe. Valuing the lambs at $4 each and the fleece of each ewe at $1 the return from each sheep during the season would be $7. The black-faced breeds were the best for mutton. Their flesh was in the best demand among butchers. Mr. Fraser, however, did not recommend any particular breed. Each man should be guided by his own individual taste. He did not think it was advisable to keep sheep after they were six years old. After this age their teeth became bad and they could not be kept to advantage.

As regards the feeding of sheep, there was nothing better than good clover hay. Pea straw also made a good feed for the winter months. Sheep should be given close attention during the lambing period. Lack of proper care at this time meant a great curtailing of profits. A variety of pasture was best for sheep, although it was generally considered that they did best on high land. Mr. Fraser concluded by pointing out that it was advisable for farmers to keep a few sheep, as both mutton and wool were bringing high prices. Sheep should be kept free from ticks. Any of the commercial sheep dips were good. He would recommend shearing sheep towards the end of April. They should, however, be given sufficient protection if the weather turned suddenly cold.

Rotation of Crops.

"The Rotation of Crops and the Selection of Seed Grain," was the subject of Mr. Shearer's address. In opening he said that it was the aim of every farmer to make money and at the same time maintain the fertility of the soil, or even increase it if possible. He advocated a four years' rotation. On his farm, he said the following rotation was followed:

First year — Hay or pasture, ploughed down in the fall.

Second year — Crop of mixed grain.

Third year — A cleaning crop, such as corn or roots. Application of manure.

Fourth year — Seed down.

A clover crop, Mr. Shearer said, greatly increased the fertility of the soil. A good growth of clover ploughed down was equal to an application of ten to twelve tons of manure per acre. For the second year's rotation Mr. Shearer recommended a mixture of barley, oats and flax. One bushel and a peck of oats, three-quarters of a bushel of barley and about five pounds of flax per acre was the right quantity to sow. This made a good feed for hogs. Manure should be drawn out in the winter. True there might be some loss, but the loss would be compensated by the advantage of having the work done. The work could also be more easily done in the winter than in the summer. He preferred to have the corn planted in hills. For a root crop mangolds were to be preferred to turnips.

Regarding the selection of seed grain, Mr. Shearer said that only the good plump grain should be sown. The small grain should be blown out with the fanning mill. When good plump grain is sown, each seed produces a strong vigourous plant, with the result that the crop will be much larger. In reply to a question, Mr. Shearer said that grass seed should be sown at the rate of nine pounds per acre. A good mixture was 2-3 of clover and 1-3 of timothy seed.

The speaker laid stress on the importance of farmers treating their grain before sowing for the prevention of smut. It could be done at a cost of about one cent per bushel by the use of formalin which can be purchased at any drug store. The grain should be placed in a heap and sprinkled with formalin and stirred up until every seed has come in contact with the formalin. The grain should be left in the heap for two or three days and be stirred occasionally. The adoption of this treatment, the speaker said, was an effective preventive of smut. Several farmers in the audience testified to the success of this treatment.

In reply to a question Mr. Shearer said that the revenue from his farm, which is 100 acres in extent, some of it not being arable, was between $1700 and $1800 per year. His herd of fifteen cows gave a return of about $800 for the seven months the milk was sent to the factory. This was for the season of 1905.

The Weed Question.

Mr. Fraser followed with a short address on noxious weeds, and the best means of eradicating them.

The weed problem, he said, was one which was pressing itself on the attention of farmers throughout the whole Dominion. He illustrated his remarks by means of a number of mounted samples of many noxious weeds. He pronounced the perennial sow thistle and false flax as two of the worst weeds that the farmer had to contend with. He recommended thorough cultivation, and the growing of hoed crops, as among the best means of eradicating weeds.

Evening Session.

There was a good attendance at the evening session, a number of ladies being in the audience. The president, Mr. Hunter, acted as chairman. After a few introductory remarks of an entertaining nature Mr. Hunter referred to the vastness of the agricultural industry, which, he said, was the industry upon which all others depended. He alluded to the excellent work being done by the agricultural colleges, experimental farms, and departments of agriculture.

Mr. Shearer, who followed, gave an interesting address on "The Dairy Cow, and the Selection of the Dairy Herd."

"I wonder," said Mr. Shearer, 'how many farmers here to-night, know which cows in their herds are paying? How many of you weigh the milk from each cow once a week at least? I know several farmers who weigh the milk from each cow every day." Mr. Shearer said that he placed the standard of production for a cow during the milking season, nine months, at 4,000 lbs. A cow that does not produce this amount of milk should be discarded from the herd. As the cost of keeping a cow was about $32 a year, an animal that did not give at least 4,000 pounds per year could not be kept at a profit. The speaker recited the case of a farmer in his vicinity who had a herd of twenty-one cows. When he tested his cows he found that many of them were not paying for their keep. As regards the raising of calves, the speaker said that it was necessary to start the calves right. If they were neglected during the first few months they would be stunted for life, and would never make good cows.

Buying female calves from a man who has a good herd, was a good way to grade up a dairy herd. It was important for the dairyman to know what he was doing in order to carry on his business intelligently and profitably.

Home Farm Life.

"Home Life on the Farm," was the subject of Mr. Fraser's evening address. The subject was a broad one, he said, and he did not feel capable of doing it justice. Home life on the farm, was like home life almost anywhere else—just what you made it. Differences between members of a household was one of the causes of much unhappiness. Constant wrangling between the members of one family made life miserable for everyone in the household. Home was one of the most sacred places on earth, and a place whose associations were looked back upon with tender memories in after years. No place offered such ideal conditions for happy home life as the farm. Too many people were all smiles when away from their own households, and who were little less than tyrants in their own homes. He humorously referred to the difficulties of the average young farmer, with matrimonial inclinations, and urged on the old men the importance of their dealing with their sons generously, and of the latter treating their parents in a becoming way.

Continuing, Mr. Fraser said that the influence of the home was far-reaching. The environment of the farm boy and girl was such that the child reared on the farm grew up to be a worthy man or woman. The exceptions from this rule were not numerous. The country boy and girl were brought up in close contact with Nature, the great teacher, and when it came to an examination the country boy and girl could usually hold their own with their city-bred cousins.

The speaker, in closing, made a strong plea for more social intercourse among the farmers and their families. Farmers had every opportunity of spending happy lives, if they only went about it in the right way.

Mr. Hall Speaks.

Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P., was loudly applauded on coming forward to speak. He gave a short but interesting address, urging on the farmers the importance of more system in pursuing their occupation. System and organized effort were the secrets of success in the management of the large industrial concerns, and the same principles should be applied to farming. More organization was needed among the farmers before the best results could be obtained. In this connection he referred to the great strides of progress which the cheese industry had made as a result of organized effort. The Farmers' Institutes were doing excellent work. They were raising the standard of Canadian agriculture, and bringing Canadian farm produce to an enviable position in the markets of the world. Mr. Hall also alluded to the work of the Dominion and Provincial Departments of Agriculture, in advancing the agricultural industry, and said that he was always at the service of his constituents, and would assist them in every possible way to secure any information which they desired.

Mr. J. H. Burnham, of Peterborough, who was the last speaker, gave an interesting address, his subject being "How Nelson Saved England." The speaker traced the events leading up to the French Revolution in 1789, and also the events between this date and 1815, when the power of Napoleon was overthrown. In graphic language he described the great battle off Cape Vincent, when Nelson scattered the great Franco-Spanish fleet, and preserved England from her enemies. The battle of Aboukir Bay was also described, the memorable fight at Copenhagen, and the last great fight of the British admiral at Trafalgar, when the French fleet met its final reverse. It was in this battle that Nelson met his death, but his ingenuity and valour had saved England from her enemies.

Mr. Burnham said that the importance of Nelson's victories could not be fully realized. The defeat of the English fleet at this time would have meant the crushing out of England's liberties.

Mr. Burnham's address was received with hearty applause.

At the conclusion of Mr. Burnham's address votes of thanks were tendered the different speakers for their interesting addresses. The meeting was then brought to a close.

This afternoon and evening meetings are being held in the town hall at Ennismore. The meetings for the remainder of the series are as follows: Friday, Stewart's Hall; Saturday, Selwyn; Monday, Douro; Tuesday, Westwood.

TACK COMBINE ON THE CARPET.

Prices Were Listed High, and Discounts Were Big, Too.

Toronto, Jan. 4.—The investigation into the tack combine, conducted by Mr. Curry, before Magistrate Denison yesterday, revealed more to prove the understanding between the members of the association. It was clearly shown that the members of the association, had to report, ask advice and permission from "headquarters," alias Jenkins and Hardy, before they could do business.

Mr Curry stuck to the minute books and dug up all that was possible. He ascertained, as has already been told, that prices were governed, penalties imposed and that there was a general and imperious supervision of the tack trade.

The evidence showed special privileges were given to manufacturers to sell the Maritime Provinces. Grand Trunk, Canadian Pacific, Canada Atlantic, and Intercolonial Railroads.

Another phase was shot goods were listed as high as the City Hall tower, but by a system of discounts ranging from 75 per cent. to 5 per cent. to the jobber was reduced.

This point made his worship think for a minute and he remarked in his own jocular, sarcastic manner: "It is the list price the consumers buy and pay at."

Mr. Tilley, counsel for the defendants, suggested that probably Mr Curry would be getting after the lawyers' combine.

"In my opinion it would do no harm if they were abolished," was the vigorous retort by the Crown Attorney.

"It would be a good thing to abolish all reference to former cases in trials and let each one stand on its merits," commented Magistrate Denison.

This enquiry will go on again to-morrow morning.

THE NEW BOOKSHOP'S

"HAPPY NEW YEAR" TO ALL ITS PATRONS

The fact that the New Bookshop was not completely fitted up and stocked until after the Christmas Trade was well begun, might have been a good reason for a poor start and a slim business. But the reverse has proved to be the case. Notwithstanding all our disadvantages, we were greeted with a volume of business entirely beyond our expectations.

For the want of enough salespeople many customers had to go away unserved—a circumstance which we especially regrst. But our first Holiday Greeting can truly be one of gratitude to the public of Peterborough for the hearty opening welcome the New Bookshop has received.

RETURN GIFTS AND NEW YEAR'S GIFTS are here for your selecting. The trail of the Christmas trade has left hundreds of articles which you can buy at very special prices. Come and see.

McMullen Gets One Month

Young Man Who Forged Work Order on W. B. Kelly.

At the police court this morning before His Worship Police Magistrate Dumble, William Kearney of Young's Point, was assessed $2 and costs for being found drunk in a public place.

Jos. McMullen, the young man who forged the work order on Mr. W. B. Kelly, of Bridgenorth, was sentenced to one month in gaol. His father in the meantime had made good the amount. McMullen, who was apparently under the impression that he was going to be released upon the amount being made good, seemed to feel the sentence very much.

"You were not clever in this forgery, but it was very audacious, and deserves punishment," said His Worship, to the prisoner, in passing sentence.

McMullen's father was in court, and seemed to feel his son's position keenly.

The circumstances in connection with this case are familiar to the people of Peterborough, and it will be remembered that he gave evidence against three local hotels, which were charged with supplying liquor to him, he being only 18 years of age

HAIR NATURALLY ABUNDANT

When It Is Free of Dandruff, It Grows Luxuriantly.

Hair preparations and dandruff cures as a rule, are sticky or irritating affairs, that do no earthly good. Hair when not diseased, grows naturally, luxuriantly. Dandruff is the cause of nine-tenths of all hair troubles, and dandruff is caused by a germ. The only way to kill dandruff is to kill the germ; and so far the only preparation that will positively destroy the germ is Newbro's Herpicide — absolutely harmless, free from grease, sediment, dye matter or dangerous drugs. It allays itching instantly; makes the hair glossy and soft as silk. Destroy the cause, you remove the effect."

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10 cents in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Ormond and Walsh, special agents.

Mr. Deakin is sending Col. Bridges, chief of the Australian intelligence department, to London to confer with the imperial defence committee in reference to the complete defence scheme which it is desired to formulate. The government is determined to force through estimates for an adequate military and naval outlay next session, provided it is convinced that the foundations of Australian defence have been laid on a sound theoretical basis.

Baroness Elise von Hausler was sentenced at Munich two and a half years ago to six years' penal servitude for alleged poisoning of a Sister of Mercy. Additional evidence has come to light which establishes the innocence of the Baroness.

Woman's Health

Every woman may be attractive. Bright eyes, pink cheeks and red lips are her nature-given right. A sallow skin, lack of animation, low spirits and weak nerves may be avoided by the use of Beecham's Pills, a remedy that well deserves the confidence of every woman. Again and again they have proved to be invaluable at those recurring times when so many women feel debilitated and suffer from nervousness, headache and depression. It is wonderful the way these pills assist Nature and relieve the suffering.

An entertainment was given to the Sunday school scholars by the Guild of St. Mark's church on Friday evening last. Magic lantern views and selections on the phonograph composed the programme. Preceding the close the scholars were presented with confections and token of remembrance, and the tree relieved of its burden.

At the regular meeting of Court Warsaw, C.O.F., held on Tuesday evening, the following officers were installed:

The entertainment given by the scholars of the Presbyterian Sunday school on New Year's night, was well patronized. The lime light views shown by Rev. Mr. Frizzle of Toronto, consisting of scenes in Palestine, were instructive and entertaining and conveyed a splendid idea of the country.

The choruses by the scholars were much enjoyed, but perhaps the feature which appealed most to the young people present was the distribution of the articles from the tree, some of which were of a comic nature, and conveyed strong hints to the recipients.

A very pleasant event took place at the home of Mr. Paul Payne, on Friday last. The occasion was the celebration of the 25th anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Payne. The Annual School Meeting and Other Local News From Bridgenorth.

Special to The Examiner

Bridgenorth, Jan. 3.—Sleighing is very good.

John Turner is home from the north.

Light traffic on Chemong Lake has begun, but is not considered very safe.

H. C. Mann is home from Fenelon Falls for the holidays.

A sleighing party composed of the Misses Kelley, Pearl Jopling, Fred and Jim Jopling, Burritt and Noble Kelly, drove into Peterborough on New Year's night to attend the Grand Opera House performance.

This is certainly the festive season, and one could almost board out by attending the numerous teas and socials in this community.

The annual New Year's tea at Selwyn was as usual a decided success and this hamlet was well represented.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Black entertained a number of their friends one night last week. Among those present was Charlie McConkey from Turtle Lake, Manitoba.

Mrs. A. Turner is spending the holidays with her parents at the head of Mud Lake.

Among those who have returned from the Northwest, is Mr. Jas. Mann, Jr., who has resided there for nearly four years. He is making an extended visit among his friends here, and will return in the spring to his Manitoba home.

The Bridgenorth Methodist Sunday school has made several changes and improvements for 1906, one of them is that a valuable reward is to be given to each and every one who is present fifty-two Sundays in the year.

The Gilmour Memorial Baptist S. S. held a very successful entertainment last Thursday evening, and several of our coming entertainers took part in the programme which was enjoyed by all. One of the pleasing features was the presentation to the pastor, Rev. L. McKinnon, of a pair of fur gauntlets, and to Mrs. McKinnon of a handsome muff, as tokens of appreciation of faithful services.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Jacques of Perth are spending the holidays with Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Kelly.

The annual school meeting was held in the school room on Dec. 27, G. W. Mann occupied the chair, and Harry Mann acting as secretary. There was considerable difficulty in seating the crowd which had gathered at the appointed hour. After order had been secured the meeting proceeded.

William Kelly, the secretary, read the finance report of the past year, which was adopted.

Mr. Geo. Mann moved that the secretary be granted five dollars for his services during the coming year.—Carried.

Considerable discussion arose as to how the trustees should be apportioned in the section. Mr. Joseph Succee argued that it was unfair to have three trustees in the village.

J. W. Grant and Thos. Black were the two aspiring candidates for the office. After the vote was taken Mr. Black was the choice of the meeting by a small majority.

A number of other minor matters were discussed, after which the chairman gave them a little advice, and advised them all to be good.

Mr. Heard made a few remarks which were to the point. This brought the meeting to a close.

Mr. S. Morrison was appointed truant officer for the year 1906, at a salary, which, through an oversight, was overlooked, but will be arranged for at the next meeting.

Court Bridgenorth, No. 315, C.O.F., held its last meeting for 1905 on Friday evening, December 29, and elected officers for 1906. The list is as follows:

C.R., P. T. Udy.
V.C.R., J. A. Jobe.
Financial Secretary, T. Black.
Treasurer, R. Tedford.
Corresponding Secretary, E. Brumwell.
Chaplain, B. Allen.

Ice Supply For Creameries

Dairy Commissioner's Report Shows Supply Frequently Short.

The season is now at hand when the creameries must lay in a stock of ice for use next summer.

The reports of Mr. C. E. Mosturaeux, Mr. F. A. Knowlton, and other members of the Dairy Commissioner's staff, show that many creameries have in the past been out of ice before the season is finished. No creamery has a right to solicit the support of milk producers unless they are prepared to take proper care of the butter, by keeping it at a sufficiently low temperature to prevent undue deterioration in quality. The age of butter is to be calculated more by the temperature at which it is kept than by the number of days that may have elapsed since it was made. Creamery men must get rid of the idea that no harm results from a high temperature, say 50 degrees, when the butter is held only for a few days. If the butter were consumed in that time it would not be so important, but if it weeks after the butter is shipped before the bulk of it reaches the consumer, and it cannot be exposed to a high temperature ONE HOUR, to say nothing of over, without shortening its life, or, in other words, the period in which it will be in the best condition.

When the writer was in England last summer he was continually reminded that one of the weakest points in Canadian butter is that it does not keep well. Too high a temperature at the creamery is one of the principal reasons for this very serious defect. Butter, unlike cheese, is at its best when newly made. Any further fermentation tends towards rancidity, staleness or other objectionable flavours. Fermentation is checked by reducing the temperature. The temperature in every creamery cold storage should be kept below 40 degrees — the lower the better — and the patrons have a right to know if this matter is being attended to. Our records show that very few of the creamery cold storages are kept below 40 degrees.

Creamery owners are sometimes satisfied with results if the buyer of the butter finds no fault with the temperature at which the butter has been kept, but they forget that it is not the business of the buyer to point out these things. It is his business to purchase the butter and to sell it again at a profit. When he has done that he has no further interest in the matter. It is not so with the creamery owner or the patrons, whose real interest in the butter does not cease until it is finally consumed, because the condition of the butter at that time will determine whether the demand for it will be increased or not; and demand for any article on account of its superior quality is a most important factor in determining the price that will be paid for it.

These words are written with the object of inducing creamery owners to make sure of having an ample supply of ice for all purposes during the season of 1906.

Sir Edwin Cornwall, chairman of the London county council announces that it is his desire to promote a periodical congress of the municipalities of the world's largest cities. He believes that much mutual benefit would result from meetings of representatives of capitals exceeding 500,000 in population.

THE PHYSIC HABIT

THE RESULT OF USING SALTS, CASTOR OIL, ETC., INSTEAD OF THOROUGHLY CURING CONSTIPATION BY

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

"Oh, a dose of salts will fix me up all right," you say, when the bowels become constipated and the liver and kidney sluggish and congested.

And the temporary relief you obtain in this way deceives you for a time, but you are soon in distress again, and must increase the dose and resort more frequently to the use of this weakening and debilitating treatment.

Constipation and intestinal indigestion cannot possibly be cured until the liver is made active in its work of filtering bile from the blood and pouring it into the intestines, where it acts as a natural cathartic, hastening the process of digestion, and the removal of waste matter from the body.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have a direct and specific action on the liver. They not only afford prompt relief, but positively strengthen and invigorate the kidneys, liver and bowels. Instead of encouraging the physic habit, they thoroughly cure constipation, liver complaint, biliousness and kidney disease.

If you would like to regain your old-time vigour, and feel strong and well again, use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. The backaches and body pains will disappear, your appetite and digestion will be good, you will escape sickness and disease because the filtering and excretory organs will keep the body cleansed from poisonous waste matter.

Mrs. Thomas Covert, Highland Grove, Peterborough Co., Ont., writes: "I was a sufferer for years with stomach trouble and terrible headaches and spent a good many dollars in medicine without receiving any benefit. Hearing of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills highly recommended I determined to give them a trial and did so with satisfactory results, as I was very greatly benefitted and do not hesitate to recommend this treatment as the best obtainable for such ailments."

LICENSE REDUCTION.

Peterborough is not the only place where license reduction was an issue in the municipal elections. In Toronto the people pronounced against license reduction. The action of the Whitney Government in dismissing efficient and faithful inspectors and substituting others appeared to show that the sympathy of the Government was with those to whom a strict enforcement of the law would not be agreeable. The political issue was injected into the municipal contest in Toronto and the result as to license reduction may be regarded as a political victory. There will be no license reduction in Toronto unless the commissioners who have the power, make the reduction themselves. In Hamilton there will be no license reduction. Almost all the aldermen elect for the present year have promised to vote against any motion for the reduction of licenses. The council of 1905 refused to submit the question of license reduction to the people, and it is well that they did so, for the same people that elected a council pledged against reduction would have voted against a reduction bylaw. In Hamilton the municipal elections were run on party lines and the Conservative party won out. If, however, the license commissioners of Hamilton desire to reduce the number of licenses, they can do so. We in Peterborough have declared in favour of license reduction. Will our commissioners act upon the popular mandate, or will they wait for the council to declare what reduction shall be made? It looks as if the commissioners would have to play off their own bat, for the council, considering the circumstances under which some of the members were slated by opposing interests, will probably take refuge in leaving the matter to the commissioners.

A PHILANTHROPIC INSTITUTION.

(Ottawa Journal.)

The Penny Bank of Toronto, which is incorporated under Dominion charter, has volunteered to collect from the liquidators without expense to the shareholders such money as may be coming to those who have been paying savings into the York Loan Company.

This is a friendly offer and is made apparently for the sole purpose of saving the small shareholders from loss in the costs of the litigation which must ensue.

The Penny Bank is as nearly as human things may be, a purely philanthropic institution. Its charter prevents it from making money for itself, its deposits being turned over to the Government in trust. Its affairs are handled by men who work for the love of helping their fellows and this offer to collect what is coming to the shareholders of the York County Company is in the spirit which prompted the foundation of the Penny Bank. That spirit developed a desire on the part of the promoters of the enterprise to encourage thrift among the poor and to provide them with a repository for their savings.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Whitney axe still swings. Mr. W. H. Daily, bursar of the Brockville asylum, probably the most efficient bursar in the Ontario service, is, says the Ottawa Free Press, to be the next victim.

La Patrie wants to know why a Catholic archbishop has not the right to address his clergy as well as the Rev. Mr. Mills (Bishop Mills.) To many people, says the Presbyterian, the question will seem quite pertinent. If general assemblies, conferences and synods of Protestant churches can send forth resolutions on political questions, why cannot Roman Catholics do the same? This question has to be faced, and we must see ourselves as other see us. Some may say that the Roman priest claims the right to command. To this the layman can reply that he refuses to follow the dictation of the priest in political matters, but that his priests ought to be as free as our persons. Well, let us think calmly upon these matters, and try to apply the same principles to all citizens.

Ontario Liberals who presented Hon. G. W. Ross with a purse of $35,000, the Montreal Herald thinks, did honour to themselves in honouring him. Mr. Ross has laboured long for his province, has given unsparingly of his time, his talents and his strength. He left office, as he entered office, a poor man. His last campaign, waged in winter time, was fought in fact of the knowledge that he was physically unfit for the long, cold drives, the meetings in draughty halls, and the other dangers a sufferer from rheumatism should dread. Mr. Ross did not spare himself, even though conscious that he fought a losing battle. It was just such a display of fighting quality as he has many times given. His friends have done well in testifying their esteem in so practical a way.

Local option seems now to be the chief dependence of temperance reform movements. Yet this same measure was available as it is now when a certain wing of the temperance reform party were urging the impossible expedient of prohibition upon the Ross Government. The moment a new Government came into power, there was no effort made to embarrass this Government with demands for prohibition, but dependence was placed upon local option, and strict enforcement of the license law, the latter of which Rev. Dr. Crothers describes, in effect, as a marvel of comprehensive and excellent legislation. Both of these measures are the product of a Liberal Government, and that the wing of the temperance reform element which bounded the Liberal Government so perssitently, falls back upon these measures is a tribute to the government which enacted them, and a condemnation of the very element which now places so much justifiable reliance upon them.

HOTELS UNDER LOCAL OPTION

(Globe.)

It is one thing to abolish the bar by a popular vote on a local option bylaw. It is quite another thing to meet adequately the situation created by such a vote. Monday's vote will cut off at least 130 liquor licenses and will greatly increase the number of municipalities in Ontario in which the sale of liquor is prohibited by law. In that list will be not a few important towns and villages. That fact calls for serious consideration from the leaders in this local option campaign in the various districts. The problem of the barroom may be settled by a popular vote, but the more important problem of the hotel remains.

One of the things that has brought prohibition into disrepute with large classes of the travelling public is the wretched, the utterly villainous, hotel accommodation to be found in too many prohibition localities. The so-called hotels are often cheap and nasty, managed without intelligence, and furnished after the model of a third-rate boarding-house. If the local option movement is going to hold its own, there must be distinct ability and experience invested in the hotel business. Otherwise there will come, as there came elsewhere in the past, a revulsion of public opinion and an organized reactionary movement.

It ought to be possible to run a hotel, in a place where hotel accommodation is needed, without the bar attachment. Well-cooked and well-served meals will always be required, and lodging accommodation will be in demand. But all this must be done on an up-to-date business basis. Owen Sound seems to have anticipated the needs of the hour, and in that town, even before the local option vote takes effect, there are first-class hotels conducted in first-class style. Service of that kind is needed in every town and village on all lines of travel. If it is not given, the last stage of the local option movement may be worse than the first. And such hotels should hold a Government license, and be under Government inspection as a security to the travelling public.

Local Option Will Banish Many Bars

As a Result of Municipal Local Option Votes in the Province —Carried in Forty-six Places Having One Hundred and Thirty-one Bars—Lost in Seven, and About a Dozen Yet to Hear From, Which May Easily Increase the Number

CARRIED IN 43 PLACES DEFEATED IN SEVEN

From the returns that have so far been received the victory which the supporters of local option have won throughout the Province becomes more apparent. While the returns are not yet complete, local option is known to have carried in 46 places, and in these 131 bars will, it is expected, be closed on the first of May next. In only seven places, where there are thirty-four bars, was local option defeated, and there are probably a dozen places yet to hear from. The municipal councils where popular vote has declared for local option must give the bylaws their third readings, and the licenses will then naturally expire at the end of the present license year, April 30.

His mother, Mrs. John Young, survives him, his father having pre-deceased him. Other surviving members of the family are three sisters and three brothers, viz:—Mrs. Wm. P. Eminent Fresco Artist Locates

Mr. G. Garnette Will Make Headquarters In This City.

Visitors to Mr. R. Fair's Dry Goods Store, George Street, recently, have been greatly struck with the artistic beauty of a large number of display cards done in various styles of work, and which introduce in local decorative art many new and previously unknown features.

The work is by Mr. G. Garnette, formerly of London, England, who has located in Peterborough, and will devote his attention to interior house decoration and the many accompanying branches which come within the realm of his line of work. These will embrace designing of various descriptions, embossing, etching and gilding on glass, wood and glass sign work, show card, ticket and banner painting, house, church and public building decoration and pictorial advertising.

Mr. Garnette comes to Peterborough with a reputation acquired in the execution of many important commissions in England, but, while this in itself is a bona fides of his artistic ability, it is rendered unnecessary as a factor in proclaiming this locally. His work speaks for itself. A number of cards, done in Gesso Relief, have been on view at Mr. Fair's store, and are strikingly beautiful in lettering and design, and constitute a decided novelty in this branch of work.

Mr. Garnette's most attractive work lies, however, in the realm of house decoration, and, as an evidence of the prominence he attained while in England, the following may be mentioned among the many commissions of note which he executed: Decorations to the Duke of Devonshire's residence, Astor's Clivedon House, Buckinghamshire; Drayton Manor, residence of Eugene Kelly, Mexican banker; Hornby Castle, Lancashire; St. James' Theatre, Haymarket, London; Empire Music Hall, Cardiff, Wales, and also work at Swansea, Southshields, and Newcastle-on-Tyne.

Mr. Garnette has already accepted a number of commissions for decorations to the interior of private residences, and though he will do considerable work outside the city, will make Peterborough this headquarters.

Undergrads' "At-Home"

Among the most delightful of the many dances of the holiday season in Peterborough was that given last night in the Foresters' Hall by the Peterborough undergraduates of the various universities of Ontario and Quebec. The students' at-home has become an established event of the New Year's holidays, looked forward to with pleasure and interest in social circles, but those of past years were completely eclipsed by the delightful function of last night.

About one hundred guests were present. The hall was artistically decorated for the occasion. All arrangements, in fact, were carried to a conclusion which left nothing to be desired.

The guests were charmingly received by the patroness, Mrs. (Hon.) J. R. Stratton, Mrs. (Dr.) Boucher, Mrs. (Dr.) Bradd, Mrs. C. B. McAllister and Mrs. (Dr.) Hunter.

The music, which was of a most delightful nature, was supplied by the Misses Harley.

The secretary, Mr. Basil Hall, and his associates upon the committee are deserving of the heartiest congratulations upon the success attained, and to them, for the energetic efforts on behalf of the affair, will be extended the appreciation of their guests.

RUTHERFORD–PATTEN

A pretty New Year's nuptial event took place at the George street Methodist church yesterday afternoon, when Miss Margaret Ellen Patton, eldest daughter of the late James A. Patton, was united in marriage to Mr. Geo. A. Rutherford, by Rev. Dr. Crothers.

The contracting parties were unattended.

The bride was attired in a travelling suit. Mr. and Mrs. Rutherford will reside on Wescott street.

VANCE–BEAL

A pretty church wedding was solemnized at St. Paul's Anglican church, Lindsay yesterday, when Miss Helen Louise Beall was united in marriage to Rev. W. H. Vance, Rector of the Church of the Ascension, Toronto. The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. H. Marsh in the presence of a large number of guests.

Among the Peterborough guests present were Mrs. Charles, and Miss Marion Lyle, and Mr. Arthur W. Beall.

Rev. Mr. Vance and his bride passed through Peterborough this morning on their way to Toronto where they will reside.

WATTS–KIDD

Yesterday afternoon a pretty wedding took place at the residence of Mr. Walter E. Kidd, Otonabee, when his daughter, Grace, was united in marriage to Mr. William I. Watts, son of Alexander Watts, of Dummer Township. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. H. Brace, of Park street Baptist church, in the presence of the immediate friends of the contracting parties only. The bride was gowned in white silk, tastefully trimmed, and was attended by Miss Ruby Maud Gander, of Toronto, who was dressed in cream lustre.

Dr. Joseph H. Kidd, of Toronto, supported the groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Watts left on the 5.15 C.P.R. train for Toronto on their wedding trip, the bride's going away dress being navy blue broadcloth with hat to match. They will reside in Western Canada, where Mr. Watts has been diving for some little time.

GUESSING CONTEST.

As was intimated in the Examiner yesterday, the name of the winner in the guessing contest, is announced to-day. Mrs. S. H. Bickell, 384 Burnham street, is the winner, and she may have the five dollars in gold if she calls at this office.

Of the 254 guesses made only four guesses contained the names of the aldermen for this year, although many were within one of the correct list.

It is a singular fact also that Miss M. O'Connell, who sent in two guesses, had in both of them the council named correctly, but the order was wrong. Mrs. Bickell did not get the order completely, but was much nearer than anyone else.

Lindsay Academy of Music is Now Under His Management --Many Improvements Will Be Affected to the Building--Manager of the Local Opera House Branches Out

The Lindsay Post yesterday had the following, which will be of interest to a number of local persons:—

We learn that Lindsay Academy of Music has passed into new hands for a term of three years, dating from the present. The new proprietor is Mr. Rupert Bradburn, manager of the Grand Opera [illegible] Peterborough, and with him will be associated one of Lindsay's popular young men as manager. A number of badly needed improvements will be carried into effect at once, including the renovating of the interior, the betterment of life-saving devices in case of fire, maintenance of order in the gallery, etc., and suggestions made by citizens will be welcomed and carefully weighed. Mr. Bradburn will send on a number of good companies, and an orchestra will be present at every performance.

John Winters Committed For Trial For Arson

His Preliminary Hearing Took Place This Morning Before County Police Magistrate Edmison—A Number of Witnesses Were Examined in the Case—Charged With Burning House the Property of J. J. Lundy.

CASE TO BE HEARD AT THE ASSIZES

The case of John Winters, charged with arson, and which was enlarged from last week, was proceeded with at this morning's session of the County Police Court, before His Worship County Police Magistrate Edmison. Considerable evidence was taken.

Mr. R. E. Wood appeared for the prosecution, while the prisoner's interests were looked after by Mr. S. T. Medd.

The first witness was William Coons, of Ennismore. He rented the house that was subsequently burned, concession 7, lot 16, Harvey, this fall from Mr. J. J. Lundy, Peterborough. He was in the house on Tuesday, December 19th. The house had been broken into, and a fire of straw and hay started down in the cellar. The floor of the room above the cellar was partly burned. When he left the house, he locked the door, and had not returned there since.

The witness was subjected to a searching cross-examination by Mr. Medd, but he did not appear to vary materially from his testimoney.

Mr. Thomas Davis, the second witness called, said that he lived in Smith, but had been working on lot 6, 15th concession of Harvey, which is north of the scene of the fire. He passed the house on Tuesday, the 19th inst., at 2.30 in the afternoon. On Thursday his attention was drawn to the fire. The house was burned and the fence was smouldering. He noticed tracks in the fresh snow going in and coming out from the house. He followed the tracks up to the house, but saw no means taken to start the fire. He then followed the track along the road to the woods and over to Hunt's farm. It had snowed heavily the night previously and part of Thursday morning. Burnt wood and coals covered the footmarks near the house, and near these there was no snow, showing that the snow had not fallen since the footprints had been made. The tracks led to no other place than to Hunt's. To Mr. Medd the witness stated that he couldn't say whether tracks on road were identical with those near the house.

Mr. Alfred Hunt said that he lived on lot 6 con. 17, Harvey. He did not think Mr. Lundy's house was very valuable, probably not worth $100. He said that John Winters, the prisoner, had worked for him. He didn't go to work on Thursday, the morning of the fire. Winters left his (Hunt's) place about 8 o'clock Thursday morning to go to the woods near Mr. Lundy's house to get a crosscut saw that was to be ground. He was gone about an hour and a quarter, the distance being about two and a half miles there and back. When Winters returned he said that the house had been burned the night before. Winters had never spoken of the house to him before that he knew of. Winters had had the key of the house for some time. He had been working for Mrs. Easson, a former tenant, and she had given him the key, for what reason Winters could not be sure of.

George Cochrane, High County Constable, was the only witness examined after Alfred Hunt, and the gist of his evidence was that Winters had told him that he had gone direct to the woods for the saw, and did not go any nearer the house which was burned, than the road.

This concluded the evidence, and the magistrate committed Winters for trial. The case will come up at the sessions or at the Assizes. Bail has not yet been applied for, but it is understood that application is being made, and there is no doubt that it will be granted.

Thomas W. Morton, an army reservist, who was decorated with the D. S. O. medal for bravery during the South African war—he ran to the assistance of his commander, of the East Surrey regiment, at Pieter's Hill, and carried him out of danger—was sentenced at the London police court to three months' hard labour for deserting his wife and three children. Drink and betting had been his ruin.

The Hotelmen Are Willing

To Assist the Ministerial Association, They Say.

Editor Post Card Column:

Dear Sir.—A prominent hotelkeeper has told me that the License Holders' Association are prepared to assist the Ministerial Association in every way possible and says that the hotelmen of this city will give publicity to all notices, hang up all religious mottoes and assist the Ministerial Association in every other way they can. They will also continue to pay all municipal revenue without asking assistance from the Association.

This may be sarcasm, but it serves to show that the license reduction contest has roused considerable feeling.

Further Details Of Drowning Of Stanley Coughlin

Nephew of Mr. John Coughlin, of Monumental Works, Met a Watery Grave in Belleville While Skating--Ran Into Open Water of the Bay and Sank—A Sad New Year's Accident.

BRIGHT BOY OF THIRTEEN YEARS

Further particulars are at hand concerning the death by drowning of Stanley Coughlan, nephew of Mr. Coughlan, of the Monumental Works. The sad event took place on New Year's Day. Mr. Coughlan was in Belleville for the funeral.

The Belleville Ontario contains the following reference to the lamentable circumstances surrounding the death:—

New Year's day did not end happily for at least one family in this city. This was owing to the fact that Stanley Coughlin, only son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Coughlin, who reside on Church street, did not return home during the night and as he was skating upon the bay on Monday afternoon, it was feared that he had met a watery grave. Such proved to be only too true. The lad in question was, with many others, upon the bay and, like many others used a small sail to aid his progress. As darkness came on Stanley was missed and some of his companions raised an alarm. During the night, and up to an early hour this morning, many friends went out in search of the missing boy, but no trace of him could be found. This morning the search was resumed, and about 10 o'clock Messrs. Wm. Carter and Jos. Dueaberry, who were amongst the searchers, found, frozen in the ice in the centre of the bay, the sail used by the lad. It was at once surmised that the body was near by and with the aid of grappling irons the remains of the lad was recovered in about 30 feet of water. Where the boy met his fate was midway in the bay between the end of the Grand Junction dock and Cow Island. Here the water yesterday was not frozen over, but during the night a slight coating of ice formed. The sorrowing father was upon the scene when the body was recovered and his feelings can be better imagined than described. The body was conveyed to Mr. Carter's boat house, and Dr. Tracy, coroner, was summoned who, after hearing the facts, did not deem it necessary to hold an inquest.

The remains were conveyed to Tickell & Sons undertaking establishment and prepared for burial.

Stanley Coughlin was a bright lad of nearly 13 years of age. He was a general favourite with his companions and his untimely death has caused much sympathy to be expressed for the bereaved parents and relatives.—Belleville Ontario.

Cobourg Here To-morrow Night

The First Game Here in the Intermediate O.H.A. Series.

The hockey team had a splendid practice last night and will be in good condition for the game to-morrow night when Cobourg plays here. Two shies were chosen at last night's practice and a great workout was indulged in. The ice was in fairly good condition. A large crowd should witness to-morrow night's match, as it will mark the opening of the O.H.A. intermediate season here. Peterborough, so many think, should be pretty near the top when the season closes, and their performance to-morrow night will be watched with interest by the local followers of the game. The following was the line at last night's practice of the two sides:—

Goal—Hartshine.
Point—Stroud.
Cover Point—Cavanah.
Forwards—Whiteroft, Morgan, Parnell, Graham.

Goal—Fitzpatrick,
Point—Glover.
Cover Point—Crowley.
Forwards—DeForge, Currier, Rose, McDonald.

Preparations For Friday's Game

Large Attendance in Prospect for Hockey Match.

The local hockey team has been practising faithfully every night this week for their first O.H.A. game on Friday night with Cobourg at the Brock street rink.

The game is naturally attracting considerable attention, and will no doubt be attended by a large crowd of hockey lovers, who will be anxious to form an opinion upon the playing abilities of the Peterborough sextette for the present season. It is anticipated that there will be several changes from last year's team and from that of the last game, and even the line-up for Friday's game will not, in all probability be identical in its personnel with that which will represent Peterborough in O.H.A. games throughout the season.

One thing in which the Peterborough public invariably places confidence is the good judgment of the players in always submitting to the ruling of the team committee. With ten or twelve players to choose from some must inevitably be left out of the playing aggregation, but as has always been remembered in Peterborough, a spirit of true sport is evinced by those who take an active interest in the games, in their submission, without protest to the judgment of the committee. The players upon all past occasions have put forth their utmost efforts toward the advancement of the best interests of the team.

Crescents Won From Emeralds

In Hockey Game at Brock Street Rink Last Night.

In a very fast and exciting game of hockey, which was played on the Brock street rink, the Crescents defeated the Emeralds by a score of 1 to 0. Harold Parker for the Crescents was the star on the forward line and Jack Doherty for the Emeralds. Harold Clancy did some fine work at point, making some good rushes. Charlie Taber played a good game on the forward line. Stanley Long was very effective, his shooting being a feature of the game. Elmer Bogue played a good game at point. Newton Thompson stopped some good shts in goal. Each team has won a game and the next game will decide the winner.

The teams were as follows:—

H. Clancy	E. Bogue

Toronto, Jan. 2.—The champion Marlboros claim that they will have a strong team this season, notwithstanding the loss of Harold Armstrong and Pete Charlton, who have been moved out of the city.

"Chuck" Tyner, the best goalkeeper in the city, will again guard the nets for the Marlboros. Tyner has been ill recently and underwent a special course of treatment in Buffalo the last couple of weeks. He said to-day that he felt all right again and would play hockey this season as usual for the champions.

Wilkie Evans, the ex-Varsity player, will play point for the Marlboros. He is a big fellow and knows the game down to the ground. If his knee does not go back on him the Marlboros will not miss Pete Charlton.

The champions expect to have Rowley Young out again, although it is said at McMaster that he cannot play in the O.H.A. and go to college. It is the Marlboro's intention to play Young all over.

The Port Hope Guide bumps the rink company in the following manner:—

The Pistons Juniors are scheduled to play here to-morrow evening, but it is likely the game will have to be called off on account of "no ice". It seems strange, yes remarkably strange, that ice cannot be made in the Covered Rink. All the neighbouring towns have good ice and the hockey teams are at work. The Intermediates have a game here with Peterborough Monday night and it will keep the rink people busy to have sufficient for this game. At present at the north end of the rink there is no sign of ice. The whole trouble is that they lost the opportunity to build up a good bottom with the first cold snap. It will pay the Rink Directors to wake up and lose no further time.

The secretary of the curling club has received the following communication:—

St. Thomas, Dec. 26th, 1905.

Dear Sir.—The St. Thomas Granite Curling Club propose celebrating the building of their immense new rink by holding a bonspiel on the 22nd of January next. The ice surface in the rink is now sufficient to provide 11 sheets of ice, and will enable the bonspiel to be put through expeditiously.

It is proposed to put on three single rink competitions, two of which will be open to all comers and the third will be a consolation match open only to rinks that have been defeated in the first round of both the other competitions. The committee is arranging a prize list, and they hope to be able to provide valuable prizes for the first four rinks in each of the open competitions and for the first two in the consolation. The prizes will be such as to make them valuable souvenirs for the winners.

No limit will be placed upon the number of rinks that may be entered by any outside club.

The rules governing the competition with a list of prizes will be forwarded you as soon as completed. In the meantime our club will be obliged if you would bring the matter to the attention of your curlers, so that as many rinks as possible may participate in the bonspiel.

Yours truly,
W. R. CAMERON,
Secretary.

BOXING AND WRESTLING

Philadelphia, Dec. 28.—Jack O'Brien the conqueror of "Bob" Fitzsimmons is out to make good his claim to the heavyweight championship of the world. O'Brien is on his way East to take on all comers in his class. Although he was expected to arrive in Philadelphia Saturday about noon, word was received from him from Ogden, Utah, to-day, saying that he was offered a purse of $25,000 by the Reno (Nev.) Athletic Club for a finish fight with Marvin Hart, the same to take place on April 15th next, and incidentally to carry with it the world's championship title. The club will put up the requisite financial backing and leaves it to the principals to divide the big amount offered in the purse. O'Brien has accepted the offer.

A finish fight between such men would be a big card and would require careful training, hence the supposition that the April date would be entirely satisfactory to the new aspirant to championship honours.

The announcement of the acceptance of such a proposition coming as it does from O'Brien himself, is a big surprise to his many friends and admirers in this city, as it was expected that he would not take on such a formidable opponent as Hart for a long time.

POST CARD CORRESPONDENCE.

In this column will be published communications upon post cards only. It will remain open for the use of readers, who are invited to contribute suggestions, inquiries or replies. Anything of a scurrilous personal nature will be prohibited.

Editor Post Card Column:

Dear Sir, — I would like to ask, through the columns of your valuable journal, how many license inspectors are in office in the city?

I am informed that a certain minister is making himself busy in a tour of inspection to various local hotels, and that he even went so far as to request one hotelman to remove a couple of cigar pictures that were obnoxious to him. The victory of the license reduction by-law seems to have turned his head.

Yours truly,
INQUIRER.

Editor Post Card Column:

Dear Sir,—I voted for and helped carry the License Reduction by-law, and am proud of my part in such a glorious result. I am, therefore, exceedingly anxious to know what is to be done. Carrying the by-law went amount to anything unless it forms the basis of action on the part of the Commissioners or the council. The people have a right to know what is going to be done to carry out their will, so decidedly expressed. And they don't want to wait long, either.

Yours truly,
VOTER.

Editor Post Card Column:

Dear Sir,—Several hotel men, as well as temperance people, should be pleased with license reduction. Those who have good houses equipped according to law and properly conducted, should feel satisfied that they will not be cut off. The trade will, therefore, be divided among fewer hotels,—the profits will be larger, and with the city completely surrounded by a circle of local trade of Peterborough hotels will be option townships, I am afraid the bar increased. Yet with this drawback, there is evidence of a distinct gain in temperance sentiment. Nearly the whole of the County of Peterborough is without licenses and the time may not be far distant when the City of Peterborough will swing into line.

Yours truly,
HOPE.

A GEORGIA TORNADO.

One Man Was Killed and Scores Seriously Injured.

Albany, Ga., Jan. 4.—A severe tornado passed over the western portion of this city at 10.30 p.m. yesterday. The air chamber of the Virginia-Carolina Chemical Co. and many other buildings were destroyed.

One man was killed and scores were seriously injured. Ben Johnson, a negro employe of the chemical company, was killed instantly.

The track of the storm, about 75 yards wide, swept in a northwesterly course, leveling trees in its path, until it reached the residence district, when its course was changed for a few hundred yards. It carried away trees and even porticos from dwellings, but did not demolish a house.

On Washington street it turned northward, tearing down the sheds and acid warehouse of Georgia Cotton Oil Co., also blowing several freight cars from the tracks.

Iowa Snowbound.

Des Moines, Ia., Jan. 4.—Snow, which has been falling for 24 hours, has blocked Iowa railroads and snow plows are working day and night to keep the lines open.

Shockingly Mangled.

Windsor, Jan. 4.—Mike Mulvahill, a well-known Windsor character, met a shocking death at Woodlee Tuesday night, about twenty miles from here. He was run over by a freight train in crossing the Michigan Central tracks, and was horribly mangled, his head being completely severed and both feet cut off at the ankles.

McGill Principal Retires.

Montreal, Jan. 4.—At the age of 73, and with a record of forty-three years' service to his credit, Dr. S. P. Robins, principal of McGill Normal School, announced his resignation yesterday. He has acted in the capacity of principal for twenty-five years.

Election Protests.

Toronto, Jan. 4.—To-day Justices Street and Teetzel will hear the Norfolk and North Grey election protests against Telford and Tisdale. It is not thought that either protest will be pushed.

A RIGHT WAY and A WRONG WAY

Many people have many ways to bring about the same result. Most of them are mistaken ways, but this is not known until the test of time points plainly to the error. Practically there are but two ways to accomplish anything; a right way and a wrong way. Take, for instance, a man with a bad back, there are lots of them, and of various kinds, some with stiches and twitches, others with cricks and twinges; then there's the dull, heavy continuous kind that lasts all day and doesn't sleep at night. They're all bad enough, they're all hard enough to get rid of. Some people rub the back with liniment, others cover it with plasters, either or both means often bring relief, but the pain comes back—it's the wrong way to cure the trouble.

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

have a way to cure backache, a way that's all their own—the right way. They're made for the kidneys only. When the kidneys fail in their work of filtering the blood the back aches because they are situated in the small of the back; backache is the kidney's warning of trouble, and every day you let the warning go it brings you nearer to urinary disorders, Diabetes, Bright's Disease, etc.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure every form of kidney ills and that's why they bring such quick relief from backache. Mr. Fred Gray, Good Corner, N.B., writes: "I was greatly troubled with pain across my back. I procured a box of Doan's Kidney Pills, and received so much benefit from them that I consider them the best remedy for kidney trouble there is. I would not be without them in my house."

Price 50 cents per box or three boxes for $1.25, all dealers or The Doan Kidney Pill Co., Toronto, Ont.

Hon. Ed. Blake Makes Query Of The Liberals

Where Is the Colonies Offer? He Asks.

LIBERALS MUST ANSWER

Canadian-Irish M.P. Likened to O'Connell—Colonies, He Says, Are Being Brought More and More Into the Tariff Controversy — Liberals Stand For Free Trade—Unionists Mostly For Chamberlain.

London, Jan. 4.—In moving the nomination of Edward Blake at the Longford convention, Father Dowdall said Mr. Blake was considered a second O'Connell in appearance, ability and self-sacrifice.

County Councillor, in seconding, said that Mr. Blake had come from Canada to give his ripened years in the service of Ireland. Longford in selecting him was conferring an honor upon Ireland.

Wm. Redmond, M. P., compared Mr. Blake to Justin McCarthy, than whom none was more respected.

Mr. Delaney, M. P., referred to him as the grand old man of the Irish cause.

A Campaign Foreword.

A letter was read announcing that Mr. Blake was willing to continue the struggle for national rights. Mr. Blake also forwarded a signed copy of his Parliamentary pledge as a campaign foreword. The colonies, especially Canada, he said, were being brought more into the tariff controversy. Candidates of other parties as well as the leaders dealt with the subject every night, but invariably echoed the views of their leaders. "The Liberals stand for free trade. The Unionists in most cases support the Chamberlain proposals. Some go no farther than to approve of a colonial conference to consider the matter. A few, like Lord Hugh Cecil, favor free trade out and out, while differing in method. All declare for closer relations.

"'Our great self-governing colonies' was a phrase often heard, and frequently followed by pictures of the wealth, development, and possibilities of Canada. In this respect the campaign is providing a great education.

Mr. Blake Asks Question.

"The prominent point of the controversy is whether the colonies have made an offer. Where is the offer? Ask the Liberals. Tariff reformers in campaign literature and speeches cite the resolution for the colonial conference in 1902, and the speeches of Laurier and Fielding then and since."

Look Out For No. 1.

In reply, among the speeches last night was one by D. Lloyd-George, who said the Chamberlain policy and argument was that they should look after the interests of people 3,000 miles away, not of those at home. He thought each integral part of the empire should look after its own particular sphere, then combine to look after the empire. Why Canada was prosperous was because she looked after Canada.

Sir Gilbert Parker, addressing his constituents, said that in fifteen years the preference would give Britain from the colonies the 200,000,000 bushels of wheat needed. Canada produced half of that now. He affirmed that the colonies mistrusted the present Government, and Winston Churchill would aggravate them.

Farmers Pay No Rent.

T. W. Russell, Irish M. P., opposing the Chamberlain policy, said nothing was more certain than that Canada with her boundless resources, could in a few years send all the corn and foodstuffs required by England. What did it matter to the farmer where it came from, if it came free? His answer to the request to give a preference to the Colonies was that the farmers of Canada paid no rent. Most of them got the lands free gratis from the state. Why should the Irish farmer, burdened by his rent, weighed down with taxation, and in receipt of no free grant of land, give a preference to such people?

Away With Embargo.

If Mr. Chamberlain had his way Canada would first demand that her store cattle be allowed to come in free. They had been kept out for years owing to the prevalence of danger from disease. Ruin absolutely complete would then be the fate of the Irish farmer.

The papers are likewise discussing this aspect of the election issues. The Conservative Morning Post points out that Germany discriminated against Canada owing to the British preference, and asks: Will the practical Englishman give help to Canada, or will they as economic theorists stand idly by while Germany punishes Canada because she is loyal to England?

Charlie Devlin Nominated.

Ottawa, Jan 4.—E. B. Devlin, M. P., received a cable yesterday morning from Galway, announcing that his brother, Mr. Charles Devlin, M. P., was the unanimous choice of the Nationalist convention at Galway Tuesday to be their candidate in the coming elections.

The Cattle Embargo.

London, Jan. 4.—(C. A. P.)—Earl Carrington on Friday will receive a deputation concerning the removal of the embargo on Canadian cattle.

Australia Anxious.

London, Jan. 4.—(C. A. P.)—A Sydney telegram says that the result of the general election is anxiously awaited in Australia, because it will determine whether England is to come within the scope of the preferential policy to be framed by the Federal Parliament next session.

Russian Admiral Indulges In Some Pipe Dreaming

British Fleet Lay In Waiting to Destroy the Russians.

IS ROJESTVENSKY'S CHARGE

Russian Admiral Declares Victory Would Have Brought An Attack In Sea of Japan From Japan's Ally—Great Britain Demands an Explanation—Count Witte Makes a Statement—"Red Sunday."

St. Petersburg, Jan. 4.—The remarkable allegation that the British fleet was held in readiness to destroy the Russian fleet if the battle of the Sea of Japan had gone in the Russians' favor is made by Admiral Rojestvensky in a letter published in the Novoe Vremya yesterday, with the permission of the Minister of Marine.

Referring to the absolute secrecy of Admiral Togo in regard to the disposition of his forces, Rojestvensky declares, "this was known even to the admiral of the British fleet allied with the Japanese, who concentrated his forces at Wei-Hai-Wei, in expectation of receiving an order to annihilate the Russian fleet if this, the final object of Great Britain, was beyond the power of the Japanese."

Should Have Won.

From what Admiral Rojestvensky says of his tactics in the battle of the Sea of Japan, published in The Novoe Vremya yesterday, the reader is almost convinced that the Russian commander outmanoeuvred Admiral Togo at every point and was himself the real victor. He declares he knew Admiral Togo's exact whereabouts two days before the battle, made his dispositions accordingly and entered the fight with his eyes open.

The admiral only casually states in the course of his letter that the Minister of Marine is investigating the causes of the catastrophe in order to determine whether the commander shall be court-martialled for the loss of the fleet.

Subject of Representations.

The charge that the British admiral concentrated his ships at Wai-Hai-Wei, expecting to receive an order to destroy the Russians in the event of Admiral Togo proving unequal to the task, has aroused a considerable sensation in diplomatic circles, all the more so as Admiral Rojestvensky's letter was published with the permission of the Minister of Marine, and no doubt is entertained that it will be the subject of diplomatic representations to Great Britain.

Britain Asks Explanation.

Mr. Spring-Rice, the British charge d'affaires, without waiting for instructions from his Government, demanded an explanation from Foreign Minister Lamsdorff yesterday of the statement contained in the admiral's letter.

It was learned yesterday from an authoritative source that the Russian Government has been without communication with Gen. Linevitch for almost five weeks.

Creates Astonishment.

London, Jan. 4.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of The Daily Telegraph says he has had a conversation with Count Witte, in which the Premier stated that the Emperor and his Ministers alike were astonished at Admiral Rojestvensky's allegation.

Count Witte said he was taking measures to clear up the matter, but he added it was self-evident that no level-headed man in Russia would attach importance to the allegation which the Minister of Marine, he said, had not noticed until it appeared in print.

To Commemorate "Red Sunday."

St. Petersburg, Jan. 4.—A general meeting of the Workmen's Council, and delegates of all the proletariat organizations, has been in session secretly since Tuesday night, perfecting their future programs.

All that is thus far known is that they are planning to turn the anniversary of Jan. 22 (Red Sunday), when the most serious rioting in St. Petersburg occurred, into a day of national mourning, during which it is planned to make demonstrations in memory of the "martyrs." Requiem masses will be celebrated and processions in which the workmen will wear crepe on their sleeves will march through the streets. No papers will be allowed to appear, except with black borders.

It is proposed to make a gigantic, peaceful manifestation, but if they attempt to carry it out the leaders fully understand that it is sure to precipitate bloodshed on a large scale.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 4.—The general meeting of the Workmen's Council and the representatives of the proletariat organizations, which was held across the Finnish border, lasted thirty-six hours, adjourning only one hour ago. The practical result of the meeting was a confession that the Government had proved too strong.

Some months ago I began using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and to-day I am pleased to say that I am completely restored to health. THE BATTLESHIP DOMINION.

Will Be at Cherbourg Next Friday for the Dead Minister.

London, Jan. 4.—(C. A. P.)—Present arrangements are for the battleship Dominion to leave Chatham on Wednesday next, so as to allow ample time to reach Cherbourg on Friday morning. A special train will convey the remains of Mr. Prefontaine from Paris to Cherbourg, where, on arrival, a detachment of marines and detachments of sailors will meet the train. The battleships in the harbor will, it is thought, make a demonstration of sympathy.

Hon. Mr. Lemieux will return to Canada on the battleship Dominion, and a London firm has been entrusted with the preparation of the mourning decorations for the battleship, and the erection of a mortuary on board the Dominion, which is likely to arrive in Halifax on Jan. 22.

ARREST OF CHAS. GOODMAN.

Charged With Receiving Stolen Property to Amount of $6,000.

Toronto, Jan. 4.—Charged with receiving stolen property valued at $6,000, Charles Goodman, a second-hand dealer at 138 Centre avenue, was arrested while attempting to scale a fence in the rear of his premises shortly before 1 o'clock yesterday morning, and taken to the Agnes street police station, while the stolen property recovered was removed to No. 3 police station.

Goodman, who is a middle-aged Hebrew, appeared before Magistrate Denison yesterday and was arraigned on two charges of receiving and retaining stolen property, but at the request of Mr. T. C. Robinette, K. C., counsel for the prisoner, he did not elect or plead, and was remanded until Friday.

Provincial Secretary's Receipts.

Toronto, Jan. 4.—The largest receipts in its history is the cheering report from the Provincial Secretary's Department for the past year. The gross receipts for the month of December $11,686, bring the total for the year up to $131,909. The refunds will probably not exceed $1,500, and the net receipts will thus be nearly $130,409. The net receipts for 1904 were $101,943.

On Monday last the house of Mr. W. H. Roberts, Bethune street was entered by robbers. Mr. and Mrs. Roberts went out for supper on New Year's day, and on their return found that their house had been ransacked. Every drawer in the house was pulled to pieces and the rooms were in general disorder, but nothing of any value was taken. The mischief-makers entered by the back door which had been left unlocked and took particular care to put the night latch on the front door before leaving. They made their escape in the same manner as they entered. There were the marks of only one person's feet in the snow, and these were quite large.

Breach Of Promise Case

IN DETROIT HAS MUCH Interest To Local People

Wegner-Sears Case—Local Capitalists Were in Company Which Wegner Promoted—They Withdrew When They Saw How Things Were Going—Wegner's Career in Canada and United States—His Romantic Marriage.

The story contained in the Detroit News of the Wegner-Sears breach of promise case, has a peculiar local interest. In the company of which Wegner was the promoter, the Orange Meat Company, the Messrs. Collier, now of the Peterborough Cereal Company, were interested, having invested $20,000. They, however, withdrew this money, after some difficulty with Wegner. There are a number of local shareholders in the Orange Meat Company, in Peterborough, and the case is, therefore, most interesting. The Detroit News, in reporting it, says in part:

It is like the story of two loves—The statements, the declarations, the accusations of the two women involved in the Wegner-Sears $50,000 breach of promise case, which was formally taken up in Judge Brook's court this morning.

These women almost met face to face in the corridor and later were seated opposite each other at the court room table. Though they are not strangers there was nothing to indicate an acquaintanceship.

"That is she!" whispered Minnie Sears.

"Yes; I should say that I do know her," remarked Mrs. Mary Wegner.

Minnie Sears, who who charges Frederick A. Wegner, promoter and capitalist, with scorning her and the three children — their children — was audibly nervous. In fact, her attorneys, Van Zile & Brownell, were compelled to gently argue with her to go into court.

Dreads Notoriety.

"With the exception of once for a few minutes," she says, "I was never in a court room in my life. I dread the notoriety which I know this case will bring. That is one reason why I have hesitated so long."

Mrs. Wegner, young, dashing, clever, took the whole affair lightly. As she conversed with the reporters, she smiled and eve.. laughed aloud. She referred to the suit as 'an expected climax.

"This woman has bothered my husband for a long time," she went on to say. "Certainly; he told me all about it before we were married; I understood it all. I might say we have letters, too, and they will show a few things. The mayor of a town not so far from here will be brought into this thing before it is over.' This name in the Detroit city directory for 1903, was mentioned to Mrs. Wegner:

Mrs. Wegner admitted that it was her name, but insisted that she was never a stenographer.

"I see that the papers say that my husband is very wealthy," she continued, smilingly. "I wish he was, but the truth is that he isn't worth a cent. We've even had to give up our home in Brockville, Ont., and have been stopping with my father in St. John's, Mich.

Mortgage on Boat.

"The yacht Albina? Well, it was a fine boat in its days, but it has seen many days. Then there is a $5000 mortgage on it anyway. To state the fact, my husband is insolvent. His health is poor and it will soon be necessary for him to have an operation on his arm.

"I love my husband with all my heart and I am going to stand by him through everything because I know he will prove his innocence. I will do anything in my power to help him, because I have undying confidence in him, and I know that all will end all right for him. As to those letters we will show that she accepted $400 for them, after she had specified that she gave up all of them."

"Would you go to work as a stenographer to assist your husband in making a defence, if such a course would be necessary?" the wife was asked.

"Yes; I would; I would do anything to help him. It is, to speak plainly, a piece of blackmail," she replied.

Minnie Sears, who alleges that she is Wegner's common law wife, refers to her affidavit when asked to discuss her charges, when questioned as to the blackmail allegation.

Says She Loves Him.

"When I first met Mr. Wegner, while I was at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Austin, I became much interested in him, for he is such a man as can win one's confidence and respect," Miss Minnie Sears declares. "He was the first man that I ever loved. As to his charges against my character, I brand them as cruel and malicious lies and he knows it.

"When he was sick at Austin's I spent much of the time with him, reading to him, and trying to cheer him up. I never questioned his story of his unhappiness before we met; I never dreamed of another woman taking him from me.

"He seemed to think so much of me. When I decided to go away with him, he proposed that I write letters to my folks and tell them that I was going to travel with a woman as her companion. I did so, and he sent them out west some place and had the postmaster mail them.

"We had such a good time together. In August, for instance, we went up north, and there I put on short skirts and boots and went through the woods with him. My love for him is what made me hesitate so long.

Broke His Promises.

"I did not make up my mind to take this step until every other course had been taken by me. I demanded only that which belongs to me—his love for me and for his three children. I have nothing; I gave up my folks, my friends, my love—everything for him. Now I am alone poor in everything."

"See my lawyers," he said to The News this morning.

There is nothing to Wegner that reminds one of a gay Lothario; instead, he looks more than a war veteran. He walks lame and his arm hangs by his side. When he walks he bends over like a much older man. He is not strictly locked up except at night, for prisoners in the jail "witness room" are allowed to roam about the corridor during the day.

"I am done with that woman; we settled our affairs when she accepted the $400 for my letters," he said.

Ardent Love-Making.

In her affidavit Miss Sears sets forth that she was a school teacher in 1897, in the town of Lenawee Junction, Mich., when she met Wegner, who, she asserts, made violent love to her, paid her attentions which could not fail to turn the head of a young school ma'am, and finally won her affections. At that time, she claims, she learned that he was already bound to a wife in Three Rivers, Mich., and, unwilling to cut asunder the ties of matrimony between Wegner and his legal spouse, she refused to listen to his protestations of love.

Then, she states, Wegner said he was free; that his marriage to the woman in Three Rivers was void and worthless, and that he intended having it annulled by the courts. She claims to have resisted his attempts at love-making for six months, though his explanation of his marital affairs seemed eminently satisfactory, but he still persisted, and she states, in June, 1898, she consented to become his bride when he was freed from this matrimonial bonds by the courts.

Shortly afterward, on this alleged promise to secure his legal separation, not later than the following December, when he would marry Miss Sears, she accompanied him to Sandusky, O., where, she claims, they went through a ceremony anticipating the actual wedding, in which each took a solemn pledge from the other, after which they entered into the relationship of man and wife.

Home is Established Now.

Miss Sears claims to have lived with Wegner as his wife since, and names their abodes as Mackinac City, Marquette and Milwaukee, Wis., the latter place being the city where he is said to have established her in a home of her own. He had not yet obtained the annulment of his former marriage. He did not obtain it until 1904, and then he went to Chicago and secured it. In her bill, Miss Sears avers that he obtained it fraudulently.

In the meantime Miss Sears had given birth to three children, she says, which she gave the name of her morganatic husband: Frederick A. Wegner, Jr., aged 6; Dora, aged 5, and Brandon D., 2 years old.

A month after obtaining the annulment of his marriage to the Three Rivers wife, Wegner instead of marrying Miss Sears, as she claims he promised to do, was married to Miss Mary Emmons daughter of a wealthy resident of Brockville, Ont.

That was the beginning of the end of Miss Sear's romance, according to her statement. Wegner left her without money or the sunshine of his companionship in Milwaukee.

Wegner's Torrid Answer.

Wegner retained Dwight C. Rexford to look after his interests in the matter, and Judge Brooke was asked Friday afternoon to vacate the order committing Wegner to jail. The hearing was continued until this morning.

Wegner's answer to Miss Sears's charges fairly radiates with warmth, and contains such endearing terms for his former charmer as "blackmailer," "notorious woman of Leipsic" and author of "maliciously false statements made for purposes of blackmail."

He denies being the father of her three children, and alleges that she was "a notorious woman in Leipsic, O.," long before he knew her, and figured as the co-respondent in a sensational divorce suit in which a prominent man of that town was the principal.

But the really startling surprise to be sprung by Wegner lies in an alleged contract made in Battle Creek, June 10, 1905, between Wegner, Miss and Mrs. Mary E. Wegner, his wife, whom he had married and installed in a home at Brockville, which he says was bought for him by Mr. Emmons, his father-in-law, and is now for sale for $11,000, being vacant.

In that contract, it is said, Miss Sears agrees to turn over to Wegner all letters, papers and documents in her possession, received from or purporting to be from Wegner; the consideration named being $400.

A despatch from Brockville to the Detroit News, says:—

Frederick A. Wegner is well known to Brockville people, more particularly certain moneyed men who, by reason of his transactions with them, have reason to remember him. He made his first appearance in the Island City a few years ago in connection with the organization of what was known as the Orange Meat Company, for the manufacture of a new breakfast food. Being a good talker, he interested several local capitalists, who took stock in the concern, ranging from $3,000 to $10,000 each. In the aggregate about $70,000 was subscribed. W. H. Comstock, ex-M.P., disposed of his handsome steam yacht Albina, recently libeled in Detroit, in consideration of stock, and R. A. McClelland, stock broker, gave over to Wegner possession of one of the finest homes on the St. Lawrence River front.

The Orange Meat Company factory at Kingston has ceased to do business and the Brockville shareholders are "in the soup," having lost the various sums sunk in the concern. It is reported that several civil actions are pending against Wegner in these parts.

Wegner married his present wife at Alexandria Bay, N.Y., 24 miles from Brockville. The ceremony was performed on board the yacht Albina by a clergyman of that village. Since then Mr. and Mrs. Wegner, up to the time of leaving here, moved in high society. Mrs. Wegner was a leading soloist in the First Presbyterian church. They owned an automobile and were considered among the upper ten. News of Wegner's arrest in Detroit was learned with much interest here.

Mr. Collier to the Examiner to-day stated that the information that the Orange Meat Company had suspended business was not correct, the company is still doing business, and as far as is known, a satisfactory one.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

The Summers Stock Company have a very capable caste and are undoubtedly the best stock company that ever visited this city. Their presentations during the week, "Rip Van Winkle," "The Black Flag," "The Christian" and "The Parish Priest" are offerings of true worth, but the comedy drama, "The Fugitives," which production held the boards last night as compared with the previous performances of the company was flat—painfully flat, could appeal to none except the lovers of the ultra sensational. For the remainder of the week the company promises something good for the local patrons of the theatre and "The Little Minister" a dramatization of Barrie's famous novel, which is billed for to-night, will beyond doubt be a good production, cleverly acted, but the Summers Stock Company would do well to allow "The Fugitives" to pursue their flight undisturbed, in fact it would be prudent to chase them out of their repertoire. It is rather unfortunate that a company that includes some really good plays in its repertoire should condescend to present such a cheap melodrama as "The Fugitives," one that has lost much of its force through its miserable handling in the hands of other companies that have presented it in this city more than once in years gone by. It is not the intention to subject the actors to a harsh criticism for they are seen to good advantage in productions of quality.

• • •

The Little Minister which will be presented by the talented Summers Stock Company in the Grand Opera House to-night is conceded by critics to be one of the best attractions on the stage, and as generally known is regarded as the masterpiece of Maud Adams, the famous American actress.

A Peterborough gentleman who saw this play presented in Port Arthur by the Summers Stock Company, characterized it as a splendid drama, well presented. Many who were delighted with the novel will doubtless take advantage of the opportunity to see its dramatization as presented by a clever cast.

Dr. Adam Lynd Took Money

Admits Taking $75 and $100 From Contractors.

Special to the Examiner

Toronto, Jan. 5.—At the resumed investigation this morning ex-Controller Dr. Adam Lynd admitted having received $75 from Anthur Dinnis, the contractor for the carpentering work on the City Hall, and $100 from W. B. Rogers, who had the contract for the furniture for the City Hall. The amounts were paid him in cash, and he supposed they were for his election expenses. There was no election on at the time but his friends were talking of running him for mayor. E. J. Lennox, architect for the City Hall, sent him to Rogers. Dr. Lynd denied having received money from anybody else.

The Toboggan's Merry Whirr

Will Now be Heard at Jackson Park.

The toboggan slide at Jackson Park has been completed, and local lovers of this form of sport will now have an opportunity of indulging in the fun and excitement incident to the descent, at a whirlwind pace, of the slippery chute. The slide has been erected at a large expense, and there is every prospect that it will be a by no means unimportant feature of the present winter's sport in Peterborough. Tobogganing has been somewhat of a lost art, locally, for some years. This may be accounted for largely by the lack of facilities. That there is every prospect of an enthusiastic revival of the interest in it is a fact to be regarded with satisfaction, forming, as it does, one of the most excellent of Canada's winter sports, from a hygienic point of view.

The new slide will be in condition to-night for service, though the formal opening will take place on Monday evening, when the band will be in attendance. Toboggans will be rented at the slide.

The Funeral Was Largely Attended

The Belleville Intelligencer says:—The funeral yesterday afternoon of the lad J. Stanislaus Coughlin, who lost his life by drowning on New Year's day, was largely attended. The male pupils of the Separate School attended in a body. Services were held at St. Michael's Church, being conducted by Rev. Father Twomey. Many floral tributes were placed upon the casket by sympathizing friends. The bearers were Roy Hinchey, Walter Alford, Raymond Burke and Terry Dolan.

Violent Headaches.

"I was troubled for a long time with headaches which would come on with such violence that I could not eat or do my work. Headache powders and quick cures did no good. Eight months ago I took six boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and I have not been troubled with headache since." Mr. O. Barber, Simcoe, Ont.

Asks Co-operation For Canal Completion

Ald. Mason, Chairman of Finance Committee of City Council, Sends Circular Letter to Interested Municipalities—Asks Them to Appoint Delegates to go to Ottawa to Urge Canal Completion.

The following is a copy of the circular letter which will be addressed to the authorities of municipalities on the route of, or interested in the completion of, the Trent Canal, by Alderman Mason, Chairman Finance Committee of the City Council. The circular it will be noticed, invites the municipalities to join in a deputation to wait upon the Minister of Railways and Canals to urge the completion of the canal. It is natural and proper that Peterborough, the most important place on the route of the Canal, should lead an energetic crusade in the interests of completion work:—

Peterborough, Dec. 30, 1905.

Gentlemen,—The Council of the City of Peterborough believes that it would be in the interest of the Trent Valley Waterway, and the districts through which it will pass, to have a large deputation wait upon the Minister of Railways and Canals and other Members of the Dominion Government, and urge them to complete the Waterway. A large amount of money has been expended upon the work, and until the remainder is completed the country will receive little benefit from it, while the completed Waterway would be of immense benefit to the whole district through which it would pass, and to the country as a whole. It is desired, therefore, that the deputation should be one that would impress the Ministers, and that it should demand that sufficient appropriations be placed in the estimates, at the coming Session of Parliament, to complete the work; that the contracts be let promptly, and that the work be pushed. A united effort should secure this.

When the date of the interview is fixed, arrangements will be made for an excursion rate from Peterborough and points East. Will you have representatives appointed, so that when the date is fixed they will be ready to join the deputation, which, it is hoped, will be a large one? You will be advised of the date as soon as it is named. Please send to me the names and addresses of representatives appointed.

Yours truly,

E. F. MASON,

Chairman Finance Committee.

Maloney Gets Four Months

A man named Maloney, who keeps a general store at Cardova, was yesterday brought to the County jail at Belleville, to serve a sentence of four months for an infraction of the liquor law. The accused was previously convicted of the same offence, hence the heavy penalty imposed on conviction of the second offence.

Edward Towns Laid to Rest

Funeral Yesterday Was Largely Attended.

The funeral of the late Edward Towns, took place in Doura, from St. Joseph's church, on Wednesday, January 3rd. It was one of the largest and most respectable funerals ever held in Douro. The church was crowded to its utmost capacity, and a solemn requeim mass was celebrated by Rev. Father Kelly. After the mass the remains were laid away in St. Joseph's cemetery, amid the tears of a whole congregation.

The late lamented Edward Towns died in Peterborough, as the public are aware, under most distressing circumstances. He was suffering from insomnia, and wishing to superinduce sleep, took an over-dose of laudanum. May he rest in peace. Amen.—Com.

No Investigation Will Be Held

It is understood that a suggestion was made to the County Crown Attorney that an investigation should be held upon the circumstances surrounding the death of Mrs. Audley Pierce. It is not probable, however, that anything will be done. There has been no request from the relatives of the deceased, and there was no doubt expressed at the time of the accident that the injury inflicted was the result of an accident pure and simple. There may have been carelessness in handling the rifle, which fired the shot, but that it was purely accidental no one will deny.

Two Splendid Meetings Held In Ennismore

Farmers' Institute of West Peterborough Met Yesterday—Interesting and Helpful Addresses on Topics of Interest to Farmers Were Given—A Large Meeting at Night When Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P., Spoke in St. Martin's Hall.

MESSRS. SHEARER AND FRASER GAVE ADDRESSES

In Ennismore yesterday the supplementary meetings under the auspices of the West Peterborough Farmers' Institute were held. Two meetings were again held in the afternoon and evening, and, as is usual in this township, were well attended, especially that at night, when in addition to the addresses on the farming subjects, Mr. R. R. Hall, M. P., gave an address, and a musical and literary programme were furnished by the talented young people of Ennismore, the meeting being held in the new T.A.S. hall, which was well filled.

President Hunter presided at the afternoon meeting, and in opening he gave a short address upon the growing importance of the farming industry. He expressed pleasure at again meeting an Ennismore audience, and hoped that the meeting would be one mutually profitable. Mr. W. S. Fraser was the first Institute speaker, and his subject, "Seed Selection; Clover and Its Uses," was dealt with in an intelligent and interesting manner. He commenced by giving a description of cattle and other animals for an illustration, showing how necessary it was to make selections to build up any distinct line. You must use the very best of seed in order to propagate the grain you wish to have; showing the difference in yield from the very best seed and that of an inferior quality to be not less than sixteen bushels per acre, and showing how important it was to select seed of the very best quality—and keep right along on these lines, year after year, in the same way that a breeder builds up a distinct breed of stock. He gave a short history of the good and pure seed movement started a few years ago by Prof. Robertson, at Ottawa, assisted very liberally by Sir Wm. McDonald, of Montreal, which was the first start of the seed association of Canada, of which any one can be enrolled as a member. He also gave some data of the work done by Prof. Zavitz, of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph. He showed that it was almost impossible to estimate the loss sustained by the farmers in carelessly sowing poor seed, especially when not cleaned up properly, so as to take out the weed seeds. Charts were shown to illustrate the most common weeds that are found on our farms, about forty in number. He pointed out the great danger of getting foul seeds in clover and grass seeds; also, a chart was used to show the almost incredible number of seed contained in some of the samples that are offered for sale by the dealers. He again emphasized the importance of being careful in buying those seeds which contain those weed seeds, showing how 5,000 of those had been found in one pound of alsike clover. He showed how important it was to keep in touch with the Ontario Agricultural College, the Farmers' Institutes, and all the other avenues from which information can be gained. He was very decidedly in favour of sowing clover, for both feeding the stock and also for the sake of the amount of humus returned to the soil in the shape of nitrogen and other elements required for plant food, showing how easy it was to keep up the fertility of the soil by growing those crops which will improve the fertility.

The Bacon Hog.

Mr. Shearer's address was on "The Bacon Hog," and, after his introductory, he gave a description of the right kind of hog, showing that the proper type was worth more money than any others, but he put a large amount of blame on the packer in not paying for them more according to quality, saying that he (the buyer) should pay at least fifty cents per hundred weight for selects over what he pays for those of an inferior quality, in order to encourage the former and discourage the raising of the latter class. He also gave his method of dealing with and feeding of the brood sow and the young pigs at the time of bearing, and afterwards. He also gave his opinion of how to feed and house, so as to get best results for food consumed.

This address was well discussed, the farmers asking a great number of questions, which were answered by Mr. Shearer, showing the interest taken by those present.

THE EVENING MEETING.

The meeting of the West Peterborough Farmers' Institute held at the Town Hall, Ennismore, on Thursday was one of the most successful and enjoyable of the present series. The hall was crowded notwithstanding the inclement state of the weather, and a most interesting and varied programme was presented. The chair was occupied by Mr. T. M. Hunter, President of the West Peterborough Farmers' Institute, who opened the meeting with a few brief remarks.

The Ennismore orchestra gave a very sprightly selection which was followed by a solo from Mr. E. Tedford.

Mr. Shearer's Address.

Mr. W. C. Shearer, of Bright, North Oxford, was the first speaker and had for his subject "How to Interest the Young People in Farming."

He first dwelt upon the fact that boys raised on the farm were in every way as clever as the boys raised in the city. They should, however, start by getting all the information possible. A good competent hired man can demand almost any wage he desires. To begin with boys should endeavour to get a good common schools education before they are taken home on the farm. A boy should then use systematic methods in the pursuits of his labours and of his wage he should place at least $200 a year in the bank. At this rate, the speaker pointed out, a young man could have $1,100 in the bank at the end of 5 years. In eight years or less he will have enough working capital to commence farming on his own account. A young man who intends following agricultural pursuits should, before commencing on his own account, take a course at the Agricultural College Guelph. He was also of the opinion that every young lady who intends becoming a farmer's wife should take a course at the MacDonald Institute at Guelph. A young man should obtain the very best machinery. Good machinery will save labour which is becoming more and more expensive. He should also get the best possible class of stock. The speaker in passing paid a compliment to the class of stock around Peterborough. Mr. Shearer then went on to point out the advantages to a young man in staying on the farm. He referred to the independence of the farmer, the possibilities to earn money in progressive farming and becoming more independent in their old days than many young men who leave the farm to reside in a city and earn perhaps $1,000 a year, the greatest portion of which, perhaps, is spent in living up to the social position that their position in the city might demand. Mr. Shearer's address was followed by a vocal selection by Miss Crough.

Mr. W. S. Fraser.

"Home Life on the Farm" was the subject of a very interesting address by Mr. W. S. Fraser, of Bradford.

He opened his address by referring to the absolute necessity of farmers procuring the very best class of cows for dairying purposes, if they wish to make money in this important branch of farming. He dwelt upon the subject of the proper nourishment in the fodder given to cattle, in which he gave some very valuable hints to the farmers. Mr. Fraser gave some interesting statistics as to the percentage of fertility taken out of the farm by the growing of Timothy hay and selling it, as well as the percentage to the good of growing clover hay and feeding it on the farm. He dwelt at some length upon the matter of noxious weeds, the cultivation of the soil, the evil of certain insects, etc. He urged that every farmer should make a thorough study of agriculture and to realize that the farmers should make money by the exercise of their brains as well as by the labour of their hands. Mr. Fraser declared himself to be a thorough believer in the advantages to be derived from a course at the Agricultural College. Farmers too, should watch the markets of the country. A farmer should study these markets so that he should know the various changes in the conditions of the country which have a bearing on the products they have to sell. He urged for less bitterness in party politics and more unity in common objects amongst the farmers of the country.

The orchestra then favoured the gathering with another selection. This was followed by a song by Miss C. Twomey.

Mr. Hall's Address.

Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P., for West Peterborough, who was the next speaker was given a very hearty reception. He thanked the Farmers' Institute of West Peterborough for their kindness in asking him to take part in the meetings and once more congratulated the people of Ennismore upon their possessing such a magnificent town hall. He referred to the systematic organization that existed in all branches of business life at the present time and held that there was no greater possibility for organization than amongst the farmers of Canada. They had in fact an organization which in the cheese industry alone produced twenty-five millions of dollars worth of that product. Organization in this branch of farming had done much to assist the farmers of the country.

Mr. Hall then referred to the very practical addresses that had been made to them by the previous speakers and the knowledge the people of Ennismore must have gained from listening to these addresses, in regard to the proper cultivation of the soil, the proper feeding of cattle and the like. It was a matter of pleasure for him, (Mr. Hall) to attend these meetings, but he felt that he was only doing his duty in that regard. Mr. Hall then drew a vivid picture of Canada's greatness in the commercial world, which was in no small measure due to the intelligence of the farmers. He compared Canada's trade returns with the trade returns of other countries and contended that there was not another country on the face of the earth with the export and import trade of Canada. He urged the farmers to read carefully the various agricultural trade returns, reports, etc., and he would be pleased to get for any of his constituents any returns from the Department, if they were desirous of having them.

Mr. C. Tedford, the Vice-President of the Institute, spoke briefly and was followed by Mr. E. M. Elliott, the late President of the Institute. Mr. Elliott referred to the fact that he still took a deep interest in the affairs of the Institute, and was glad to see it in such a flourishing condition.

Messrs. Telford Bros. rendered a duet most acceptably, after which Rev. Father Fitzpatrick gave a short address. The reverend Father took strong grounds on the matter of teaching agriculture in the public and high schools of our province. He contended that for himself if he had put in less time at mathematics and more time at languages and other subjects it would be to his advantage to-day. He considered that the teaching of agriculture should take the place of mathematics to a large extent.

Rev. Father Fitzpatrick thanked the lecturers for their very instructive addresses to the people of Ennismore.

Miss Scollard sing a solo and after votes of thanks to those who took part in the programme, the affair closed by the singing of the National Anthem.

OVER $6,000,000 IN 1905.

Ontario Finances Seem to Be in Very Fine Shape.

Toronto, Jan. 5.—The revenue of the Ontario Government for 1905 was over $6,000,000. The complete returns from all departments have not yet been compiled, however, and it may total considerably more.

There has been an increase of revenue in nearly every department, in addition to the $100,000 receipts from the Temiskaming & Northern Ontario Railway.

During the year 1904, the sum of $1,664,000 was received as bonuses on timber sales; last year the amount received on that account was only $620,000. But the ordinary revenue from Crown lands last year was $546,000 more than in the previous year.

It is expected that Hon. Mr. Matheson, the Provincial Treasurer, will be able to show a surplus after meeting all expenses of the year.

To Probe Election Frauds.

Toronto, Jan. 5.—The Ontario Cabinet was in session for some time yesterday afternoon, but Premier Whitney stated afterwards that there was nothing to give out. Hon. Mr. Whitney stated that the Government had been strongly pressed to institute an enquiry into corruption, as practiced in Kingston and other elections, that the Cabinet had discussed it, and it will come up for further consideration. The proposition is that the enquiry be made by the committee on privileges and elections.

Aids Fat Stock Show.

Ottawa, Jan. 5.—The Department of Agriculture of Ontario has decided to pay the return freight on cattle bought at the sales of live stock held in Ottawa, in connection with the Fat Stock Show that commences March 5. This is done in order to encourage farmers to invest in the best breeds of cattle and so improve the general standard. The farmers making the sales will, of course, have to pay the freight to Ottawa, and the buyers will get the advantage of rates advanced by the Government.

MORALES DEFEATED.

Gen. Rodriguez, Who Commanded His Troops, Was Killed.

New York, Jan. 5.—The Herald says: Senor Fabio Fialio, Consul-General of Santo Domingo in New York, Wednesday night said he had received the following telegram:

"Three-days' battle at Puerto Plata. Demetrio Rodriguez killed. Many dead and wounded. Gen. Cespedes hero of the victory."

Turned on Attackers.

Cape Haytien, Hayti, Jan. 5.—Following the attack made Jan. 2 on Puerto Plata, on the northern coast of Santo Domingo, by Gen. Demetrio Rodriguez, commanding the troops of the fugitive president, Gen. Morales, which resulted in the repulse of the Morales forces by the Caceres garrison, after sharp fighting, the Caceres troops, commanded by Gen. Cespedes, attacked the Morales troops Wednesday in their position outside Puerto Plata. Stubborn fighting followed, during which many men were killed or wounded on both sides, resulting in the defeat of the Morales forces, who were dispersed by the Caceres troops.

Gen. Rodriguez Killed.

Among the killed was Gen. Demetrio Rodriguez, former Governor of Monte Christi, who, as reported in Monte Christi, had announced that if his attack on Puerto Plata was successful he would proclaim himself a candidate for the presidency of Santo Domingo. The streets of Puerto Plata are almost deserted, the stores are closed, and business is at a standstill. The Dominican exiles, who have been authorized by the Morales party to return to Santo Domingo, are landing at Monte Christi, not far from Puerto Plata.

SUICIDE OF CAPT. HOPKINS.

Believed to Have Been Concerned In War Stores Scandal.

Pretoria, Transvaal Colony, Jan. 5.—Capt. J. Hopkins, quartermaster of the 2nd Dragoon Guards, whose name had been mentioned in connection with the war stores scandal, was found dead yesterday morning under circumstances pointing to suicide.

Some time after the close of the South African war it was alleged that officers of the British army had worked in collusion with contractors so as to enable the latter to purchase superfluous stores at absurdly low prices and afterwards re-sell them to the military authorities at enormous profits, entailing a loss to the Government of very large sums of money. The value of the stores involved in these transactions was stated in the report to be between $30,000,000 and $35,000,000.

The War Office, it was announced Dec. 27 last, acting on the recommendations of the Royal Commission headed by Justice Farwell of the British High Court of Justice, then sitting in South Africa, ordered the prosecution of the officers concerned in the war stores scandal.

Will Soon Ask Tenders.

Ottawa, Jan. 5.—Towards the end of this month or the beginning of next, tenders will be invited for the construction of 244 miles of the National Transcontinental Railway from Winnipeg to the point of meeting with the Lake Superior branch of the Grand Trunk Pacific running up from Fort William, the latter being 220 miles in length. The first seventy miles from Winnipeg will pass through good prairie country; interspersed through balance with rock and muskeg. This portion, with perhaps one or two stretches in Northern Quebec, will be the most expensive of the whole line to construct.

Alaskan Explorer Dead.

Montreal, Jan. 5.—The famous Alaskan explorer Francis Mercier, died yesterday, aged 63 years. Mercier is a French-Canadian who went to Alaska forty years ago, acted as intermediary when the country was ceded by Russia to the United States. He also crossed the Behring Straits in a canoe in the interest of the French Geographical Society, as the latter wished to support its theory that the North American Indian had come over China.

Wind's Havoc in Chicago.

Chicago, Jan. 5.—Thomas Henderson was killed by a falling sign, a score of persons were injured and $100,000 worth of property destroyed by a windstorm, which struck Chicago yesterday. At one time the wind blew 60 miles an hour. In South Chicago, an open hearth furnace under course of construction by the Illinois Steel Co. was blown down. The steel company's loss is $50,000.

THE NEW BOOKSHOP'S

"HAPPY NEW YEAR" TO ALL ITS PATRONS

The fact that the New Bookshop was not completely fitted up and stocked until after the Christmas Trade was well begun, might have been a good reason for a poor start and a slim business. But the reverse has proved to be the case. Notwithstanding all our disadvantages, we were greeted with a volume of business entirely beyond our expectations.

For the want of enough salespeople many customers had to go away unserved—a circumstance which we especially regrst. But our first Holiday Greeting can truly be one of gratitude to the public of Peterborough for the hearty opening welcome the New Bookshop has received.

RETURN GIFTS AND NEW YEAR'S GIFTS are here for your selecting. The trail of the Christmas trade has left hundreds of articles which you can buy at very special prices. Come and see.

20 Years Writing One Book.

London, Jan. 5.—Harrison W. Weir, the artist, author and journalist, died yesterday. He was born in 1824, and was the author and illustrator of Poetry and Nature, and of several animal stories. "Our Poultry and All About Them" was one of his most remarkable works. The writing and illustrating of this book occupied his attention for upwards of twenty years, and for its size is unique as the work of one man. It contains 600,000 words of letter press, 37 colored pictures and over 350 black and white drawings.

Business Block Burned.

Ethel, Jan. 5.—About 1.30 yesterday morning fire broke out in John McDonald's store in the Simpson block here. The whole block was completely destroyed. The hardware store of Krauter & Ritchie, and the barber shop and dwelling of W. F. Heath were also completely consumed. The loss is estimated at about $20,000.

You have No Reason for Not Using

Zutoo

Some people think that all headache cures are alike—that they all undermine the health, even if not perceived at the time of taking them.

Well, we'll admit that the drug cures do this, but that is no reason why you should not take Zutoo.

Zutoo is a harmless vegetable remedy. One ingredient is soda—just old-fashioned soda that our grandmothers used to take to settle the stomach, when they had sick headache. And there is nothing better.

The principal ingredient—the one that stops the headache, is a vegetable ingredient, imported for us from Japan. It wont hurt you any more than will the soda.

There is absolutely no reason why you should not use Zutoo.

If you suffer from headache there is every reason why you should.

Taken in time, two tablets will ward off a headache. Taken later, they will stop it in twenty minutes, and leave you feeling good every time.

If you are using a drug remedy, why not discard it?

Zutoo will cure just as quickly and will save you the penalty, that all must sometime pay, who take the drugs which these cures contain.

If you will give Zutoo one trial, you will never take any other headache remedy again.

There is an unprecedented boom in mushrooms this year in England. So abundant is the crop in some parts of East Norfolk, that they are being mowed down with scythes to save the labour of handpicking.

Three South African scorpions have arrived in England, and are attracting considerable attention at the Zoological Gardens. Their armour is coal black, save for a faint tinge of scarlet over the poison gland in the tail.

Application for the study of fairy tales in several Wiltshire schools have been granted by the British county education committee, the chairman remarking that they preferred teaching fairy tales to the life of Julius Caesar.

Australian society's latest fad is lending wedding outfits. One girl was recently offered the loan of a trousseau and engagement ring, but unfortunately it had to be refused as the bridegroom was lacking.

Mr. Marion Crawford, Count Edoardo Soderini, and Professor Guiseppe Clementi are compiling the life of Pope Leo XIII. from unpublished documents, which the late pontiff entrusted to the count before his death.

A phenomenal output of coal has just been drawn from Warsop Main Colliery, one of the numerous pits belonging to the Staveley Coal and Iron Company, near Mansfield, Eng. In the course of twelve hours 3,893 tons were brought to the surface.

In pursuance of its policy of encouraging closer settlement in the colony, the Victorian Government of Australia has purchased Werribee Park, an estate of 24,000 acres, about twenty miles southwest of Melbourne, for the sum of $1,500,000.

Rev. Dr. R. S. Macarthur, of New York, recently declared before a meeting of ministers that while at the close of the revolution there was but one Baptist to every 94 persons on the continent, there is now one Baptist to every 17 persons.

A British explorer recently returned from Abyssinia reports the discovery of a region hitherto unknown to white men. Among the tributaries of the Blue Nile he found a mining population washing gold. He says thousands of natives are at this work and gold is plentiful.

Double tracking the Russian-Siberian railway will certainly not occur for a year or two. As there are neither rails nor other material, nor workmen along the lines, the difficulty is great. Moreover, the whole of the $5,310,000 appropriations made for the coming year have been spent.

COD LIVER OIL.

It almost makes you sick to think of it, but it isn't nearly as bad as it used to be. The improved method of refining it makes it much easier to take, and when made into Scott's Emulsion almost every one can take it. Most children like it and all children that are not robust are benefited by it. When the doctor says "Take cod liver oil," he generally means Scott's Emulsion; ask him if he doesn't. They know it is more easily digested and better than the plain oil.

Negro Crimes In The South

Due To a Desire for Social Equality.

Jackson, Miss., Jan. 3rd. — Governor Vardaman in his annual message to the Mississippi Legislature, which assembled yesterday, again took a strong stand against spending public money for the education of the negro, saying in part:

"As a race the negro is deteriorating morally every day. Time has demonstrated that he is more criminal as a free man than as a slave; that he is increasing in criminality with fearful rapidity, being one-third more criminal in 1890 than he was in 1880.

"In the south, Mississippi particularly, I know that he is growing worse every year. You can scarcely pick up a newspaper whose pages are not blackened with an account of an unmentionable crime committed by a negro brute, and this crime, I want to impress upon you, is but the manifestation of the negro's aspirations for social equality, encouraged largely by the character of the free education in vogue, which the state is levying tribute upon the white people to maintain.

KILL THE DANDRUFF GERM

Or Your Hair Will Fall Out Till You Become Bald.

Modern science has discovered that dandruff is caused by a germ that digs up the scalp in scales, as is burrows down to the roots of the hair, where it destroys the hair's vitality, causing falling hair, and, ultimately, baldness. After Prof. Unna, of Hamburg, Germany, discovered the dandruff germ, all efforts to find a remedy failed until the great laboratory discovery was made which resulted in Newbro's Herpicide. It alone of all other hair preparations kills the dandruff germ. Without dandruff hair grows luxuriantly. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect." Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Ormond & Walsh, special agents.

Great Resources Of New Ontario

Rich Mineral and Other Natural Resources of Ontario.

Mr. George B. Kirkpatrick, Provincial Director of Surveys, addressed the Empire Club, Toronto, yesterday, on "Our Northern Heritage."

After tracing what may be termed the discovery and exploration of the Province from the time when a French King alluded to Canada as a few acres of snow, Mr. Kirkpatrick gave some of the facts discovered since the exploration parties were sent out to northern New Ontario in 1899.

"A great clay belt, comprising an area of at least sixteen million acres was discovered," he said, "nearly all of which is well adapted for cultivation, this almost unbroken stretch of good farming land being equal in size to the twenty-two counties of Old Ontario, lying west of the County of York."

From careful estimates made it has been found that there is still held by the Crown unsold white and red pine which will produce at least six billion feet board measure, which at present prices has a cash value of not less than forty-two million dollars.

Mr. Kirkpatrick made allusion to the rich mineral possibilities of the Province. He also quoted $183,400,000 as a careful estimate of values of products of Ontario farms in 1904.

"Let me beg of you one and all to be optimists rather than pessimists as to the future," said Mr. Kirkpatrick, pointing out that waves of depression pass over all countries at times, but that invariably good times come again.

The foundation stone of the New Zealand exhibition was laid by the premier in Christ church. The exhibition will be opened on November 1, 1906, and will remain open until April, 1907. The premier said the exhibition would show that New Zealand was one of the great food producing parts of the empire, and would be an object lesson demonstrating the wisdom of the great Englishmen who founded the colony.

For the first time Galacian petroleum is being exported to England. Three thousand tons will be shipped in a few days from Triest, and a similar quantity via Hamburg. Owing to the scarcity of the production in the Caucasus, 100,000 tons of raw material is to be exported to Russia from Galicia.

The Union Steamship Company has been incorporated at San Francisco and will be operated in connection with the Union Oil Company, in the transportation business between Panama and the Orient, and Colon and Europe. The capital stock is $5,000,000.

Ghastly Dyak Love Tragedy

Practice of Head Hunting and its Gruesome Result.

The ancient custom of head-hunting has not yet died out in Borneo, and a gruesome story in this connection is told by a correspondent of The British North Borneo Herald.

Hathnaveng, a tribesman, had been persuaded by the Dutch missionaries to abandon the practice of head-hunting. He remained true to his promise and for a time led a quiet life. Recently however he fell in love with a Dyak maiden.

The girl, although returning his passion, disdained his offer of marriage because he no longer indulged in the ancient practice of cutting off and bringing home the heads of the enemies of the tribe.

Hathnaveng, goaded by the taunts of the girl, who told him to dress in woman's clothes in future, as he no longer had the courage of a man, quitted the village and remained away a considerable time.

When he returned he entered his sweetheart's hut, carrying a sack on his shoulders. He opened it and four human heads rolled upon the bamboo floor.

At the sight of the trophies the girl at once took him back into her favour, and flinging her arms around his neck, embraced him passionately. "You wanted heads," declared her lover, "I have brought them. Do you not recognize them?"

Then, to her horror, she saw they were the heads of her father, her mother, her brother, and of a young man who was Hathnaveng's rival for her affections. Hathnaveng was immediately taken by some of the tribesmen and by way of punishment was placed in a small bamboo structure such as is commonly used by the Dyaks for pigs, and allowed to starve to death.

The business written by the Company last year was the largest ever written by any Canadian Company in one year. The cash income amounted to over $5,000,000 for 1905. The Company could hardly have desired a more successful year.

WOMAN'S NEED

AT THE CRITICAL PERIODS OF HER LIFE AND HOW IT IS BEST SUPPLIED BY

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

We are sometimes asked why Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is so successful in curing the ailments peculiar to women, and this is the explanation:

The feminine organism is a regular network of nerves, and consequently requires an enormous quantity of rich, nourishing blood.

At the critical times such as the dawn of womanhood, the child-bearing and nursing age and the change of life, nerve force is consumed at a tremendous rate.

The blood is drawn away from other parts of the body, and the result is neuralgic pains and aches, failure of the digestive system, and a run-down condition of the body generally.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food supplies exactly what is most needed at these times—the very elements from which rich blood and vital nerve force are made.

Women who suffer from weakness and irregularities from painful periods and distressing headaches, tired, worn-out feelings, and the disorders of the digestion, will be surprised at the benefits obtained from the use of the great food cure of Dr. Chase.

Mrs. Chas. Keeling, Sr., Owen Sound, Ont., writes:—"It is a pleasure to tell what great benefits I have derived from the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I am fifty five years of age, and for about five years my life was one of great suffering from nervousness, weakness and extreme physical exhaustion. I could not sleep, and hot flashes would pass through my body from feet to head. I consulted our family physician and two other doctors, but they told me about my time of life I was likely to be troubled that way. I continually grew worse, and despaired of ever being cured. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food came to my notice, and as we have Dr. Chase's Receipt Book, I had confidence in the doctor. I was so surprised at the help I received from the first box that I brought three more. They built me right up, and made me feel healthy and strong again. They have proven a great blessing to me, and I hope this testimonial will be of help to some weak, nervous woman suffering as I did."

It is well worth your while to put on, while the blood and nerves are being revitalized and the form rounded out, note your increase in weight, so that you may have positive proof of the blood-forming value of this great medicine. 50 cts. a box, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. Portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous recipe book-author, on every box.

MORE EVIDENCE.

It may not be dignified to boast of our prosperity, but it is no more than gratitude to call attention to the prosperous condition of city, county, province and Dominion. Yesterday figures were given in these columns illustrating the prosperity of Peterborough and the Dominion. To-day is to be added a reference to the flourishing condition of the Provincial revenue, which for the year 1905 shows an increase of about a million dollars. The chief increase in revenue comes from sources connected with industrial, commercial and development activity. The increase in succession duties emphasizes the increase of the wealth of our citizens. The advance in the revenue of the Provincial Secretary's department suggests greater activity in the formation of companies to promote industrial and commercial enterprises, while the augmented revenue from Crown Lands suggests increased development operations; and the general increase in revenue of all branches of the Provincial service go to show a general flourishing condition of Provincial affairs.

ADVERTISING CANADA.

The general elections in Great Britain promise to give Canada a good deal of valuable advertising. It is stated that the embargo against Canadian cattle will be a chief issue, especially in the rural districts, and a fierce controversy will rage around the question of trade relations with Canada and the other colonies, in which the extent resources and advantages of this country will naturally be much spoken of. Hon. Edward Blake, who has been nominated for Longford, in a letter containing his campaign foreword, says that "our great self-governing colonies was a phrase frequently heard and frequently followed by pictures of the wealth, development, and possibilities of Canada. In this respect the campaign is providing a great education." That is the most that Canada wants—let the Old Country only get well educated as to a knowledge of the resources and desirability of Canada as a home for immigrants, and the work is done. That knowledge, sufficiently distributed, will make Canada the Mecca of homeseekers, and hasten the day when this country will be in fact, what it is in possibility, "the granary of the Empire."

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Mayor Coatsworth, of Toronto, is in a position to indignantly deny that he rode into office on a "water waggon."

The Toronto Star thinks that the question of the hour is whether it shall be a Tory on a Torrey Toronto.

Toronto is evidently trying to strike a moral balance. The results represented by the "Tory" triumph in the municipal elections as well as in the license inspectorships, are being offset by a "Torrey" revival.

Admiral Rojestvensky selects a gritty, big barn to crawl under to hide his wipe-out in the Yellow Sea. He seems to wish to convey the impression that he would have been smashed in any event—if the Japs hadn't done the business the British fleet would have finished him.

We have had proof of the existence of a plumbers' combine, of a tinsmiths combine, and now a lawyers' combine looms up. Some persons think we have a doctors' combine in Peterborough, but if to that we should add a lawyers' combine, words fail to give adequate expression to the character of the conditions thus created.

The Grand Trunk Railway is vigorous in its old age; it has placed orders for 61 locomotives, of which 71 are under order to Canadian firms. This number will be increased twenty times over when the time for stocking the Transcontinental Railway arrives, which will, judging by the energy marking construction preparations, not be very far distant.

The Winnipeg Free Press, in an admirable article upon "The greatest crop in the West's history," furnishes the information that the total grain product of the year reached the tremendous total of 171 million bushels. There were 57,834,978 bushels of wheat marketed, with 14,543,000 bushels in western elevators. The oat crop was the best ever known, amounting to 69,183,204 bushels. The total elevator capacity is nearly 51 million bushels. Ranching has also had a good year. There passed through the Winnipeg stock yards 90,633 head of cattle, and 88,132 head of hogs.

CANADA'S FINANCIAL STANDING.

Mr. J. M. Courtney, who has for thirty-six years occupied the position of Deputy Minister of Finance, will probably retire from the public service at the close of the present financial year. In his report on the public accounts for the last year he calls attention to the resignation he has already sent in, and reiterates his desire to be relieved of his increasing responsibilities. It is only just to Mr. Courtney to say that during his long term of office he has shown himself a thoroughly competent financier and a perfect model of rectitude and courtesy. It will not be easy to fine a successor who will for so long a period prove his equal.

The Deputy Minister's last message to the people of Canada through this official report is a very satisfying one. He calls attention in it to the great industrial and commercial prosperity of the country, as evidenced not merely by the rate at which the public revenues have increased, but also by the growth of railway traffic, immigration, bank clearings and bank deposits. These indications are not isolated statistical facts; they have a common root and cause—the rapidly-increasing and well-established property of the whole Dominion in its most characteristic lines of business activity.

Mr. Courtney is quite justified in pointing to the improving credit of the country as another substantiation of the same conclusion. Since the close of the financial year 1902-03 maturing loans have been paid off to the amount of $23,359,999. During the next seven years $143,168,665 of debt will have to be liquidated. Against this may be set off $47,000,000 of accumulated sinking fund; the remainder must be met by making new loans in so far as it is not paid off by annual surpluses out of revenue. If the Finance Minister is well advised he will try to make these surpluses as large as possible, in order to keep the increase of the debt as low as the construction of the eastern division of the Transcontinental Railway will permit. Of the one hundred and forty-three millions all but twenty-four and a third millions costs four per cent. per annum, and that costs three and a half. Of course the conversion of the debt will enable the country to substitute on the average a much lower rate of interest, thanks to our improving national credit.

Coming to the last complete financial year, the public accounts show a consolidated revenue of $71,182,772. Out of this there was expended for the same year $63,319,682, leaving a surplus of $7,863,089. But for using it to offset capital expenditure within the year this would have enabled the Finance Minister to make a very substantial reduction in the public debt; as it was, the capital expenditure amounted to $15,484,455, involving a net addition of $7,621,366 to the debt. The latter will eventually be further reduced by sinking fund additions to the amount of $2,261,618. The moral again is to save as much as practicable out of the annual revenue to keep the debt down as much as practicable, if it cannot be actually reduced.—Globe.

How Salvation Army Deals With Emigrants

The Movement to Bring British Subjects to Canada to Start Life Anew Here is of Natural Growth—The Work Was Practically Forced on Army by Circumstances—The Means Used in the Prosecution of the Work—Brigadier Howell, the Head of the Department, Gives an Interview.

Reference has already been made in these columns to the new branch of the work of the Salvation Army, of which Adjutant Jennings is in charge in this province, that of the Immigration Department. In order that the methods employed by the Army in prosecuting this work may be understood, an article taken from "All the World," one of the numerous publications of the Army, is published herewith. The article in question follows:

Much has been said and written from the Britisher's standpoint concerning the despatch from this country to Canada of large numbers of emigrants. That there are, at least, two sides to every question, is a truism, and it will, therefore, be enlightening to learn the views of one who dwells in the great Dominion. Fortunately Brigadier Howell of the Transportation and Immigration Department, Toronto, who was on a business visit to England, was available for an interview, and it is mainly from conversations with this officer that we are able to present our readers with the opinions and facts contained in this article which, we think, may be taken as fairly representative of the other side of the question. The tone is optimistic.

The Canadian Transportation and Immigration Work, like every other development of Army operations now under the leadership of Commissioner Coombs, has come into existence with the growth of the movement. When a year or two since, by way of experiment, several families of Salvationist artisans from the Mother Country, were assisted to better themselves by a passage to Canada, it was scarcely anticipated that out of the effort would spring an extensive Immigration Department, by means of which thousands of English labourers would be brought in touch with Canadian landowners and farmers, who were needing their services.

The success and blessing which rested upon the effort, with the subsequent benefits accruing to both the community and the immigrants themselves, led to many inquiries to discover further spheres of useful employment for the right sort of people.

Both Federal and Provincial Governments have manifested a lively interest in the development of the project, and the fact that the Army is now in touch with their Public Departments for buildings, railways and other Government works, speaks for itself. Its relationship with the large manufacturing firms of the country, the Farmers' Associations, and the officials of the agricultural exhibitions in each province throughout the Territory, are of the best.

This season nearly two hundred filled application forms have been returned in response to inquiries from farmers who desire to obtain the services of both married and single men.

The Ontario Government offers (at its own charges) the additional inducement of free railway transportation from Toronto to the nearest railway station to all farm hands coming from the Old Land. So it will be seen that Canada is indeed holding out a hospitable welcome to all willing sons and daughters of honest toil, who are looking to her as a possible future homeland.

What is the indispensable trait necessary to ensure a welcome?

Let no one deceive himself by imagining that in this comparatively new and prosperous country positions and wealth are to be quickly and easily obtained by all comers. The highest success, given reasonable time, under certain conditions, may be considered as possible, but those who, from the beginning, warm a path paved with ease and indulgence need not embark for Canada. The emigrant who desires ultimate prosperity, must be willing to adapt himself to entirely new conditions. Canadians have their own ways of doing things—farming included — suitable to the conditions of the country, and beginners there must need be learners, and must start where most Canadians began — at the bottom rung of the ladder, mounting by sure and safe steps to prosperity.

The man or woman who comes out full of a spirit of willingness to work and learn, and is content at first with the day of small things, will not be long before he has proved his usefulness in such a way that he can command better wages, and at least win his way to the ranks of first-class labour.

A better understanding of these simple facts would save a great deal of disappointment. The Army in Canada has dealt with a number of people who are doing excellently — people who are giving satisfaction to their employers, and those who are able to repay the loans advanced to them by the Army, as well as comfortably settle their families in new homes. Against this, it is but fair to say, there have not been wanting a few disappointed murmurers, who do not seem grateful for the helping hand held out to them.

What could be more foolish than the expectations of a certain married man, with three children! Through eight months' lack of work in England, he was brought down to the distress line, and was one of many assisted cases for whom the Army obtained free transportation from London to the very Canadian town where work was found for him, to commence with at five shillings per day. Two weeks' board and lodging were also provided for him and his family free of charge. So great were this man's expectations that he coolly declared he thought the Army would provide him with a furnished home, and that his wages would have been at least double the amount mentioned!

When one compares the hardships experienced in Canada by the early pioneers, the long, trying sea voyage, the wearisome, comfortless, overland journey, often taken in broken and tedious stages, with no, welcome awaiting them at their destination; the rough camping out, the cheerless and rude existence amid inclement weather, and wild uncultivated land, much of which had to be cleared of timber and bush, before a log cabin could be built by laborious toil, in which every member of the family who could handle an axe or kindle a fire, took part; the months and years of foraging, without neighbours or society, and the many privations and hardships — the comparison between present day conditions is indeed an obvious one.

The relatively easy conditions under the Army's protection, with its Transportation Service and Emigration Bureau, are delightful by contrast.

"My advice to English emigrants," says Brigadier Howell, "that is, emigrants who have any ability or adaptability for farm work — is for them to start out as farm hands, improving every opportunity and, by diligent application, acquiring the Canadian methods of farm management. This may sound slow, but it is the quickest route to independence.

"Where there are several young children in a family it would certainly be to better advantage if the wage-earner preceded the mother and little ones, in order to prepare the way and get a home together."

It is worthy of note that the demand for young women as domestic servants is far greater than the supply.

Good homes, good wages and good prospects abound for honest young women who are able and willing to fill such posts. To such we may say that the conditions of a Canadian life are not hard. With a clear and invigorating climate, which encourages health and activity, none need be afraid.

The following figures will give some idea of the number of immigrants dealt with during last year by the Department at Toronto Headquarters alone: Out of 1462 persons welcomed to Canada (over 1,000 of whom were sent by our own Shipping Department), some 500 were placed on farms in Ontario, and about the same number of mechanics or labourers obtained work in the province, while 400 went West, chiefly to farms in Manitoba. Fifty immigrants settled in the Eastern Provinces, and 65 young women were suitably placed in domestic service.

This year the Transportation and Immigration Department, has handled over 4,000 people; nearly 3,000 of these have gone on the land.

What is the reception given to immigrants immediately on arrival? is a fair question. At Quebec those who have crossed the ocean under the escort of newly-appointed officers have no occasion for immediate worry. Usually a tall well-built officer steps on board. Instead of the usual letters around his cap are the words "Emigration Agent." Though he is in a certain sense a Government official, he is first and foremost a Salvation Army officer. This is Staff-Captain Patterson. Under his kindly direction the parties are got ashore, where application forms are filled, enquiries made and answered, and arrangements completed for the dispersal throughout the great Dominion of the large, and newly-arrived family. None but those who are skilled in such a work have any idea of the complex problems which arise on the spot at most unexpected moments; but every possible contingency is anticipated, and if all does not go as merry as a marriage bell, it is not the Army's fault. When necessary telegrams are despatched to employers and officers in the hundreds of cities, towns and hamlets where the Army flag is flying, the names and trades of the bread-winners are registered and compared with the requirements of the labour market; in fact everything is done that can be done for those who have crossed the seas to begin life again in the Land of the Maple Leaf.

Inaugural Meeting Of School Board

Standing Committees and Chairmen Were Appointed—Mr. W. G. Ferguson Re-elected Chairman of the Board—Business Was Quickly Concluded—Mr. W. G. Morrow Continues Duties as Secretary—Other Features of the Meeting.

NEXT MEETING ON MONDAY EVENING

The inaugural meeting of the first Board of Education elected under the law of 1904, was held last night at the secretary's office. As usual, upon such occasions, the only business transacted was the election of a chairman and the striking of the various committees. The following members were in attendance: W. H. Hill, L. M. Hayes, Dr. Burnham, Wm. Pringle, John Crane, W. G. Ferguson, R. Fair, Dr. Morrison, D. W. Dumble, B. F. Ackerman.

Mr. W. G. Ferguson was re-elected chairman by ballot unanimously.

Mr. W. G. Morrow was, on motion of Mr. W. H. Hill, seconded by Mr. L. M. Hayes, appointed secretary-treasurer of the Board at a salary of $500 per annum. The mover took occasion to refer to the efficiency of the secretary in past years.

Moved by R. Fair, seconded by M. A. Morrisson, that the rules of order and regulations of the Peterborough Board of Education, passed and consolidated in the year 1903, be

MR. W. G. FERGUSON,
Who Last Night Was Re-elected Chairman of the Board of Education After Fifteen Years Membership.

and are hereby adopted as the rules of order and regulations of the present Board.—Carried.

Moved by Dr. Burnham, seconded by Wm. Pringle, that Messrs. Morrison, Hayes, Pringle, Crane and Burnham constitute a committee to strike the standing committees.—Carried.

The report of the Striking Committee was received as follows:

Property Committee — Messrs. Crane, Ackerman, Morrison and Dumble.

Supervision Committee — Messrs. Pringle, Burnham and Hill.

Finance Committee—Messrs. Hayes, Fair and Ackerman.

The Board then adjourned for the election of committee chairmen, the following being the appointments:

Finance Committee, Mr. L. M. Hayes.

Property Committee, Mr. John Crane.

Supervision Committee, Mr. Wm. Pringle.

Mr. W. H. Hill was elected chairman of the Committee on Appointments, consisting of the whole Board.

MR. CHAIRMAN FERGUSON.

The Examiner congratulates Mr. W. G. Ferguson on his unanimous re-election to the chairmanship of the Board of Education. Mr. Ferguson has thus the destinction of being the first chairman of the Board under its new form of constitution. Mr. Ferguson as chairman represents an excellent choice. He has had the experience qualifying him, by virtue of practical knowledge of educational affairs to worthily direct and steady the deliberations of the Board. He has been a School Board member for fifteen years during which time he has occupied positions on important committees and enjoyed an experience which adds importantly to his qualifications for his present position. Mr. Ferguson is well known as a public-spirited and progressive citizen. He has been in contact with the public for about thirty-eight years, during thirty-four of which he has been engaged in business for himself. He is prominently associated with important and flourishing business enterprises, and takes a deep and practical interest in the industrial development and general progress of the city. He is careful and steady-going, of good judgment and everything points to his making the coming year, as he did the past year, an efficient presiding officer of a representative body—now thoroughly representative for the first time—to which is intrusted the oversight and moulding of our most important interest—that of education.

Latest News Of Winter Sports

Peterborough Horses Will Probably Be Reinstated

Miss Paisley and White Blaze, the owners of which were fined at the last meeting of the National Trotting Association are in a position to be raced should their owners desire to enter them in any races, as a re-hearing has been granted them and pending the result they are eligible to be entered and raced upon association tracks.

The following letter will explain matters:—

Hartford, Conn., Jan. 2, 1906.

A. Rountree, Secretary
Peterborough Driving Club
and Athletic Association,
Peterborough, Ont., Canada.

Dear Sir,—I wish to acknowledge receipt of your letter of Dec. 27, in which you refer to the owner of "Miss Paisley." There is nothing to prevent the gentleman from making an application for re-hearing at the next meeting of the Board of Review, and I have to-day written Mr. J. M. Brooks to that effect. Mr. Brooks appears to be of the opinion that the contests referred to came under Rule 44, Section 4, or in other words, Trials of Speed.

Applications for re-hearing as you will note by Rule 67 on page 91 can be made within twenty days after notice of decision shall be mailed to the parties applying for such re-argument. The twenty days in connection with cases at the December meeting expire on January 6. Therefore, if Mr. Lipsett or Mr. Johnston, the respective owners of "Miss Paisley" and "White Blaze" wish to make application for re-hearing, they should attend to it at once.

Yours very truly,
W. H. GOCHER,
Secretary.

The Dates Were Decided Upon

The Peterboro' Ice Races to be Held January 23 and 24.

A meeting of the turf club was held Tuesday when the dates of the ice races for this winter were decided upon. The races will be held on the 23rd and 24th. Six hundred dollars in purses will be distributed. Four local gentlemen of good standing have guaranteed the financial end of the meeting.

The following programme of races was arranged:—

FIRST DAY.

Class.	Purse.
2.50	$150.00
2.23	$150.00

SECOND DAY.

2.29	$150.00
Free for all	$150.00

Mr. Frank Smith, of the Buffalo House World has been engaged as starter.

The prospects are that these races will be the most successful ever held by the turf club and a large number of very fast horses will be entered.

Local Horses In Orillia

At the Orillia ice races yesterday Minnie Bell formerly owned in this city, got first in the .25 class, Mr. Geo. Lipsett's Miss Paisley was on her bad behaviour, but landed second money. She was driven by H. A. Cooke. Expelled, owned by Mr. R. J. Munro, and driven by Jimmy Powell, Orillia, came fifth. The field was very fast and the reason that Expelled didn't do better was because the entries were stepping right up to his mark. Time was .24, .26, .27.

THE TURF.

Mr. Wm. Simpson, of the Lindsay Turf Club, called up Mr. A. Rountree, secretary of the Peterborough Turf Club last night and had a conversation of considerable length with him him concerning the prospects of the ice races this winter to be held at both Peterborough and Lindsay. Mr. Simpson is of the opinion that Lindsay will have the most successful winter meet in the history of the town and the man at the Peterborough end of the 'phone was of the same opinion concerning the local ice races. Great optimism surely prevails among the "ice-men."

HOCKEY

"Soak" for "Soak."

If Ottawa hockeyists "soak" their opponents over the head Magistrate O'Keefe, says the Ottawa Free Press, intends to "soak" them in the pockets. It would be a greater preventive of brutality in sport, if a convicted player were to be debarred from taking part in games.

• • • •

Mr. W. Breen, who in 1902, coached the team when it won the O. H. A. championship is in the city this year, and will again coach the seniors.

• • • •

The hockey club are running a special to Port Hope Monday night.

• • • •

In spite of the fact that the weather has been rather unfavourable lately for hockey practice the locals are in good shape having taken advantage of every opportunity offered for practice. This will be the debut of the home raven into intermediate hockey for 1906, and the fans will doubtless be present in large numbers to see how the wearers of the blue and white pursue the elusive rubber. The line-up for to-night is formidable—stronger than the one that faced the speedy Queen's seven—and while Cobourg may be fast if they trim the home aggregation they will certainly be well qualified for information O. H. A. hockey. They come here full of confidence in their ability to do so, but there's two sides to every question. The game will be well worth watching at any rate, no matter which way the score goes.

• • • •

The Emeralds and Crescents played a hot game at the Brock street rink on Wednesday. The score was 1-0 in favour of the Crescents, but the defeated team tells a story that the referee was partial, and states that the game was won by rough house tactics.

The line-up was:—

Crescents.		Emeralds.
	Goal
R Thompson		Hill
	Point.
H Clancy		Outram
	Cover Point.
Duncan		Ray Rose
	Forwards.
S. Parker		C Wolfe
C Halpany		J Doherty
Taper		Elmer Bogue
		N Payne

Referee, Stanley Wade.

Another game will be played on Monday.

Telegram—A Peterborough man says Peterborough will have a walk-over in the O. H. A. intermediate series. It seems to us we've heard that story before, and it came from some other village, too."

• • • •

The Telegram has a very clever and original way of slinging hot stuff at sporting aggregations. The Peterborough man certainly did predict a walk-over for the locals and if the Telegram watches the papers during the coming season, it will find out that perhaps he is not far wrong.

• • • •

The weather man is getting better natured and has provided the hockeyists with some cold weather and as a result good ice. The game to-night will bring out the speed of both teams.

Generous Offer by Local Curlers

Courtesies Extended to the Norwood Curling Club.

The Norwood Recorder says:—Since the collapse of the Palace Skating and Curling Rink two years ago, many of the Norwood people have keenly felt its loss, not the least of these being the curlers. Some weeks ago we were in hopes of having a new curling rink, but as Mr. Flemming has decided to operate the skating rink only for the present, the Norwood curlers would have been again without ice, had it not been for the kind offer of the Peterborough Curling Club. The following is a copy of the letter received some days ago by the ex-president of the N.C.C.:

Peterborough, Dec. 19,1905.

T. E. Finlay, Esq.,
President Norwood Curling Club:

Dear Sir,—Last evening our club unanimously decided to allow the members of your club free use of our curling ice from five to seven-thirty p.m. each day during the season 1905-06, save bonspeil week.

We hope many of your curlers will be able to play the game here this winter.

We will also provide a place to keep your members' curling stones during the winter.

Trusting to see your club well represented every day and wishing you the compliments of the season, I am,

Yours very truly,
R. M. WADDELL,
Secretary.

CURLING

The schedule for to-night is as follows:—

Knapman vs. Edwards.
Brightman vs. Morrow.
Dixon vs. Ray.
Campbell vs. Neill.
Eastwood vs. Fitzgerald.
McIlroy vs. Clubs. Rutherford.

• • • •

Last night no scheduled games were played at the Charlotte street rink. A number of impromptu games were played, however, and the scheduled games will be resumed to-night. The ice shows signs of an improved condition over that of yesterday.

To-night's Game Will Be Fast

Cobourg and Peterborough Meet in First Championship Game.

The team committee of the Peterborough Hockey Club, composed of Messrs. Jas. McCabe, Dr. Wightman, F. Whitcroft, F. A. Clarke, and Geo. Lynch, met last night and chose the team to play in the game to-night against Cobourg. The line-up will be as follows:—

Wasson—Goal.
Glover—Point.
Crowley—Cover Point.
Whitcroft—Rover.
Morgan—Centre.
Currier—Right Wing.

It is not intended that this shall be the team to represent the club during the season. There are this year men who will alternate with those mentioned above, but for the first game it was decided that this should be the team.

That the game will be a fast one, there is little doubt. Cobourg this year is said to have a team which they look upon as being about the fastest in the district, and they are confident of their ability to win to-night's game. Whether they will be able to do it or not remains to be seen.

Peterboros are getting in some good practices, and will be in fine shape when they meet Cobourg on Friday night.—Lindsay Post.

BASEBALL.

And seeing there is no ice we might just say a word about baseball. The local management have learned that to have a good team you must start to work early. With this end in view they have signed Henry Surphlis to do the twirling for 1906. Henry has secured a good position at the Standard Ideal and if possible will come here at once, or in April at the very latest.—Port Hope Guide.

GERMANY AND FRANCE.

British Official Opinion Can See No Gloom In Situation.

London, Jan. 6:—"So long as Germany confines her demands at the conference to opening Morocco to foreign trade on an equal basis there will be no difference of opinion at Algeciras," said an official of the Foreign Office to the Associated Press yesterday.

New York, Jan. 5.—A verdict for $5,080,333, against Edward Harper, once vice-president of the Fidelity National Bank of Cincinnati, was affirmed yesterday by Judge Coxe in the United States Circuit Court. Eighteen years ago Harper was convicted of causing the failure of the Fidelity Bank and served six years in prison. The verdict which he was yesterday ordered to pay grew out of this failure. The original amount sued for was $2,500,000 Harper is at present vice-president and general manager of the Union Iron & Steel Co., with offices here.

MIST ENVELOPS N. Y. HARBOR.

Scores of Ships Astray, One Wreck and a Collision.

New York, Jan. 5.—Scores of tugs and steamers went astray in a dense fog which enveloped New York harbor, Hudson River, and East River, for over an hour yesterday. One wreck, a collision in which one man was fatally injured and several smaller accidents were reported. Fully half the ferry lines stopped running for about an hour.

On Romar Shoal a tug boat was sunk, and the life-savers went to the rescue of her crew, who sought refuge on one of a string of scows which she had in tow.

The Erie Railroad passenger ferry boat Passaic was run down in Hudson River by the ferry boat Binghamton of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad. The Passaic's head was crushed in so badly that the walls of the men's cabin fell partially into the room. One bulkhead was also pushed in. Nicolas Carlo, a deckhand, was fatally injured, and Thomas F. Piper, a passenger, was slightly hurt. Fortunately the Passaic was carrying very few passengers.

Howard Camp Gives Sensational Evidence Against Dr. Preston.

St. John, N. B., Jan. 5.—The Dr. Preston case began yesterday. Howard Camp, who was acquitted Wednesday, gave sensational evidence against accused in the afternoon.

Camp, after many pointed questions, asked by the crown, had been objected to by both his counsel and Dr. Preston's lawyers, swore he had been engaged to Edith Clark, the deceased. Some time ago he went to Preston and told him he had got the girl into trouble and wanted him to help her. Preston agreed and Camp paid him $25 as a fee. He escorted Miss Clark several times in the direction of Preston's office, but could not swear she had ever been operated on. He had got several prescriptions for her from Preston and had consulted the latter several times about the girl.

Witness was forced to tell court about his associations with the unfortunate girl.

Other witnesses examined told practically the same as at the preliminary examination.

The Canadian Northern expects to finish its line to Hudson Bay and have it in operation within three years.

THAT OVER WORKED, PLAYED OUT FEELING AMONG WOMEN

There are thousands of females all over our land who are broken down in health and dragging out a miserable existence, overburdened with diseases peculiar to their sex, apparently growing old while yet young. Often they have pale or sallow complexion, hollow, sunken eyes, with a lifeless look; the face has a pinched and haggard appearance; they are weak, weary and trembling, often extremely nervous, starting at every little noise. Many are low-spirited, and some are fretful. Some are apparently bloodless, with cold hands and feet, while others are flushed by an unequal circulation of the blood, dizziness, and sometimes dimness of vision, loss of memory, and often loss of appetite and sleep, and are wearied with terrible dreams.

Palpitation of the heart, nervous prostration, smothering and sinking spells, shortness of breath and the sensation of pins and needles are all indications of a weakened condition of the heart or nervous system, and should any of them be present we would strongly advise the use of

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

They bring health to the broken down, energy to the weakened constitution, tone up the tired, overstrained nerves, and strengthen the weak heart.

Mrs. Edward Jackson, Hall's Bridge, Ont., writes: "For a year I was greatly troubled with nervousness and loss of appetite, and could neither sleep nor eat. After taking a few boxes of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills I was completely cured and can recommend them to all sufferers."

Chamberlain Was Hooted At A Big Meeting

Derbyites Cut Short His Remarks On Fiscal Doctrine.

POLFORD'S CRAZY ANGER

Unionist Calls His Interrupters "Cowards," and Tells Them to Go Away and Die of Starvation in a Ditch —Mr. Churchill States That Liberal Policy Is Against the Protective Taxation of Foodstuffs.

London, Jan. 5.—It was a very disorderly audience to which Mr. Chamberlain preached his fiscal doctrine at Derby last night. Over 4,000 had been admitted to the drill hall without tickets. The interruptions started early, the speaker having to stop several times. He finally cut his remarks short. Mr. Polford, the candidate, referred to the interruptors as cowards, and told them to go away and die of starvation in a ditch. "Mr. Chamberlain will be Prime Minister of England before you are dead, and I will be member for Derby to support him."

Army before the Program.

London, Jan. 5.—Richard Burdon Haldane, Secretary for War, speaking at a free trade meeting in London last night, said it was the intention of the Liberal Government to maintain an adequate army, but that it would be necessary before real reform commenced to clear away much of the trash and little left by his predecessors.

Winston Churchill's Speech.

London, Jan. 5.—(C. A. P.)—On behalf of the Colonial Office, Winston Churchill, speaking at Manchester last night, made an important declaration of policy in a statement regarding prospective colonial conference. In the event of a Liberal success, the Government would not enter into an arrangement for preferential union with the colonies, involving taxation of food. He said there was no need to get jumpy, or into a nervous state, about the empire, which would not sink to a fifth-rate power so soon as Mr. Chamberlain supposed.

Conference in 1907.

Lord Elgin had faced many difficulties, but the question of the colonial conference presented difficulties. To the Government the periodical assembly of representative men from all parts of the empire, to discuss questions of imperial interest was attended with great advantages. Such a policy would receive all possible assistance and encouragement. When the conference met in 1907 it would be free and unfettered. It would be open to colonial Ministers to bring forward any proposal which seemed to afford the prospect of more intimate co-ordination or a closer union of the various widespread dependencies of the crown.

Given Restrictions.

No doubt the colonial representatives at the conference would receive from their respective governments precise instructions as to the proposals they were authorized to put forward or accept. The representatives of the Home Government would also receive precise instructions. The nature of these instructions depended upon the wishes and feelings of the masses of British people.

If the result of the general election should provide Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman with an adequate majority for the conduct of public affairs, it would be the duty of the representatives of the British Government to inform their colonial colleagues that we would not enter into arrangements for a preferential union with the colonies, involving the protective taxation of food.

Following Precedent.

In making such a statement he said the Liberal Ministers would only be following the course taken by Mr. Chamberlain in 1897. There were many other questions of imperial importance lying outside the realm of fiscal reform, upon which a colonial conference would throw a most instructive light, and in regard to which the Government was hopeful of fruitful results. The South African Government would broadly allow the colony to manage its own affairs in its own way. Briton and Boer are now equal under the Union Jack.

Blood Was Shed To Bring Peace To The Russians

Christmas Peace to Come to Moscow Through the Sword.

GOVERNOR-GENERAL'S ORDER

Doubassoff Will Sweep City Clear of Every Trace of Revolution by Saturday — Government Advices From Baltic Provinces Fairly Satisfactory—Plot to Kill Czar Frustrated—Rojy's Vodka Dream.

Moscow, Jan. 5.—"Against the brilliant conduct of the troops and police the resistance of the insurgents in Moscow has been scattered. The legions have been dispersed and are fleeing in disorder. Many of their chiefs have been arrested and the others have fled far and wide."

With these words, Governor-General Doubassoff begins a long account of the rising here, which he issued yesterday.

Continuing, the account says:

"Though organized revolt has been crushed, some of the most desperate fanatics remain and continue to fire on the troops. I cannot suffer the shadow of this terror to hang over the people during the joyful Christmas festival I have, therefore, given positive orders that by Christmas eve, next Saturday, according to the Russian calendar, every quarter of the city must be swept clear of the last traces of the revolution, and I have called on the peaceful part of the population for co-operation in running down the revolutionists and in restoring tranquility."

In the Baltic Provinces.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 5.—The Government advices from the Baltic provinces are fairly satisfactory. The troops are acting energetically in all directions. Three columns are operating in Livonia. The cities of Walk, Reitsburg, Jacobstadt and Stockenshof have been retaken. Small expeditions are being sent to the villages to arrest the ringleaders. Gen. Warnoff has been placed in command of the troops operating in Esthonia.

Plot to Murder Czar.

London, Jan. 5.—A St. Petersburg despatch under yesterday morning's date says a plot by anarchists to assassinate the Czar was frustrated by accident. Trusted artillery officers are implicated. The chief conspirators are two students, who, with the army officers, have been arrested. The plot was discovered by one of the officers losing a carefully-drawn plan of the Tsarskoe-Selo Palace.

Britain Not Satisfied.

St. Petersburg, Jan 5.—As a result of the representations made by Mr. Spring-Rice the British charge d'affaires, to Foreign Minister Lamsdorf, Admiral Rojestvensky explained in the Novoe Vremya yesterday morning that the Minister of Marine was in no way responsible for the letter published Wednesday, which was merely the admiral's personal opinion, which Rojestvensky maintains he had the right to express.

The British Embassy is not satisfied and has reported the matter to London, whence it is expected something in the nature of a formal disavowal will be demanded.

Killed Troops as They Slept.

Riga, Livonia, Russia, Tuesday, Jan. 2, by courier to St. Petersburg, Jan. 5.—About 5,000 armed workmen before daylight this morning invaded and took possession of the Provodnik rubber factory, and the military, as this message is forwarded, are bombarding the factory.

The revolutionists killed the policemen who were guarding the building, and a detachment then crept into an adjoining structure, where a patrol of dragoons was asleep, and murdered eight dragoons and six stablemen, and wounded eleven others. The troops awake opened a terrific fire, but it is impossible to ascertain the number of killed or wounded, but many men have been killed, and over a hundred wounded have already been carried to the hospitals. The soldiers are almost insane with fury.

Workmen Surrender.

London, Jan. 5—A special despatch from Copenhagen yesterday says that the workmen who seized the Provodnik rubber factory at Riga, Tuesday, surrendered and delivered up their leaders to the commander of the troops. The prisoners will be tried by court-martial.

Another Coal Mine Disaster Is Recorded

Twenty-One Miners Killed in a Gas Explosion.

AT COALDALE, W. VIRGINIA

Explosion Entombed the Men in the Mine Shaft—Only One Body Recovered—Mine Gas Makes Rescue Impossible, and If Explosion Did Not Kill Gas Will Finish the Deadly Work.

Bluefield, W. Va., Jan. 5.—Twenty-one miners were killed in an explosion of mine gas in the shaft of the Copper Mine Co., at Coaldale, W. Va., at noon yesterday. Up to midnight only one body had been recovered. Immediately following the explosion, which was heard for several miles, rescue parties set to work to explore the wrecked shaft.

Coaldale is a mining town situated on the line of the Norfolk and Western Railroad and is fifteen miles west of Bluefield.

The mining cars and most of the property used in the mines are supposed to have been blown to pieces At 5.30 p. m., the body of one of the miners was discovered some hundred feet away from the mine entry so mutilated that it is unrecognisable.

All hope of recovering alive the miners entombed by the explosion was shattered by the pouring forth of gase from the different entries. If the twenty-one men were not all instantly killed by the explosion, it is believed that they must have succumbed to the great accumulation of gas following the explosion.

CANADIAN SHIPPERS.

Railways Must Be More Considerate of Their Interests.

Ottawa, Jan. 5.—The Railway Commission will very shortly issue an order bringing into effect the new car service rules that have been agreed upon after consultation with the railway interests and with shippers all over the Dominion.

Hereafter the companies must be less exacting in the imposition of what are known as demurrage charges. Moreover, where a shipping concern applies for so many cars per day the railways must make more of an effort to maintain a steady supply.

When the new car service rules go into effect the railway companies will be required to notify shippers of the arrival of any cars that the latter have ordered. Twenty-four hours will then be allowed for the shipper to say where he wants the car placed. Forty-eight hours after this again are given for the loading or unloading of the cars as the case may be, and it will only be further delays that will leave shippers open to demurrage charges. The rules will at first be only provisionally approved in order that the railway board may have an opportunity to remedy any defects that their enforcement may disclose.

Later on it will be for the commissioners to consider whether they will make the railways liable for damages to shippers when the latter suffer financial loss through delay in the supply of cars.

Roads Blocked by Snow.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 5.—The heaviest snow storm since 1898 prevailed in the northwest for hours Wednesday. Snow to the depth of 18 inches fell here, and the street railway system was practically put out of business. From Northern Wisconsin come reports of a complete tie up of all railroad traffic.

Headache is not in itself a disease, but a symptom or accompaniment of other diseases, principally those of the stomach, liver and bowels, such as Constipation, Dyspepsia, Liver Trouble, Bad Blood, Female Complaints, General Debility and Weakness. Headache is common to both sexes, but more frequently affects females.

The varieties of headache most common are sick or bilious headache, nervous headache, headache from constipation, debility or indigestion, periodical and spasmodic headache. Undoubtedly the cause must be removed before permanent relief can be had.

Burdock Blood Bitters

"I was troubled with headache for a number of years, but could get nothing to help me. I procured a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters, and finding it was doing me so much good, I got two more. I am now fully cured and think there is nothing in the world like Burdock Blood Bitters for headache."

MUSIC AND DRAMA

"The Little Minister" with Orrin T. Burke, as Gavin Dishart in the title role was given a most acceptable presentation at the Grand last night. Geo. H. Summers, as Thomas Whamond, elder of the "kirk," was delightfully refreshing in this role, as was also Oswald Roberts, in his masterly representation of Bob Dow. Mr. Roberts has shown by his splendid work throughout the week that he is one of the most capable actors of the cast. Miss Belle Stevenson was never seen to better advantage than she was last night as Lady Babbtie, Lord Pintoul's daughter. The scenery was most appropriate and the acting on the part of the whole company, satisfactory. It is needless to comment further on the excellent work of the company as they have been here all week and their splendid performances speak for themselves. Suffice it to say that without resorting to burnatorming they appeal to their audiences in the heavier roles, and without resorting to horse-play they never fail to amuse in the lighter ones.

* * *

Read what the Cincinnati Enquirer says of "Dora Thorne:" "A large audience gave its seal of applauding approval of this bit of stage literature last night. Judging from the applause, the production is just what the theatre goers want. 'Dora Thorne' as a story, is too well-known for comment but it must be admitted that the playwright had improved upon the plot to such an extent that the play is far more interesting than the book. Dramatic license is somewhat elastic at times to say the least, and in the play the most dramatic and exciting points of the book are brought out with decisive action and clearness. Nor is the comedy found wanting; much humour is intermingled with the episodes of the drama, making as a whole a play, novel and interesting in the extreme.

* * *

"Leah, the Forsaken," which will be presented at the Grand to-night by the Summers Stock Company, is said to be the strongest play in the company's repertoire. It depicts the early persecution of the Jews, and should be well received, considering that the horrible treatment accorded these unfortunate people at the hands of the merciless Cossacks is causing horror and indignation throughout the civilized world. To-morrow's matinee and the evening production will close a most successful week for this talented troupe, who desire to express their gratitude for the splendid patronage they have received in this city.

The company will return again before spring with a different repertoire and new specialties.

PRETTY WEDDING ON NEW YEAR'S DAY

Special to The Examiner.

Havelock, Jan. 2.—Mr. Wm. Christie, of Toronto, was the guest of friends in town for the past few days.

A daughter has been born to Mr. and Mrs. John White.

A presentation was made at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Scott, on the Trent Bridge road, last Monday, when they were made the recipients of two large handsome chairs. Mr. and Mrs. Scott are retiring from farm life and have bought a house in town which they will shortly occupy.

Mr. D. L. Summerville returned after visiting his home at Bethany and friends in Toronto.

Mr. Jas. Thompson spent Monday in Campbellford.

Miss Blanche McWilliams, of Marmora, is the guest of Mrs. T. McWilliams, of town.

A very pleasant time was experienced at an at-home given in the town hall New Year's night by the trainmen running out of here. The music furnished by the Rellia orchestra, of Campbellford, was of a high order of merit. A number of persons from Campbellford and Norwood attended.

Mr. C. McIntosh returned on Tuesday from a visit to friends in Almonte.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Galbraith returned on Wednesday from a short visit to friends at Tweed.

Mr. R. E. White spent New Year's the guest of friends in Almonte.

Mr. Wm. Dineen banquetted the pew, or, one might say, the old council, as there was no change, on New Year's night.

Miss M. Mahoney, of Campbellford, spent New Year's in town the guest of friends.

Misses Culligan and McNicholl, and Messrs. W. Culligan, N. Culligan, Molhern, Shaw and E. Bennett attended the C.M.B.A. ball in Campbellford last Wednesday.

Mrs. J. Walsh, of Keene, is the guest of Mrs. P. McNicholl, town.

Mr. E. Lancaster returned home from a short visit to friends in Toronto.

The Public Parks Act Bylaw was passed by a good majority on New Year's Day.

The proposed short train route from Georgian Bay to this line will likely have one of its terminals at Havelock and one at Midland. The advantages of having the terminus at Havelock are so great over any other proposed, place that it is a settled fact. Owing to the cheapness of land, and that the C. P. R. now have their round-house at this point, and have just completed a new machine shop in connection with the same, goes to show that the terminus of this short line will be here.

Miss Bertha Bryans has returned home after an extended visit to friends at Norwood.

Miss Edith Montgomery, of Peterborough, is the guest of Mrs. S. J. Cruse, of town.

Mr. A. Gabriel spent Sunday in Norwood.

A very pretty wedding took place at the residence of Mr. Jas. McCracken, on New Year's Day, when his daughter, Carrie, was united in marriage to Mr. Jesse Waymark of town. The bride was given away by her father, and was dressed in cream nuns veiling trimmed with Venetian lace, and carried a bouquet of roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Annie McCracken, her sister, was also dressed in cream nun's veiling. Rev. Caplan officiated. The bride and groom left on the early morning train for Toronto and other points west, after which they will return to reside in Havelock.

The memory of the late Mrs. J. K. Lancaster has been perpetuated in a handsome mural tablet, which was unveiled at St. John's church on Friday evening, 15th of Dec. The tablet is in the form of a beautiful design of white marble, the lettering being done in gold. The inscription is as follows:—"Erected by the parishioners of St. John's church in loving memory of Jane Knox Lancaster, departed this life, March 8, 1905. 'Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord.'" Rev. H. Caplan officiated, and after the Litany had been said, dedicated the tablet, the unveiling being done by Mrs. Wm. Webb, on behalf of the parishioners, who presented the tablet to the glory of God and the beloved memory of the departed lady. Then followed part of the office for the burial of the dead and the hymn, "For All Thy Saints Who From Their Labour Rest." Mr. Caplan then referred to the Christian character of Mrs. Lancaster, whose life was worthy of emulation. It was most fitting to raise a tablet to show to all parishioners and the world at large that while she was with them they were not unmindful of her virtues, and that they revered her memory as one of the church's departed saints.

The Southern Light and Power Company Insolvent

Special to The Examiner.

Toronto, January 5th. — At a meeting of the Southern Light and Power Company this morning a resolution was passed declaring the company insolvent, and an affidavit to that effect was filed at Osgoode Hall. Two applications for winding up orders were also filed, one from the Dominion Portland Cement Company creditors for $1740, the other from Edward Gegg, creditor for $1,400. The Dominion Cement Co. declares that the company has been making a general conveyance of its assets without the consent of the creditors with the intent to defraud its creditors. Gegg declares that the Southern Light and Power Co. owes the York Loan $15,000 and that there are $12,000 in wages unpaid.

At the closing of the lodge meeting of the Daughters of England last night, a goodly number sat down to an oyster supper served to the officers and members, and a very enjoyable evening was spent. At the close of the supper Past President Sister D. Oliver was presented with a china tea service and an address. The address was read by Sister Booth and the presentation made by Dr. Young. The address read as follows:—

Peterborough, Jan. 4, 1906.

To the Worthy Past President Sister D. Oliver:—

Dear Sister,—We, the members of the Daughters and Maids of England, wish at this time to express our thanks for your faithful work as President during the past year.

We feel we cannot express our thanks as we should do, but we ask you to accept this small gift as a token of our love and esteem which we hold for you. We hope that you will still prove faithful to the Society and ever stand by its members. Wishing you a happy and prosperous New Year.

Signed on behalf of the officers and members of the Lodge.

Smith School Section Scholars Entertainment

On Thursday night, December 21st, the scholars of School Section No. 8, Smith, delighted their parents and friends with an excellent entertainment. Each pupil seemed to vie with the other in making this concert a record-breaker. The inclemency of the weather prevented a great many from attending, yet the school-room was comfortably filled. A handsome amount was added to the contribution towards the school library.

The able manner in which the pupils acquitted themselves reflected great credit on their teacher Miss Maye Edgar, who, by-the-way, has been re-engaged for another year.
